SOUTH CENTRAL TEAM ARE SENIOR SCHOOL CHAMPIONS

Won the Title Yesterday by Defeating Central School Nine in Easy Fashion by 16 Runs to 1

SOME GOOD FIELDING

The South Central team captured the championship of the senior section of the Public School Baseball League yesterday afternoon at Nicholls Oval when they defeated the Centrals for the second time this season. Last year's champs were badly beaten yesterday, the score at the finish being 16 to 1 in favour of the Southerners who had all the better of the argument from start to finish. The South Central team has a snappy, well balanced aggregation with a fine pitcher in Parker and a capable infield, with good batting ability all along the line. They easily demonstrated their superiority yesterday, both in the field and at the bat. Parker pitched a splendid game, his left handed slants being a mystery which the Centrals could not solve. He had control and speed and on one occasion threw eight strikes in succession, some feat, especially for a south paw. He was given fine support by his team mates who fielded steadily and accurately. Dobson, who pitched for Centrals, was a little wild, and while not hit hard, his support was wretched at times, wild throws with the bases loaded being responsible for several bunches of runs. The fielding features were two nice double plays, Long to Routley and Parker to E. Smyth and a spectacular running catch of a difficult foul fly by Roy Smyth, the South Centrals first baseman.

The first two innings were close and exciting, each team scoring one and it looked like a tight game until the third, when some weird fielding allowed the Southerners to pile up six runs. There was nothing to the contest after that. The teams were:

Umpire—F. D. Craig.

ST. PETER'S WINS FROM SACRED HEART BY A SCORE OF 10 TO 9

The baseball team from St. Peter's school journeyed to the Sacred Heart club's ground last evening and defeated the Southerners by a hair-raising finish, taking the long end of 10 to 9 score. It was a real good game as the youngsters of both aggregations hit and fielded like veterans. Gerald O'Brien, who pitched for the winners served up a fast ball which the Souths found hard to meet. Rose, who twirled for the latter, depended on the curve variety and struck out several of the winners when his mound mates He bids fair to fill the shoes of his brother Gus, who does the slab work for the big team from that parish.

For the winners, Jack Rutherford, the diminutive left fielder was unquestionably the star. He picked off a sizzler which looked good for about three bases from Ray Rose's bat, and scored three of the runs for the winners by timely hitting and great base running. Ray Rose slammed the ball into the next block in the fourth innings, sending Barnett and himself across the plate. The friendly spirit shown by the members of the opposing club in the struggle for honours was a commendable feature of the game, and the customary wrangling was entirely missing.

Mr. Michael O'Brien umpired the game to the satisfaction of both teams. The line-up was as follows:

St. Peter's—May 1b., G. O'Brien p., A. O'Brien s.s., Clancy b., Conroy r.f., Rutheford l.f., Sheehy c., Wolff c.f., Kelly 3b.

BILLY PAPKE WORLD'S CHAMPION

LONDON, JUNE 8.—Billy Papke, the American middleweight, otherwise known as the "Illinois thunderbolt, to-night took the measure of Jim Sullivan, the middle-weight champion of England, in nine rounds of fast and furious fighting. Again it was the fighter against the boxer, and the fighter won with ease.

The contest was for the middleweight championship of the world, a purse of $10,000 and a side bet. It was pulled off under the management of Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, who hired the Palladium, one of London's noted music halls, for that purpose, and crowded it to the doors.

Towards the close of the ninth Papke landed a savage uppercut, which put Sullivan to the floor. He took a count of five, and when the bell rang staggered blindly to his corner. When the call to the tenth round sounded, Sullivan was unable to stand up, and Corri awareded the fight to the American, amid great applause from the spectators.

DEEP SEA DIVERS.

PERILS THEY HAVE TO FACE.

The Awful Pressure of Water and Air That May Bury or Burst Them—The Helmet Telephone a Wonderful Aid in Work and in Times of Danger.

It is surprising to learn how many uses there are for divers. The navy, of course, employs many to set submarine mines and torpedoes and to attend to investigations of the condition of ships' bottoms. Bridge construction companies use them, as do those who build dams, waterworks and reservoirs. Waterworks in large cities keep a diver on their staff constantly. Wrecking companies need their services, and the profession of underriver tunneling makes many demands on the time and skill of the men in armor.

Since Smeaton in 1779 designed a pump to supply air to the diving bell little real improvement in the art has been made, save in detail of helmet and clothes, until the invention of the telephone. The greatest advance ever made in the art, divers will tell you, is the combination of the telephone with the diving suit. Before its advent divers had to depend entirely upon pulls on the life line for communication with the surface and upon signs to each other when under water if two wished to communicate. Today the modern diving helmet is equipped with a telephone, and the diver can not only hear what is said to him from the surface, advise those in charge of his pump as to whether the air is "coming right" or not, but he can communicate to a brother diver and hear the instructions sent to him from the surface, all of which facilities are of great assistance in the work.

At first thought it may not seem so difficult a thing, this going down under water and breathing air sent in from a pump by a tube. But the physical drawbacks to the work are enormous. For every ten feet a diver descends he sustains an additional pressure of four and a half pounds over every square inch of his body. What this means may be better understood when considering the greatest depth ever made by a diver—204 feet. His body at that depth sustained a pressure of eighty-eight and a half pounds to the square inch over and above the fifteen pounds always sustained when in the air.

Divers must descend very slowly, swallowing as they go; otherwise they may bleed at the nose and ears and even lose consciousness. And they must ascend even more slowly than they descend, particularly when coming from great depths; otherwise they may literally burst from internal air pressure. At the least, too sudden a rise may cause an attack of that terrible disease known to tunnel workers called caisson disease, or the bends, in which air gets into the tissues under pressure and causes the most extreme torture.

The diver, getting ready to descend, clothes himself in very heavy underwear of guernsey or flannel, the drawers well secured to prevent slipping, and adds a pair of heavy woolen socks. If the water be cold two such suits may be worn. If the depth to be negotiated is great cotton soaked with oil is put in the ears or a heavy woolen cap pulled down over them. Shoulder pads, if worn to take the weight off the helmet, are next tied on, after which the diver wriggles into his heavy suit of rubber and canvas. Next come the inner collar and the breastplate, which are secured with clamps to the rubber dress, the utmost care being taken in this operation not to tear or pinch the rubber. Finally the shoes are fitted on and the rubber gloves clamped to rings in the sleeves.

The helmet is the last to go on, and never before the valves and telephone have been tested. The attendants start to pump as the helmet is clamped home. The helmet is attached to the pump with a rubber tube, which is canvas and wire protected. No diver descends, after the helmet is put on, until he has tested the outfit and found that his air supply is sufficient and the pump working properly.

He is supplied with a life line, with which in case signal should fail, to please get out of order and by which he may be drawn to the surface should he become helpless for any reason. He must take great care when walking about on the bottom not to foul his life line or his air tube and for this reason must always retrace his steps exactly to his starting point if he has gone into a wreck or about any obstructions. For the same reason two divers working together must be careful not to cross each other's path.

Sometimes the life line may become so entangled in wreckage that it must be cut, and then there is danger of the diver not finding his way back to his boat or float, especially if the bottom is muddy and foule the "tooing." But the greatest danger of all, of course, is that the tube be cut or the diver faint. In either case he is in desperate straits. If the man handling the life line "feels" anything wrong he will haul the diver up with all speed and regardless of the severe bleeding at nose and ears which will result from too rapid a rise to the surface. But if the diver be inside a wreck or if his life line gets tangled in wreckage such hauling would do no good. It is in situations like these that the closest connecting link of telephone wire means so much to the men who risk their lives far beneath the surface of the water.—Scientific American.

CAUGHT ON THE BOUNCE.

The Parson's Second Barrel Play on the Wounded Ducks.

When the night wind whines about the gunning cabin nestled in the beach hills the hearts within grow reminiscent.

"The best canvasback shooting I ever had was down off the mouth of Crany inlet," said the parson. "A ripping northeaster was blowing, and I was out on the end of the point alone. The ducks came down wind along the edge of the shoal, and they were so far away that it was just impossible to kill them outright. I could have had a hundred shots that day, they came so thick, but I let a lot of them go by. At dark I had picked up twenty-two birds. Not one of them was dead when I dropped them as they wheeled by; but, boys, I didn't have to shoot a single cripple in the water."

Curley gave the parson a long look, filled and lighted his pipe, then snorted in disgust, for he was an old hand, and he knew that one needed more than a pinch of salt to capture a wounded canvasback in open water.

"Suppose you hypnotized these birds you couldn't kill dead into coming ashore for you to wring their necks?" he grunted.

"No," said the parson slowly; "they were going so fast that when I knocked 'em down they'd hit the water and bound up ten or fifteen feet. Then I'd kill 'em on the first bounce with the second barrel."—Outing.

The Name Tibet.

Many forms of the name Tibet sprang from the Chinese T'ubar (fifth century) through the variations of Tuebet, Toboet, Thibet (1469), Tebet (1298), to Tibet (1730). The origin of the name has been variously accounted for, but the weight of historical evidence indicates that the word is derived from Tubat, a famous family name proper to several ancient Tartar dynasties, extensively used in the sense of "chief." Hodgson asserts that before the arrival of Indian teachers the people had no name for themselves or their land, and, though the present name is not, as some say, unknown in the country itself, the modern Tibetans call themselves Bod-pa and their land Bod-yul. Bod being a Buddhist appellative suggested by the Sanskrit b'ot, or bat, so working back to the Tartar name.—London Spectator.

Keen and Macready.

When Edmund Keen and Macready, intense rivals, played in the same pieces at Drury Lane it was usual to consult them in the course of the evening as to what they would appear in next. One night when the prompter was sent to ask Mr. Macready what he would play with Mr. Keen the great tragedian frowned upon him till he blushed. "Sir," he roared, "how should I know what the man would like to play?" The prompter retired to seek the desired information from Mr. Keen. "Sir," said Mr. Keen sharply, "how should I know what the fellow can play?"

THE EMPIRE NEEDS HIM

Three Hundred Thousand Yearly Is the Limit Which the Mother Country Can Stand Without Serious Drain on Population—Imperial Conference Affirms the Resolution Encouraging Emigration.

London, June 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At the Imperial Conference yesterday Premier Fisher moved the reaffirmation of the resolution of 1907, that it is desirable to encourage British emigrants to proceed to British colonies rather than foreign countries, and that the Imperial Government be requested to co-operate with any colonies desiring immigrants and in assisting suitable persons; also for the representatives of the dominions to form a committee of the emigrants' information office.

Premier Morris expressed himself as favorable.

Rt. Hon. John Burns said that since the last conference the object of the resolution had been to a great extent secured. If the rate of increase for the first four months were continued for the whole of 1911, the total number of emigrants from Britain to all countries would amount to 331,329, of whom it was estimated that nearly 80,000 would go to different parts of the Empire.

With the diminishing birth rate the Mother Country could not safely go beyond 331,329 yearly, of which 80,000 went to different parts of the Empire. The conference would probably agree that this was as much as they could request.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that Burns' statement appeared to him quite satisfactory.

Sir Joseph Ward urged the alteration of the resolution, so as to express approval of the policy that had been pursued. Otherwise it might convey the impression that they were not satisfied with what had been done.

Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt suggested that the resolution should read that having heard Burns' explanatory statement, the conference resolve that the present policy of encouraging British immigrants to proceed to the British dominions rather than to foreign countries be continued and that full co-operation be accorded any of the dominions desiring emigrants. The resolution as amended was unanimously carried.

Sir Joseph Ward moved that reciprocal provisions be made throughout the Empire respecting destitute or deserted persons.

Mr. Harcourt suggested that the resolution should read: "In order to secure justice and protection for the wives and children, who have been deserted by their legal guardian, either in the United Kingdom or in any of the dominions, reciprocal legal provisions be adopted in the constituent parts of the Empire in the interest of such destitute and deserted persons.

Hon. George Findlay, Attorney-General of New Zealand, agreed and the resolution as amended was unanimously agreed to.

The conference adjourned till Monday.

FATHER TEEFY DEAD.

Prominent Catholic Professor Passes Away In Toronto.

Toronto, June 10.—Rev. Dr. Teefy LL.D., superior of St. Basil's novitiate and formerly principal of St. Michael's College, after having been unconscious since noon on Friday, passed away a few minutes after midnight. Death was due to diabetes. His brother arrived from Chicago before the end. The last rites of the church were administered by Father Frachon, C.S.B.

Rev. John Read Teefy was born at Richmond Hill, Ont., in 1849, the son of Matthew Teefy, postmaster of that place. He received his education at the high school in his native place and at Toronto University. From there he graduated with the degree of B.A., winning the silver medal in mathematics in 1871. He received the degree of M.A. in 1894 and LL.D. in 1896.

He was ordained to the priesthood in 1878, and joined the congregation of St. Basil. He was afterwards appointed rector of St. Michael's College and became, ex-officio, a member of the senate of Toronto University. In 1896 he was appointed a member of the educational council of Ontario. After the passage of the University Act of 1906 by the present Provincial Government, he was appointed to the newly constituted board of governors of the university. He would have held that office till 1914 had he lived. He was for some time a member of the Toronto separate school board, and a few years ago he was appointed superior of St. Basil's Novitiate.

Father Teefy was a writer of some prominence, and contributed several articles to the volume issued in 1892, in commemmoration of the golden jubilee of the Roman Catholic Church. In 1893-4 he was editor of The Catholic Register. By his death there will be removed from the Roman Catholic community one of her most prominent sons, and a man of brilliant intellect and unusual executive ability.

BIG MERGER IN BREAD

Three Toronto Concerns Are Interested In New Corporation and Options Have Been Taken On Two Bakeries In Montreal and One In Winnipeg — No Millers Are In the Amalgamation, It Is Said.

Toronto, June 10.—That there is to be a merger of bakeries in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg was confirmed by Mark Bredin of the Bredin Bread Co., last night. Mr. Bredin has been in Montreal for a few days, in company with George Weston, of the Weston Bakery Co., and returned to the city yesterday. The amount of capital involved in the new concern is $5,000,000. The headquarters are to be in Toronto. While the matter has been settled so far as the outline of the organization is concerned, the details are not ready for publication. "It will take a few days," said Mr. Bredin, "before we can announce the personnel of the directorate, and I am unable at this time to state who will be president."

"I want to correct one mis-statement, which has appeared in the press," he added. "No milling interest of any kind is behind the undertaking, and in no sense can it be termed a combine or a trust. The basis of the new organization is the saving to be effected in managerial and operating expenses, by a consolidation of interests. The promoters are actuated solely by principles of business economy. As soon as the details are arranged the prospectus will be made public."

Three Toronto bakeries are immediately involved, The Bredin Bread Co., The Weston Bakery and Tomlin's Bakery. Options have been taken on two Montreal bakeries, and one Winnipeg business will be absorbed.

Ald. Weston declined to discuss the matter last night, but Mr. Tomlin corroborated in full the statements of Mr. Bredin, adding that the latter was the prime mover, and would probably be appointed general manager.

"The object is just to save expense," said Mr. Tomlin. "It is a waste of money to have different delivery wagons covering same routes. I don't think though that every baker in the city will come into the amalgamation. I understand that the different bakeries will take stock in the company and not sell out.

"As for Cawthra Mulock, who has been mentioned as largely interested I can say positively that he will have no connection with it beyond possibility of his being asked to undertake the flotation."

Mustn't Join a Union.

Montreal, June 10.—According to Magnus Sinclair of Toronto, organizer for the International Street Railway Union, only the fact that the company had pickets placed around the Labor Temple Thursday to warn employes that if they joined a union they'd lose their jobs, were the meetings called for the afternoon and evening to discuss such an organization prevented.

President Roberts of the company was himself noticed in the vicinity of the Labor Temple.

Only about forty men did attend the meeting.

Not long ago the company voluntarily gave an increase in wages, the second such increase in two years.

Released on Bail.

Montreal, June 10.—A. J. King of Toronto and H. Leopold Brodie, charged by William S. Waldo, said to be a private detective, with attempting to kidnap twenty-seven months old Stewart Ogden Jones, arrived in Montreal yesterday from Goderich, Ont. They appeared before a magistrate and pleaded not guilty. Both were released on $4,000 bail bonds, $2,000 personally and two bondsmen each in the sum of $1,000.

They simply claim that the whole thing is a misunderstanding as far as they are concerned. The preliminary hearing will take place on Tuesday next.

Medical Council Reforms.

Kingston, June 10.—Dean Connell of Queen's Medical College outlines as follows the reforms in the Ontario Medical Council which will be urged by Queen's and supported by other members of council:

Will Summon Mormon President.

Washington, June 10.—The House special committee to investigate the American Sugar Refining Co. has decided to summon Joseph Smith, president of the Mormon Church, to tell what he knows of the dealings of the so-called sugar trust with the beet sugar interests controlled by the church.

Bank Teller $60,000 Short.

Winnipeg, June 10.—Arthur E. Bingham, teller of the Northern Crown Bank at Lethbridge, whence he fled several days ago, with $60,000, came to Winnipeg, admitted his shortage, and gave himself up. He is in jail here and will be taken back to MacLeod.

May Be Murder.

Montreal, June 10.—A fight that may end in a murder trial took place yesterday at 447 Cadieux street, when Pierre St. Denis threw his landlady downstairs in a drunken passion. She is at the General Hospital, and is not likely to recover.

He had been drinking all night, and when she reproved him for it he struck her and then threw her downstairs. He drew a knife and ran at her again. Police passing stopped him as he raised his hand to strike.

STRUCK FERRIS WHEEL

Examiner Special:

NEW YORK, N. Y., JUNE 12.—Five dead, five missing and a million dollars' damage are the results of a two days' storm in this district. Lightning struck the ferris wheel at Glason Point pleasure resort. The people, blinded by the flash, were panic stricken, and were restrained, with difficulty, from jumping to the ground. Finally, they were taken down with ladders. Telegraph and telephone wires throughout the State were put out of business and the companies are greatly hampered in their services.

Peterborough Horses Took Eight Firsts At Galt
Big Crowd On Saturday

The attendance at the Galt Horse Show on Saturday last was the largest in the history of the Show, in spite of the fact that the day was very warm, the sun shining brightly, and the air being quite sultry. During the afternoon there was one accident, which threatened to break the leg of a valuable horse belonging to Sir Henry Pellatt. In some way, in driving by another tandem he kicked one of his hind legs through the wheel of the other vehicle, but extricated his leg with a few cuts and scrapes before the horses could be unhitched. It is said that the number of entries was the largest in the history of the Exhibition, numbering over five hundred and that some of the horses in the harness classes were better than some exhibited at the city shows.

Mr. Stratton's "Perfect Dream" opened the show on Thursday, by taking first prize for high steppers. 15.2 and over, and closed the Exhibition on Saturday evening by taking first prize in the Ladies' Appointment class, in which she was driven by Mrs. Roach. "Perfect Dream" is said to be the most perfect lady's horse in Canada, and certainly, when hitched in her appointment class, harnessed in the best, with her Brewster phaeton, and with a handsome lady driver, and a good-looking footman, with the smile that never comes off, she looks as perfect as a turnout can be. With her appointments she was an easy winner.

"None Nicer," Mr. Stratton's Tennesee thoroughbred, took her usual place in the saddle class. This mare is admired by all, as she is perfectly sound and takes her part in the show ring with the best trained horses in the line.

Altogether, Mr. Stratton's horses took eight firsts and five seconds at the Show, with "My Pride," his best horse breaking the pair through being not in it on account of injury.

If Peterborough, as a city, and the horsemen took an interest, Peterborough could hold a week's horse show and bring thousands of visitors here. The Exhibition Grounds are beautifully situated, the earth is the proper material required for the horses' feet and the farmers and horsemen would find the great advantage these Exhibitions are to horse breeding.

The Winnipeg Horse Show, the Cobourg Exhibition, the Ogdensburg show and the Toronto National are the four shows next in line.

Bottled Liquefied Gas For Lighting And Cooking
A Wonderful Illuminant

Adamson and Dobbin, Simcoe street, have installed in their shop on Simcoe street a plant from the Blangas Company, a new gas for lighting and heating purposes, for which they claim many advantages over other lighting systems.

It is the safest illuminant known, non-asphyxiating, non-poisonous and will not freeze. No cleaning, no pumping of air or no heating burners before lighting. Convenient, being delivered in steel bottles all ready for use. It is almost as handy as changing an electric light bulb.

Where the equipment would appear to be of special value would be installed at summer resorts or cottages but it can be used with equally good results in any lighting or heating capacity.

It will pay anyone to see the demonstration at Adamson & Dobbin's, Simcoe street.

THE FARMERS BANK PRESIDENT.

(Monetary Times.)

The decision acquitting Col. Munro of wrong-doing in connection with Farmers Bank affairs was probably anticipated. He, as the former president of the bank, was charged with unlawfully and wilfully making false and deceptive statements in returns respecting the affairs of the Farmers' Bank to the Minister of Finance and Receiver-General. The Judge's comments are significant. He found "that Mr. Munro placed every confidence in the ability, qualifications and trustworthiness of the chief accountant, J. G. Fitzgibbon, and the general manager of the bank, W. R. Travers; that he was entirely innocent of any knowledge of wrong-doing; that he was not a party to the making up of any statement which was false and deceptive. On the other hand, I find that the general manager wilfully falsified the statements and deceived the president and directors of the bank from month to month, and that he was assisted in so doing by Fitzgibbon, and, while the general manager has been prosecuted for making false statements, and having admitted his guilt, and received his sentence, his assistant in preparing and making up these false statements, has so far escaped prosecution, while Munro, who had no personal knowledge, has been prosecuted for wrong-doing."

THE BENEVOLENCE OF NATURE.

(Winnipeg Tribune.)

The return of summer conditions should mean a reduction in the cost of living, and as a matter of fact it does. The "benevolence of nature" is more than a mere sounding phrase. But the reduction of the cost of living in summer in a country like Western Canada should be marked. Naturally the outlay for fuel is the first necessary expense which feels the slackening of the tension of demand. This comes despite all commercial conditions, for in the warm weather people simply don't need to burn fuel. In the case of the cost of farm and dairy products there is also an expected decrease in prices to the consumers. The question to be answered is whether the decrease is in proportion to the "benevolence of nature." Take milk for instance. Now that the prairies, even closely adjacent to the city, are covered at such an early date with a rich, waving growth of grass, is there the corresponding decrease in the price of milk? The dairymen have to raise the price in winter but they presumably keep it at a point where there is at least a little profit. When the grass comes with such succulent abundance as now, should there not be a more generous disgorging of quart tickets in return for a dollar?

The same holds true regarding butter. In the old days good butter in summer went down into the 'teens in price. Nowadays the first class article, which the majority of people properly demand, never seems to get much below thirty. Nature is benevolent, but there may be a good deal of ground for the suspicion of many consumers that they are arbitrarily shut out, or at least partially shut out, from her benign smile.

Imperial Consolidation In Relation To The Autonomy Of The Dominion

(Ottawa Free Press)

The Toronto News, under the heading "Where are we drifting?" draws a fearful picture of the present Imperial Conference. It complains that so far it has done no constructive work for the Empire and that the delegates, led by the Canadian Prime Minister, have "devoted themselves chiefly to rejecting proposals for the closer union of the King's dominions and to devising separative projects." Such a statement is not warranted by the facts. It is a deduction founded entirely on wrong premises.

All Canadians are agreed on the wisdom, yes, the necessity of strengthening the bonds that bind the various components of the Empire; everybody is anxious to see the relationship of those parts grow more affectionate; the difference of opinion arises only over the best methods of bringing about that warmer relationship. The News, and those who think like it, believe that the only true way is by corporation, by centralisation, by throwing all the interests of the Dominion into one common pot, by physical bonds. On the other hand we venture to assert that the great mass of the Canadian people are with Sir Wilfrid Laurier in believing that this desirable welding of the Empire can only be brought to permanent fruition by co-operation as distinct from corporation, by the creation of sympathy between decentralized states, by allowing each part of the Empire to work out for itself its own salvation.

Centralized control whether it be from Downing street or from an Imperial committee, means dependence and weakness. Nations like Australia and South Africa and Canada can never rise to that state of development which they ought to achieve under the fetters of any such dependence.

* * *

The deduction drawn by the News is, as we have said, founded upon questionable premises.

Who, for instance, would imagine that the following assertion was based on an unconfirmed rumour sent from France through American news channels to the Canadian papers: "One day the cable announces that the colonial navies are to act independently of the Imperial fleets, and that the outlying dominions need not help the Mother Country when she gets into trouble. Supposing the first sentences were true, is it fair to urge that the second is a natural corollary? What exasperating rot it is to say that, because the Canadian Parliament retains to itself control of the Canadian fleet, therefore that fleet is not going to help the Mother Country in its hour of need. That is logic carried to an absurdity.

The same kind of logic crops out in this further sentence of the News: "Then comes the news that Canada is insisting on the right to make treaties with foreign countries injurious to the Empire." Canada is doing nothing of the sort. The Government which gave a tariff preference to Britain, which sent troops to South Africa to fight Britain's enemies which has systematically endeavoured to build up trade relations with Australia, New Zealand, and other of the Dominions, which has been very careful to comply with all British treaties even though some of those treaties may be against Canadian interests, is now merely maintaining the right which England has already granted of negotiating its own trade treaties without interference from outsiders.

Has any Canadian Government ever done anything that was against the interests of the Empire at large? Is there any ground for believing that Canada, at any time, will make any trade treaty that will be harmful to the other parts of the Empire? Even in this reciprocity pact, which has been so much misinterpreted by rabid Imperialists, Canada has taken good care that it shall not materially affect our trade with Britain.

But how irksome, how liable to create the opposite of good feeling, it would be if Canada were placed in the inferior position of being able to do nothing, of having no power to negotiate any treaty affecting Canada only, without asking permission of Australia, or South Africa, or New Zealand.

We are quite content to believe that New Zealand knows its own affairs best, and we have not time to bother our heads about them; and in the same way we maintain that we know more about Canadian affairs and Canadian interests than anybody else, be he Australian or a Downing street man.

Physical bondage makes not for esteem either in an individual or a nation. The more Canada were tied down to advisory boards and standing committees in which it was in the minority, the greater would be the strain upon the nation's self-respect, and the loss of self-respect would mean unrest, and the unrest would probably lead to conditions that none can contemplate without a shudder.

Under the splendid policy of freedom, the self-governing states of the Empire have proved their fitness and have developed separatively and collectively, and so far from the assertion of the News being true that "the greatest Empire in history shows signs of failing cohesion" the present and increasing unity of the Empire has been the strongest evidence to the world of the wisdom of the policy which one misguided branch of the Imperialist family would now upset and destroy.

first pages of Conservative newspapers. These articles are about as impartial, and not as well informed, as those of the Toronto Mail and Empire, or the Toronto News on the same subject, and will have even less weight with those electors who are friendly to the Liberal leader. They are frankly partisan and are chiefly interesting as showing how the political parties in Canada and England, bearing the same name, have come together in a common cause. Between the Canadian Conservatives and the English Conservatives the alliance is open and aggressive; they are at the moment equally hostile to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the trade policy of which he is the champion. The sympathy between the British and Canadian Liberals, though not so much in evidence, is probably as real. Events have been tending this way for some years, and the present situation has been hastened by the reciprocity agreement.

There are those who see in this replacement of the old attitude of respectful aloofness by a quarrelsome meddlesome a menace to Imperial unity. This is taking a much too serious view of the matter. A little plain talk on both sides will do no particular harm; it may do good.

STRONG TEMPERANCE SERMON BY THE REV. FATHER MULHEARNE

In an Inspiring Address at St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday Morning the Speaker Endorsed the Work of the Total Abstinence Society.

THE EVILS OF DRINK

Rev. Father Mulhearne, C.S.S.R., of Toronto, delivered a forcible and impressive temperance sermon at St. Peter's Cathedral, dealing particularly with the work of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society. Rev. Father Mulhearne is an eloquent speaker, whose words bring with them conviction. His remarks were, in part, as follows:

We are assembled this morning, brethren, in the interests of a Society whose cause should enlist the sympathy and soulful co-operation of every man who glories in the name of Christian, and which, I am glad to see, receives the closest attention and most enthusiastic support of most of the men of this prosperous parish. I have been invited by your esteemed pastor to speak on a subject most suitable to your needs and agreeable to your wishes. I can find nothing better than that which is inspired by the aid of the noble society of which you are loyal and enthusiastic members—the St. Peter's Total Abstinence Union. The cause of temperance deserves your homage; it is a cause most pure, most holy. The thing which is working havoc among men is the drink plague. A plague I will call it, because there is no name that is suitable to express its inhuman, hideous, and its demon-like power to harm men, young and old, strong and weak are stricken down by this plague of drink. It breaks in savagely upon the rural quietness of villages. It is in villages the thing which causes men to commit all kinds of crimes. It fills our gaols; it erects our scaffolds; it makes possible your almshouses. It ruins the peace of home, driving therefrom the affection of husband for wife, and the love of children for their parents; laughs at innocence, and brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave. This plague of drink is being fought in the diocese of Peterborough in a manner that challenges the admiration of the priests of America and Canada. Every man who loves his God, who loves his church, is devoted to his religion, who loves his home; every such man should join the St. Peter's Society, and be a devoted member of the Society as long as he lives. Besides the many spiritual advantages obtained by becoming a member of this Society there are numerous temporal advantages. There is a large reading-room, where the leading dailies and best magazines are kept, a library which is constantly being added to, commodious parlours, sitting rooms, where the most popular amusements are allowed; a large assembly hall, containing stage and piano for meetings and amateur entertainments, clean and manly athletics in the form of a gymnasium, literary and debating clubs, and there is a special feature of the society in the form of a savings bank.

I beg of you men, in the name of your pastor, to take a lively interest in this magnificent society and when you have once joined the society remain loyal and devoted members as long as you live.

BAD SQUALL AT CHEMONG LAKE

The brief thunder storm that swept over this district at about 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon was preceeded by a terrific squall which reached a climax at Chemong Lake. The water was slashed into enormous waves and the wind was so strong that logs were blow nout of Kelly's drive and washed on to the floating bridge. Several boatin gparties were caught out on the lake and had a perilous time for a few minutes, but managed to fight their way ashore.

THE DRAGOONS LEFT FOR CAMP

The 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, under the command of Capt Johnson, will leave Peterborough by to-night's train for Petawawa for their annual camp of instruction. A goodly number is expected and both officers and men anticipate a pleasant time.

FINE EXCURSION

The excursion under the auspices of the Canadian General Electric Anlers Club on Saturday afternoon was, as usual, a most enjoyable success. Over two hundred were on board the comfortable steamer Stoney Lake when she left the city, and the sail down the river to Jubilee Point was greatly enjoyed. Music was provided for dancing and this pastime was indulged in almost continuously throughout the day. The party arrived home in time to escape the storm on

ENJOYABLE TRIP

A most enjoyable excursion was held by the Zion Sunday school on Friday to Young's Point on the Steamer Geneva, the latest addition to the Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Navigation Company's fleet. A stop was made at No. 5 lock for dinner after which the sail was resumed. A number stopped at Lakefield, but the majority went on to Young's Point. Tea was partaken of on board the steamer on the way back and when the locks brideg was reached a programme of sports was run off.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

The events scheduled for to-night in the Stratton Cup contest are: Standing broad jump and half-mile run; already several records made last year have been broken, and to-night should see new figures hung up for the broad jump. The record for the half-mile is held by W. Willis, 2.05, and unless he lowers this himself it will likely stand.

The events contested on Friday were the Standing High Jump, which was won by S. Canniff, with a jump of 4 ft. 5 in. He also won the Shot Put with 35 ft. 8 in. H. Wood was a good second, in both events.

The junior contest events will be run off on Tuesday and Thursday of this week. Those taking part are requested to be on hand as soon after 4.00 p.m. as possible.

Could Not Rest at Night.

Back Was So Weak.

Weak, lame and aching backs are the primary cause of kidney trouble. When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning from the kidneys that everything is not right with them.

If you don't do this, serious complications are very apt to arise and the first thing you know you will be troubled with Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's Disease, the three most deadly forms of Kidney Trouble.

On the first sign of anything wrong Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go to the seat of the trouble and strengthen the kidneys, thereby strengthening the back.

Mrs. John Pugh, Parkdale, Man., writes: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and find nothing to beat them. I could not rest at night my back was so weak. I tried everything, but could not get anything to do me any good until I was told by a friend to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I tried them and I am not the same weak woman I was before. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

The point was that now that we felt ourselves, in a way, one of these people, and viewed the street not from the superior height of native-born Americans, but just as immigrants, neither the soiled clothes of the inhabitants nor the cluttered street swarming with laughing youngsters impressed us unfavourably at all. The impassive men smoking cigarettes at their doors looked contented enough, the women were not such as to excite pity, and if you noticed, there were as many children around the local soda water fountains as you'd find in a suburban drug store. They all had clothes enough and appeared well fed and if some of them looked pasty, the sweet stuff in the stores was enough to account for that.

At any rate we came back to our flat that day neither depressed nor discouraged, but decidedly in better spirits. Of course we had seen only the surface and I suspected that when we really got into these lives we'd find a bad condition of things. It must be so, for that was the burden of all we read. But we would have time enough to worry about that when we discovered it for ourselves.

CHAPTER VI.

I Become a Day Labourer.

That night Ruth and I had a talk about the boy. We both came back from our walk, with him more on our minds than anything else. He had been interested in everything, and had asked about a thousand questions and gone to bed eager to be out on the street again the next day. We knew we couldn't keep him cooped up in the flat all the time and, of course, both Ruth and I were going to be too busy to go out with him every time he went. As for letting him run loose around these streets with nothing to do, that would be sheer foolhardiness. It was too late in the season to enroll him in the public schools and even that would have left him idle during the long summer months.

We talked some at first of sending him off into the country to a farm. There were two or three families back where Ruth had lived who might be willing to take him for three or four dollars a week, and we had the money left over from the sale of our household goods to cover that. But this would mean the sacrifice of our emergency fund which we wished to preserve more for the boy's sake than our own, and it would mean leaving Ruth very much alone.

"I'll do it, Billy," she said bravely, "but can't we wait a day or two before deciding? And I think I can make time to get out with him. I'll get up earlier in the morning and I'll leave my work at night until after he's gone to bed."

So she would. She'd have worked all night to keep him at home and then gone out with him all day, if it had been possible. I saw it would be dragging the heart out of her to send the boy away and made up my mind right then and there that some other solution must be found for the problem. Good Lord, after I'd led her down here the least I could do was to let her keep the one. And to tell the truth I found my own heart sink at the suggestion.

I didn't know and I made up my mind to find out. The next day I went down to a settlement house, which I remembered passing at some time or other. I didn't know what it was, but it sounded like some sort of philanthropic enterprise for the neighbourhood and if so they might be able to answer my questions there. The outside of the building was not particularly attractive, but upon entering I was pleasantly surprised at the air of cleanliness and comfort which prevailed. There were a number of small boys around and in one room I saw them reading and playing checkers. I sought out the secretary and found him a pleasant young fellow, though with something of the professional pleasantness which men in this work seem to acquire. He smiled too much and held my hand a bit too long to suit me. He took me into his office and offered me a chair. I told him briefly that I had just moved down here and had a boy of ten whom I wished to keep of the streets and keep occupied. I asked him what the boys around here did during the summer.

"Most of them work," he answered.

I hadn't thought of this.

"What do they do?"

Dick was certainly too inexperienced for the first two jobs and there was nothing in my work he could do to help.

Then the man began to ask me questions. He was evidently struck by the fact that I did'nt seem to be in place here. I answered briefly that I had been a clerk all my life, had lost my position and was now a common day labourer. The boy, I explained, was not yet used to his ed to keep off the streets and keep him occupied until he got his strength.

"You're right," he answered. Why don't you bring him in here?"

"What would he do here?"

"It's a good loafing place for him and we have some evening classes."

"I want him home at nights," I answered.

"The Y. M. C. A. has summer classes which begin a little later on. Why don't you put him into some of these?"

I had always heard of the Y. M. C. A., but I had never got into touch with it, for I thought it was purely a religious organization. But that proposition sounded good. I'd passed the building a thousand times, but had never been inside. I thanked him and started to leave.

"I hope this won't be your last visit," he said, cordially. "Come down and see what we're doing. You'll find a lot of boys here at night."

"Thanks," I answered.

I went direct to the Y. M. C. A. building. Here again, I was surprised to find a most attractive interior. It looked like the inside of a prosperous club house. I don't know what I expected but I wouldn't have been started if I'd found a hall filled with wooden settees and a prayer-meeting going on. I had a lot of such preconceived notions knocked out of my head in the next few years.

In response to my questions I received replies that made me feel I'd strayed by mistake into some university. For that matter it was a university. There was nothing from the primary class in English to a professional education in the law that a man couldn't acquire here for a sum that was astonishingly small. The most of the classes cost nothing after payment of the membership fee of ten dollars. The instructors were, many of them, the same men who gave similar courses at a neighbouring college. Not only that, but the hours were so arranged as to accommodate workers of all classes. If you couldn't attend in the day time, you could at night. I was astonished to think that this opportunity had always been at my hand and I had never suspected it. In the ten years before I was married I could have qualified as a lawyer or almost anything else.

This was not all; a young man took me over the building and showed me the library, the reading-room, rooms where the young men gathered for games, and then down stairs to the well-equipped gymnasium, with its shower baths. Here a boy could take a regular course in gymnasium work under a skilled instructor, or if he showed any skill devote himself to such sports as basketball, running, baseball, or swimming. In addition to these advantages amusements were provided through the year in the form of lectures, amateur shows and music. In the summer, special opportunities were offered for outdoor sports. Moreover the Association managed summer camps where, for a nominal fee, the boys could enjoy the life of the woods. A boy must be poor indeed who could not afford most of these opportunities. And if he was out of work the employment bureau conducted here would help him to a position. I came back to the main office wondering still more how in the world I'd ever missed such chances all these years. It was a question I asked myself many times during the next few months. And the answer seemed to lie in the dead level of that other life. We never lifted our eyes; we never looked around us. If we were hard pressed either we accepted our lot resignedly, or cursed our luck and let it go at that. These opportunities were for a class which had no lot and didn't know the meaning of luck. The others could have had them, too—can have them—for the taking, but neither by education nor temperament are they qualified to do so. There's a good field for missionary work there for someone.

Before I came out of the building I had enrolled Dick as a member and picked out for him a summer course in English in which he was a bit backward. I also determined to start him in some regular gymnasium work. He needed hardening up.

I came home and announced my success to Ruth and she was delighted. I suspected by the look in her eyes that she had been worrying all day for fear there would be no alternative but to send the boy off.

"I knew you would find a way," she said excitedly.

"I wish I'd found it twenty years ago," I said regretfully. "Then you'd have a lawyer for a husband instead of a—"

"Hush," she answered, putting her hand over my mouth. "I've a man for a husband and that's all I care about."

Eczema Worse in the Spring

The Blood is Watery—Difficult to Get the Healing Process Started.

But Whatever the Cause You Can Relieve the Itching and Heal the Sores With

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Salt rheum and eczema are usually worse at this time of year because of the sudden change of temperature and the watery condition of the blood.

It is not necessary to refer to the suffering caused from the intense itching nor to the tendency of these ailments. The essential point is how to bring about cure, and if you have been reading the cures reported from time to time in this paper you will already know that there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema, salt rheum, psoriasis and every form of itching skin diseases.

This ointment stops the itching almost as soon as applied, lessens the discharge from the vesicles or blisters, cleans out the morbid growth and stimulates the process of healing.

Because other treatments have failed, you may feel discouraged. But in Dr. Chase's Ointment there is a cure for you. We know this because of the reports we have received from so many thousands of cases.

For instance, there is the cure of Mrs. Nettie Massey, of Consecon, Ont., who had psoriasis or chronic eczema so bad that almost the whole body was covered with sores, and three doctors failed to cure her. One doctor said she could never be cured. Write to Mrs. Massey about her case.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Rev. Jas. Rollins, B.A., Delivers an Interesting and Inspiring Address on the Subject of "Love and Fraternity" ---Lodge Was Well Represented.

One of the chief events which took place yesterday in connection with the services at the local churches, was the parade of the Woodmen of the World to St. Andrew's church, where an inspiring sermon was given them by the Rev. Jas. Rollins, B.A While the unsettled condition of the weather which prevailed during the earlier portion of the evening was not conducive to a large turn out, about seventy-five members were present. Following are the names of a few of the officers who turned out: Messrs. R. M. Jones, F.E.C.C., A. Graham, C.C., James Vallery, Adv. Lieut., James Kyle, B., and A. Hassill, C.

Mrs. Dorner and Miss Olive Howell, the two capable soloists of St. Andrew's, sang to great advantage during the course of the service.

First epistle of John, third chapter, 14th verse—"We know that we have passed from death into life, because we love the brethren; he that loveth not his brother abideth in death".

The word love has no place in the heathen language, in the translation of these languages it has been found necessary to introduce this word. Love is a word that is imbedded deeply in the minds of all mankind. It is a great master word of men of the community and of the church. We pass from death into life, because we love the brethren. Life is represented by brotherhood, I would like to know if you could get anything better to represent life than this. Where there is love there is the rejuvenation of society, the upbuilding of the empire. As long as love exists we will have no doubt as to the constant need of a true conception of the theological truths. The word brethren, as used here, is symbolical of the word, "neighbour," which fell from the lips of Christ Jesus, tells us that love in itself is not of sufficient force to redeem the human race. In Scotland and England, many years ago, there existed fuedalism among the clans. This state of affairs was brought about by the supposed sense of loyalty and love which existed in the various families, or clans, with the result that a constant petty warfare was waged among them with a view of augmenting the strength of the clan, so that they might appear to greater advantage among their fellow creatures.

That is one instance of where love was not of sufficient force to redeem mankind.

There exists, in communities and cities, and in various places throughout the world classes of people who are bonded together by society, wealth, and other causes, so much so that they cease to ignore their neighbours, and fellow creatures, who do not happen to be on the same social level as they. The fact remains that the spirit of fraternity, or brotherly love, seldom exists among the higher elements of society, such as we find in the larger cities. The huge icebergs that imperil the navigators of the Atlantic are soon rendered harmless by the action of the warm gulf stream, so with the vicissitudes of mankind.

The true spirit of love in mankind was strongly apparent in Livingstone," the great African explorer, who eventually laid down his life on the fever-stricken interior of Central Africa, and the true spirit of love was further exemplified in the two natives who bore Livingstone's body to the coast, encountering apparently insurmountable difficulties while on their way.

Ask men who work in the slums of the great cities if they despair of mankind; all the pessimists and the cynical ones are those who never come in contact with the sores of humanity. They just wrap their robes about closer and pass on. I would like to see existing in all organizations that true spirit of fraternity and brotherly love which is so essentially necessary for the uplifting of mankind.

Rev. Father Morrisey

A Combined Treatment That Really Cures Catarrh.

Canadian weather, with its extreme cold and sudden changes, gives almost every one Catarrh, and makes it hard to cure. Some recommend internal remedies—some external applications.

Father Morrisey used both—tablets to be taken three or four times a day to invigorate the system, purify the blood, and help it throw off the disease, and a soothing, healing, antiseptic salve to be applied inside the nostrils. This combined treatment known as attacking the disease from within and without, soon cures.

"Father Morrisey's No. 26"

Mr. A. C. Tibbedeau, General Merchant in Regonville, N.B., writes on Jan. 23rd last:

"A few words on to the merits of your Catarrh Cure. For the last 10 years I have been troubled with Catarrh of the bronchial stomach and during that time have tried all kinds of other Remedies with no results, until I tried your Catarrh Cure which I am glad to say has cured me. I highly recommend it to those who are suffering with this disease."

Canadian visitors who are now staying in London, awaiting the events of this Coronation season, are enjoying a rapid succession of delightful surprises, and not the least is the unexpected sunshine which every day for weeks has made the grey old city the most brilliant and jubilant of holiday resorts. During May a host of the Coronation festivities have been shared by Colonial and foreign visitors. To the average man the most joyous and important of them all was eclipsed by the horse races on Epsom Downs, for Wednesday was Derby day, and the Derby has long been a national institution, and the Canadian who loves a good horse, may have deemed himself exceptionally lucky who chanced to be here in the old country in such glorious weather and amid all the exciting preparations for the Coronation, and the sight of the great Derby thrown in.

The Canadian Club dinner at the close of Derby day which ended in a thunder storm and hurried the crowds back to town, the Princess restaurant in Piccadilly was a proud and joyous scene for Canadians—for it was the annual dinner of the historic old Canada Club. As usual, Lord Strathcona presided, and took occasion to announce that its latest member is the Duke of Connaught, who is to follow Earl Grey as Governor General of the Dominion.

The guest of the evening was, of course, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who sat on the chairman's right, while on Lord Strathcona's left sat the Colonial Secretary, the Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt. The speech of the evening was delivered by the silver tongued Premier, in responding to the toast of the "Dominion." He remarked that the United States was no longer the one centre of attraction to Europe; a new orb was discovered in the western sky. But, he said, we do not want to create the impression that Canada is an easy land to live in, a land of perpetual sunshine, flowing with milk and honey. Canada is a hard land and fit for hardy men. There is no part of the globe's surface where the labourer is so sure of a rich reward for his industry. All cannot be Strathconas or Mount Stephens, but with energy and ambition all may obtain in a few years a competence for themselves and their families. To such men, said Sir Wilfrid, we offer the best land in the world, which has been waiting for the tiller since creation. In concluding a speech of singular eloquence, and sincerity, the Prime Minister aroused great enthusiasm when he referred to the coming of the Duke of Connaught, under whose rule Canada would continue to be the pride of the twentieth century and the gem of the Imperial crown.

Sir Joseph Ward the Premier of New Zealand, on behalf of the guests, made a practical hint, which it may be guessed, is again engaging the present Imperial Conference. The home government should join with the Canadian and New Zealand Governments in subsidizing a fast mail steamship service which would link up in closer connection the overseas Dominions and the Mother Country.

The note of independence and virility and loyalty to the British Crown was through all the speeches of Canadians at the Canadian Club banquet, and there was no less conspicuous, the idea of Imperial co-operation. The policy of reciprocity with United States is consistent with this, and the speakers left it to the Tariff Reformers outside to talk nonsense of Imperial solidarity by means of disintegrating tariffs. Tariff Reform by means of the abandonment of England's free trade, was, as a Canadian idea, conspicuous by its absence.

The Crowns on View.

To-day in the goldsmiths in Haymarket the Royal crowns to be used at the Coronation are on view. The Imperial Crown to be worn by His Majesty cannot be matched for massed splendour. It was first made for Queen Victoria in 1838 and represented a consummation of all the pomp of conglomerate kingly heritage. The sapphires which, with the emeralds, cluster around the base, were bequeathed by Charles II. The red rubies once adorned the crown of Edward the Black Prince. The other gems of priceless value and matchless brilliance have been alike handed down from age to age and have adorned the heads of many a monarch of England's throne. The Queen's Crown, which weighs some 19 ounces, is less elaborate than the King's State Crown, but in design and fineness and delicacy of the workmanship it is more admirable. The famous Koh-i-nor diamond seems the material incarnation of Eastern mysticism—the inheritor of a thousand fables of ancient legend and Indian history. The gems that surround this proud centre piece number some three thousand and the individual brilliancy of each is maintained.

Canadian Impressions.

It is remarked that a large proportion of our London's coronation visitors are Canadians. It is, therefore, interesting to observe that they have freely expressed their delight at the appearance of London as a city and their surprise at the general kindliness of Londoners as a people for they landed with the preconceived notion that Britishers are cold and reserved towards strangers. They are correcting this misunderstanding of English character. It may be true that the proverbial reserve and exclusiveness are at this season of national rejoicing and family re-union, given way to the hospitality and fraternal greeting which is natural to the occasion. The Coronation may, therefore, be credited with the awakening of a fresh Imperial bond. But here in England Londoners are acknowledged to be more free in their intercourse with strangers than our provincials are—for in secluded rural districts shyness is the rule and may easily be mistaken for want of friendliness. In London, however, when the busy citizens have time, they are by nature communicative and friendly with strangers and foreigners and Colonial visitors have; therefore, every reason to look on London as home.

London barricades are this moment bewildering to strangers, for whose accommodation they are being erected as seats to view the procession. But these visitors will be disappointed to see that many of the most interesting and picturesque spots are hidden from the sightseers view. Westminster Abbey, the Parliament Houses, the lovely green in Westminster square with statues and flowers, are all, for the time, absolutely invisible. On Coronation Day millions of sightseers will be seated obscuring the beauties of London. There is nothing for it—if Canadian visitors would really see London, to wait till the processions have passed, and the piles of white timber have been cleared away.

Pending the sights of the Coronation procession Canadians are spending amid glorious sunshine the delights of the Coronation exhibition at Shepherd's Bush, and of the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace, or of the Navy and Army Tournament at Olympia. Canada, as is usual, is nobly represented at the exhibitions. For this occasion, at Shepherd's Bush, the impression sought to be created is not so much of Canada's capacity as an industrial and manufacturing country, but rather of its natural resources and grandeur. Instead of wheat sheaves and reaping and milling machinery, there are in the Coronation Exhibition attractive tableaux which show to all the world topographical features of the Canadian country, from Montreal and Quebec to Winnipeg and Vancouver. In this respect there is the most interesting and instructive exhibition of Canada ever seen in England. The Colonial visitors are especially gratified by the very comprehensive and educative tableaux which in realistic fashion bring to their eyes the actual sights of the beauty spots of the British Isles. Before entering the magnificent grounds of the White City, where each of the Dominions overseas is represented in the White Palaces, a winding road through "Merrie England" gives the delighted, but not wearied, traveller, the distinct impression of what he actually sees when he journeys to Windsor, Shakespeare's land and Devonport, or Cardiff, the Highlands of Bonny Scotland, Edinburgh and Glasgow, or to the Giant's Causeway or Killarney and the glorious scenes of the Green Isle.

The Naval and Military Tournament is no less a fascinating attraction daily, till its close at Olympia to-day, and Canadians have here been receiving thrilling impressions of the might and power, and skill, of the navy and army of the old country. The performances of men, and especially of the cavalry horses, is a wonder, even to the sensible folk of the new countries who think less of the childishness of the glories of war, but who can join with the youngsters in the fun and the spectacular grandeur of a glorified circus.

From Ottawa or New Brunswick, or far away Winnipeg, the Canadians will take back the most profound and thrilling and pleasing impressions from the scenes of pageant and mimic warfare at Olympia.

WEDDING BELLS

GILLESPIE—STRANG.

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, JUNE 12.—The following regarding a wedding that occurred here on Friday, will interest readers of The Examiner:

St. Joseph's church was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings of the season yesterday, when at half past three the marriage was solemnized of Agnes Bertha May Strang, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Strang, to Mr. Peter Gillespie, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gillespie of Peterborough. Rev. Father Collins officiated. The church was effectively decorated with palms. The service was fully choral, and when the party was leaving the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

The bride was given away by her father and presented a picture of girlish grace in her exquisite robe of ivory liberty satin made in empire effect, embroidered with pearls and French knots. The long train fell in graceful folds and was held by a band of satin. The brides' hat was of white crushed straw with ostrich feathers and buckles with bridal roses. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley and wore the groom's gift, a pearl and turquoise ring. The bridesmaids were the brides' sister and niece, Miss Ella Strang and Miss May Stuart, who wore extremely pretty gowns of flowered ninon veiled in embroidered chiffon and carried bouquets of pink and white roses. They wore the groom's gifts, gold rings set in precious stones. The best men were Mr. A. Devine and Mr. G. McKinnon of Ottawa. The bride's gift to to the groom was a stick pin set in pearls and to the best men silver match cases.

IT IS NOT IN THE BLOOD

Medicine Taken Internally Cannot Cure Eczema. It is Caused by Germs

Eczema cannot be overcome by ordinary treatment and the old-fashioned way of dosing the system with drugs. Eczema is caused by a parasitic germ that bores into the skin. It is generally a contagious disease. Until the parasite is completely destroyed and removed, eczema cannot be cured. Fully one-third of skin diseases are in the form of eczema.

We so thoroughly believe that Rexall Eczema Ointment will overcome eczema and allied skin ailments, that we unhesitatingly promise to promptly return the money paid us for it should it in any way be unsatisfactory to the user.

Because of its remarkable cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal, soothing and healing influence, Rexall Eczema Ointment has a very pronounced value in the treatment of skin diseases, especially where the form of ailments is of the chronic, aggravating sort. We highly recommend it for the dry scaly form or the weeping type, where there is a constant flow of ill-smelling excretion.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is very prompt in relieving pimples, blotches, skin discolourations, ringworm, acne, nettle rash, tetter, hives, ulcers, insect bites, and for healing sores and wounds. It is a pleasant smelling, grayish-white ointment, and is very cleanly for use. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

SACRED HEART WON FROM EAST CITY TEAM

An exciting game was played in the Inter-Catholic Baseball League at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, when the Sacred Heart team defeated the East City Club by 10 runs to 8. It was a close, hard-fought struggle all the way, with both teams playing good ball. The East City team were ahead 6 to 5 half way through, but the Southerners took advantage of a couple of errors and won out 10 to 8. Ross pitched his usual good game for the Sacred Heart and both Johnston and Guerin for the East City team, were effective. The batteries were Ross and Lafave, for the Sacred Heart, and Johnston, Guerin and O'Heron for East City. Mr. Geo. Aherne umpired satisfactorily. There was a good crowd of fans present and the game was greatly enjoyed.

Hearing of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, I thought they were worthy of a trial. My surprise was indeed great. From the very first I experienced relief. Continuing with them I found my troubles were slowly but surely leaving me, and before long I once more knew what it was to be free from the harassing effects of the ailments that had long sickened and weakened me. So great is my faith in Dr. Morse's Indian Pills that I shall never on any account be without them."

Several Fines Handed Out At Police Court

Two local young men were fined $4.60 in the police court this morning for being drunk and disorderly in a public place. Another well known local young man was fined $2 for being drunk.

Thos. Killingbeck was fined $2.00 for using profane language on the street in the presence of ladies.

Wm. A. Bailey, author of "Baileyisms," was fined $2.00 for being disorderly on the street. It appears that on Saturday night, Mr. Bailey was returning home, when he was accosted by Detective Newhall, who warned him that if his dog taxes were not paid by a certain date, that action would be taken by the city authorities. Mr. Bailey received the information very quietly and replied that he would attend to it. But after Mr. Newhall had gone down the street a little piece, Mr. Bailey followed, and began abusing the former for having warned him regarding the dog. Mr. Newhall stated that Mr. Bailey had called him offensive names and abused him until he found it necessary to take him into custody. In his evidence in police court, Mr. Bailey strongly denounced the poor accommodations in the police court cells, also the fact that a detective should come up and arrest him, with a short pipe in his mouth. He admitted that he smoked himself, but he thought it was not a privilege that should be allowed a detective. He brought up a lot of three-year-old evidence, showing a remarkable degree of proficiency as far as oratory was concerned. The evidence would not be accepted, however, much to the discomfort of the orator.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Barns of Mr. Hugh Fife, Otonabee, Were Destroyed

The barns of Mr. Hugh Fife, of concession 3, Otonabee, was struck by lightning during the storm Saturday morning and all the barns and outbuildings burned, together with a driving horse.

Eighteen pigs and a veal calf were also destroyed. Mr. Fife and his sons were away at the time and nothing could be done to save the stock or extinguish the blaze, the flames spreading very rapidly. The two barns and the stable were close together and all were totally destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

To-Day's Developments In The Stock Markets Examiner's Daily Letter

NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 12.—The cables are quiet and steady this morning. There is nothing new over Sunday to materially affect prices, so that the same professional trading will probably be witnessed with fluctuations. The statement of the U. S. S. Steel Co., as to the volume of unfilled orders, is better than generally expected, and the effect upon the stock should be favourable. The subway committee makes its report to the board of estimate to-day which is expected to be a compromise, giving both the interboro and the B. R. T. a slice of the territory, provided that they meet the conditions imposed by the city as regards financing and operating. Washington begins its investigation of the American Sugar Co. to-day, but as in the case of the steel trust the results will be largely in the nature of old history. Both parties in congress are playing politics with an eye to the elections next year, and their ardour for trust baiting should not be taken too seriously. While trade is still slow, the fine promise for the crops should sooner or later have the effect to stimulate a revival of industrial activity in the country, especially with the adjournment of Congress putting an end for the time, to tariff reform legislation. We feel that the market is a purchase for higher prices, but suggest picking up the better class issues for the pull.

New York, N.Y., June 12.—Bullish operations along special lines may be seen in the stock market to-day. We continue to favour the railroads, being particularly friendly to the low-priced issues. On reactions we think the general market should be bought. Atchison is well bought up so is Un. Pac. and Reading. Steel-shorts may cover on the tonnage report. Sou. Pac. is destined for higher prices. We still like the low-priced rails and think the Duluth issues should be bought at current levels.

Consols, 79 7-8 for both decline 1-8.

Liverpool, 1.30 p.m.—Wheat 7-8 lower, corn 1-2 lower.

D. & H. for April, $632,000, dec. $132,000.

Wabash, first week June, $539,000, dec. $19,000.

C. P. R., first week June, $2,071,-000, inc. $230,000.

New York, N.Y., June 12.—Although some heavy selling was evident in the leading issues after the first few minutes, the market maintained its strong tone and the early gains held fairly well. The selling of steel, common, was resumed, forcing a fractional recession, but its supply was well taken, and as the last hour ended the stock ranged still slightly above Saturday's closing. One of the features was that a 250,-000 share bear pool was formed some time ago and has outlines of shorts up to the limit for the pool account and has been engaged for some time in attempting to force liquidation by frequent drives as well as by continual predictions of pending developments that they expect will have an unfavourable influence on the market. These predictions however, are ridiculed by believers in the property. The room and street were full of bull talk about the copper stocks and that group was one of the strongest on the floor.

VALUABLE BARN WAS DESTROYED

The electric storm on Saturday evening did considerable damage in Smith Township. A new barn, said to be the best in its neighbourhood, the property of Mr. Wm. Pearson, Con. 12, Smith, was struck and burned. Some hay in the barn was also burned. The building was partly covered by insurance.

Three head of valuable cattle, the property of Mr. Bruce Fitzgerald, also of the 12th Con. of Smith, were killed also. Other damage of a minor nature such as breaking down of trees, etc., is reported, but fortunately no loss of life.

A PROMISING YOUNG MUSICIAN

The many friends of Mrs. Thomas George Ranton, of Boston (nee Miss Carrie Sutherland) youngest daughter of Mr. James Sutherland, of this city, will be pleased to hear of the success and accomplishments of her only daughter, Miss Mary Ranton. This gifted musician who is only six years of age, is a pianiste of great versatility and promises to develop into an artist of exceptional merit. At a recent recital given by Mrs. Kebbon Stearns in the Anthonie Hall, Boston, June 5th, the beautiful rendering of the "Robin Lullaby" by this little tot, captivated the audience. At the close of the performance the young artist was made the recipent of many beautiful bouquets, one of them being made up of one hundred carnations. Little Miss Mary's picture appeared in the 1908 Christmas number of the Examiner, having been taken during one of her visits to her grandfather, Mr. James Sutherland, George street.

This young and accomplished musician has made many periodical visits to this city, during which she has made a host of friends, all of whom will join in wishing her infinite success in her chosen field.

THOUGHT IT WAS CANCER

Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

SYDNEY MINES, N.S., Jan. 25th, 1910.

"For many years, I suffered torture from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Two years ago, I was so bad that I vomited food constantly and I lost 25 pounds in weight. I was afraid the disease was Cancer, but medicine gave only temporary relief.

I read about "Fruit-a-tives" and the cures this wonderful fruit medicine was making, and I decided to try it. After taking three boxes, I found a great change for the better and now I can say "Fruit-a-tives" has cured me when every other treatment failed and I reverently say "Thank God for 'Fruit-a-tives'".

24TH BATTERY LEFT FOR PETAWAWA

The 24th Battery Canadian Field Artillery left last night for their annual training at Camp Petawawa, in command of Major Dr. Young, O.C.. Considerable delay in loading the equipment was met with, due to the obstinacy of some of the horses to follow the direction of their drivers, owing to the fact that a great many of them were young and inexperienced. Some of the horses showed a strong inclintive to be balky. This, coupled with the inexperience of a number of the raw recruits, furnished considerable amusement for the large number of onlookers who were present, but after many trials and tribulations the equipment was finally loaded and the Battery got off to a good start. The Battery was never in better shape, as for the men and horses are concerned, and no doubt they will succeed in distinguishing themselves at Petawawa, under the able command of Major Young, O. C.

McLAREN RESIGNS

Presbyterian Home Mission Secretary After 9 Years of Work Gives Up His Position

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Ottawa, June 12.—The importance of the church taking a very live interest in social and industrial matters was emphasized at the Saturday meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly. After a comprehensive review of conditions all over Canada, the board of evangelism, temperance, social and moral reform made the following recommendations:

"That the general assembly hereby urge the ministers of the church to inform themselves carefully regarding the conditions of human life in their own neighborhoods, particularly as these are effected by the conditions of industry; to acquaint their congregations with these facts; to instruct their congregations in the teachings of the gospel regarding the social service; to co-operate in every effort for the attainments of the ends for which the church has declared itself.

"That the general assembly hereby request all who have charge of schools and colleges to make ample provision for instructions regarding the Christian ideal of society; and further, that it direct the governing bodies and faculties of the theological colleges to provide that the students in their care be taught the social principles of the gospel and trained in methods of applying these principles to the needs of the localities in which they shall be called to minister.

"That the general assembly hereby urge all the members of churches to give serious study of social problems and to avail themselves of their opportunities for social service; to bring that sense of justice and righteousness, which is fundamental in Christianity, to bear upon matters of every day life, in business, in society, or wherever their influence may extend, and to create a Christian public sentiment demanding the removal of wrong wherever found."

The next order of business was the reception of the report of the Home Mission Committee, and when Rev. Dr. E. D. McLaren, the Convener and secretary of the committee, rose to present the report he had a startling announcement to make. Showing signs of nervous strain, Dr. McLaren drove all thoughts of other business from the Assembly by tendering his resignation of the dual position of Convener and secretary of the Home Mission committee. For nine years he had acted as secretary, and during that time he had had, as he said, "very little home life, no intellectual relaxation, and no social enjoyment."

It was decided to accept with great regret Dr. McLaren's resignation, to place on record the Assembly's appreciation of his faithful services, to pay him his salary up to March 31, 1912, and to appoint a committee to canvass the new situation created by the resignation of the Convener, devise a course of action and report to the present Assembly.

An Unnatural Mother.

Montreal, June 12.—A threat made in court to kill her own son just as she stepped off the witness stand, caused Mrs. James Brennan to assume the role of accused forthwith. The father had been before Recorder Weir for beating the lad in the street the previous night, and the mother had been called to give evidence. When she heard the sentence of $50 or two months, she burst out:

"Two months; what do you think of that? I will kill that brat."

Constable Pelletier immediately arraigned the woman, who was required to give two bondsmen in $500 each to keep the peace for year. As she was unable to do this, three months was the alternative, and the parents both went to jail later in the day.

PETERBOROUGH HAD ANOTHER EASY VICTORY ON SATURDAY BEAT COBOURG 18 TO 5

Blue and White Team Were Always Ahead, Banging Out 15 Safeties--All Round Good Work of "Bill" Shaw Was One of the Features---O'Hearne and Quinlan Led With the Stick.

The Peterborough Midland League baseball team made its record three straight wins Saturday afternoon when they journeyed to Cobourg, accompanied by one hundred and twenty fans and walloped the Lakeshore bunch by the healthy young score of 18 to 5. The team and supporters, including quite a representation of the fair sex, went down on a special train, arriving at Cobourg at about 3.30, and it was 4 o'clock before the game was gotten under way. The battle was an easy victory for the Petes, who were in front all the way and were easily superior in the fielding, and especially at bat, the Petes banging out seventeen hits, including a homer, a triple and four doubles. McKinnon, who opened the engagement on the firing line for Cobourg, was not hit hard, but he was wild, and his support was to the buff, while Glenn, who succeeded him, was a light lunch for the blue and white team, most of the hits being made off his offerings. Quinlan held Cobourg to three scattered singles, but his control was not as good as usual and a tendency to be wild caused the most exciting moment in the game when in the fourth innings two walks and a batter hit by a pitched ball filled the sacks. The score was 6 to 0 in favour of Peterborough at this stage, but the Cobourg fans began to see a break in the clouds and they piled out along the third base line until Murphy's station was almost obliterated. Pandemonium broke loose for a few moments. Umpire Rosevear tried to drive the crowd back, but his efforts were only partially successful. There was more noise a moment later when another walk let in the first run. Then McFadden had a passed ball and another came romping in and finally a wild throw to third by Quinlan in attempting a double, sent a third over. The Cobourg fans were joyful indeed, but the next batter fanned and from then on they hadn't a look in, as Peterborough came back with three in the next innings and kept piling them up all the way through. The Cobourg batters could do nothing with Quinlan, whose support in the pinches was gilt-edged.

The Petes made a bunch of errors but few were costly and at times the fielding was decidedly snappy. Mike O'Brien distinguished himself by a one-handed stop of a wicked low drive down the first base line and Murphy grabbed a sizzling foul liner back of third from Burge's bat that was going a mile a minute. In the outfield Bill Shaw was there forty ways. He had the feature play of the day where he tore back nearly to the lake for a long fly that looked like a triple at least. He grabbed off several other flies, caught a man off second by coming in and taking the throw from Quinlan and crowned a grand day's work by driving out a home run with two on the bases. The hit travelled down the right field foul line like a bullet and he was almost across the plate before the ball was back in the infield. O'Brien had three pretty catches in centre. Quinlan and O'Hearne, with four hits each, led with the willow.

Jack Rosevear, of Port Hope umpired satisfactorily. Cobourg had almost an entirely new team from that which played here on the holiday, but the shift did not seem to bother the Petes any. The trip was a very enjoyable one for both players and fans. The story of the game by innings:

First Innings.

Murphy led off for the Petes and with two called on him, grounded along third. Glenn letting it go through. He went from second to third on Shaw's hit and scored on a passed ball. Shaw taking second. O'Hearne hit to the trees in left for a single, and with M. O'Brien at bat, another passed ball gave Shaw the plate and O'Hearne third. The batter was out for bunting the third strike foal. Quinlan walked and stole second. Rahmel was safe at first when Bulger let his grounder get away, O'Hearne scoring and Quinlan taking third and counting on McFadden's sacrifice. W. O'Brie went out third to first. Four runs, two hits.

For Cobourg, Holnbeck sent a grounder to Rahmel, who threw over first to the crowd, the runer taking second. Guy sacrificed him to third, but he was out on the way home, Quinlan to McFadden to Quinlan. Bulger, who connected safely was out on the same arrand as Holnbeck, Quinlan getting him. No runs, one hit.

Second Innings.

Craig lifted one to the short stop, Murphy walked and stole second and came home on an error by Hand, who had gone into catch, and one by Holnbeck who took the middle cushion. Shaw flew out to short and O'Hearne to centre. One run, no hits.

Burge wafted to O'Hearne. McKinnon was out, Quinlan to first. McFadden allowed the third strike on Harcourt to get away and he was safe. Niles was an easy out, pitcher to first. No runs, no hits.

Third Innings.

M. O'Brien was out on his short roller, Hand to Bulger. Quinlan missed three and Rahmel found the distance too long. No runs, no hits.

Glenn was safe on Murphy's fumble, Hand flew out to Shaw, Holnbeck forced Glenn at second and after getting second on a balk, the former was out stealing third, McFadden to Murphy. No runs ,no hits.

Fourth Innings.

Guy took McFadden's fly, but his slip-up placed W. O'Brien on second and he was sacrificed to third by Craig. Murphy walked, stole second, O'Brien scoring on a passed ball and Murphy taking third. Shaw struck out. One run, no hits.

Quinlan foun dthe fourth a troublesome one. He got the first man covering the bag, O'Brien going out after the ball. Quinlan then walked Bulger, hit Burge and walked McKinnon. The crowd got interested, in fact very much so, and pressed too close to the third base line. The Peterborough heaver refused to go on until the crowd was chased back. Rosevear called the game, whereupon Manager Burge left his bag and went at his umps in true big league style. However the line was moved back and wnen McFadden let a strike get away, it bounded into the crowd and Bulger was allowed to score on the block. Harcourt struck out, but McFadden, after droppin gthe ball, held it, to stop Burge coming in and the bases were all working. Then Quinlan forced in Burge by giving a pass to Niles, and again the bases were filled. Glenn sent a short pop half way to third, which Quinlan just managed to grab. In his haste to get the runner off third, he threw over Murphy's head and McKinnin scored, Harcourt taking the odd bag on a return wild heave to Murphy from Shaw. Hand stopped the proceeds by fanning. Three runs, no hits.

Fifth Innings.

McKinnon had commenced to wobble. He walked O'Hearne, and Niles dropped M. O'Brien's fly to left, O'Hearne taking second. Quinlan hit and with three on, a block ball sent O'Hearne home. Rahmel struck out and McFadden flew out to Holnbeck. Quinlan going to third on a passed ball and scoring with O'Brien on a wild throw from the catcher, which went to centre field, the latter being out the throw in. McFadden flew out to Holnbeck. W. O'Brien walked and stole second. Hand dropped Craig's third strike but got him at first. Three runs, one hit.

Holnbeck was out, Rahmel to first. Guy hit and went to second on Bulger's effort, on which M. O'Brien made a clever stop. Burge flew out to Murphy. No runs, one hit.

Sixth Innings.

McKinnon was relieved by Guy, who was an easy victim for the visitors. Murphy was retired at first, Shaw walked after the umpire called a pretty drive to right a foul. A double by O'Hearne, a single by M. O'Brien and a single by Quinlan followed, Shaw O'Hearne and M. O'Brien scoring. Rahmel fanned and McFadden was out, third to first. Three runs, three hits.

McKinnon grounded out, Harcourt was safe when O'Hearne juggled his contribution, Niles sacrificed Harcourt and Glenn flew out to Murphy. No runs, no hits.

Seventh Innings.

O'Brien doubled, was sacrificed by Craig, and with Murphy, who walked, scored on Shaw's homer to right. O'Hearne and M. O'Brien singled, the former scoring on Quinlan's triple and OBrien being out on the throw in. Bulger let Rahmel's grounder get away, Quinlan scoring. McFadden flew out to third. Five runs, five hits.

Shaw made a nifty catch of Hand's fly to the trees. Holnbeck connected and stole second and went to third when O'Hearne fumbled Guy's grounder. Holnbeck tallied on a block and Bulger and Burge flew out to Murphy. Two runs, one hit.

Eighth Innings.

W. O'Brien flew out to Niles, Craig dropped a hit over second, but was called out for running off the line at second. Murphy sent out a long fly to Niles. No runs one hit.

McKinnon dropped one to Rahmel, Harcourt gave W. O'Brien his first chance and Shaw took another from Hand. No runs, no hits.

Ninth Innings.

Holnbeck went in behind the bat again. Shaw, out, second to first. O'Hearne singled and took second on a passed ball. M. O'Brien popped to Rahmel. Quinlan singled and O'Hearne came in on Rahmel's double. Quinlan ended the local's end by walking into an out to the catcher. One run, three hits.

Niles and Glenn flew out to W. O'Brien, and after Holnbeck reached first and second on Murphy's fumble and his steal, Shaw ran over and took the peg from Quinlan, catching Holnbeck off second and the game was over.

Local Collegiate Team Won From Campbellford

The Peterborough Collegiate Institute Baseball team defeated Campbellford High School at Riverside Park on Saturday morning by 7 runs to 6 in a closely-fought contest, in which both teams showed good form A heavy shower of rain in the middle o fthe game made the diamond slippery, but, in spite of this handicap, some pretty fielding was done, and the game was well worth seeing.

Cresswell pitched a fine game for Peterborough, as did West, the husky box artist for Campbellford. Campbellford were ahead at one stage by 4 runs to 1, but the locals overhauled them and forged ahead. It was 7 to 4 when Campbellford went to bat in the ninth, and they managed to get two more across before the side was retired. Mr. W. J Neale was a very satisfactory umpire, his decision meeting with favour from both sides. The Peterborough team was as follows:

Hayes c., Creswell p., Craig 1b., Ray 2b., Sheehy s.s., Dixon 3b., Corkery r.f., Huycke l.f., Phelan c.f.

Two Good Games In City Juvenile League

Two fast games were played at the Oval Saturday in the City Juvenile League, particularly the first one between the Lights and Thistles, which was a pitchers pattle between Callahan and Huycke. The latter was slightly steadier and had a little better backing by his team mates. The game which was a continuation of that started on Tuesday, caused a great deal of excitment, and the crowd, as usual, were anxious to see the league leaders drop a game, but while the Lights fought hard, the Thistles managed by better team play to pull out two runs to the good, although the score at the start was 5 to 4 against them. Batteries, Thistles, Huycke, Cavanagh; Lights, Callahan, Taylor. Score 8 to 6. Umpire Neale.

In the second game the Leaves and Midgets hit the ball all over the Oval, making everything from a home run down, but some very fast double plays were made and the game was interesting throughout. Mr. Neale umpired this game also and gave perfect satisfaction. The score was 19 to 10 in favour o fthe Midgets. Batteries, Midgets Barry and Haskill. Maple Leafs, McIlmoyle and Long.

Petes Have Good Lead

As a result of Saturday's game, Peterborough has secured a substantial lead in the Midland League. Port Hope making the gap more pronounced by trimming Bowmanville 10 to 6 at Port Hope. The Petes have proved themselves a good road team by beating Port Hope and Cobourg on their grounds. This week they will get a chance on their native heath against Port Hope, Blake Crawford's team playing at Riverside Park on Saturday. The Hopers have unearthed a pitching phenom who held Bowmanville to a couple of scattered hits on Saturday and fanned twelve. They expect, with the new star on the firing line, to beat Peterborough here on Saturday. The standing to date is as follows:

DYSPEPSIA
Can Be Cured.

This disease is the all prevailing malady of civilized life, and one which oftenest baffles all ordinary treatment. It gives rise to a great variety of distressing symptoms, such as distress after eating, rising and souring of food, wind in the stomach, heartburn, etc.

Nearly everything that enters a weak dyspeptic stomach acts as an irritant; hence the great difficulty of effecting a cure.

The long train of distressing symptoms, which render life a burden to the victim of dyspepsia, may be promptly cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters.

B.B.B. regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, stimulates secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, purifies the blood, and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. Herman Dishaw, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia, and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured, and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

FIRE AT OMEMEE

The severe storm, which passed over this district on Saturday night, caused considerable damage in the vicinity of Omemee, and west. ALL SAINTS' TEAM WON CHURCH LEAGUE FIXTURE—Y. M. C. A. DEFAULT GAMES

The return match between the St. James' and the Y. M. C. A. teams, which should have taken place on Saturday, was abandoned. The Y. M. C. A. decided not to contest the game.

Park Street and St. John's postponed their fixture until Monday evening, thus the only match that was decided on Saturday was between All Saints and Knox, in which the Saints defeated Knox, after a hard game by the odd goal. St. James' and All Saints' are practically tied for top place in the league. St. James' have still three matches to play and All Saints 4. St. John's is by no means out of the running, and Cold Springs may upset a great many calculations yet. In fact, the league is in a very interesting stage at the present time.

MORMONS A MENACE

Presbyterian Assembly is of This Opinion and Favours an Aggressive Campaign Against the Community

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Ottawa, June 13.—The menace of the Mormon community to Canada was emphasized at the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday, which went on record in favor of an active campaign against it. The matter came up on the report of a special committee, which was presented by Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark of Montreal.

That the Mormons were, as a rule, a sober and industrious people was the opinion of Rev. Dr. McLaren of Vancouver. But their religion propounded some abominable principles and their morals were a positive danger to Canada. The number of marriages and progeny appealed to a Mormon, but was distasteful to a Canadian. They had attained great power in the United States and talked of getting the balance of political power in Alberta, if not in all Canada. The Mormons voted together, and a corporate vote was always dangerous, and not desired in Canada. Mormonism was more of a menace than Roman Catholicism, because the Mormon priest had a greater hold on the people. "We don't want this sort of thing in Canada," said Dr. McLaren, "and the main remedy is to preach the gospel in the very centres where Mormonism is making a stand."

Mormonism was really under the protection of the politician, and therefore difficult to get at, stated Rev. Dr. Pringle of Sydney. Their morals were low and should not be allowed in Canada.

That the Mormons were the most dangerous people in the west because of their activities was the statement by Rev. D. W. Reid of Calgary. He referred to their bringing 500 girls from Great Britain to Utah, and said there were many objectionable features to their worship. They had a male god and a female god and taught that the more marriages and the more children a man had the higher would be his position in heaven. They claim to have 3,000 missionaries to propagate their principles and one little town is said to have sent out thirty. Their strength in South Alberta is claimed to be 20,000 and two members are in the Legislature.

The following motion, moved by Rev. Dr. Clark, was then carried by the assembly:

"The assembly deems it advisable to call attention to the danger that necessarily attaches to the existence of Mormonism in any country, and to utter a warning against the insidious methods employed by Mormon missionaries, while frankly acknowledging all that can be fairly urged in behalf of Mormons and Mormonism, the assembly regards with deep regret and grave anxiety:

"The detestable doctrine held and preached by the Mormon Church.

"The extravagant political ambitions cherished by the Mormons.

"The absolute obedience to their religious leaders, required of the members of the organization, not only in their religious, but also in their material and political relationships.

"The assembly very cordially endorses the important work that is being carried on by the home mission committee in the Mormon district, commends it most heartily to the sympathetic and prayerful interest of the whole church, and requests the committee to give special attention to this department of the work during the present year and bring in such recommendations to the next general assembly as they may deem wise."

The "ne temere" decree will come before the assembly to-night, and there is every indication that this question will receive a great deal of attention. Already the matter has been touched upon in the report of the board of social and moral reform, and was referred to a special committee by the assembly. Rev. Dr. Duval of Winnipeg, and F. H. Larkin of Seaforth have also presented a motion on the question. This motion was read at the assembly and was referred to the committee without any vote being taken. Dr. Duval stated that it was put in purely as a basis for the committee to work on.

Big Dry Dock For Toronto.

Ottawa, June 13.—J. B. Miller of the Polson Iron Works was here yesterday to see the Minister of Public Works in reference to the subsidy which is to be given to the dry dock which is to be built at the foot of Frederick street.

The plans for the dock have been approved by J. G. Sing, the departmental engineer at Toronto and provide for a dock to cost $900, and big enough to take care of the largest boats on the lakes. Mr. Pugsley is expected to give an early assent to the proposal.

Popular Elections of U. S. Senators.

Washington, June 13.—The Senate, by 64 to 24, passed the resolution amending the constitution to provide for election of Senators by direct popular vote. The Bristow amendment, giving to the Federal Government supervision of such elections, was adopted 46 to 44, the vice-president casting the deciding ballot. The House has already passed the resolution.

A CROWLESS ROOSTER.

He Will Be Bred by a Missouri Poultry Wizard.

Kansas City, June 13.—"The crow must go." This is the edict of Missouri. In this day of alarm clocks the people of this state have asked in vain to be shown the use of the rooster's crow. They admit that the rooster himself is a necessity, so F. I. Welborn of Kansas City, who is a sort of Luther Burbank of poultry, has set out to eliminate the now useless crow. He has determined to evolve a crowless rooster.

Already he had produced a well nigh wingless chicken, which must of necessity stay on the home side of fences which would not halt even a scrawny-legged army veteran for a mere moment. Having achieved this wingless victory, his neighbors were strong for recognizing his services by the presentation of a medal. The hen scientist told them to wait a while and he would show them a real boon in the shape of a silent rooster. They declare that if he is able to produce this sleep producer, they will not stop until his manly bosom is adorned with the Carnegie hero medal.

Chatham Manufacturer Dead.

Chatham, June 13.—James S. Gray, secretary-treasurer of the firm of Wm. Gray & Sons, carriage manufacturers, passed away suddenly at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, aged 47 years and 10 months. He had not been in good health for some years, but the end came with a suddenness that was a shock to his wide circle of friends.

The late James Scott Gray was born in Chatham, a son of the late William Gray, founder of the Gray Carriage Works. He is survived by his brother and partner, Robert Gray, president of the company. He was educated here in the public and high school, and after two years' college course, went into the factory, where he has been secretary-treasurer ever since the incention of the present firm.

PERJURY CHARGED

Colborne Auctioneer is Placed Under Arrest in Connection With Brimacombe Murder Case

SEARCHING INQUIRY

Colborne, June 13.—A sensation was caused here late yesterday afternoon by the arrest of Henry Hicks, auctioneer, of Colborne, on a charge of perjury in connection with the trial of Henry (Son) Matthews for the murder of Josephine Brimacombe. Matthews was acquitted on April 15 last.

Hicks was arrested by John Miller, provincial detective, who, it is understood, has been for some time quietly at work on the case, as the result of the crown's dissatisfaction with the conflicting nature of the testimony at the trial.

The evidence given by Hicks decidedly strengthened the side of the defence, as he swore positively that he was in the Bristol Hotel on the night that the Brimacombe girl, a waitress, met her death, and had seen her alive after Matthews had left the hotel.

Hicks was taken to Cobourg by Chief Jameson and lodged in the jail there.

Perjury Somewhere.

Toronto, June 13.—There was perjury at the trial of Charles Watkins for assault upon Harold Barrod. That's what Magistrate Kingsford said in the Police Court yesterday morning. Two men swore that Watkins struck Barrod and three swore he did not. The two were believed.

F. B. Skimms, George Browning and John Glean were the trio who failed to gain credence, while the stalwarts who upheld the truth against odds were Barrod and Charles Taylor, who will wish Han when the Hotels Shut place in Smith's hotel. Watkins went to jail for sixty days.

Kryptok Lenses

The Only Perfect 2-Vision Lenses

Kryptok Lenses embody two pieces of glass, of different refraction, cemented with intense heat into one, and ground into a lens having two distinct focal points.

There is no cement—no clouding of vision—no edges to catch dust or to become cracked and jagged in cleaning. Kryptok lenses look indistinctly, barring accidental breakage. A cracked lens may separate at any time and become useless.

Read through the lower part of Kryptoks (near vision)

Look through the upper part of Kryptoks (far vision)

Kryptok lenses are absolutely smooth on BOTH sides.

Try the Candle Test—If the reading wafer of your glasses separates from the lens when subjected to gentle heat, your glasses are not Kryptoks. The Optical fits genuine Kryptoks.

Too Soon to Consider.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 13.—Word was received here yesterday from the Canadian Minister of Justice that a reprieve for Mrs. Angelina Neapolitano, sentenced to be hanged August 9 for the murder of her husband, could not be considered so far in advance of the date of execution.

Petitions urging a reprieve are being circulated in many Canadian and American cities.

Arrangements have been made for the prisoner to be taken to a maternity hospital next month.

Congregational Union.

Kingston, June 13.—The Congregational Union closed its sessions last night. An invitation received from Zion Church, Montreal, for the next meeting place, was accepted.

Rev. H. I. Horsey of Ottawa, who spoke on the ministry and social and moral reform, expressed great regret that Parliament, had re-sanctioned professional gambling on racetracks, and that the law did not prohibit the sending and reporting of racing information.

Babe Gave Alarm.

Ingersoll, June 13—Spontaneous combustion is thought to have been the cause of a fire which early yesterday morning damaged the building and stock of Walley's drug store to the extent of probably $1,500 or $1,800.

Mrs. Orme, wife of W. H. Orme, photographer, whose studio and living apartments are over the drug store, wakened shortly before four o'clock to find the room filled with smoke. A baby, probably made restless by the smoke, wakened her and probably saved the lives of the whole family, as Mr. Orme was almost overcome by the smoke.

Wants to Leave Husband.

Montreal, June 13.—Mrs. Guiseppe de Lorenzo, who disappeared mysteriously from her home at 758 St. James street on Monday last, and afterwards wrote to her mother saying that she was in the hands of a "black hand" gang, appeared at the court house on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of securing a separation from her husband.

Mrs. De Lorenzo, who was accompanied by her two children, refused to give any explanation of her conduct. She said that she had not been outside of the city.

Used a Monkey Wrench.

St. Catharines, June 13.—Albert Durand yesterday afternoon appeared before Judge Carman charged with aggravated assault on William Baker on Wednesday last aboard the steamer Wacondah. Evidence showed that Durand used a monkey wrench to good effect on Baker's head, following a lively argument between the two men. Durand was sentenced to 20 days' imprisonment in the county jail.

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

The way she said it made me feel that after all being a man was what counted and that if I could live up to that day by day, no matter what happened, then I could be well satisfied. I guess the city directory was right when before now it couldn't define me any more definitely than, "clerk." And there is about as much man in a clerk as in a valet. They are both shadows.

The boy fell in with my plans eagerly, for the gymnasium work made him forget the study part of the programme. The next day took him up there and saw him introduced to the various department heads. I paid his membership fee and they gave him a card which made him feel like a real club man. I tell you it took a weight off my mind.

On the Monday following our arrival in our new quarters, I rose at five-thirty, put on my overalls and had breakfast. I ate a large bowl of oatmeal, a generous supply of flapjacks, made of some milk that had soured, sprinkled with molasses, and a cup of hot black coffee—the last of a can we had brought down with us among the left-over kitchen supplies.

For lunch Ruth had packed my box with cold cream-of-tartar biscuit, well buttered, a bit of cheese, a little bowl of rice pudding, two hard-boiled eggs and a pint of cold coffee. I kissed her good-bye and started out on foot for the street where I was to take up my work. The foreman demanded my name, registered me, told me where to find a shovel, and assigned me to a gang under another foreman. At seven o'clock I took my place with a dozen Italians and began to shovel. My muscles were decidedly flabby, and by noon I began to find it hard work. I was glad to stop and eat my lunch. I couldn't remember a meal in five years that tasted as good as that did. My companions watched me curiously—perhaps a bit suspiciously—but they chattered in a foreign tongue among themselves and rather shied away from me. On that first day I made up my mind to one thing—I would learn Italian before the year was done, and know something more about these people and their ways. They were the key to the contractor's problem and it would pay a man to know how to handle them. As I watched the boss over us that day it did not seem to me that he understood very well.

From one to five the work became an increasing strain. With even my athletic training I wasn't used to such a prolonged test of one set of muscles. My legs became heavy, my back ached, and my shoulders finally refused to obey except under the sheer command of my will. I knew, however, that time would remedy this. I might be sore and lame for a day or two, but I had twice the natural strength of those short, close knit foreigners. The excitement and novelty of the employment helped me through those first few days. I felt the joy of the pioneer—felt the sweet sense of delving in the mother earth. It touched in me some responsive chord that harked back to my ancestors who broke the rocky soil of New England. Of the life of my fellows bustling by on the earth-crust overhead—those fellows of whom so lately I had been one—I was not at all conscious. I might have been at work on some new planet for all they touched my new life. I could see them peering over the wooden rail around our excavation as they stopped to stare down at us, but I did not connect them with myself. And yet I felt closer to this old city than ever before. I thrilled with the joy of the constructor, the builder, even in this humble capacity. I felt superior to those for whom I was building. In a coarse way I suppose it was a reflection of some artistic sense—something akin to the creative impulse. I can say truthfully that at the end of that first day I came home—begrimmed and sore as I was—with a sense of fuller life than so far I had ever experienced.

I found Ruth waiting for me with some anxiety. She came into my soil stained arms as eagerly as a bride. It was good. It took all the soreness out of me. Before supper I took the boy and we went down to the public baths on the waterfront and there I dived and splashed and swam like a young whale. The sting of the cold salt water was all the further balm I needed. I came out tingling and fit right then for another nine-hour day. But when I came back I threatened our first week's savings at the supper-table. Ruth had made more hot griddle-cakes and I kept her at the stove until I was ashamed to do it longer. The boy, too, after his plunge, showed a better appetite than for weeks.

CHAPTER VII.

Nine Dollars a Week.

The second day, I woke up lame and stiff, but I gave myself a good brisk rub down and kneaded my arm and leg muscles until they were pretty well limbered up. The thing that pleased me was the way I felt towards my new work that second morning. I'd been a bit afraid of a reaction—of waking up with all the romance gone. That, I knew, would be deadly. Once let me dwell on the naked material facts of my condition and I'd be lost. That's true, of course, in any occupation. The man who works without an inspiration of some sort is not only discontented, but a poor workman. I remember distinctly that when I opened my eyes and realized my surroundings, and traced back the incidents of yesterday to the ditch, I was concerned principally with the problem of a stone in our path upon which we had been working. I wanted to get back to it. We had worked upon it for an hour without fully uncovering it, and I was as eager as the foreman to learn whether it was a ledge rock or just fragment. This interest was not associated with the elevated road for whom the work was being done, nor the contractor who had undertaken the job, nor the foreman who was supervising it. It was a question which concerned only me and Mother Earth who seemed to be doing her best to balk us at every turn. I forgot the sticky, wet clay in which I had floundered for nine hours, forgot the noisome stench which, at times, we were forced to breathe, forgot my lame hands and back. I recalled only the problem itself and the skill with which the man they called Anton handled his crow bar. He was a master of it. In removing the smaller slabs which lay around the big one he astonished me with his knowledge of how to place the bar. He'd come to my side where I was prying with all my strength, and, with a wave of his hand for me to stand back, would adjust two or three smaller rocks as a fulcrum and then, with the gentlest of movements, work the half-ton weight inch by inch, to where he wanted it. He could swing the rock to the right or left, raise or lower it, at will, and always he made the weight of the rock, against which I had striven so vainly, do the work. That was something worth learning. I wanted to get back and study him. I wanted to get back and finish uncovering that rock. I wanted to get back and bring the job as a whole to a finish, so as to have a new one to tackle. Even at the end of that first day I felt I had learned enough to make myself a man of greater power than I was the day before. And always in the background was the unknown goal to which this toil was to lead. I hadn't yet stopped to figure out what the goal was, but that it was worth while I had no doubt for I was no longer stationary. I was a constructor. I was in touch with a big enterprise of development.

I don't know that I've made myself clear. I wasn't very clear in my own mind then, but I know that I had a very conscious impression of the sort which I've tried to put into words. And I know that it filled me with a great big joy. I never woke up with any such feeling when with the United Woollen. My only thought in the morning then was how much time I must give myself to catch the six-thirty. When I reached the office I hung up my hat and coat and sat down to the impersonal figures like an automaton. There was nothing of me in the work and there couldn't be. How petty it seemed now! I suppose the company as an industrial enterprise, was in the line of development, but that idea never penetrated as far as the clerical department. We didn't feel it any more than the adding machines do.

Ruth had a good breakfast for me and when I came into the kitchen she was trying to brush the dried clay off my overalls.

"Good Heavens!" I said, "don't waste your strength doing that."

She looked up from her task with a smile.

"I'm not going to let you get slack down here," she said.

"But those things will look just as bad again five minutes after I've gone down the ladder."

"But I don't intend they shall look like this on your way to the ladder," she answered.

"All right," I said, "then let me have them. I'll do it myself."

"Have you shaved?" she asked.

I rubbed my hand over my chin. It wasn't very bad and I'd made up my mind I wouldn't shave every day now.

"No," I said. "But twice or three times a week—"

"Billy!" she broke in, "that will never do. You're going down to your new business looking just as ship-shape as you went to the old. You dont belong to that contractor; you belong to me."

In the meanwhile the boy came in with my heavy boots which he had brushed clean and oiled. There was nothing left for me to do but to shave and I'll admit I felt better for it.

"Do you want me to put on a high collar?" I asked.

"Didn't you find the things I laid out for you?"

I hadn't looked about. I'd put on the things I took off. She let me back into the bed room, and over a chair I saw a clean change of under clothing and a new grey flannel shirt.

"Where did you get this?" I asked.

"I bought it for a dollar," she answered. "It's too much to pay. I can make one for fifty cents as soon as I get time to sew."

That's the way Ruth was. Every day after this she made me change after I came back from my swim, into the business suit I wore when I came down here, and which now, by contrast, looked almost new. She even made me wear a tie with my flannel shirt. Every morning I started out clean-shaven and with my work clothes as fresh as though I were a contractor myself. I objected at first because it seemed too much for her to do to wash the things every day, but she said it was a good deal easier than washing them once a week. Incidentally that was one of her own little schemes for saving trouble and it seemed to me a good one; instead of collecting her soiled clothes for seven days and then tearing herself all to pieces with a whole hard forenoon's work, she washed a little every day. By this plan it took her only about an hour each morning to keep all the linen in the house clean and sweet. We had the roof to dry it on and she never ironed anything except perhaps the table-cloths and handkerchiefs. We had no company to cater to and as long as we knew things were clean that's all we cared.

We got around the rock all right. It proved not to be a ledge after all. I, myself, however, didn't accomplish as much as I did the first day, for I was slower in my movements. On the other hand, I think I improved a little in my handling of the crow-bar. At the noon hour I tried to start a conversation with Anton, but he understood little English and I knew no Italian, so we didn't get far. As he sat in a group of his fellow countrymen laughing and jabbering he made me feel distinctly like an outsider. There were one or two English-speaking workmen besides myself, but somehow they didn't interest me as much as these Italians. It may have been my imagination, but they seemed to me a decidedly inferior lot. As a rule they were men who took the job only to keep themselves from starving and quit at the end of a week or two only to come back when they needed more money.

I must make an exception of an Irishman I will call Dan Rafferty. He was a big, blue-eyed fellow, full of fun and fight, with a good-natured contempt of the Dagoes, and was a born leader. I noticed, the first day, that he came nearer being the boss of the gang than the foreman, and I suspect the latter himself noticed it, for he seemed to have it in for Dan. There never was an especially dirty job to be done but what Dan was sent. He always obeyed, but he used to slouch off with his big red fist doubled up, muttering curses that brought out his brogue at its best.

Are You Anaemic or Bloodless?

If So, the Spring is a Most Trying Time for You.

Your Hope Rests in Getting the Blood Rich and Red by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Shortness of breath and fatigue with slight exertion, failure of the vital organs to properly perform their functions, and pallor of the gums and eyelids, are among the indications of anaemia or bloodlessness.

The blood is thinner and more watery in the spring than at any other season ,and for this reason the person who is subject to anaemia, or lack of blood, suffers the most.

You must increase the number of red corpuscles in the blood, and this can best be done by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This great restorative treatment does not merely stimulate the organs to renewed activity, but cures by building up the system. For this reason its benefits are both natural and lasting.

Sleeplessness, indigestion, neuralgic and sciatic pains and weakness and irregularities of the vital organs become a thing of the past when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

It is only natural that you should get strong and well when this building-up treatment is used, for it supplies to the blood in condensed and easily assimilated form the elements which go to form new, rich blood.

Your digestive system has failed to extract sufficient nutrition from the food you eat, and hence the necessity of such direct nourishment as is supplied to the blood by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

MIRACULOUS RESULTS— IN DUNVEGAN, C.B.

GIN PILLS Brought Relief

"I suffered untold misery even when under treatment from the best doctors for over ten months, and nothing seemed to do me any good or relieve my painful condition. My trouble was Inflammation of Kidneys and Bladder.

I finally determined to go to the Victoria Hospital, Halifax ,for treatment.

Two days, however, before my intending departure, a neighbor called and happening to have a GIN PILL in his pocket, insisted on my taking it. I did so and six hours after taking it, the results and benefits I derived were simply nothing more or less than miraculous. Instead of going to the hospital, I sent for a box of GIN PILLS with the result that I am a cured man. I recommend GIN PILLS to everyone suffering from Kidney Trouble."

QUAINT MARRIAGE NOTICE.

William Cullen Bryant Broke the News Gently to His Mother.

The following letter from William Cullen Bryant to his mother, quoted by Professor Chubb in "Stories of Authors," indicates that the author of "Thanatopsis" could enjoy his little joke on occasion:

"Dear Mother—I hasten to send you the melancholy intelligence of what has lately happened to me. Early on the evening of the eleventh day of the present month I was at a neighboring house in this village. Several people of both sexes were assembled in one of the apartments, and three or four others, with myself, were in another. At last came in a little elderly gentleman, pale, thin, with a solemn countenance, pleuritic voice, hooked nose and hollow eyes. It was not long before we were summoned to attend in the apartment where he and the rest of the company were gathered. We went in and took our seats. The little elderly gentleman with the hook nose prayed, and we all stood up. When he had finished most of us sat down. The gentleman with the hooked nose then muttered certain cabalistic expressions, which I was too much frightened to remember, but I recollect that at the conclusion I was given to understand that I was married to a young lady of the name of Frances Fairchild, whom I perceived standing by my side and whom I hope in the course of a few months to have the pleasure of introducing to you as your daughter-in-law, which is a matter of some interest to the poor girl, who has neither father nor mother in the world."

SHIELDED THE LADY.

A Tactful Head Waiter Balked an Offensive Hotel Guest.

To illustrate an incident that occurred in a hotel uptown the other night, where, if you are not known, you have to produce some sort of patent of absolute respectability, construct a rectangle, lettering the imaginary diagonal corners A, B, C and D: A represents a solitary male person dining. B represents a comely person of the opposite sex seated at another table with a party. C represents a head waiter and D a group of the unemployed waiters. Let the line AB represent an admiring look that travels continuously. BA represents a look of annoyance. CA and CB are comprehending glances directed by the head waiter.

The point C moves toward D, making a triangle. After a whispered direction a figure which may be termed O, because it represents a particularly rotund waiter, moves from the point D until it reaches a point on the line AB. O moves back to position.

A finds that his ogle stops at O, which he cannot see through, and calls O to take an order. Thereupon C motions toward D, when another waiter, traveling on the line DA, effects a junction with A and goes off at a tangent. A cranes his neck, stretching to one side or the other, but it cannot get past O. The result is that A finally sees what is up, finishes his coffee in sheepish disgust and leaves the room. —New York Sun.

Astrology With Risks.

Formerly they had rough and ready modes of testing claims to supernatural powers.

"Dost thou know where thou wilt pass Christmas?" asked Henry VII. of an astrologer. He could not tell.

Whereupon the king's grace, which did love a merry jest, made answer, "Then I am wiser than thou, for I know that thou wilt spend Christmas in prison."

John Galeazzo, duke of Milan, is said to have made even merrier at the expense of an astrologer who foretold him that he would die early.

"And how long do you expect to live?" he inquired of the prophet.

"My lord, my star promises me a long life."

"Never trust to your star, man; you are to be hanged today," and the duke took care that his own prediction should be fulfilled.

"I can't see," he said, "why we may not become platonic lovers."

"I can," she replied, "unless you think you will be able to support a wife as soon as it develops into something else."—Chicago Record-Herald.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Sermons by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

The Bible Interpreted

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—Pastor Russell preached here twice to-day to great audiences. Both addresses were out of the ordinary and well calculated to make the hearers sit up and take notice. We report one of these discourses from a text we never before heard treated and did not even know was in the Bible (Acts ii, 34): "For David is not ascended into the heavens."

The Old Testament Scriptures we accept as of equal authority with the New Testament, said Pastor Russell, because Jesus and the Apostles so accepted them, and indeed based all of their teachings upon them. The false impression which has gone abroad amongst Christian people, that the Old Testament Scriptures are obsolete, that their predictions have all been fulfilled, is very erroneous. This has greatly hindered Bible study, and has paved the way to grievous errors. It should be remembered that the Old Testament represents the only Divine revelation made to man during the 4,158 years from the creation to the time when Jesus at His baptism was proclaimed "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world."

In all the Old Testament, from Genesis to Malachi, not a single suggestion is offered of a change of nature from human to spiritual, nor of any other heaven than that which God had originally provided for man—the Garden of Eden. The hopes inspired in Israel by the Divine promises pointed them forward to the time when God's blessing would obliterate the curse of sin and death and uplift mankind from present degradation, back to the original perfection. The Seed of the woman, it was promised, should ultimately "crush the Serpent's head," destroying the evil that is in the world, and establishing a reign of righteousness instead of the reign of sin and death. Messiah, as Emmanuel, would bring these great blessings to Israel; and, through Israel, they would be spread amongst all nations by Divine power. Paradise, lost through disobedience, will be restored through Messiah.

Instead of expecting a change of nature from human to spiritual, the teachings of the Old Testament led the Israelites to expect that God would make no change from His original purpose. He made not the earth to be destroyed by fire nor to be perpetually under the cloud of sin and death (Ecclesiastes i, 3). He formed it to be inhabited by a human race, in His own image and likeness, Adam in his original purity being a sample.

As the Old Testament tells nothing about a heavenly condition, likewise it tells nothing about a hell of fire or torment. Such devilish theories were invented by the heathen, from whom many Christians have since absorbed more or less of the false doctrines. The Law and the Prophets do refer to hell some sixty-six times, but the hell which they teach is the grave, the tomb, the state of death. From first to last all mankind, both good and bad, go to hell, sheol, the tomb, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and all the Prophets died without giving the slightest intimation of Purgatorial suffering for anybody, or a hell of eternal torture.

The writers of the New Testament were also Jews, and it might here be noted that nowhere did they describe the Hell and Purgatory which we Protestants and Catholics conjured up during the Dark Ages. The New Testament, written in Greek, is in full accord with the Old Testament, written in Hebrew—the sheol of the latter is the hades of the former. Unfortunately our translators have, in the English Bible, mixed things up in a terrible fashion, giving us hell and pit and grave as synonymous interpretations of sheol and hades. "Orthodoxy" made hell fiery and thus our eyes of understanding have been darkened through the machinations of our great Adversary, "the Prince of darkness."

But all this demoniacal misrepresentation of the Divine character and Plan is soon to be scattered. The morning is at hand; the Prince of light, the Saviour, Messiah and His glorious Church, will soon shine forth as the Sun in the Kingdom of the Father, while Satan will be bound for that thousand years that he may deceive the people no more. "Then all the blind eyes shall be opened and all the deaf ears shall be unstopped"; and "the knowledge of the glory of the Lord shall fill the whole earth"; and "to Jesus every knee shall bow and every tongue confess, to the glory of God."

All through the Scriptures natural sleep is used as a figure for death, as the present time of the reign of sin is represented as a night time, and the coming reign of Messiah is prophetically described as the morning of a New Day, a New Epoch. "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning," wrote David. The night has lasted for six thousand years; the New Day is the seventh-thousand, the Sabbath of the great week. It will be the awakening time, as the six thousand years of the reign of sin and sorrow are the time in which our race has been going down into death—into the deep sleep from which none will come forth except by the call of Messiah.

The penalty of death upon our race would have blotted us out of existence like the brute beasts had not God's mercy from the beginning made provision for a Redeemer and for His Church and joint-heir; and for the Messianic Kingdom; and for the resurrection, the awakening of all mankind, through this Kingdom. It was in view of that hope of a resurrection of the dead that believers spoke of their deceased friends as falling asleep.

This expression is used frequently in the New Testament. St. Stephen fell asleep in death; St. Paul, having in mind the great work of Christ on behalf of the world and the eventual awakening of all, declared that believers need not sorrow as others over the death of their friends and neighbors, but might realize that all "sleep in Jesus," and that eventually God, through Him, will bring to pass the general awakening of the dead, all of whom are yet to be brought to a knowledge of the truth that they may be saved from sin and death and obtain Restitution (Acts iii, 19-23).

Pastor Russell quoted the Scripture, "Abraham slept with his fathers," and declared that Abraham's fathers were heathen men. He called attention to the fact that good and bad, kings and princes and others, are, in the Scriptures, declared to have fallen asleep. So it was with David. These all slept in the Bible hell—in the tomb. They are all unconscious; as the Scriptures declare, "The dead know not anything, their sons come to honor and they know it not; they come to dishonor and they perceive it not of them"; "There is neither wisdom nor knowledge nor device in sheol (hell, the grave), whither thou goest"—whither all go (Job xiv, 21; Ecclesiastes ix, 10).

The Prophet David declared his faith in a resurrection of the dead when he wrote, "Thou wilt not leave My Soul in hell (sheol, the grave), nor suffer Thine Holy One to see corruption (Psalm xvi, 10). St. Peter (Acts ii, 25-31) calls our attention to the fact that the Prophet David did see corruption, and hence that this statement was not in regard to himself but Jesus—that the soul of Jesus was not left in sheol (Greek, hades); and, additionally, the flesh of Jesus was not allowed to corrupt.

St. Peter was pointing out the fulfilment of this prophecy of the resurrection of Jesus from the dead on the third day, when he made use of our text, "David is not ascended into the heavens; * * * his sepulchre is with us unto this day." St. Peter's argument is that David was in his sepulchre and was still dead, but that his words were a prophetic reference to Jesus' resurrection.

Many Christian people repeat every Sunday what is styled the Apostles' Creed, which declares the crucifixion and death of Jesus and His descent into hell—into hades—and that "God raised Him from the dead on the third day." All intelligent Christians understand that the hell to which Jesus went was not Purgatory nor a place of eternal suffering, but the grave, sheol, the tomb, the state of death. This is proved to be the Apostle's thought by the words, "God raised Him from the dead, for it was not possible that He should be holden" of death.

King David will not go to heaven, said Pastor Russell, and he will not desire to go to heaven, for the same reason that a fish has no desire to perch upon the limb of a tree nor a bird to make its home under the water. As these animals have natures distinct and are adapted to the conditions which God has provided, so the nature of man, even when brought to human perfection, will enjoy and appreciate more the earthly blessings which God has provided for him than he would enjoy the heavenly blessings which God has provided for the Elect "little flock"—"the Church of the First-Borns" (Hebrews xii, 23).

The reason for this is plain when we remember the Apostle's words. He declares, "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, neither can he know (appreciate) them, for they are spiritually discerned" (I. Corinthians ii, 14). Only those who have been begotten of the Holy Spirit are enabled to understand the deep things, the spiritual things of the Divine promise, and to rejoice therein, as the Apostle explains (I. Corinthians ii, 9, 10).

And even when thus spirit-begotten and with their affections set on things above, the Lord's consecrated "little flock" experience difficulty in keeping their affections on the Heavenly things and off of the earthly things, because the latter appeal to them continually through all of their earthly senses. They are therefore exhorted to "look not at the things that are seen, but at the things that are unseen," which "eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the great things which God has in reservation for those that love Him"—love Him more than they love houses or lands, parents or children, or self.

We can plainly see, then, that without this begetting of the Holy Spirit, which belongs, of course, to the servants and handmaidens of God during this Gospel Age, none are able to appreciate the things unseen. And hence the world of mankind in general, brought back to perfection—and all the way back, appreciating human perfection—will be willing not to sacrifice their earthly nature to obtain a heavenly, but will enjoy the earthly, under perfect conditions, in a Paradise restored, (Isaiah xxxv, Ezekiel xxxvii).

On a previous occasion we saw the teaching of the Scriptures to be that the first to be blessed by Messiah's Kingdom will be the Ancient Worthies—Enoch, Abraham, Moses, David, and the Prophets—and that these will be made Princes in the earth. As one of these Princes, the Prophet David will have a very glorious station. His long career, his "ups and downs," said the Pastor, show us the lights and shadows of the Prophet's character more particularly, perhaps, than in the case of any other Bible character. And they show us a noble character, despite David's human weaknesses and the frailties of his flesh, augmented in power by his kingly office and the misconceptions of kingly prerogatives which prevailed in his day.

The beautiful traits of the character of David, on account of which he was declared to be, not a "new creature," not a "son of God," not an "heir of God and joint-heir with Messiah," but "a man after God's own heart"—these traits were his loyal obedience and his repentance of everything which in any degree was displeasing to God and interrupted the fellowship Divine.

God's Spirit-begotten children may not, therefore, take the Prophet David or any of the Ancients as their pattern. Only Spirit-begotten ones can serve as examples to the Church. They should walk in the footsteps of Jesus, and may even take the Apostles and other faithful brethren for examples. The Apostle, however, suggests that the Church may look back with profit upon the Worthies of the past, to note their degree of faith in God and their obedience to that faith. St. Paul, however, explicitly reminds us that God has provided some better thing for us—the Church—that the Ancient Worthies, without us (members of The Messiah), cannot be made perfect (Hebrews xi, 38-40).

The "better thing" reserved "for us" who are called of God during this Gospel Age is the joint-heirship with Christ, Jehovah's only-begotten Son and heir of all things, the partaking with Him in all His subsequent work for the blessing of God's intelligent creation. Therefore it is, as the Apostle states, that the reward of the Ancient Worthies tarries until first the overcoming Gospel Church is exalted to the throne with Christ in the dawn of the New Dispensation, now so close at hand.

As soon as the spiritual phase of the Kingdom is established in power the setting up of the human phase will begin. In humble recognition, therefore, of the Divine purpose and order in the superior exaltation of the Gospel Church, we repeat the Apostle's statement that "they (those noble, loyal, righteous, faithful Ancient Worthies) without us shall not be made perfect."

But as to whether we shall be numbered among the "us" depends upon our successful running of the race set before us. Surely, no less faithfulness and stability of character can be expected of us than of those who run for the earthly prize. And since all the blessings of God's Plan—the exaltation of the Ancient Worthies, the liberation of the whole world from the bondage of sin and death and the final judgment of angels—await the manifestation of the spiritual sons of God, the Gospel Church, therefore the Apostle (chapter 12), in forceful metaphor, points us back to those Ancient Worthies as a stimulus for faith and zeal, saying:—

"Therefore also we, being compassed about with so great a cloud of martyrs (Greek marturon—who so nobly witnessed for God and righteousness), let us (emulate them and) lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the (higher, heavenly) race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, the Author and Finisher of our faith, who, for the joy that was set before Him, endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God."

Jesus, our Ransomer, is also our Forerunner and Pattern in this race. He ran successfully, and, in consequence, is even now at the right hand of the throne of God, whither we also may go to Him.

Jesus' way to the crown was the way of the shameful cross, and He said, If any man love me, let him take up his cross daily and follow me; the servant is not above his Lord, etc. Persecution and shame and grief and loss are our portion in this present world, but exaltation and glory will follow in due time, if we faint not. Therefore we are urged to consider His example and teaching lest we be weary and faint in our minds under the trials of faith, patience and endurance of this evil day.

"A little while; now He has come;
The hour draws on apace—
The blessed hour, the glorious morn,
When we shall see His face.
How light our trials then will seem!
How short our pilgrim way!
The life of earth a fitful dream,
Dispelled by dawning day."

"SLEEPLESSNESS."

Thousands of people all over this land toss night after night on a sleepless pillow. The eyes do not close in the refreshing slumber that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right.

Some are troubled with weak and smothering spells; others palpitation of the heart; others have their nerves unhinged; but whatever the cause—it comes entirely from a derangement of either the heart or nerves, or both. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer the blessing of sound, refreshing slumber. They do this by their invigorating effect on the heart and nerves and will tone up the whole system to perfect condition.

Mr. H. Jewel, Keswick, Ont., writes: "I am glad to have the pleasure of telling you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. I would have weak spells, seemed to lose my breath, and would have to get up in the night as I could not sleep. I tried many medicines but found nothing good until I used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took three boxes and it is three years ago since I did so, and I haven't been troubled since."

Bell Rock Centenary.

The centenary of the Bell Rock Lighthouse, which was completed in the beginning of 1811, has passed without any demostration to mark the fact. The erection of the lighthouse was a task of exceptional difficulty. The rock is exposed only for a short time at low water, and it is twelve miles away from Arbroath, the nearest part of the coast. Many ships were wrecked on the rock previous to the erection of the lighthouse. Only two lives were lost in the course of its construction, and during the century which has elapsed since the light was first shown only a few vessels have been stranded on the rock, while there has been no loss of life.

Failed After All.

An extraordinary expedient was reported to recently at Newbliss, Monaghan, by a man who was anxious to catch a train. He set off along the railway track and as the train approached the driver repeatedly whistled, but he refused to leave the track, and the train had to be stopped. He then moved aside, the train went on, and he missed it at the station. His manoeuvre, which after all proved useless, cost him dearly, however, for he was heavily fined for obstruction.

Strange Lights.

The superstitious residing in and near Portree, Skye, are at present greatly perturbed by the lights which are seen nightly on a lonely moor not far from the town. Several years ago such lights were seen on fields on the farm of Brencholie, near Inverary. His Grace the late Duke of Argyll drove to the place, and witnessed the "spunkies," as the local villagers call the mysterious illuminations.

PETER PINDAR'S RUSE.

It Enabled the Astute Author to Drive a Good Bargain.

Some time about the beginning of the nineteenth century Peter Pindar (Dr. John Wolcott) drove a good bargain with the publishers, Robinson & Walker. While negotiations were under way the author developed an attack of asthma, which was always at its most distressing stage whenever the publishers were present. He was only fifty-seven then, but the publishers decided that their chances were good and agreed to pay him a annuity of £250 instead of a lump sum for his work.

Soon after the bond was signed the doctor went to Cornwall, where he recovered his health, and returned to London without any cough, which was far from being a pleasing sight to the persons who had to pay his annuity. One day he called upon Mr. Walker the manager for the parties, who, surveying him with a scrutinising eye, asked him how he did. "Much better, thank you," said Wolcott. "I have taken the measure of my asthma; the fellow is troublesome, but I know his strength and am his master." "Oh!" said Mr. Walker gravely, and turned into an adjoining room, where Mrs Walker, a prudent woman, had been listening to the conversation. Wolcott, aware of the feeling, paid a keen attention to the husband and wife and heard the latter exclaim: "There, now, didn't I tell you he wouldn't die? Fool that you've been! I knew he wouldn't die."

Killing One Fly.

Every fly begins as an egg deposited in some kind of organic filth. It hatches into a tiny maggot within a few hours, begins to feed and grow, completes its growth and comes out as a perfect fly in possibly ten days. It then requires at least fourteen days to mature its first batch of eggs, and it may live to mature and deposit at least six layings, of from 120 to 150 eggs each. This means that in killing one fly we may be preventing the hatching of nearly a thousand others.—Youth's Companion.

Each grate bar has three sides—long wear

When only one side of a grate bar is continually next to the fire all the wear is concentrated on that one side. The life of the grate bar is thus naturally just one-third as long as when the wear is distributed on three sides.

That explains why Sunshine grates have three lives. Each of the four grate bars has three sides. Each time the ashes are "rocked down" (no shaking with Sunshine) the side next to the fire can be changed. Thus the life of the grates is greatly prolonged.

When desired, the heavy bull dog teeth on the grates will seize hold of clinkers, grind them up, and drop the particles into the ash-pan.

THE COMEDY of ERRORS THAT SAVED AN ARMY

How the Disobedience of Two Confederate Generals Averted Disaster to Pope's Forces—An Open Secret of the Civil War

Colonel John S. Mosby,
The Last of the Famous Confederate Leaders

BY JOHN S. MOSBY.

IT is an open secret that in August, 1862, the disobedience of two Confederate generals saved Pope's army in Virginia from ruin and nearly resulted in the capture of the Confederate chief of cavalry. But historians have been strangely silent about it. As I had a part in the play I take more pleasure in telling about it now than I did when I was an actor in the great drama. In war there are lights mingled with shadows. In the retrospect we see a great deal of the humor of comedy where once all seemed to be tragedy. Shakespeare presents in one scene the fiery Hotspur and the puffing Falstaff.

To properly understand the point of my story a knowledge of the military situation at that time is necessary. The Seven Days' battles around Richmond, that closed on July 1, were succeeded by several weeks of calm. McClellan had shifted his base from the Pamunkey to the James, and both armies rested for another collision. If McClellan had possessed the intuition of Grant he would not have halted on the bank of the river, but would have crossed and seized the communications of the Confederate capital.

General McClellan was skilful in the science of war—I mean in applying mechanical principles where the results can be calculated. But he was without intuition and slow to take chances; and chance cannot be eliminated from the problems of war. Now, while scientific knowledge is useful to a general it does not inspire great actions and takes no account of emotions that decide events. The great masters of the art of war are as little governed by maxims and formulas as Homer was when he composed the immortal hymns that were sung at the banquets of the Homan princes. It was not pure reason but inspiration that led Lee and Jackson to believe that a flank march at Chancellorsville that had no precedent but the audacity that stole the fire of the gods would create a panic; and I will add there was no reason then for the panic but imagination—a large factor in war. The two great soldiers who dared the enterprise took into account the effect of a collision of moral as well as physical forces and won.

I will tell an anecdote that illustrates Jackson's instincts and is a key to his character as a soldier. There was a heavy rain during the fight at Chantilly. A general sent a despairing message to Jackson that he could not hold his ground; it was raining so hard his guns wouldn't go off. Jackson instantly replied:—"Tell him to hold his ground. If his guns won't go off the enemy's won't." That settled it—the general held his ground. The same instinct of genius carried Hannibal across the Little St. Bernard and made him for sixteen years master of Italy. This anecdote of Jackson was told to me soon after the event by the officer who carried the message.

By orders from Washington, but against his protest, McClellan's army was transferred to the line of the Rappahannock. He had lain for six weeks at Harrison's Landing under cover of the gunboats, waiting for an opportunity that never came. Just as McClellan's star began to wane another appeared in the northern sky. Pope was called from the West and given the command of an army that was organized for him by uniting a number of divisions that were scattered in Virginia. Fremont, a division commander, was offended because his junior in rank was put over him and asked to be relieved. His request was granted and he went out of sight. His campaign against Stonewall Jackson in the Shenandoah Valley had not commended him to favor in Washington.

The army under Pope was charged with the duty of covering Washington and at the same time demonstrating in Virginia while McClellan was evacuating the Peninsula. Lee's army was between McClellan and Pope. But he could not move against Pope while McClellan was near Richmond. Jackson was detached and sent to Gordonsville, on the C. and O. Railroad, about eighty miles west of Richmond, to observe Pope. He arrived there on July 19. Pope had a sanguine temper and a great deal of audacity, but was greatly lacking in discretion. He was not content with the defensive role that had been assigned him and was anxious to take the initiative against Jackson, but Halleck's prudence restrained him. Judging by what occurred when the collision came, it is fair to infer that an offensive movement would have been a failure. The descent to Averasa is easy; the difficulty is in returning.

Discord in Pope's Staff.

Pope was not in harmony with his subordinates, nor had he the right to expect it, unless he thought that human nature had reached a state of perfection. But I do not think there is a shadow of ground for any complaint of their loyalty. When taking command he published a bombastic manifesto in which he drew a comparison between the army in the West and the army in Virginia, to the disparagement of the latter. But he was, I think, unjustly censured at Richmond for his order directing that his army should subsist on the country. That was no novelty, but a right as old as war. It is just as fair and more humane to use or destroy the supplies of an enemy as to kill or capture him. As a subordinate, no doubt, Pope was a good soldier, but he was as little fitted for his position as Don Quixote was to be a colonel of cavalry.

John C. Ropes, of Boston, a reliable historian, says:—"He issued to his army on the 14th of July one of the most extraordinary addresses of which we have record in military history. 'Let us,' he says, 'understand each other. I have come from the West, where we have always seen the backs of our enemies; from an army whose business it was to seek the enemy and to beat him when he was found; whose policy has been attack and not defence.'"

This was a reflection on the army of which he had just taken command and a self-assertion that could only be excused after winning a battle. General Pope's duty was a defensive one. This general order naturally provoked criticism and produced friction. Pope was, however, unjustly ridiculed because somebody reported that he had said that his headquarters would be in the saddle. It is said that even so grave a person as General Robert E. Lee made a humorous remark about it. Pope never said any such thing, but people in Virginia as religiously believe it as they do the legend of Pocahontas. This order was of great significance to me. It was a revelation of possibilities of which I had scarcely dreamed.

The order said:—"I hear constantly of taking strong positions and holding them, of lines of retreat and bases of supplies. Let us discard such ideas. • • • Let us study the probable lines of retreat of our opponents and leave our own to take care of themselves. Let us look before us and not behind." Such a manifesto was in striking contrast with the modest deportment of the great soldier, who afterward came from the West to finish the war in Virginia.

At the time of which I speak I was at the cavalry headquarters, in Hanover county, about ten miles from Richmond. When I read what Pope said about looking only to his front and letting his rear take care of itself I saw that the opportunity for which I had longed had come. He had opened a promising field for partisan warfare and had invited, or rather dared, anybody to take advantage of it. The cavalry at Richmond was doing nothing but picket duty—and quiet to quick bosoms is a hell.

So I determined to go over and take care of Pope's rear for him, and I proposed to General Stuart, as the cavalry was inactive, to give me a detail of men to reap the harvest where the laborers were few. I had reason to think that Stuart was well disposed toward me; he had spoken well of me in his report of his ride around McClellan on the Chickahominy a few weeks before, and General Lee had also mentioned me in his general order announcing it to the army. I had served the first year of the war in a regiment of cavalry in the region that was now in Pope's department and had a general knowledge of the country. I was sure then—I am surer now—that I could make Pope pay as much attention to his rear as to his front, and that I could compel him to detach most of his cavalry to guard his long line of communications or turn his commissary department and transportation over to me, which would have been perfectly satisfactory to me. There never was afterward such a field for partisan war in Virginia. Breaking communications is the chief work for a partisan. It defeats plans and creates confusion by destroying supplies. In this way the offensive strength of an army is diminished.

The Letter to Jackson.

Stuart told me that he was getting his cavalry ready for the active campaign soon to begin, but that he would give me a letter to General Jackson, who, no doubt, would let me have the men I wanted. So I took Stuart's letter and started on the afternoon of July 19 with one companion, who was club footed and exempt from military service, to see Jackson. I had as firm a faith in my mission as Francis Xavier's when he went to preach the gospel in the Indies. Viewed in the light of what I afterward did, it looks strange that I should have had to beg for the privilege of striking the enemy in a vulnerable point.

It is simply a repetition of the story of every pioneer. What was possible seems plain enough now—it didn't then. If the detail had been given to me I would have started directly to cross the Rapidan and flank Pope, and my partisan war would have begun then. It was postponed by an adventure which I shall now relate.

We spent the night with a farmer near Beaver Dam station, on what is now the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. As I was impatient to get work, I concluded to let my companion lead my horse, while I would take the train, go on to Jackson and be ready when he arrived. Colonel Sellers was not more sanguine about making a fortune by selling his eye water to sore eyed Arabs than I was about the sensation I would create behind Pope, for

"Who can contemplate Fame though clouds unfold,
The star which rises o'er her steep, nor climb."

I was sitting in the depot—had laid down my pistols and haversack that had the letter to Jackson—the man leading my horse had scarcely gotten out of sight, when somebody exclaimed, "Here they are." A regiment of blue cavalry was not a hundred yards away, coming up at a trot. I ran, but they caught me and got my pistols and haversack. My hopes were now apparently blasted, but, fortunately, a cartel for the exchange of prisoners was agreed upon the next day.

This affair is an example of what Burns says about the fate of the best laid plans of mice and men. It was a New York regiment—the Harris cavalry—that captured me. It had ridden all night to cut the communications between Lee and Jackson. The men did not wait for the train. I told them it would be loaded with infantry. It was not true, but I suppose I was justified by the code of war. I was taken to General King's headquarters at Fredericksburg, and very kindly treated. He let me write a letter to my family, which he sent through the lines. Some letters were captured at the depot. General King read one aloud; everybody laughed. It was from a Richmond girl to her country cousin. I remember four lines. I hope they won't shock people who read them now:—

"Jeff Davis is our President,
Lincoln is a fool.
Jeff Davis rides a white horse,
Lincoln rides a mule."

A history of the Harris cavalry says:—"At six o'clock on the evening of July 19 the Harris Light was set in rapid motion almost directly south. By means of a forced march through the night at gray dawn of morning we descended upon Beaver Dam depot on the Virginia Central like so many ravenous wolves. During our affray we captured a young Confederate officer who gave his name as Captain John S. Mosby. By his sprightly appearance and conversation he attracted considerable attention. He is slight but well formed, has a keen blue eye and a florid complexion and displays no small amount of Southern bravado in his dress and manners. His gray plush hat is surmounted by a waving plume which he tosses as he speaks in real Prussian style. He had a letter in his possession from General Stuart recommending him to the kind regards of General Jackson." This letter is printed in the War Records and was published in the newspapers.

I was a prisoner about ten days and exchanged in time to take part in the campaign against Pope, but not in the leading position I had hoped. McClellan was leaving the James and General Lee was concentrating on the Rapidan. So I went home, got my horse and arrived in Orange on August 17, just in time to meet Stuart, who had come by rail from Richmond. He told me he was going to meet Fitz Lee, who would be at Verdierville with the cavalry that night. He had just had a conference with General Lee and had received his final instructions. He did not say what they were, but the coming event cast its shadow before us. I had no arms—had lost my pistols when I was captured—but trusted to luck to get another pair.

No Cavalry There.

On the way to meet Fitz Lee we passed Longstreet's camps. The soldiers instinctively knew a movement was on foot and were cooking and singing "Kitty heart recalled a different name, but all sang 'Annie Laurie.'" We reached the appointed rendezvous that night. It was a deserted village—no signs of cavalry were there. Stuart was greatly worried. I did not then suspect how much depended on meeting the cavalry and how much was lost by its absence. It was the crucial point of the campaign. A staff officer, Major Fitz-Hugh, went in search of Fitz Lee, and we tied our horses and lay down to sleep on the porch of a house by the road. Before sunrise I was awakened by a young man, Gibson, who had just come with me unarmed from prison. He said that he heard the tramp of cavalry down the plank road; that it was probably Fitz Lee but might be Yankee cavalry. Although we were near the Rapidan we thought that we were inside of Longstreet's picket line, but I did not want to be caught napping again. So I awoke Stuart and told him what we had heard and that Gibson and I would ride down the road to see what was there.

We soon saw a body of cavalry that had stopped at a house a few hundred yards away. A heavy fog made it impossible to distinguish blue from gray. So we halted, uncertain whether they were friends or foes. But we were soon relieved of doubt—two cavalrymen saw us and rode forward. When they got in pistol range they opened fire—that settled it. We knew then they were not our friends. As Gibson and I had no arms there was nothing for us to do but wheel and run, which we did. The firing saved Stuart. He heard it, mounted his horse, bareheaded, leaped a fence in the back yard and got away. Before Gibson and I got to the house where we had slept a Prussian on Stuart's staff dashed through the front gate and went down the road ahead of us as fast as his horse could carry him. We never overtook him. After the war he published a lot of fables in Blackwood in which he described an encounter he had with the Yankees that morning as more wonderful than the feat of St. George and the Dragon. Now, neither Gibson nor I claimed to be a hero that day. Our ambition was to escape. We ran as fast as we could, but the Prussian ran faster. That is all the distinction he won.

Pope had advanced to the line of the Rapidan with his army stretched across the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, which was his line of supply. It was massed near the river. Lee, with Jackson and Longstreet, was in Orange county, a few miles in his front. Our cavalry picketed the south bank of the river. Pope did not know as late as the 17th, the evening before he retreated in such a hurry, that Lee had arrived with Longstreet. He thought Jackson was at Gordonsville, twenty miles south. He spoke of crossing the river and making a demonstration toward Richmond, and told Halleck, "Our position is strong and it will be very difficult to drive us from it." A worse position for an army could not have been selected for him by an enemy. He urged Halleck to let him cross the river and take the offensive.

General Lee never again had such an opportunity to destroy an army. It would have been that day easy to pass around under cover of Clarke's Mountain, that is on the south bank of the Rapidan, and cross at the fords below and strike Pope both in flank and rear at the same time. It was particularly so, as Pope had said he would look only to his front. The fact is, as the railroad turns east at such an angle in Culpeper that after crossing the river below Pope Lee's army would have been nearer the Rappahannock bridge than Pope's army, his railroad communications with Washington would have been seized and reinforcements cut off from McClellan. According to Pope's despatches that day to Halleck there was no sign of a movement to cross the Rapidan. He was anxious to attack Jackson; "Ajax asked no more." From this dream of security Pope by an accident was rudely awakened and narrowly escaped the doom of the Assyrian: "Like the leaves of the forest when autumn hath blown, that host on the morrow lay withered and strewn."

John C. Ropes, of Boston, says:—"Hence, when he saw him quietly occupying the line of the Rapidan Lee at once saw his opportunity. He ordered Longstreet and Jackson to cross the river by Raccoon and Somerville fords and to move on Culpeper Court House, while the cavalry of Stuart, crossing further to the east at Morton's Ford, was to make Rappahannock station, destroying the bridge there, and then, turning off to the left, form the right of Longstreet's corps. Pope would have been attacked in rear and flank and his communications severed in the bargain. Doubtless, he would have made a strenuous fight, but he could hardly have escaped defeat, and defeat under such circumstances might well have been ruin. From this disaster fortune saved Pope through the capture of Stuart's staff officer."

Lee's Disobedience.

I have stated that Stuart had sent Major Fitz-Hugh to look for Fitz Lee, whose orders required him to be at Verdierville the night of the 18th. It is a few miles south of the Rapidan. Daybreak on the 18th was the time fixed for crossing the river. But Fitz Lee, as appears from Stuart's report, after leaving Hanover, instead of marching, as he was ordered, directly to the vicinity of Raccoon Ford, changed his course and turned back to follow his wagons that had been sent by Louisa Court House for provisions. By this detour he was a day late in reaching his destination. The delay was fatal to General Lee's plan and saved Pope. General Lee would not make the movement without this cavalry, but Jackson wanted to go on without it. Major Fitz Hugh, while looking for Fitz Lee, was captured on the night of the 17th by a body of cavalry that had been sent over that river on a scout. It was the same body that came so near catching me the next morning. They got Lee's letter to Stuart that disclosed his plan to cross on the morning of the 18th and flank Pope. The despatch was sent in hot haste to headquarters and created as much astonishment on the news at the ball at Brussels that Napoleon had crossed the Sambre.

General Pope in his report speaks of the capture of this letter as the cause of his hasty and unpremeditated retreat. He says the cavalry expedition he sent out captured the adjutant general of General Stuart and was near capturing that officer himself. Among the papers taken from him was an autograph letter of General Robert E. Lee to General Stuart, "which made manifest the disposition and forces of the enemy and their determination to overwhelm the army under my command before it could be reinforced by any portion of the Army of the Potomac."

There Was Nothing for Us to Do but Wheel and Run, Which We Did

A War Time Photograph of Colonel John S. Mosby

But Fitz Lee was not alone responsible for General Lee's failure to envelop Pope. General Longstreet says that, as the cavalry had not come up on the 17th, he ordered two regiments of Toombs' brigade to be sent to guard the Rapidan fords. Toombs had ridden off from his headquarters when the order came, and his next in rank ordered the detail to be sent. When Toombs learned what had been done without asking him he ordered the regiments back to their camp. So the fords were unguarded and Pope's cavalry crossed without giving any alarm, captured Stuart's staff officer with General Lee's order and saved Pope's army. Longstreet put Toombs under arrest, but Fitz Lee was not relieved. In the midst of the battle of Manassas a few days after Toombs rode up to Longstreet and begged to lead his brigade. Longstreet released, and Toombs led his men to the battle.

So it seemed that General Pope was saved by a comedy of errors. General Lee had to wait for his cavalry to come up, but when they came the opportunity was gone.

If Toombs had not withdrawn the pickets from the Rapidan the Union cavalry could not have crossed; if Fitz Lee had obeyed orders, even if the cavalry had crossed, they would have been caught. By this combination of errors Pope got warning and lost no time in getting away. I rode with Stuart to the signal station on Clark's Mountain and saw long trains scudding back from the Rapidan to the Rappahannock. General George Gordon, who was with Pope, says:—"Without delay the retreat began. By rail and along the roadways, in cars and in baggage wagons, from Mitchell's Station and from Culpeper (Court House) vast stores of subsistence, forage and ammunition streamed out for the left bank of the Rappahannock. • • • The Confederates were disappointed; many of them scolded bitterly. Rarely had a better opportunity offered for the destruction of an army."

Dabney, a staff officer of Jackson, in an account he the campaign written when it was fresh in his memory, says the plan of the Commander-in-Chief was for the movement to begin at dawn of the 18th, but was defeated by dilatory subordinates, and that he "overruled the eagerness of Jackson and postponed it until the 20th." "It was then," says General Gordon, "most fortunate that Jackson was not in command."

Some years ago I received a letter from Captain W. B. Cary, of Windsor, Conn., who said that he was with the Fifth New York Cavalry on the morning of August 19, 1862, when General Stuart said I came so near being captured; that he got a letter of Stuart's that I left behind in my hurry. Captain Cary informed me that the letter was deposited in the National Museum. I went there and found it in as good condition as it was the morning I lost it. The whole is in Stuart's handwriting. A photographic copy was given to me. It is as follows:—

"Hd. Qrs. Cavalry Brigade,
"June 20th, 1862.

"Hon. Geo. W. Randolph,
"Sec. of War.

"General:—

"Permit me to present to you Jno. S. Mosby, who for months past has rendered time and again services of the most important and valuable nature, exposing himself regardless of danger, and, in my estimation, fairly won promotion.

"I am anxious that he should get the Captaincy of a Company of Sharpshooters in my brigade, but the muster-rolls have not yet been sent in. I commend him to your favorable notice.

"Most Respectfully, General,
"Your Obedient Servant,
"J. E. B. Stuart,
"Brigadier-General Commanding Cavalry."

How Stuart Got Even.

General Stuart lost his hat; the Yankees picked it up and carried it off as a trophy. But Stuart got even with them. A few days afterward he went on a raid to Catlett Station and captured Pope's headquarter wagons, with his hat, his plume and his coat.

Pope speaks of it in his report. I remember that Stuart galloped by me on the march and remarked that he was going after his hat. He got a better hat and a feather to boot. It is a remarkable coincidence that two persons who, on the night of that raid were on opposite sides, should a few years afterward have represented in succession the United States as Consuls at Hong Kong, and that both should have been captured in Pope's campaign.

Stuart's report says:—"As day dawned I found amongst the great number of prisoners Pope's field quartermaster, Major Goulding, and ascertained that the chief quartermaster and Pope's aide de camp, Colonel L. H. Marshall, narrowly escaped the same fate. The men of the command had secured Pope's uniform, his horses and equipments, money chests and a great variety of uniforms and personal baggage."

Major Goulding, the quartermaster, was made Consul at Hong Kong and I was appointed Consul there some years afterward. He told me a great many amusing stories about Pope. The Nemesis that allots fortunes to men provided for Goulding; he joined the Salvation Army. Colonel Louis Marshall, aide de camp on Pope's staff, of whom Stuart speaks, was a nephew of General Robert E. Lee. A lady in Virginia who got a pass at that time to go to Baltimore told me that she called to see Louis Marshall's mother, who was her relative and an invalid.

The lady was enthusiastic in praise of General Lee—the world was resounding with his fame. She remarked to Mrs. Marshall, "You ought to be so proud to have such a brother." Her reply was, "But, oh, if he wasn't fighting against the Union!" Then, pausing and remembering other days, nature asserted itself, and she exclaimed with deep emotion, "But they can't whip Robert." It was to this sister that General Lee wrote that pathetic letter on the day he resigned his commission in the United States army—the last letter he ever wrote her—in which he lamented that he had to choose between drawing his sword against the government he had served or against his family, his neighbors and his home. In such a convulsion there can be no guide but conscience, and men obey the higher law of the human heart—the most sacred of all laws.

CORONATION LETTER

(Special Correspondence).

London, May 23.—As each day of the Coronation season passes the crowds of Colonials who are waiting in London for the curtain to rise on this series of great imperial scenes have a growing pride in the part that they, as representatives of the Empire, are being privileged to take. The great gathering of Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders and South Africans, as they joined with Londoners this week and demonstrated that "Empire" means a "family affair," in which the descendants of Queen Victoria, whether in England or in Germany, are taking part for the spread of family affection and goodwill, not only throughout the borders of the British Empire, but throughout the Anglo-Saxon races. The enthusiastic welcome offered in London to the Kaiser had more than usual international significance. If blood is thicker than water, not only is the British Empire united, but the great nations presided over by the grandsons of the good Queen Victoria are bound together as by family ties. The petty jealousy and rivalry of Britain and Germany were shown up to ridicule at the meeting of Kaiser and King at the unveiling of the statue of Queen Victoria by King George and the Kaiser's tribute of a wreath. As the German war Lord shared with the citizens of the British Empire in the first of these Coronation ceremonies the world's peace is sealed and settled, and the childish talk of bitter rivalry or warfare between King George's Empire and the Kaiser's is only an unreal nightmare. The new spirit of the age is Peace, and every citizen of the Empire who witnessed that ceremony is more than ever convinced of this.

I saw not a few Canadian friends in St. James's Park, and they acknowledged that each Coronation ceremony was becoming more and more impressive and interesting, not only because of its significance, but also its spectacular magnificence and splendor. The statue in memoriam of the late Queen Victoria is a real asset to the art treasures of London which must add to the old City's attractions. Set amid the glories of the Park, facing the solemn looking Buckingham Palace, it is the most imposing of London's magnificent features and vies with the most beautiful monuments of the Continent—even the French visitors have exclaimed that it makes London compare with Paris. It is not of course understood that the German Emperor's visit to London is intended to add to King George's Coronation ceremonies. It is a domestic event only, and the Emperor has expressed his cordial thanks to the English people for their friendliness to him and the Empress and their daughter. He has an affectionate interest in fulfilling the promise once made to the late King Edward that he should join with the children of Queen Victoria in unveiling a statue in memory of her glorious reign. He was ever a pal of his uncle, and to his cousin, King George, and to his people, the German Emperor delights to show the cordial friendship. It was therefore with genuine cousinly feeling that the two Royal families went together to the play, and made the performance in Drury Lane one of the most interesting events of the season. The play was "Money," admired in the day of our grandfathers, and the famous caste was sufficiently numerous to afford all the principal celebrities of the English stage to have a part. The new act drop, shown in the renovated theatre, which looked gorgeous on the occasion of the gala performance, was designed for the occasion. King George and the German Emperor were on horseback, the latter on his white charger and King George in Field Marshal's uniform, and between the two was an arch with winged figure offering a wreath. Among playgoers the event was exciting. One playgoer, a veteran lady, was cheered as she entered the pit after waiting thirty-two hours before the doors were opened. It was a memorable night, and the Kaiser who with the Empress sat side by side the King and Queen, expressed his great delight at "the finest acting he had ever seen." Great names appeared in the caste—Sir H. B. Tree, Sir Charles Wyndham, Sir John Hare, Sir Squire Bancroft, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Cyril Maude, and other theatrical celebrities. They were all grouped on the stage as the curtain fell. The crowds, who had waited for the opening some thirty hours, were round the outside to see the Emperor and King hours after midnight, and carriages and motors were marshalled for some two miles of streets round old Drury Lane.

The White City, which has been opened as the Coronation Exhibition, has no official connection with Royal festivities. It has, however, some claim to compete with the Festival of Empire. It was opened by the young Prince Arthur of Connaught. The Exhibition of Arts and Industries and Products of the British Empire is sure to be a great attraction to sightseers in London. Although there may be few features of novelty, the crowds will learn much of the Empire from its gorgeous exhibitions. When the excitement of the Coronation is over the crowds interested in Canada and the other fields of overseas enterprise will have days and weeks to spend investigating its treasures.

The Festival of Empire is visited daily by thousands, who appreciate more than ever before what "Empire" means and what the duty of British citizenship really is. They see in living pictures the life of their fellow citizens across the seas. As in the kindergarten of the school of citizenship, Englishmen are learning great elementary lessons at the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace, and the man in the street is having his eyes opened and the glory of his Imperial heritage demonstrated. The idea of the Festival of the Imperial industries and resources was an inspiration, and its promoters, who were obliged to postpone it last year on the death of King Edward, have today seen it crowned with success. It was appropriate that this splendid exhibition should be associated with the opening of the new reign of King George, the sailor King, who bids the British Empire to wake up, and that Londoners, who know so little of the great nations which comprise the King's dominions overseas, to learn geography in the delightful gardens overlooking the metropolis. The exhibition of the striking features of Canada and Australia and New Zealand, as viewed from the railway on the All Red Route which traverses the grounds, is perhaps the greatest novelty, which should prove to be the most permanent attraction. The Imperial enthusiasm will reach its height when the pageant of Canada is performed by the huge host of Canadians now in London, who are now preparing for the most picturesque of all of all our Imperial spectacles, which will be the boast of Canada at "The Festival of Empire."

While the most interesting and spectacular Festival of Empire is an accomplished fact, the labor being expended on the grand stands in the streets of London is every day becoming more stupendous. The work of erecting these Coronation stands is estimated to employ some 5,000 carpenters and decorators. The carpenters and other workmen will be busy till the eve of the procession.

Owing to the extraordinary demand for seats, the shortage of timber is already being felt. The timber is advanced in price, and the amount of timber being required may be estimated from figures given by the contractors. One large firm is putting up fifty stands on the processional route, and these are to accommodate from 250 to 4,000 seats each. The timber used up in erecting these stands is 2,100 tons, and in addition 70 tons of iron bolts and 30,000 yards of drapery, etc., for decoration purposes on the seats. In addition to 700 carpenters engaged till the Coronation date in the work of erection, there will be in these 50 stands alone some 100 commissionaires employed in the stands, and 250 attendants, waiting till after the seats have been used, and also 200 attendants and 200 waitresses. Thus it will be seen the interests of the artisans of London take in the Coronation preparations.

DOGS EMANCIPATED

Sixty Thousand Berlin Canines Were Unmuzzled

"Alas, if human beings were only so lucky!" was the legend emblazoned on a streamer wound round the neck of a giant bull-dog which proudly wended his way along the street in Berlin recently, in palpable enjoyment of his first hour's "freedom" under the Berlin Police President's unmuzzling ordinance. When the new regulation went into effect sixty thousand Berlin dogs, for the first time in their lives, enjoyed the sweets of unshackled jaws. Hundreds of pets, in celebration of the Police President's "emancipation proclamation," were gaily decorated with multi-colored wreaths and garlands, and toddled along in seemingly conscious pride over their release from semi-captivity.

ARCHDUCHESS SOLD LACE

How She Helped the Hungarian Peasant Lace Sellers

Archduchess Isabella, wife of Archduke Frederick, mother of six girls and one little boy, who is heir to the biggest fortune in Austria, recently discovered a novel way of selling lace that is made by the Hungarian peasants under her patronage. On her way back from Spain, where she had been visiting the Queen-Mother, she stopped for a few days in Paris. Driving in a motor-car to one after another of the best shops for feminine finery, she sent in her card to the head of the firm, like any commercial traveller. Then, followed by two lackeys bearing bags filled to the brim with beautiful and costly lace, she entered the shop when it was crowded with elegant buyers. Seated before a counter, she displayed her patterns, named the prices, and put down the chief's orders in a neat little note-book that had her initials and the Imperial crown on the cover. Of course the customers gathered round and observed the pretty scene, a description of which they spread all over Paris.

DANCER GOES TO WORK

The Late King Leopold's Favorite is Learning a Trade

Cleo de Merode, the celebrated Parisian dancer, who was admired by King Leopold above all other women, has gone to work. She is learning a trade. The gold and jewels once lavished upon her by the late King have ceased to flow in. She must live upon her own earnings from the stage, and these are not what they were. So now for work! Mademoiselle has an artistic sense, and she would earn her living as an artist, if possible. Therefore she is studying sculpture. But she is prudent and practical. She knows that it is difficult to win success as an artist. Therefore she is mastering a humbler calling. She is also learning typewriting.

$18,000 IS RECEIVED

That is the Amount Contributed by Ontario Hotel-keepers Under the New Ontario Bar Tax—Better Than Estimated

MONTH'S RECEIPTS

Toronto, June 13.—The ten days of grace allowed hotelkeepers throughout the province to send in their returns under the new percentage clause of the liquor license act, expired on Saturday, and the Provincial Treasury is now richer by some $18,000, paid on bar receipts for May.

"The returns this month indicate a yearly revenue from that quarter of about $180,000," said Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary. "The figures work out very much as calculated."

The first month's figures show that the estimates upon which the bill was based were conservative. In the country districts the returns varied little from estimates, but the large city hotels paid more than was expected. Under the act hotels in cities of 100,000 population pay a tax of five per cent. on bar receipts in excess of $60 daily, while all other hotels pay five per cent. on the excess over $50 daily.

The fact that there are considerably over 2,000 hotels under license in Ontario makes the compiling of the returns a difficult task and it is impossible to state with accuracy the number of hotels doing a bar trade of over $50 or $60, and therefore paying the tax. Practically all the bars in the cities and large towns will pay a share, but a great many rural hotels will escape entirely.

CYCLONE KILLS THREE.

Terrific Storm In Pennsylvania Works Great Damage.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 13.—Three persons were killed, several seriously injured, wires were prostrated, trees uprooted and buildings damaged by an electrical storm which visited this city and vicinity last night. The wind attained a velocity of 42 miles an hour.

At Allentown, Pa., the cyclonic wind prostrated live wires which fell on a house on Union street. The building was a frame one with corrugated iron lining. As David S. H. Gackenbach, aged 30 years, and Hannibal J. Dotterer, aged 24 years, were leaving the building, they came in contact with the metal and were instantly killed. John Wagner, aged 40 years, was killed in going to the rescue of the men. Miss Carrie Allender was badly shocked.

Killed by Thunderbolt.

Cortland, N.Y., June 13.—James M. Davis, a stock dealer of North Pitcher, was killed by a thunderbolt while riding yesterday afternoon in a carriage near Cincinnatus.

Lightning Played Pranks.

Kingston, June 13.—A severe electrical storm passed over Kingston yesterday afternoon. The rainfall was very heavy, many cellars on down-town streets being flooded. Lightning put the street railway system out of business for two hours. At the moving picture shows lightning played great pranks with the operating machine. Luckily no buildings were struck.

Storm Damage at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., June 13.—A terrific electrical storm, with rain, hail and wind, broke over Baltimore at six o'clock, putting practically all telegraph and long distance telephones to the north out of commission and doing thousands of dollars' worth of damage to property in the suburbs. The storm was of short duration, but after a brief interval another heavy rainstorm set in, which lasted for several hours.

So far no loss of life has been reported.

Barn Burned by Lightning.

Inglewood, June 13.—A violent thunderstorm passed easterly over this vicinity about four p.m. Sunday, doing considerable damage. Archibald McGregor's fine barn, half a mile out, was struck by lightning and entirely consumed with contents, including a colt. Loss about $5,000, some insurance.

Lower Rates for Montreal.

Montreal, June 13.—Rates for electric lighting are to be reduced according to the announcement of the Electric Light, Heat & Power Co. The new rates will amount to 7 1-2 cents per kilowat hour on five year contracts, instead of 8 cents for residential. On one year contracts the rate will be 10 cents and 5 per cent. discount for ten days. This new rate is to become effective from July meter readings.

She Looks Like a Girl of 16.

This clever woman has not a wrinkle upon her face; she has perfected a marvelous, simple method which brought a wonderful change in her face in a single night. For removing wrinkles and developing the bust, her method is truly wonderfully rapid.

She made herself the woman she is to-day and brought about the wonderful change in her appearance in a secret and pleasant manner. Her complexion is as clear and fair as that of a child. She turned her scrawny figure into a beautiful bust and well developed form. She had thin, scrawny eye-lashes and eyebrows, which could scarcely be seen, and she made them long, thick and beautiful by her own methods and removed every blackhead and pimple from her face in a single night.

You can imagine her joy, when by her own simple discovery, she removed every wrinkle from her face and developed her thin neck and form to beautiful proportions.

By her new process, she removes wrinkles and develops the whole figure plump and fat.

It is simply astonishing the hundreds of women who write in regarding the wonderful results from this new beauty treatment, which is beautifying their face and form after beauty doctors and other methods failed.

Ethel Baker, of N. Y., writes: "My bust which was once flat and scrawny, is nicely developed."

E. Waibel, of N.J., writes: "I was always troubled with hair on my arms but now they are as clear of it as the palm of my hand."

The valuable new beauty book which Madame Cuningham is sending free to thousands of women is certainly a blessing to womankind, as it makes known her remarkable methods of beautifying the face and figure of unattractive women.

All our readers should write her at once and she will send you absolutely free, her various new beauty treatment and will show our rreaders:

Chatham, June 13.—His Lordship Bishop Fallon of London at three o'clock Sunday afternoon laid and blessed the corner-stone of the magnificent new church in process of construction at Pain Court, to be known as the Church of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin. The function was carried out with all the solemnity of the beautiful ritual of the Roman Catholic Church, and was witnessed by thousands of people, including members of Pain Court Church and other parishes round about.

The bishop was attended by the following priests: Rev. Frs. James of Chatham, Robert of Windsor, Nicholas of Chatham, Brady of Wallaceburg, Doe of Bigpoint, Hogan of Merlin, Martin of St. Peters, Ford of Bothwell, Tierney, and Rev. Fr. Emery, pastor of the Pain Court Church.

After the ceremony had been completed the bishop delivered an address in French, followed by a few brief remarks in English.

Mgr. Gauthier at Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 13.—Archbishop Gauthier returned to Ottawa on Sunday from Mt. Clemens, Michigan, where he had gone to rest after having had a slight attack of neuritis. Press reports that the archbishop had been taken seriously ill are emphatically denied.

Falling from the rear of an automobile to which he was clinging without the knowledge of the occupants, Stuart, the five-year-old son of Robert S. Robertson, 151 Collier street, Toronto, was so seriously injured yesterday afternoon that his recovery is not probable.

A Clean Sweep.

Montreal, June 13.—Sixty households will be compelled to purchase new carpets as the result of a blaze early yesterday, which played havoc with household fittings that had been sent for cleaning purposes to the Murray Carpet Cleaning Co., 331 Chatham street.

It was necessary to get six streams into operation to prevent the flames from communicating to adjacent buildings.

The loss to the Murray Carpet Cleaning Co. is estimated to be about $1,800. Though there were many carpets in the place to be cleaned, none were of very great value. The cause of the fire is unknown.

New Pulp District.

Ottawa, June 13.—Ontario may have a new pulp industry district, which will challenge those of Quebec if the result of the investigation to be conducted by a party from the interior department into the pulp properties of the English River district proves as successful as expected.

The English River is the boundary between Ontario and the new district of Keewatin, so that the work of the party will be of interest to both.

Mr. J. W. Kerrie, a graduate of the Forestry School of the New Brunswick College, will be in charge of the party.

C.N.R. Fined For Contempt.

Winnipeg, June 13.—The Canadian Northern Railway Co. has been fined $1,000 by Chief Justice Mathers for contempt of court in delivering papers to the returning officer at Beautiful Plains in an election case, after the court had ordered the papers were not to be delivered.

Returning Officer Boston was ordered to pay costs or go to jail for 30 days.

The trouble grew out of the late provincial general election, where the Conservative was declared elected on a technicality.

Expect Government to Help.

Kingston, June 13.—In an interview yesterday Prof. John Watson, vice-principal of Queen's, who has just returned from Ottawa, ridiculed the suggestion that raising the denominational restrictions on the university would in any way divorce religion from its education. Dr. Watson said that the late Principal Grant, had he lived, would have continued to press for the nationalisation of Queen's, which he strongly advocated in 1900. Dr. Watson believes the Ontario Government will have to give aid to the university.

Ask Cheaper Fares.

Montreal, June 13.—The dropping of the clauses demanding greater percentages from the Street Railway Co. receipts and the enlarging on the cheap ticket principle are two features of the new report of the controllers in regard to negotiations between the railway and the city for an extension franchise.

Practically nothing is said as to increased percentages, but it is demanded that the company make much better terms for tickets. Tickets must be cheaper for workingmen and for school children, women must be given cheaper tickets during shopping hours, and an extension is asked of the time when these cheap tickets shall be honored. In addition the company is again asked to do certain street paving, water streets, extend tracks, prevent overcrowding and relieve congestion generally.

Man Whom the Queen City Police Have Been Looking For Turns Up in Peterborough and Is Arrested

GOES BACK TO-DAY

A man named Thos. Boyd, wanted in Toronto since last November on a charge of obtaining diamond rings by false pretence, was arrested here last night by P. C. Meagher. Last November, the Chief received a communication from the Chief in Toronto, informing him of the incident, and also stating that he thought the accused had gone to Peterborough. This was incorrect, however, as the accused came to the city for the first since the charge, only yesterday. An officer came from Toronto for him today.

MR. MATTHEWS' REPORT ON CONVENTION OF AMERICAN WATERWORKS ASSOCIATION

Chairman of the Water Commissioners Gives an Interesting Resume of the Waterworks Gathering at Rochester at Which He Was a Delegate---Some of the Conclusions Reached.

At the meeting of the Water Commissioners yesterday, Mr. T. F. Matthews, the chairman, gave the following report on his attendance at the 31st annual convention of the American Water Works Association at Rochester, N.Y., June 6th to 10th, 1911:

"As directed by the Board, I attended the above named Convention, going to Rochester by way of Toronto and Buffalo. I was very much impressed with the value of a gathering such as this, particularly for Water Works Engineers, Superintendents, or others interested in supplying pure water for public purposes. It was largely attended by representatives from both the United States and Canada. Papers were read and discussed by those foremost in their professions, and criticisms freely offered by those in actual control of water works plants.

A most important feature was the display by every manufacturer of importance of water works goods and tools, with experts to explain their use and value.

I will not attempt to give any extended report of the papers presented, as these will be sent to the Commissioners printed and bound in the near future. On Tuesday, 6th inst., after the usual President's address, and reports of committees, a paper on Pumping House Management was read. This was not particularly interesting to me, as it referred altogether to the operation of stations using steam as motive power. In the evening, we had an illustrated lecture on the Panama Canal, and a most excellent paper on "Some Fundamental Considerations in the Determinations of a Reasonable Return for Public Hydrant Service." In brief, some conclusions arrived at, are:

1. Public fire hydrant service in the United States and Canada is usually paid for upon the basis of an annual rental for each hydrant.

2. These hydrants rarely bear an relation to the cost or the value of the service rendered.

3. They have, heretofore, usually been determined by average prices paid in the State or surrounding district, in the case of the larger communities, and by the requirement of meeting the interest charges upon the plant investment, in small ones.

4. The range of hydrant rentals paid in the United States is in general from $100.00 per hydrant per year to a nominal sum of $10.00. The average hydrant rental is about $40.00.

5. Hydrant rentals or the demand for public fire protection service should be examined from five points of view:

(a) The cost of the service.

(b) The value of the service.

(c.) The number of hydrants per mile of pipe and the distance between them, and area served.

(d) The rate of taxation corresponding to the amount paid for public hydrant service.

(e.) The relative cost of other forms of public service, such as lighting and police.

6 The cost of the portion of the water works plant involved by fire hydrant service probably constitutes from 60 p.c. to 80 p.c. of the entire cost of the physical property in the cause of communities having less than 5000 population, decreasing in the larger places. The approximate annual cost of fire hydrant service is estimated at $1.00 per capita with variation of 40 p.c. more or less in different communities, being 60 to 75 cents in the largest cities and $1.50 to $1.75 in small well served cities and towns. These per capita costs amount to about $55.00 per hydrant.

The hydrant rental charged to the city of Peterborough by the Commissoures amounts to $27.50 per hydrant, and is well below the average charged in both the United States and Canada. In the discussion following the paper, it was recommended that an arrangement should be made with the municipality, either on a cost or per capita basis, with the understanding that hydrants should not be more than 500 feet or 600 feet apart in the residential district, and 250 or 300 feet apart in the business districts. The practice adopted by the Commissioners here, respecting the payment for private hydrants and sprinkler systems was commended, as these services have an important bearing on the cost and capacity of street mains and on the pumping capacity as well.

The discussion on this paper occupied considerable time during the morning of Wednesday 7th, after which the election of officers took place, and Mr. Alex. Milne of St. Catharines was elected president. By vote of the delegates it was decided that the next annual meeting should be held at Louisville, Ky. Richmond, Va., and Minneapolic, Min., were also after it.

A most interesting paper on "An Emergency Intake" was given by Dr. Wm. P. Mason, and reference was made to disasters at Newark, N. J., Lowell, Mass., Butler, Pa. and Ottawa, Ont., which fololwed the opening of emergency intakes, and allowing polluted water to enter the system. In these four places, over 4,000 cases of typhoid resulted, and which brought out the enquiry: "Which would a man prefer, loss of his home by fire, or death from typhoid fever?"

Another interesting and profitable paper "The Purification of Drinking Water" was exceedingly well received. The speaker said, in part:

The importance of water is illustrated by the fact that it constitutes about 70 p.c. of the entire weight of the human body, is universally present in all tissues and fluids, in blood and secretions, where its presence is necessary in order to provide them the fluidity necessary to the performance of their functions, when new substances are introduced into the body and the old ingredients discharged. It is an essential ingredient of the fluids for it holds their solid material in solution and enables them to pass and repass through the animal form. Also an ingredient of the solid and semi-solid tisaues, being necessary to give them the special consistency characteristic of them, and which would be lost without it, thus interfering with their functions."

"Taken into the body in the form of drink and food, therein taking part in the vital functions, is a universal solvent of all ingredients of the animal fluids. It thus enables the nutritious elements of food to find their way into the circulating fluids and penetrates the substance of "the organs; takes part in the phenomena of absorption, transudation, exhalation, chemical union and decomposition. Therefore, playing such an important part in the human economy, it should be pure and wholesome; should not contain sufficient organic or inorganic matter to interfere with its solvent properties; should not carry into the human body specific germs of disease."

These were the opening words of John L. Leal, after which he went on to explain the derivation of water and how it spreads over and through the ground becoming polluted more or less.

The various systems of purification which have been adopted, and are in use, are:

1. Sedimentation.
2. Slow sand filteration.
3. Rapid mechanical filteration with coagulation.
4. Ozonation.
5. Sterilization or disinfection.

After discussing the cost and benefits of each system, Mr. Leal gave as his opinion that "Rapid Mechanical Filteration with Coagulation" in conjunction with "Sterilzation" is the one most suitable to us.

It was impossible for me to remain over Friday, the closing day.

In conclusion, I would say that to me it appears important that the Superintendent of our Water Works System, together with one or more of the Commissioners, should attend these annual conventions. New appliances and methods are continually being introduced, new ideas on control and management brought forward, and only by meeting with experts and practical engineers can information of value be obtained.

THOMAS CAUGHT

"Benefactor" Who Was to Have Presented Lindsay With a Shoe Factory Gets Into Trouble in Minnesota

A FORGERY CHARGE

The Lindsay Post says:

Lindsay citizens will be pleased to learn that D. B. Thomas has been arrested in Breckenbridge, Minn., for swindling Burrows & Shepley, of that place out of $11,000 and for forging warranty deed.

David B. Meyers (as he called himself) representing himself to be from Freport, Ill., arrived in Breckenbridge, Minn., and proceeded to make arrangements with Plaisted Bros., land agents, for the purchase of some land.

He then agreed to sell to Burrows & Shepherd for $14,000.

Francis Gory, Paynesville, was the owner of the land and Myers went to Fargo to meet him. He returned with the warrantee deed properly executed, but Burrows & Shepherd, began to get suspicious, and on making enquiries it was found that he was not known in Freeport, and also that Mr. Gory had not heard of him. Myers had forged Gory's name in the deed. The penalty for the offence is not more than twenty years in the state prison.

The prisoner confessed to a string of operations covering two years since his release from the state penitentiary of Indiana, where he served two years for forgery.

His right name is David B. McCain and he is 28 years old. His home is in Marion, Ind., where he has a wife and three children. He has left his family and admits that he spends his money on fast women.

Just what will be done with him has not been decided.

The following has been received by the town from E. H. Elwin, County Attorney, Breckenridge, Minn:

"We have one David B. McCain, in jail here for forgery. He tells us that he operated in your town as a shoe manufacturer, and that the people put up a bonus for him in starting his project, that he operated there under the name of D. Thomas and that he forged some notes at the Home Bank of Canada, at Lindsay, Canada.

"I wonder if you can give us any information as to his doings there if any. He is about twenty-eight years old, five feet, ten inches tall, weight one hundred and eighty to one hundred and ninety, dark complexion, smooth spoken and good appearance."

NUMBER OF INTERESTING ITEMS COME UP FOR DISCUSSION AT MANUFACTURERS' MEETING

Committee Decides to Purchase Advertising Space in Trent Valley Canal Publication---Question of Purchasing 3000 Maps Discussed---Are the West Ward People in Need of a Park?

At the meeting of the Manufacturers' committee, held last night, Mr. C. Clementi was present, presenting an advertising proposition to the committee, which it accepted. There were present at the meeting, Ald. Buller, chairman, Ald. Edgar, Ald. Anderson and Ald. Bradburn.

Mr. Clementi brought to the attention of the committee a book, which is being composed of a description of the Trent Canal waterway. With that it also discusses the power quest ion thoroughly and gives a full description of the construction of the Trent Canal as far as the Bay of Quinte. He also stated that when in Lindsay the other day he could have sold 500 copies of the book, and further stated that the information regarding the Trent Canal and other information which the book will contain, had been sought from points as far distant as St. Petersburg, Russia, and other far away points. He thought that they should leave the matter with Mr. Armstrong, City Clerk, or some person, to write up a suitable advertisement for the city, for publication in this book. The regular charge was $30 per page, but a special offer was given the city of $20.00. He named over several towns and villages that had put in a page of advertising. It is also said that the book was not going to be a book of advertisements, but would contain reading matter for the greater part. It was accordingly moved by Ald. Anderson, and seconded by Ald. Edgar, that they take a page of the book for advertising this city.—Carried.

Mr. McAlpine was present requesting the committee to purchase 3,000 maps containing a full outline of the city. Its waterways, water power, and etc. The map is exclusively of Peterborough. It was moved and seconded that the matter be left in the hands of the Chairman and the Mayor.

The matter of parks was next discussed. Ald. Brown thought all the other wards could get along without a park better than the west ward, but others of the committee were of the opinion that west ward people were close enough to Jackson park. The matter was left over for another meeting, and the committee adjourned.

The lowest percentage of condition is made for fall wheat, which suffered from inadequate protection in the winter months, and also to some extent from spring frosts. The areas of fall wheat are greater than last year by 4.50 per cent. and of spring wheat 13.70 per cent. The total area in wheat is 10,503,400 acres, as compared with 9,264,800 in 1910 and 7,750,400 in 1909. The per cent. condition of fall wheat at the end of May was 80.63, and of spring wheat 96.69. HAD PACT TO SUICIDE

Two Local Men Caused Excitement For a Large Sunday Afternoon Crowd by Wading Into the River at Smith Street

NERVE FAILED THEM

Considerable excitement was caused by the strange actions of two men in the vicinity of Smith Street bridge on Sunday afternoon. It appears that the two men in question had come to the conclusion that life was not all it was cracked up to be, so they decided that they would end it by throwing themselves into the river just below the bridge.

Accordingly they proceeded to make preparations for their hasty exit into the nether world by throwing off the greater portion of their upper garments. By this time a number of people were gathered around and were watching the apparently harmless movements of the men with evident amusement, but when the men began to walk to the edge of the bank arm in arm with the evident intention of precipitating themselves into the river the crowd became alarmed, but their alarm was short lived for at this juncture one of the men took cool feet and no amount of persuasion on the part of his companion would induce him to give up the ghost. This enraged his companion to such a degree that he decided to resort to more strenuous methods and he proceeded to pull the faint-hearted one in by force. At this stage of the game, one or two of the bravest of the many spectators, who were present decided to take a hand in the proceedings with the result that after considerable coaxing the men were induced to go home and endure the good graces of their wives and families for a while longer. This they condescended to do with great reluctance. Both of the men, who are married live in the South end of the city.

BETTER SYSTEM IN MAKING MEN'S CLOTHES

What Specializing Has Done for the Special Tailors, Limited, of Peterborough

It may be interesting to our male readers to know that the English and American designers of their fashions follow the King's lead so closely that they can accurately guage the season in advance as to what will be the favoured styles and colours in men's apparel.

In this connection, it is a pleasure to learn that the Special Tailors, Limited, of Peterborough, 326 George St., are building a good reputation. Their close adherence to the prevailing fashions, their own "special" system for producing the garments, and the general select ion of harmony in the minor details, both for the man who is content with less costly clothes, as well as the man of luxurious apaprel, has made this business a growing success. Indeed, its growth has been so marked, that another expert designer, of up-to-date styles, possessing wide experience, gained in some of the largest tailoring houses of Canada and the U. S., is now under engagement with the firm.

Clothing-making to the Special Tailors, Limited, is their only vocation. They do nothing but designing and tailoring, and if there is a better way of doing good work than their's, they have not heard of it. By adopting this latest improved system, employing bright, well-trained workmen, who have been specialised into making one particular part of a garment and thus shortening the time of making, the best results have been obtained. By this system a garment is passed from one expert workman to another, and so from the cutter to customer the time is much shortened because of the greater expertness of each man. The correctness of fit is also better maintained and the perfect contour of the garment preserved.

"My own experience," says Mr. Ed. Huff, the practical manager of the Special Tailors, Limited, "is that we have the best system in vogue. We pay a good price for our designers and tailors, and are convinced that whatever clothing we turn out is as nearly faultless as can be. We do not make clothes for all of Peterborough's dressers, but we do make clothes for many of the best dressed ones of the city and elsewhere."

FIELDING TO TUPPER.

(Ottawa Free Press)

Mr. Fielding has been the great man of the past week. His controversial powers exerted on both sides of the Atlantic have put a quietus on Sir Charles Tupper, as a revived factor in Canadian politics, and given British Unionists pause in their attacks on Canadian self-government.

It is hard to see why Sir Charles Tupper should have ventured out in extreme old age to attack so formidable a statesman. But the veteran has never lacked audacity. He is a Sir Kay of politics, fond of hot water. His somewhat truculent letter to Mr. Fielding has brought an answer of marked forbearance, to which it will be impossible for him to make any effective counter.

Mr. Fielding, in fact, goes through Sir Charles as easily and smoothly as a bullet through tissue paper. For the most part he merely quotes from the Hansard reports of Sir Charles' own speeches. In so doing, he absolutely proves to any reader that Sir Charles did predict the ruin of Canadian industries from the Fielding tariff of 1907, after, as well as before, it had been variously amended. But now, writes Mr. Fielding, "our opponents generally acknowledge the splendid success of that policy. They picture the condition of the country as so prosperous and happy that we should now have no change of tariff policy, but should let well enough alone."

As regards this part played by Tupper in the reciprocity negotiations of 1897-1898, the Minister of Finance shows up Sir Charles' evasions on that head, and proves again, from the report of his work, which Sir Charles himself made to the House of Commons, on returning from Washington at that time, that he not simply favoured reciprocity, but was so eager to get it that he proposed fishery concessions to the United States.

Sir Charles present enthusiasm for British preference, which he laments to see "whittled away" by recent treaties, is criticized in two ways. In the first place there was no opposition by leading members of the Opposition in Parliament to the new commercial arrangements with France, Holland, Belgium, Italy and Germany. They woke up only when the name United States caught their ear. Secondly, neither Sir Charles nor his associates ever favoured a British preference in any practical form; they have paid only lip-homage to some imaginary ideal of imperial preference which is set, not on this world, but in heaven, perhaps. Sir Charles' complaint, therefore, that the British preference, which he himself opposed with fury, but which the Laurier Government carried through, is endangered by the reciprocity agreement, is hard to understand. Mr. Fielding reminds Sir Charles that he was paired against a resolution, moved in the House of Commons, affirming the "material benefit to the mother country and to Canada" of British preference.

It is just childishness that the former advocate of reciprocity and enemy of British preference, should now show such hatred of the former, and zeal for the latter? If so, it is not the childishness of old age, for Sir Charles is still in vigorous enjoyment of his faculties, and the Opposition leaders have made the same sudden flop-over.

THAT "TIRED" FEELING.

(Brantford Expositor)

The fact is becoming noticeable that the churches contain far more "oncers" than formerly. Why is it? Some blame the automobiles; others ascribe it to the "tired feeling" which seems to be as fatal to church going as the "sleeping sickness" is to life. The Christian Guardian argues that a man, because he is tired, is not justified in absenting himself from the services of the sanctuary. It draws the following picture:

What tires men? Overwork, worry, monotony. What rests men? Sleep, quiet, change. If a man needs sleep he had better take it, even on Sunday, but will there not be plenty of time to go to church also? Surely the hour, or hour and a half, of the church service will still leave plenty of time for sleep? But most tired men do not need sleep, but change. A great many tired men will find themselves rested by a change of toil and scene. To forget our troubles, and turn our attention to something which is both interesting and pleasant, is true rest. Does the church help us in this? At least it ought to, and there are thousands who will testify that it does. The friendly meeting, the music and singing, the prayers and the sermon, are surely adapted to help the ordinary man and for the time at least he can forget his worries.

But suppose the tired individual stays home. Does he rest? He is too tired to "dress up," and so lolls around in his every-day clothes. He reads a little, but it is just what he has been reading all the week, and it does not rest him. A neighbour calls in, and they discuss business and local happenings, and live the week over again, with its cares and troubles. Then the children worry him, and he loses his temper a dozen times. At night he is probably more tired than he was in the morning, and he wonders why it is that Sunday is such a hard day. He has spoiled his Sunday and lost a day.

Now, if he had decided to go to church he would have put on his Sunday clothes, and that would at least have occupied his attention for a little while. He would have heard some good music and probably a sermon that would have interested him; and he would, for a few hours at least, have forgotten his daily round of duty, and would have been more rested at night than if he had stayed at home. The tired man, as a rule, had better go to church.

What do you say to the above, Mr. Tired Man? Has the picture been accurately drawn? We are disposed to believe it has been. It is quite possible to dissipate and overdo things in religion, as well as in anything else, but the man who has spent a fairly active Sunday feels more chirpy and readier for work on Monday morning than the man who has spent his Sunday in snoozing and lolling about.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair, and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wyeths' Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I noticed in your Friday's and Saturday's issue letters from "Stroller" and "Civis," regarding the jungle on Aylmer street. I, for one, am in sympathy with them although I have not seen the north-end meadow, but I am satisfied to say that those who are in authority to look after the road should be compelled to do as those two firemen were forced to do.

It seems to me that all over the city it is the self same way. In the south end of the city there is a street where a dead body had to be carried off on account of the drivers not being able to bring the hearse down, but the councillors, on hearing that, did have the street put in good condition and has remained in that condition until one of the city's paid officials gave permission to fill up to the sidewalk with clay, which put the street in comparison with the rocky roads to Dublin, or a prominent brick yard. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,

"One That Does Not Own the Street"

Peterborough, June 12.

Sir,—Your report should say that I paid the tax by mail early in May, it being returned without a word of explanation, although the last year the law was in force it was sent and accepted by mail. In almost all else your report is false. I can hardly blame the press though, but would ask if the tax had been $500 would it have been returned? W. A. B.

P.S.—Please read the dog by-law poster and interpret it reasonably.

His Honour Judge Huycke Addresses Grand Jury At June Assizes Of High Court

The general sessions of the Peace began this afternoon at 1 o'clock, his Honour Judge Huycke, presiding. The following was the Grand Jury empanneled: Ben. Caldwell, H. D. Coon, Thos. H. Crowe, J. Elliott, R. Hoskin, W. H. Hemler, W. J. Kidd, Robt. H. Leary, W. E. Lech, A. McPherson, T. Murphy, J. Sargeant and T. Webster.

Robt. H. Leary was foreman of the Grand Jury. The petit jury was then named, after which his Honour Judge Huycke addressed the jury.

The only case on this afternoon was a civil action—the Bank of Ottawa vs. John Haggart.

The grand jury was dismissed to its quarters to discuss the evidence in the Houedry case, and determine whether or not a true bill against the prisoner should be returned.

"I have something to congratulate you upon, to-day, gentlemen. There is not much business, for you to attend to here, but what there is, it is your duty to attend to it in a thorough manner, and it is very important that you do it well.

You are here called upon in various capacities. You are here to represent the people of Peterborough and the County, both in practice and in fact. You are here, not only to see that the public's money is expended rightly and properly, but to see that the public's rights are not interfered with. It is for you to see whether a prisoner is put upon his trial justly or not. Again, when you find that he should be sent up for trial, it is your duty to then bring in a true bill. It is not necessary for you to listen to all the evidence in a case to have a man sent up for trial, but when you hear enough evidence to convince you that he should be sent up, and to bring in a true bill, you can say that it is unnecessary to listen to any more evidence. There are three indictments to be brought before you. Two of them are against one man. The other is against a man, who is out on bail. One of the cases is theft. But it is unnecessary for me to state any evidence, it will all be brought before you. Another part of your duties is to inspect the gaol and other public buildings, and if you see that any public official is not doing his duty, it is your duty to report the matter. Look in all the places, and inspect the prisoners, those charged with and lodged in the cells, as vagrants. There are often old men, who are very feeble, who are lodged in the cells for vagrants, who are merely so old as to be unable to make their own living. There are places for the purpose of keeping these people, and if they a redeserving, they should be placed in these places, instead of being kept in gaol."

"I remember this court room last year. It was draped as prettily as any in the province, the occasion being the death of the great Peace Maker, our late King Edward VII. In the olden times, when any person committed a crime, it was tried before the King, and I think it is my duty to mention this fact, as you are now, to represent hte King. It is a matter upon which I may congratulate you. While we have lost a great King, and peace maker, we may be thankful that we have now a King, about to be crowned, who is also very great, and I am sure you will join with me in wishing him success, and success to the country, and all the British Dominions. The present negotiations for peace is a very hopeful sign, and it is to be hoped that we will have everlasting peace.

To-Day's Developments In The Stock Markets Examiner's Daily Letter

NEW YORK, JUNE 13.—London is devoid of feature this morning. Un. Pacific, the only stock showing much change, gaining 5-8. The settlement begins to-day in London and trading in American issues may pick up since Europe has shown confidence in our securities of late. Sentiment locally is also improved, though the outside public continues to hold off in making commitments, despite the comparative resiliency displayed. There is nothing in the advices to materially affect prices, the situation being much the same, with general business dormant pending the adjournment of congress and the more definite knowledge of the crop outcome, which so far is favourable. Other than too dry weather in the southwest which can yet be relieved by rains, the prospects look good, especially in the north-west sections that the Hill roads traverse. There is a better feeling on the copper stocks owing to the improvement in the situation incidental to the curtailment of production and the more active consumption in Europe, the talk of a revival of merger negotiations being take with some reserve, in view of the recent decisions of the supreme court. Wall street will scan the report of the subway committee to-day with considerble interest for a line as to the respective chances of the Interboro and the B. R. T., though the ultimate outcome may be in doubt for some time with a compromise possible. It is stated that the postal telegraph may enter the telephone field in the west in order to compete with the Western Union American Telephone combination. We would buy on an reactions for higher prices.

NEW YORK, N. Y., JUNE 13. — We would continue to buy good rails on slight recessions. The low priced rails should be bought at current prices.

NEW YORK, N. Y., JUNE 13 — Earnings Mo. Pac. for April dec., $196,900.

Washington despatch says counsel for Am. tobacco has submitted tentative plan for re-organization to Attorney General Wickersham for his opinion.

Members of the Chicago Board of Trade have voted to increase commission rate from $6.25 to $7.50 for each 5,000 bushel transaction.

In Kansas it is estimated that the loss by drought and hot winds in some sections will be 50 per cent. According to the C. B. & Q. Ry. crop report which also says Kansas will harvest less than 5,000,000 acres of wheat this year.

Consols are unchanged at 79 9-16 for money and 79 5-8 for account.

Liverpool, 1.30 p.m.—Wheat firm, 1-8 lower.

Corn 1-4 lower.

NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 13.—The recessions in the leading issues were attributed to various reasons. The most disquieting influence was a report that the Interstate Commission had ordered reductions of rates on coal. This was used as a reason for determined selling of Reading and was chiefly responsible for the weakness in the stock. There was a general belief too, that some prominent interests had liquidatsed lines of important railroad stocks and some of the houses credited with this selling said that they were disposed to keep from the bull side of the market until they had news of rains in the west and southwest. The copper shares were strong and the street continued full of bull points on this group.

The position of the metal is now declared to be stronger than at any previous time in two years.

LAWN BOWLING

The following games were played on the Brookside lawn yesterday: Singles: Fitzgerald 13, Roberston 12; Brightman 12, Robertson 13; Marshall 13, Pratt 4; Pratt 13, Lockhart 8; Marshall 13, Maynard 12.

Doubles—Fitzgerald and Maynard 13, vs. Lockhart and Pratt 12; McCarthy and Moore 13, vs. McKnight and Hall 10.

And the most exciting game of the season between:

Bambrick	Harrington
Canniff	Gutterson
Ross	Marshall
Clarke, sk. 19	Yeats, sk. 22

It will be noticed that there are a lot of new men among the above, and if last night's playing is any criterian, there is a bunch of young men in the club who will make the best of the old players sit up and take notice. Observe what a close squeak Dr. Marshall had with Mr. Maynard.

Friday and Saturday also had some fine games, but the scores were not handed in.

PORT HOPE TO PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY NEXT NEW PITCHING PHENOM

The Peterborough ball team will have their first home game in three weeks, on Saturday, when the Port Hope team will clash with the Petes at Riverside Park. Although the Quinlanites beat Port Hope at home a week ago Saturday, Blake Crawford has dug up a new twirler since then, a young college player named Pipher, who is said to be a phenom. of the first magnitude, and who had the hard-hitting Bowmanville team eating out of his hand on Saturday. With his assistance the Port Hope president is confident of sewing up the Petes. He figures that the blue and white team had nothing on Port Hope team, except a little superior batting strength and with a crack twirler to reduce the swat stuff he has an idea that he has nothing to do but come up here and walk away with the game. Several of Port Hope's old stars have caught the fever, and got back into the game, and from all accounts, Manager Quinlan's collection will have to step to town to beat the reinforced Hopers. That Port Hope team does not appreciate a trimming at all, and whenever they drop a game they go to work and strengthen up with the idea of getting revenge. That is what they are doing now and the way they trampled that good- Bowmanville team on Saturday, the Crawford bunch are the team to be figured on all the way. There will undoubtedly be a big crowd of fans on hand, as the local supporters will welcome the chance to see the locals at home again.

REYNOLDS FAILS AGAIN GOT AS FAR AS NEWCASTLE

The Port Hope Guide says:

Jimmy Reynolds went out for exercise this morning. He walked eighteen miles, fell by the roadside with severe cramps, and had to be driven back to the Oriental Hotel at Newcastle. This little jaunt just cost him $280.00. And this makes a total of $1,080 that Jimmy has lost on the walking game.

It was his intention to walk to Toronto and back in 35 hours and he bet $250 against $500 that he could make the trip. He also bet $20 to $50 that he could reach Toronto in 15 hours and $10 to $20 that he could make Toronto in 17 1-2 hours. But he blew up 1 mile west of Newcastle, and as this is the second time that he has quit at Newcastle on his way to the city it is quite evident that the walking game is too much for him. No person had the slightest idea that Jimmy would walk to Toronto and back in 35 hours nor in 45 hours. We did think that he might reach the city, but this performance clearly shows that he is not a walker and he should give it up for a bad job.

And the same men who took his $800 will take $250 more to-day. That is the sporty end of it. They hang up odds of 2 to 1, which looks large to Jimmy and he grabs at it. It is easily a $1,000 to 1 shot, and that is what the bookmakers at the Woodbine would offer. There is no sport about it at all, in fact a good sport would never make the wager. We do not wish to lead any person to believe that the opposition went in search of this bet. Reynolds was the one to make the proposition, but even at that the other side should have passed it up. We sincerely hope that this walking game is at an end.

Ennismore Road Race

There were three entries in the road race in connection with the Ennismore picnic which started at the Examiner office at 1.45 to-day. They were Albert Snoke, the Chemong Indian, Jas. Dion of Ennismore, and J. Worthley, a young English runner. The distance to the Ennismore picnic grounds is approximately ten miles. A report from Bridgenorth says Snoke was leading there with Worthley second.

FOOTBALL

In a Church League football game, played on the Brinton Meadows on Saturday afternoon, before a large crowd, All Saints won a very close match from Knox by 2 to 1.

The Saints won the toss and decided to kick with the sun at their backs. The game opened with the blue and whites pressing the Knox goal, but owing to good goal-keeping by Calledean the Saints were unable to score until after twenty minutes of play. Their first goal was got by James pasing three of the defence men and beating the goal-keeper by a hot shot. When play was resumed once more Knox came pretty strong, but were robbed of what looked like a sure goal by the Saints' sturdy goal-keeper, who always plays well. All Saints received the ball and went up the field and shot, but the ball just missed the goal post. Knox team played the best game of the season. They received the ball and came down the left side and scored their only goal of the game just before half-time.

The second half started out by Knox pressing All Saints' goal, but by good work of the blue and white backs they could not score. The game was drawing to a close with only five minutes to play, and many spectators were looking for the game to end a tie, when Dawson, the All Saints' half-back, saw that some one must do something to save the day for the Saints. He took one of his usual rushes and went through the Knox defence and beat the goal-keeper on a shot that hardly any man could stop and this goal put the Saints the winner of a two-to-one score.

Goal, Morairty; backs, Rew and Robinson; half-backs, Hooper, Dawson and Edawrds; forwards, Curtis, Willis, James, Abbott and Dowens.

In a keenly contested game of foot ball which was played last night on the Brenton field, Coldsprings beat the All Saints aggregation to the tune of 3-1. The game was fast and full of surprises. During the last half All Saints rallied and fruitlessly endeavored to pull up the score but without avail. The result was a decided surprise and puts a different complexion on the league standing.

St. Johns defeated Park Street last night by a score of 9.2. The game which was played on the Park Street grounds was fast and exciting from start to finish.

BASEBALL

Following is the line-up of the Examiner news room ball club, which will meet the Review team in a classy game of ball next Saturday at the Oval:

Taylor—Catcher.
Swanston—Pitcher.
Johnson—First base.
Myland—Second base.
Brown—Third base.
Barringer—Short stop.
Shannon—Right field.
Abraham—Centre field.

Practises of the Central T. A. S. team of the Inter-Catholic League are called for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week in preparation for Saturday's game with the Sacred Heart team.

The Port Hope Guide says:

The baseball team showed a marked improvement in their game with Bowmanville on Saturday and with a couple more chances they should give any of the teams in the Midland League a good argument.

Roy Pipher occupied the box and he sent up an assortment of curves that had the visitors guessing all the time. He had eleven strike outs to his credit and allowed only seven hits. He has a splendid delivery and watches the bases very closely. Burgoyne, the other new man, played first and put up a snappy game.

The score was 10 to 6 and we had the 10.

The Danville Three I League club has given Jack McCarthy the gate.

Bill Gray, a protege of Honus Wagner, is making good with the East Liverpool O. & P. League.

Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics, has signed Jack Matthews,, an outfielder with the Holy Cross team.

Joe Sugden, the old St. Louis catcher, has joined the Letroit team, and will act as scout for the Tigers.

Shorstop Corhan, the youngster who is doing so well with the White Sox, was a find of the late Frank Selee.

First baseman Fred Merkle, of the Giants, has developed into one of the smoothest all-round players in the game.

Rumour has it that Joe O'Brien, a former president of the American Association, will be the next president of the National League.

Pitcher Ables, who was tried out by the New York Highlanders, is doing beautiful work for the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League.

Harry Lord hates to win games from the Boston Red Sox so much that he offered to forfeit a month's salary if the White Sox would take four straight from the Red Sox.

National League catchers are murdering the ball this season. Dooin, of the Quakers, Bresnahan, of the Cardinals; Meyers, of the Giants; Simon, of the Pirates and Graham, of the cubs, are all hitting over the .300 mark.

Lou Evans, of the Cardinals, thinks "Rube" Marquard, of the Giants, should be one of the greatest pitchers in the world. "He's got everything," says Lou, "he's left-handed, lopsided, wry-necked and crazy, and if that combination doesn't make a good pitcher, I'm a sailor."

One female blue-bottle fly lays from 120 to 150 eggs at a time, and these mature in ten days. Under favorable conditions the descendants of a single pair will number millions in three months. Therefore all housekeepers should commence using

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

TO criticise a member of one's family to an outsider is to hurl a boomerang.

That is, the blow which is intended for another is practically certain to come back upon oneself.

But how many people apparently fail to realize this!

I am thinking especially of a young girl—otherwise a very likeable young person—who goes about frankly saying that she dislikes her younger sister and considers her the most disagreeable and bad tempered person she has ever known.

I know she thinks that people will respect her for this frankness and sympathize with her for her misfortune in having such a sister.

As a matter of fact, the result is almost always a feeling of repugnance towards her for having violated the code of family loyalty and an instinctive mental championship of the sister who is thus attacked.

One naturally wonders what the sister would have to say for herself if she chose to air the family disagreements instead of maintaining, as she does, a most discreet silence on the subject.

One recalls that Lucy when aroused is not a particularly sweet tempered person herself and very much suspects that the "scrapping" is not at all one sided.

The two girls may be equally to blame for the incongeniality of the younger sister may really be the one who gets most of the sympathy because she knows unendurable person she is made out to be, but it is she enough to hold her tongue on the subject of family failings to outsiders.

And that result is inevitable.

Family loyalty is a tradition which the world respects and insists shall be respected.

He who violates it, no matter how good his reason, is running his head against the blank wall of tradition and is mighty likely to get bruised if no more than that.

To have in your family persons whom you would never have spoken to twice if they had not been your relatives, persons even whose every act irritates you and rubs you the wrong way, is one of the greatest misfortuens that can befall one. Family loyalty then becomes difficult, but by no means impossible.

You need not associate with these uncongenial relatives any more than absolutely necessary, but you can keep your tongue chained in regard to their faults.

And if you do not want to throw a boomerang of criticism which will probably hurt you more than them, you will surely do so.

SPLENDID RECITAL BY MISS GUMPHRICHT'S PUPILS

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the Recital Hall of the Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, last evening, when a concert was given by the pupils of Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht, A.T.C.M. A.O.C.M. She was assisted by Miss Leslie Horner, A.T.C.M., Mr. Hague Sawers, Baritone, and Mr. Herbert Rush, Tenor. Mr. McIlroy, the Basso, was unable to sing. Miss Gumpricht is to be complimented on her admirable teaching as shown in the manner in which her pupils played. The tastefulness and finish of some of the items were remarkable.

Miss Leslie Horner, too, deserves a word of praise for her beautiful contribution to the programme. The rapid succession of notes of which Maria Von Weber's "Gerpetuum Mobile" is comprised, denotes great flexibility of fingers and her rendering of Moszkowski's waltz in E. major was superb.

The vocalists added further charm to the programme which was as follows:

Piano duet — Festival Procession March — F. G. Rathburn, Misses Grace Gumpricht and Helen Greaves.

Piano solo—(a) Au Matin op. 83—H. Enjarmine Godard; (b) La Cigale—G. Bachmann, Miss Florence Scott.

Piano duo—Pas Des Cymbales op. 36 No. 2—C. Chaminade, 1st. piano, Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht; 2nd. piano, Miss Grace Gumpricht.

Piano solo—(a) The Flatterer op. 50—C. Chaminade; (b) Fantaisie De Concert—Lefebure Wily, Miss Annie Devell.

Piano solo — Marche Grotesque—C. Sinding, Miss Geraldine King.

Piano solo—(a) Waltz in E. Major—M. Moszkowski; (b) Perpetuum Mobile—C. M. Von Weber, Miss Leslie Horner.

The concert was terminated by the National Anthem.

WATER COMMISSIONERS HOLD BUSY AFTERNOON SESSION

The Water Commissioners met yesterday afternoon and the following were present. Mr. T. F. Matthews, chairman, W. H. Moore and W. H. Hill.

A report was read from the Superintendent that the cost of laying the main to the Queen Mary Hospital was $778.31. It was decided that a charge be made to the hospital of $60 a year net from August 1st, 1910.

A letter was read from the Auburn Power Co. in regard to the removal of the old pumps at the Auburn dam.

A letter was read from Miss H. Denison, asking for water connection at the Protestant Home, on Anson street. The secretary was instructed to send an application form to be signed, and Mr. Fawcett was instructed to furnish an estimate of the cost of laying a 4 in, a 5 in. and a 6 in. pipe

A letter was read from T. A. S. Hay, City Engineer, asking for a service at the sewer pumping station on lower George street. The secretary was instructed to ask the City Engineer for what purpose the water would be used and for an estimate of the quantity that would be used.

An opinion was read from E. H. D. Hall regarding the position respecting the pump unit in the John McDougal Caledonian Iron Works Co.

Moved by W. H. Hill, seconded by W. H. Moore, that the secretary write Mr. W. Kennedy, jr., that the City Solicitor has given his opinion that Mr. Kennedy is within his rights in ordering the removal of the pumping unit put in by the John McDougal Co., and that the Commissioners do not intend to interfere with the order to that effect which he has given.

100 boys and 83 girls celebrated their first communion at the 9.15 mass at St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday morning. The children marched in procession from the Convent to the church, accompanied by their teachers. Mass was said by the Rev. Fr. Fergus O'Brien, who afterwards administered Holy Communion, assisted by the Rev. Fr. McColl.

A great deal of credit is due to the Sisters and lay teachers of the Separate School for the excellent manner in which they assisted in the training of the children, which training displayed itself in the admirable manner in which the children conducted themselves.

P. L. And P. Co. Will Put Six Inch Main To East City

Board of Works Met and Dealt With Considerable Important Business---Several Gas Mains to be Laid---Sewer Foreman Chosen--Bell Telephone Co. Put In Request.

At a meeting of the Board of Works held last night, Mr. W. H. Munro, of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., was granted the privilege of putting in gas mains on the following streets:

George street, east side from Argyle to Hilliard.

The following were present: Ald. Metherel, chairman, Ald. Graham, Mayor Morrow, Ald. Brown, Ald. Duncan, Ald. Anderson and Ald. Buller and City Engineer Hay.

Regarding the putting in of the gas mains, the City Engineer had an objections to offer providing the Company cleared away all the material that was left, and also did not dig up the streets that had been rolled and put in good shape. The Company will also put in a six inch main to East City. The application to be allowed to put it in, was in this communication, but the City Engineer did not have time to report on it. There will also be a main put in on Rubidge street, from Wolfe street, a block and a half. Mr. Munro stated that application had been made for gas on the streets where they requested to be allowed to put in mains.

Mr. R. Hicks, of R. Hicks & Co., was present to have a clause in the Company's agreement to supply the city with cement, changed. One clause read to the effect that in the event of a railway strike, etc., the Company would be responsible for any delay in the delivery of cement to the city. He asked that there be a modification of the clause. He stated that the Company would be satisfied with any reasonable modification which might be granted. He asked that it be made to read that the Board of Works would have consideration in the matter, if such a contingency occurred. It was moved and seconded, after a great deal of arguing, that the modification be granted.

A communication was read from Mr. W. H. Moore, City Trust Commissioner, stating that the Commissioners are willing to bear the cost of a granolithic sidewalk along behind the market.

Applications were received from three men for the position of foreman for the sewer construction One from Wm. Ball, one from Martin Leary, and a third from John Thirnbeck. The position was given to the latter.

The City Engineer's report on the granolithic sidewalks and sewers, was read. It was moved by Ald. Buller and seconded by Ald. Graham, that the sidewalks be proceeded with and that notice be given to the effect that no petition against the work will be considered.

The Bell Telephone Co. asked that they be given permission to erect their poles from the chairman of the Board of Works acting upon the report of the City Engineer, so that a lot of time would be saved. It was moved and seconded that the matter of givin gpermission be left with the Board of Works, with power to act.

There was an offer received, offering a strip of land 50 ft. wide for a street from Benson avenue to Bethune street. The new street to be named Fitzgerald avenue. The Board recommended that the street be accepted, but that the matter of putting in walks and sewers be in the general way. Also that the street be 66 feet wide.

Tenders for sewer pipes were read and the matter of purchasing was left in the hands of the chairman and City Engineer.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO "LAKE OF BAYS"

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlour cars and dining car at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily, except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about three o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for pointe in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the Wa Wa hotel, Britannia, Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on the "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville, will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

CONSTANCY

By H. I. Morse-Farnum

Authoress of new work, entitled "Poems and Thoughts Tersely Told."

What if the rain drops patter?
What if the clouds hang low?
What if the thunders rattle
And lightnings glow?

Ever the robin telleth
The early morning's ray
'Till troop of singers swelleth
The roundelay.

Fickle and false? No, never!
Nor silent in gloom and fear;
Fringing with joy forever
The cloud-capped year.

Tell your stories, quaint teachers,
Fresh from those ruby throats!
To thinking, reasoning creatures
The lesson floats.

Oft when the day is hiding
Under a stormy shroud,
Your limpid notes seem chiding
Impending cloud.

When rosy light is mingled
With hue of raven wing,
That somber time is singled
For carolling.

Thus when the mist and vapor
The weary eyes bedim,
Behold Designer, Shapes,
And rest in Him!

So much wiser and better
Are His unfolding ways!
Trace them, letter by letter
Adown the days!

Thus, when the lights are lowered
And storms are sweeping by;
When drapes of fire and sword
Muffle the sky.

We will not cease the singing:
Nor weigh too much the gloom
While toiling, cheering, bringing
Some buds to bloom

Where tempests never hover,
Nor evil-doers fret;
But Jesus, Elder Brother,
Gives Coronet.

SAILORS AND THE CORONATION

The special Coronation fund of the Canadian branch of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society has realized $1166. It was organized to evoke an expression of sympathy with the world-wide work of which His Majesty King George is patron, and in which, since his accession, both the King and the Queen have shown such practical interest. The sum will be devoted to provide four cabins in the new institute at Vancouver, a "Canadian room" in the King Edwards Memorial Institute on the Island of Malta. Intimation has been forwarded to General Sir Leslie Rundle, Governor of Malta, that the room will be furnished and decorated in a manner characteristically Canadian. Also a 'Canadian room' will be provided at Holyhead in memory of the Prince of Wales' forthcoming investiture, and His Royal Highness is expected to lay the stone of the new institute immediately after his installation. And a 'Coronation cabin' will be given to the new institute at Victoria, B.C.

The demands upon the Society for ne wand improved institutes are enormous, and come from every part of the world, and it designs by its efforts to alleviate the unrest which is known to exist among sea-faring men as to the conditions of their life and work.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Special to The Examiner:

MONTREAL, JUNE 13.—Steamship agents here take little stock in the story of an International seamans strike, but the officers of the boats consider the situation serious. "This may be our last trip to Montreal for a long time," said an officer. "I am convinced we will have trouble making another trip westward. It will be the same on all lines."

EXCURSIONS TO WESTERN CANADA

The Grand Trunk Railway System announce that on Tuesdays, June 13 and 27th, July 11th and 25th, August 8th and 22nd, September 5th and 19th, 1911, Homeseekers' Excursions will be run from all Stations in Ontario and Quebec to Western Canada, via Chicago and Duluth or via Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, at reduced round trip fares.

The well-known double track line of the Grand Trunk from the East to Chicago appeals to the traveller, and with the superior train service that is offered by this line, including the famous "International Limited" from Montreal daily at 9.00 a.m., and which is the finest and fastest train in Canada, many passengers will be attracted this way. The route via Chicago is a most interesting one, taking passengers through the principal cities and towns in Canada and in the States of Michigan and Indiana. In addition to this a choice of seven lines between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis is offered.

Owing to the great number of Canadians who reside in Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and other cities en route, there is no doubt that the Grand Trunk will find many patrons who will take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded them for a brief visit at the stations with their friends.

Canadian citizens are exempt from so-called Immigration Examination, and there is no detention at any point.

Baggage is carried through the United States in bond without requiring any special attention on the part of the passenger. Inspection is not necessary at any of the points at the border.

Another feature that will appeal to the homeseeker is the comfortable transfer at points like Chicago, St. Paul and Duluth into freshly ventilated clean cars, avoiding the necessity of travelling a long distance in the same car.

In addition to the above routes, the sale of tickets is also authorized via Sarnia, and the Northern Navigation Company's magnificent steamers across Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

For further particulars apply to any Agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System, or write to Mr. J. Quinlan, District Passenger Agent, Bonaventure Station, Montreal, or Mr. A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto.

Alfalfa A Great Boom To Farmers Everywhere The Hay Crop Is Light

The Examiner has been given a sample of alfalfa ready for the harvest (haying) received by express this morning from Mr. George F. Marsh, Clarksburg, Ont.

When it is considered that the hay crop this year is, in some places, below the average, and, in fact in many places in western Ontario, the timothy and ordinary clover meadow will not yield over one-half ton per acre, it can readily be understood what a boon the alfalfa is to those farmers who are fortunate in having it this year.

The top of one of these plants of alfalfa measures 3 feet 8 inches. The others are not much shorter. What a crop like this would yield per acre can be appreciated and then it returns three cuttings (three harvests) in a year, the second and third cuttings, of course, being somewhat shorter and finer than this, the first cutting.

And then there is another factor to be considered. Timothy hay, such as is commonly grown throughout Peterborough County, has only 2.8 per cent of digestible protein. Owing to the failure of red clover many Peterborough cows will be fed timothy hay this coming winter. Ordinary red clover, such as is commonly grown, but this year is almost a total failure, owing to winter killing, has 6.8 per cent. of digestible protein. Alfalfa hay has 11 per cent., while common wheat bran, for which the farmers must pay from $20 to $23 a ton, has only 12.2 per cent. of digestible protein.

An interesting feature during the evening was the presentation of very handsome bouquets to Miss Horner, Miss Gumpricht, and Miss Grace Gumpricht, the presentation being gracefully made by Miss Dorothy Hill.

The Greene Music Company very kindly donated the use of their handsome hall for the recital and also loaned the pianos for the occasion.

Miss Gumpricht wishes to express her deep gratitude to those who in any way assisted in the success of the evening.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Savage selling to put an end to loss ripped the top off the market for wheat to-day. With big shipments of the new grain heading for Kansas City, and with the harvest area rapidly widening, owners here became half frenzied when a bull clique which was supposed to have closed out a load of 10,000,000 bushels accumulated in the May deal here began a fresh selling movement directed chiefly against the July delivery. That option broke more than 3c a bushel in addition to 5c decline last week, and closed unsettled 2 1-8c to 2 1-4c down as compared with Saturday's close. Other months at the end of trading were off 1c to 1-8c to 1 3-8c net. Latest figures showed corn 1-8c down to 1-4c up, oats 1-4c to 3-8c to 1-2c advance, and provisions dearer by 1 1-2c to 5c to 27 1-2c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ½d to 1½d lower than on Saturday on wheat, and ¾d lower on corn. Buda Pest closed ¼c higher on wheat; Berlin, ⅝c higher. Holiday at Antwerp. Paris, closed ¾c to 1⅛c lower.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, June 12.—The receipts live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 73 carloads, consisting of 1497 cattle, 78 sheep and 33 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers sold at $6.10 to $6.25.

E. L. Woodward bought for Swift & Co. 100 steers for London, 1300 lbs. each, at $6.25 per cwt., average price, and a range of $6.15 to $6.25; also 76 Liverpool steers, at average of $6.15, or a range of $6.10 to $6.20; also 26 cattle for Winnipeg, 1090 lbs. each, at an average of $6.17, or a range of $6.10 to $6.25.

Butchers.

Butchers' steers and heifers sold at $5.40 to $6.30; cows at $4 to $5.00; bulls at $4.50 to $5.25.

Milkers and Springers.

Milkers and springers were quoted at $40 to $65 each.

Veal Calves.

The calf market was steady, at $4.50 to $7.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, are worth $5.75 to $6.00; rams, $3 to $3.50, yearling lambs, $6.50 to $6.60; spring lambs, $4 to $6.50 each.

Hogs.

The market for hogs is strong at $7.10, fed and watered at the market, and $6.75 to drovers, f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, June 12.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of livestock for the week ending June 10, were 3076 cattle, 378 sheep and lambs, 2760 hogs and 1040 calves. The offerings this morning amounted to 870 cattle, 160 sheep and lambs, 1060 hogs and 125 calves.

A much stronger feeling prevailed in the market for cattle, and prices advanced 25c to 35c per cwt., which was attributed to the strength in the Toronto market at the latter end of last week. Choice steers sold at $6.30 to $6.60; good, at $6.25 to $6.35; fairly good, at $6 to $6.05; fair, at $5.75 to $5.85, and the lower grades at $5 to $5.50 per cwt. There were a number of choice cows among the offerings which brought as high as $5.75 per cwt., and the common ones sold at from $4.50 to $5.00 per cwt. A few choice bulls sold at $5.40 to $5.75 per cwt.

A feature of the holding trading was the very strong feeling which developed and prices scored an advance of 25c to 50c per cwt. This strength was due entirely to the sharp rise in prices, which took place in the Toronto market last Thursday and Friday, sales being made as high as 7c per cwt. The supply here to-day was fair, for which the demand was good and a fairly active trade was done, selected lots selling at $7.25 to $7.40 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

The tone of the market for sheep was stronger and prices have advanced ½c per pound owing to small supplies coming forward and sales were made at 6c per pound. Lambs were steady under a fair demand at prices ranging from 7½c

UNIVERSITY OF FRANCE.

Essentially the Same Today as When Established by Napoleon.

In the United States there are many universities which are free from state control, but in France there is only one university, and it is an absolute instrument of the state. It is true that there are schools of higher learning, which were founded in 1870 as universities, but five years afterward the title was withdrawn, and they are now called "institutes." They are five in number and are located in Paris, Lille, Lyons, Toulouse and Angers.

But the University of France is an entirely different organization. It is the official school. It is centralized in Paris and has under it a vast multitude of establishments, faculties, college and primary schools, distributed over the whole surface of the country. Directly or indirectly they all depend on the government.

The university was established by Napoleon, and in spite of certain modifications which it has undergone during years it is the same today in its essential elements as the day he founded it. Just as he established the entire civil administration, with its prefects, subprefects, judges, ministers of finance, so he created in 1806 this vast educational organization, with its countless professors, who control the entire intellectual training of France.—America.

RAILWAYS AND DOGS.

Alike In One Respect In Sardinia, That Both Are Perils.

Sardinia is an island of many perils. One of them, we gather from the experience of Mr. Crawford Flitch, the author of "Mediterranean Moods," is the railways. "The engine," he says, "is continually making frantic dashes for the scenery. On the line to Tortoli I made four journeys and had three accidents. On one occasion, after a car had been wrecked, the various employees gathered round the wreckage and spent the remainder of a sultry afternoon in bitterly disputing the proper apportionment of blame for the accident. As it was impossible to proceed that evening I spent the night at the railway station and enjoyed a comfort that I found nowhere else in the island."

Another peril is the dogs, who do not hesitate to attack a stranger, even when he is walking peaceably upon the highroad. "The breed is particularly ferocious, and it is said that the peasants have a way of stimulating their ferocity by tying a bladder filled with blood to the neck of a dummy man and encouraging the animal to spring at the neck and tear open the bladder."

WOMAN AND WOE.

Old Age in India Invariably Blends the Two Into One.

"I have seen women under a burning midday sun reaping in the fields," says a writer on India; "I have seen them at roadmaking in the streets of cities; I have seen them loading engines with coal at railway stations; I have seen them in long procession on the white roads of the plains carrying great burdens on their heads like a string of camels. And I have seen also in the eyes of every old woman whom I have encountered, every one of them, such misery, adversity and angry bitterness as seemed to curse the very air of heaven. I have not seen one happy old woman in the whole country.

"Women follow through the village like a dog at the husband's heel. Maternity is no excuse for the task in the field and the duties of the house. They are servants without wages and without liberty to select another master. Before them is perpetual servitude, and if they are so abandoned by the gods as to reach old age their certain destiny is misery, dejection, friendliness and black despair. I never knew all the meaning of the word woe until I looked into the face of an old woman under an Asian sky.

"The women folk of the upper classes in India, speaking generally, are more the prisoners of their husbands than the women of the ballet castes. They do not labor except in cooking and serving the meals of their husbands, but they are cut off from the world as completely as a nun; they do not even know, in many cases, the male relations of their husbands. They are little more than caged animals taught to do a few household tricks."—Chicago News.

COOKING A HEDGEHOG.

Bake It in Clay Into a Solid Mass and Carve It With an Ax.

When a Maine Indian has the choice of a hedgehog, a skunk, a woodchuck and a muskrat for dinner he will select the first named invariably and take the skunk as second choice, leaving the woodchuck, which is the only one of the lot a Maine white man will taste, to the last. Unlike the skunk and the woodchuck, which are lean and unsavory except for a few months in the fall, or the muskrat, which is never fat and which has a strong flavor in spite of parboiling, the hedgehog is always in edible condition and has meat that is as tender and white as that of a spring chicken.

The method of cooking a hedgehog is so simple that a novice can learn in one short lesson. When the epicure is permitted to make a choice he should shun the large old males, which at times weigh thirty or forty pounds. The preparation consists in removing the viscera, washing out the interior and filling the cavity with slices of fat pork, peeled raw potatoes, sprigs of spearmint and wild celery from the brook.

Then, without removing the quills or skinning, the body is plastered thickly with wet clay from the nearest bank. The muddy, bulky mass is thrust into live coals and covered with blazing fagots to be roasted for two hours.

On removal from the coals, the clay is found to have been baked into a hard and solid mass, which must be broken open with an ax or a heavy stone, whereupon the skin and quills of the animal cling to the clay wrapping and fall away, leaving the clean white meat ready to be eaten.—New York Herald.

PRESENTATION MADE TO THE REV. H. C. GARBUTT

Rev. H .C. Garbut, who has been stationed in the Apsley mission field for the past four years, delivered his farewell address at Eden church Sunday morning, 11th inst. Mr. Garbutt made many warm friends in the mission. The members of his congregation at the Eden appointent, South Burleigh ,presented him with a well-filled purse, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Pastor.—We, your friends at the appointment would like to express our gratitude to you for the deep interest you have taken in your work amongst us during the past four years. May you long be spared to direct wanderers in the narrow way, and may you respond to the call wherever you may be placed. We ask your acceptance of this small gift as a slight token of our appreciation of your work amongst us. We earnestly hope that temporal blessings may be your in this life, and in the end life everlasting.

Signed on behalf of your friends,
Chas. Lauder,
Steward.

Will The Gas Works Be Removed To Remote Part Of City?

A petition requesting the removal of the Gas Works to a remoter part of the city, was presented at the meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon. It was signed by J. J. Lundy and Hall, Hays and Hall. There were nineteen names of residents of the vicinity of the Gas Works signed. They claimed that they were subject to great inconvenience and annoyance by reason of the smell of gas, smoke and soot, which is constantly issuing from the works; such annoyance compelling them to keep their doors and windows tightly closed and preventing them from drying clothes also. They also claim that the escaping gas is prejudical to health, the illness of several persons in the vicinity being ascribed by their medical attendants to a great extent to these causes. As the building had been enlarged, the annoyance has increased also. They also drew attention to the fact, that fire had broken out in the works at different times, and that in the event of an explosion, serious results would follow, owing to the large number of persons residing near it. They concluded their complaints by advising that steps be taken to have the works removed to some more remote part of the city.

The communication was referred to the City Solicitor for his opinion.

FIVE BOYS ARRAIGNED IN POLICE COURT FOR BREAKING INSULATORS

There were five little boys gathered in the police and arraigned before his Worship Magistrate Dumble in the Police Court this morning, on a charge of a very serious nature, namely, that of breaking the insulators on the C. P. R., between the C. P. R. bridge and the Canal bridge. They were discharged with a warning. There is a fine of $25.00 for this offence, but the boys being young, his Worship thought a warning would probably suffice. It appears, in the eyes of an uninterested public, to be a very slight offence to break one of those little insulators, but to the civil records, it is an act that has caused more than one life, in railroad history. When one of those insulators are broken, it is just possible that the wires may become tangled, or allowed to touch each other, thereby causing a message to go wrongly, and the result of such a calamity often is a wreck, entailing loss of life. Taking these facts into consideration, it should be a warning to parents to teach their children against such gross offences and misdemeanors. His Worship Magistrate Dumble wishes it understood that in future such cases as this will not be so leniently dealt with. The very seriousness of the act, which looks so very simple, should be enough warning, indirectly, from the Chief of Police, it is hoped that no more offences of this nature will be executed.

BAD WEATHER RESPONSIBLE FOR A SMALL VOTE

HALIFAX, N.S., JUNE 14. — The Provincial elections to-day were attended by bad weather, and it is thought that this will cause a small vote to be cast. The seizure of a large quantity of whiskey in Colchester county, which is a dry district, has been the cause of much excitement. It is said to have been sent there for election purposes.

DAMAGED GARDENS

A very regrettable incident occurred last night, when a cow got into the experimental garden at the Normal school, and almost totally destroyed the whole thing. Many of the grain were trimmed off at the top of the ground. Several beds of grains were eaten off in this manner and the rest trampled. The most regrettable feature of the incident was the fact that to-day was inspection day. It will be some time before the gardens will present the neat appearance that they had previous to the onslaught of the cow.

ARRANGING FOR PICNIC

Ball Game Will be a Feature of the T. A. S. Programme

The committees in charge of the big T.A.S. picnic on Dominion Day, met on Monday night to make preparations for the event, which promises to be the most successful in the history of the Society. It was reported that the prize list is filling up splendidly and that friends of the Society are contributing freely and liberally in offering prizes for the programme of sports. A feature of the morning's events will be an Inter-Catholic League baseball game, in which the contesting teams will be the East City and Sacred Heart teams. This will be an event that will be appreciated.

URIC ACID SUFFERING

Uric acid is an accumulation of poison which finds lodgment in the syste a when he kidneys fail to remove it from the blood. In the kidneys and bladder it forms stones, in the joints and muscles it causes rheumatism. In any case the pain and suffering is almost beyond human endurance. Uric acid is promptly removed from the system when the kidneys are kept healthy and active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

PAYING OFF THE NATIONAL DEBT.

(Farmer's Sun.)

Canada is not doing this, but Great Britain is. In the six years ending with 1910 the net national debt of Canada increased by $70,000,000. In the six years ending with 1911, now current, the British Government will reduce the national debt of Great Britain £70,000,000. Of this total nearly twelve and one-half million pounds will be wiped out during the present fiscal year. What is being done in the way of debt reduction in Great Britain is all the more remarkable in view of the large special expenditures which have lately been incurred. Old age pensions, recently provided for, will absorb almost twelve and one-half million pounds a year. The national tuberculosis sanitarium to be erected will absorb one and one-half million pounds more. Still, in the face of these vast new appropriations, and the enormous burden imposed by army and navy, the national indebtedness is being cut down as with a broad axe.

A statement of the sources of British income will also prove interesting. The total estimated receipts for the fiscal year of 1912 are, roughly, $900,000,000. Of this something like $350,000,000 comes from customs and excise, and is levied mainly on spirits and tobacco. Some $214,000,000 is collected in the form of land and income. About $125,000,000 comes from death duties. Thus the propertied classes pay a larger proportion of the British revenue than is drawn from customs and excise, to which all contribute. Other sources of revenue in Britain are: Postal, telegraph and telephone, some $125,000,000; Suez canal shares, $6,000,000. Crown land, $2,500,000; and miscellaneous, $11,000,000.

We may learn many lessons from the old land, and not the least of these is in regard to the management of the national finances.

The Sun does not make a comparison between Canada and Great Britain in the matter of finance on an even terms. Canada is in the making; Great Britain is made. Canada needs infinitely larger expenditures in the interests of development than Great Britain does. For instance, Canada for the promotion of transportation facilities made necessary by geographical conditions, has spent more than two hundred millions, and are spending a hundred million more; and this expenditure is represented in her debt. That this has been wise expenditure is shown by the fact that now we are paying a large proportion of similar expenditure out of current revenue representing the returns from the compilation of our national debt. Canada is just beginning life, and like a new housekeeper, must necessarily get a little in debt, but it is less a debt than an investment—to provide the machinery of progress.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S COURSE AT THE CONFERENCE.

(Weekly Sun)

Canada's control over her own tariff legislation is, in a measure, fettered by commercial treaties between Great Britain and certain foreign nations. Under these treaties, although Canada had no part in the making of them, this country is bound to give to Argentine, Austria, Denmark, Russia and other countries the same privileges in the Canadian market, without any equivalent in return, that are to be given to the United States under the mutually advantageous reciprocity agreement.

to send direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Toronto

One of the requests made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the Imperial Conference now in progress in London, is that Canada be relieved from the operation of these and all similar treaties, save in cases where assent to them is formally given by the Dominion. At this same conference the Canadian Premier has set his face against proposals looking to the formal tying up of Canada as part of an Imperial war power. He has insisted upon the right of the Dominion to say whether or not her armed forces shall be made use of in any war to which a future government may commit Great Britain.

Because he has done all this Sir Wilfrid is being described as a wet blanket on the conference; as desiring the creation of a status for Canada that cannot be distinguished from independence, and Sir W. Lyne, who assisted in representing Australia at the last conference, has gone so far as to express regret for the action taken by the Dominion Government with a view of securing reciprocity with the United States.

The position of Sir Wilfrid Laurier may be disappointing to jingoes who desire the creation or a vast Imperial war power, but it is one that is likely to meet with the cordial approval of the masses of the Canadian people. It is, too, one that, in the long run, will make for Anglo-Saxon unity, while the policy which Sir Wilfrid is charged with opposing would tend in the contrary direction. The commercial interests of Great Britain and Canada differ widely from each other and a commercial treaty, between Britain and Japan say, might might be very much in the interests of Britain, but decidedly inimical to those of Canada. Similarly Canada would be able to make a better commercial arrangement with some foreign country if she were entirely free to negotiate for herself and not bound by British commercial treaties with foreign nations. Each member of the Empire—Britain, Canada, Australia, and South Africa—should have absolute freedom in the making of such trade arrangements with other nations as will best suit the special case of each one of said members. Any other course is bound to lead to friction, and friction cannot continue indefinitely without separation, and separation in anger.

WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS.

(Montreal Herald.)

Anyone who thinks enough about the problems of his country's development to take a long look forward now and then ought not to pass over too lightly the statement made in Congress by Mr. Redfield of Brooklyn, an American manufacturer, favouring the abandonment of tariff protection, the effect of which has been "to stimulate the development of plants until they are now so large that products must be sold abroad; in this condition the manufacturers no longer want to pay the high prices necessary for material under a protective tariff."

We in Canada, having grown up alongside the United States in its high tariff exclusiveness as a normal, even as a permanent condition, and have adapted our own way of proceeding very largely in consequence. The signs that a change might be imminent have not kept too closely regarded. That is why the whole country, from Prime Minister to office boy, was astonished when Americans came along with their offer of reciprocity. Perhaps we shall be still more surprised, before very long, to see the most important of the manufacurers demanding, like their prototypes in England, did in the forties, for this relief from the needlessly high cost of the materials of industry of which Mr. Redfield speaks. Mr. Carnegie, who knows something about the business, says the steel industry does not need protection. If those in the business with him do not at present agree to a total remission of duties, it is probably because they want to take a few years to make all their preparations for its coming.

When it does come, the task of Great Britain will be more difficult, because the relative cheapness of materials under her free trade system has been her great advantage. When that is shared by a nation richer in material resources the effect must be serious, and it will test the ingenuity of the British artisan and employer to find new opportunities to replace the old. With us in Canada the influence of the change will be widespread, but it need not be very damaging. We have taken the precaut ion always to keep down to the available minimum the duties on these materials of manufacture of which Mr. Redfield speaks. But there will be, whenever the new effort at establishing a world trade begins, a greater demand than we have ever known before upon the material resources of Canada, of all kinds, upon the products of farm, forest and mine, and probably also upon the men who are the product of our very excellent institutions of learning. With the United States a free trade country we would find ourselves obliged by the very interest of Canadians in their several environments, to participate in the general movement of trade, which would turn the resources of the whole continent into a fluid state. Those who now go upon the assumption that the high tariff policy of mutual exclusiveness and border barriers in the guarantee of continued separate national existence for Canada would be obliged to realise, by the absence of that upon which they rely that the foundations of Canadian nationality are deeper and broader. To be really imbued with the Canadian national spirit, one must feel that it can bear the test of free trading as well as the test of trade exclusiveness.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Mail and Empire, remarks the Ottawa Free Press, accuses Sir Wilfrid Laurier of "passionately devoting himself to efforts for the severing of the ties binding Canada to Britain." On the contrary, he has taken the course which is most likely to promote the permanent unity of the Empire. It is true that he has vetoed some plans for the concentration of power at London. But that is because he sees that such schemes, if adopted in their present shape and under present conditions, would tend to the break-up of Imperial unity. If he were to take the advice of the Mail and Empire, he would be an Empire-wrecker. As it is, he is a true Empire-builder.

General Sessions Of The Peace

The General Sessions of the Peace opened for the second day at 10 o'clock this morning.

The charge was read as follows: "You, Louis Houedry, are charged with having, in March, 1911, stolen 52 bags of cattle feed, the property of the Quaker Oats Co."

The prisoner pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The following jury was empanelled to deal with the case: Wallace H. Moore, R. B. McGill, Joseph Ingram, J. T. Drummond, Robt. Dale, Edward O'Donoghue, George Ayotte, Fred. Warner, J. T. McCoy, H. A. Cairnduff, Samuel Johnston, Fred McMillan.

Mr. R. E. Wood addressed the Jury outlining the facts of the case, and familiarizing them with the conditions under which the charge was laid.

The witnesses were then examined. The first witness in the case was Mr. W. H. Denham, Superintendent of the Quaker Oats Co., whose property Houedry was charged with stealing. He was cross-examined by Mr. D. O'Connell, giving evidence practically the same as that given the Police Court, when when Houedry was arraigned in that court. Little new evidence was brought out during this morning's session and the case is being proceeded with this afternoon.

SHE GAINED 36 LBS.

Mrs. George Bradshaw, Harlowe, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for many years with weak, watery blood and dropsy. I had nervous headaches, dizziness, and sinking spells, and was, in fact, a semi-invalid. Doctors told me my heart and kidneys were diseased and gave me up. By using 10 boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been cured of many of my old complaints and gained 36 pounds in weight."

More Storm Damage.

Brockville, June 14.—Reports are coming in of the havoc wrought by the severe electrical storm, which passed over this country. These show that a large number of cattle, sheep and horses were killed in pastures by lightning. A heavy loss was sustained by Edward Summers, a farmer, residing in Crosby Township. A bolt of lightning struck his barns, which, with outbuildings adjoining, and their contents, were completely destroyed. Summers carried no insurance. A barn owned by James Bissell of North Augusta was partially demolished and a horse stabled in it killed. Along the line of the B.W. & N.W.R. telegraph poles were destroyed by the row. A train crew standing at Delta depot, where the storm was particularly severe, were shocked. Fred Hawkey, 14 years old, son of a McIntosh Mills farmer, stood in the door of the country schoolhouse till the storm subsided. Following a flash of lightning the lad fell in a heap on the step. He was still unconscious in the afternoon.

Australia Wants Settlers.

Melbourne, Australia, June 14.—The Government of the Commonwealth has approached the Governments of the different states with a request that they co-operate with the Commonwealth to secure a number of immigrants in England, in Canada, and the United States.

These immigrants will be carried to their destination in Australia on special steamers and placed on the land.

Aviator Fell 124 Feet.

Magdeburg, Germany, June 14 – The first serious accident of the national aviation circuit race occurred here yesterday, when Karl Mueller, in attempting a landing, fell with his biplane about 125 feet. He suffered a concussion of the brain.

SUFFOCATED IN WELLS.

Three Victims of Asphyxiation In Westminster and Varency.

London, Ont., June 14.—A double fatality occurred yesterday on Munro's farm, concession six, Westminster, when two brothers, Warren and Elias Hicks, were suffocated in a well. They came here two months ago from Tillsonburg, and bought the property known as the London View, south of the city. They took a contract to deepen a well for Mr. Munro, and went down about 10.30 yesterday morning. The wife of the hired man saw them go to the well, and noticing their absence at dinner investigated. One of the men was seen suspended on a beam. The men of the farm, who were called, lowered a lantern, which went out, indicating the presence of gas, so that the recovery of the bodies was made by grappling.

Tragedy at Varency.

Jarvis, June 14.—William Miller, aged 34 years, was asphyxiated in a well on the farm of his father, James Miller at Varency, about three miles from this place, Monday. His brother, Edward, 20 years old, who tried to rescue him, was overcome by gas, and was with difficulty saved by neighbors. He was in a precarious condition throughout the night, but is fully recovered to-day.

Ex-Convicts Deported.

Brockville, June 14.—Two ex-convicts were deported from Brockville to Morristown, N.Y., yesterday. Thomas Holman, who has just completed a six months' sentence at the Central Prison, for a hold up committed here, and Henry ("Kid") Hogan, brought from the Kingston Penitentiary, where he served four months of a three year sentence for a vicious assault upon officers who raided his place at Cobalt for gambling. The "Kid," who is an old-time pugilist, will hike it to Washington, to interview the powers that be in the hope of starting international correspondence whereby he will get permission to return to Cobalt to look after his interest in several mining claims.

Opposition to Garbage Scheme.

Brockville, June 14.—A few weeks ago the Town Council passed a bylaw providing for the collection and disposal of garbage and imposing fees to meet the cost of the work, which was awarded to a local firm by tender. Opposition to the scheme developed in certain quarters of the town, resulting in the contractors refusing to take the job, and a call for new tenders being sent out. Mayor Patterson, acting on a largely signed petition from adverse ratepayers, has called a public meeting for the 19th inst., to discuss the bylaw. Notwithstanding the opposition, the council propose to put the bylaw into effect as soon as possible.

Engineers Are at Work.

Ottawa, June 14.—Shortly before the House rose, it was announced that a commission would be appointed to study the various projects to dam the St. Lawrence river, and a sum of $40,000 was provided on the estimates for the purpose.

The commission has not yet been named, but a preliminary survey is now being made in the vicinity of Cedar Rapids and Beauharnois by engineers of the Public Works Department. These engineers are instructed to thoroughly test the claims of the Long Sault and Canadian Light & Power companies, that the development of power will not interfere with navigation.

Seized Fishing Tug.

Ottawa, June 14.—Canadian customs officials at Shelburne, N.S., have seized the fishing schooner "J. R. Atwood," owned by J. A. Young & Co. of Boston. It is alleged that last year the Atwood put into Wood Harbor during the close season and took on eighty lobster traps with which she sailed away to Boston. The Government agents have been looking for the vessel ever since.

The owner has entered a protest and is expected in Ottawa to-day.

The Government has been having much trouble with U. S. vessels fishing in the close season just outside the three-mile limit.

Proclaimed Seamen's Strike.

Antwerp, June 14.—The Seamen's Union has posted a manifesto proclaiming a strike and inviting all to adhere. As a result of this the coal and firemen on the Red Star steamer Finland, due to leave for New York on Saturday refused to sign contracts. German sailors who signed for the steamer Marquette, refused to go aboard. The Belgian steamer Tigris, however, left port with a full complement.

The Burgomaster has summoned representatives of the shipowners to meet at the City Hall to-day to consider means for settling the dispute.

Girl Never Ill-Used.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 14.—At the inquest into the death of Gertrude Dale, aged 16, of Thorold, the evidence adduced did not go to show that the girl had been ill-used at home.

Her mother and father swore positively that she had never been whipped, and that she had no house work to do, merely having to take milk to the customers.

"Since my girl's death, I have lost all my customers," said Mrs. Dale. She described the dead girl as being very erratic, morose and sulky at times.

Scheib Released.

New York, June 14.—Unable to prove that Mrs. Lillian Scheib had not died a natural death, Henry Scheib was on Monday released on the murder charge, but was re-arrested on a charge of grand larceny for using his employer's auto for "joy riding."

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

Later on he confided in me what he was going to do to that boss. If he had carried out his threats he would long since have been electrocuted, and I would have lost a good friend. Several times I thought the two men were coming to blows, but though Dan would have dearly loved to fight and could have handled a dozen men like the foreman, he always managed to control himself in time to avoid it.

"I don't wanter be after losin' me job for the dirty spalpeen," he growled to me.

But he came near it in a way he wasn't looking for later in the week. It was Friday and half a dozen of us had been sent down to work on the second level. It was damp and suffocating down there, fifty feet below the street. I felt as though I had gone into the mines. I didn't like it but I knew that there was just as much to learn here as above and that it must all be learned eventually. The sides were braced with heavy timbers like a mine shaft to prevent the dirt from falling in and there was the constant danger that in spite of this it might cave in. We went down by rough ladders, made by nailing strips of board across two pieces of joist and the work down there was back-breaking and monotonous. We sheaved the dirt into a big iron bucket, lowered by the hoisting engine above. It was heavy, wet soil, that weighed like lead.

From the beginning the men complained of headaches and one by one they crawled up the ladder again for fresh air. Others were sent down but at the end of an hour they, too, retreated. Dan and I stuck it out for a while. Then I began to get dizzy myself. I didn't know what the trouble was, but when I began to wobble a bit Dan placed his hand on my shoulder.

"Better climb out o' here," he said. "I'm thinkin' it's gas."

At that time I didn't know what sewer gas was. I couldn't smell anything and thought he must be mistaken.

"You'd better come, too" I answered, making for the ladder.

He wasn't coming but I couldn't get up very well without him so he followed along behind. At the top we found the foreman fighting mad, and trying to spur on another gang to go down. They wouldn't move. When he saw us come up he turned upon Dan.

"Who ordered you out of there?" he growled.

"The gas," answered Dan.

"Gas be damned," shouted the foreman. "You're a bunch of white livered cowards—all of you."

I saw Dan double up his fists and start towards the man. The latter checked him with a command.

"Go back down there or you're fired," he said to him.

Dan turned red. Then I saw his jaws come together.

"Begob!" he answered. 'You shan't fire me, anyhow."

Without another word he started down the ladder again. I saw the Italians crowd together and watch him. By that time my head was clearer, but my legs were weak. I sat down a moment uncertain what to do. Then I heard someone shout:

I started towards the ladder, but some one shoved me back. Then I thought of the bucket. It was above ground and I staggered towards it, gaining strength at each step. I jumped in and shouted to the engineer to lower me. He obeyed from instinct. I went down, down, down, to what seemed like the centre of the earth. When the bucket struck the ground I was dizzy again, but I managed to get out, heave the unconscious Dan in and pile on top of him myself. When I came to, I was in an ambulance on my way to the hospital but by the time I had reached the emergency room I had taken a grip on myself. I knew that if ever Ruth heard of this she would never again be comfortable. When they took us out I was able to walk a little. The doctors wanted to put me to bed, but I refused to go. I sat there for about an hour while they worked over Dan. When I found that he would be all right by morning I insisted upon going out. I had a bad headache, but I knew the fresh air would drive this away and so it did, though it left me weak.

One of the hardest day's work I ever did in my life was killing time from then until five o'clock. Of course the papers got hold of it and that gave me another scare, but luckily the nearest they came to my name was Darlinton, so no harm was done. And they didn't come within a mile of getting the real story. When in a later edition one of them published my photograph I felt absolutely safe for they had me in a full beard and thinner than I've ever been in my life.

When I came home at my usual time, looking a bit white, perhaps, but otherwise normal enough, the first question Ruth asked me was:

"What have you done with your dinner pail, Billy?"

Isn't a man always sure to do some such fool thing as that, when he's trying to keep something quiet from the wife? I had to explain that I had forgotten it, and that was enough to excite suspicion at any time. She kept me uneasy for ten minutes, and the best I could do was to finally admit that I wasn't feeling very well. Whereupon she made me go to bed and fussed over me all the evening and worried all the next day.

I reported for work as usual in the morning and found we had a new foreman. It was a relief because I guess if Dan hadn't knocked down the other one, someone else would have done it sooner or later. At that the man had taught me something about sewer gas and that is when you begin to feel dizzy fifty feet below the street, it's time to go up the ladder about as fast as your wobbly legs will let you, even if you don't smell anything.

Rafferty didn't turn up for two or three days. When he did appear it was with a simple:

"Mawnin, mon."

It wasn't until several days later I learned that the late foreman had left town nursing a black eye and a cut on one cheek, such as might have been made by a set of red knuckles backed by an arm the size of a small ham.

On Saturday night of that first week I came home with nine dollars in my pocket. I'll never be prouder again than I was when I handed them over to Ruth. And Ruth will never again be prouder than she was when, after she had laid aside three of them for the rent and five for current expenses, she picked out a one-dollar bill and, crossing the room, placed it in the ginger jar. This was a little blue affair, in which we had always dropped what pennies and nickels we could spare.

"There's our nest-egg," she announced.

"You don't mean to tell me you're that much ahead of the game the first week?"

"Look here, Billy," she answered.

She brought out an itemized list of everything she had bought from last Monday, including Sunday's dinner. I've kept that list. Many of the things she had bought were not yet used up, but she had computed the cost of the amount actually used. Here it is as I copied it off:

Flour—.25
Lard—.15
Cream of tartar and soda—.05
Oatmeal—.04
Molasses—.05
Sugar—.13
Potatoes—.20
Rice—.06
Milk—$1.12

Vinegar, salt and pepper, about .05
Can of corn, .07
Can of corn, .07.
Total—$4.66.

In this account, too, Ruth was liberal in her margins. She did better than this later on. A fairer estimate could have been made at the end of the month and a still fairer even than that, at the end of the year. It sounded almost too good to be true but it was a fact. We had lived, and lived well on this amount and as yet Ruth was inexperienced. She hadn't learned all she learned later. For the benefit of those who may think we went hungry I have asked Ruth to write out the bill of fare for this week as nearly as she can remember it. One thing you must keep in mind is that of everything we had, we had enough. Neither Ruth, the boy, nor myself ever left the table of dinner pail unsatisfied. Here's what we had and it was better even than it sounds, for whatever Ruth made, she made well. I copy it as she wrote it out.

Monday

Luncheon—for Billy, cold biscuits, two hard-boiled eggs, bowl of rice, cold coffee; for Dick and me, cold biscuits, milk and rice.

Dinner—baked potatoes, griddle cakes, milk

Tuesday

Breakfast—baked potatoes, graham muffins, oatmeal, milk.

Luncheon for Billy—cold muffins, two hard-boiled eggs, rice, milk; for Dick, and me, cold muffins, rice and milk.

Wednesday

Breakfast—oatmeal, fried potatoes, warmed over biscuits.

Luncheon, for Billy, cold biscuits, two hard-boiled eggs, bread pudding; for Dick and me, baked potatoes, cold biscuits, bread pudding.

Thursday

Luncheon, for Billy—cold muffins, sausage and rice; for Dick and me: the same.

Friday

Luncheon, for Billy, rye bread, potato salad, rice; for Dick, and me, the same.

Dinner—soup made stock of beef, left-over fish, boiled potatoes, rice, milk.

Saturday

Luncheon, for Billy—cold biscuits, two hard-boiled eggs, cheese, rice; for Dick and me, German toast.

Dinner—baked beans, hot biscuits

Sunday.

Breakfast—baked beans, graham muffins.

Dinner — boiled potatoes, pork scraps, canned corn, corn cake, bread pudding.

A word about that bread pudding. Ruth tells me she puts in an extra quart of milk and then bakes it all day, when she bakes her beans, stirring it every now and then. I never knew before how the trick was done but it comes out a rich brown and tastes like plum pudding without the raisins. She says that if you put in raisins it tastes exactly like a plum pudding.

By Ruth Cameron

DEAR me it just makes me feel wicked to be going off into the country to enjoy myself while so many people have to stay all summer cooped up in miserable little flats and tenements in the hot city."

A very generous thought, that, isn't it?

That's what I thought—at first. Then I wondered.

For the lady was going away for two months. During that time her home in the suburbs will be closed up—of no use to anyone. To many of the people whose misfortunes in having to stay in the hot city through the summer months touched the lady's heart so deeply, that home would have been almost a paradise. For it is a large comfortable house, with spacious high-studded rooms and a big garden filled with flowers and shade and fruit trees, and a delightful wide verandah.

Think what it would mean to some family cooped up in a little flat with no piazza and not even a foot of ground to plant a single flower in—beg your pardon, I'm exaggerating: I forgot these two flower boxes that are blossoming as the rose with mother's nasturtium seeds bought with the rag money—think what it would mean to such people to spend the two hottest summer months in that beautiful suburb home.

What's that I hear? You don't blame the woman a bit for not wanting strange people to come into her nice home and break up her furniture like as not. You wouldn't want that yourself.

No, neither would I.

But why strange people?

I happen to know that right in that woman's Church there is a very nice family who barring intervention of Providence or one of its agents, will spend the summer in a little five room flat on the third story in one of the least pleasant streets in town, and who, given the chance, would respect this woman's household goods as their own—no, more, for I know they are the kind of people who would treat anything borrowed a little better than their own.

She would risk nothing in loaning the house to them and the happiness she would give—well why belittle it by measure of comparison?

Perhaps she doesn't know about these people?

No, perhaps not.

Perhaps the five other families in our neighbourhood who closed their pleasant homes for one or two months last summer, could not possibly have found through any agency some desirable family to enjoy them.

But I wonder if the Great Accountant when He's making up the debit column of the good we might have done will think they couldn't.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETITIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

SULLIVAN—DONOGHUE—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, on Wednesday, June 14, 1911, by Rev. W. J. McColl, Mary Vivian, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Donoghue, to Mr. J. E. Sullivan, Peterborough.

TO Get Poisons From the Blood

You Have to Depend on the Filtering Process of the Liver and Kidneys.

These Organs Alone Can Purify the Blood, and They Do Their Work Well When Helped by

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

No medical treatment can possibly purify the blood except as it sets in healthy working order the kidneys, liver and bowels.

To these organs is assigned the duty of filtering from the blood the poisonous waste matter which is left over when the nutritious elements are extracted from the food you eat. If they are not overcrowded or slow and sluggish in action they keep the blood pure and healthy.

For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills are the most satisfactory treatment you can possibly obtain to purify the blood.

Their effects are prompt, definite and certain. The liver action is quickened, the kidneys are invigorated, the regular movement of the bowels is assured. It is only a matter of a few hours until you begin to feel the benefit of this great medicine. Further use, as often as is necessary to keep these organs active, will cleanse and purify the blood and enable the digestive system to properly do its work.

By WILLIAM CARLETON

Later on he confided in me what he was going to do to that boss. If he had carried out his threats he would long since have been electrocuted, and I would have lost a good friend. Several times I thought the two men were coming to blows, but though Dan would have dearly loved to fight and could have handled a dozen men like the foreman, he always managed to control himself in time to avoid it.

"I don't wanter be after losin' me job for the dirty spalpeen," he growled to me.

But he came near it in a way he wasn't looking for later in the week. It was Friday and half a dozen of us had been sent down to work on the second level. It was damp and suffocating down there, fifty feet below the street. I felt as though I had gone into the mines. I didn't like it but I knew that there was just as much to learn here as above and that it must all be learned eventually. The sides were braced with heavy timbers like a mine shaft to prevent the dirt from falling in and there was the constant danger that in spite of this it might cave in. We went down by rough ladders, made by nailing strips of board across two pieces of joist and the work down there was back-breaking and monotonous. We heaved the dirt into a big iron bucket, lowered by the hoisting engine above. It was heavy, wet soil, that weighed like lead.

From the beginning the men complained of headaches and one by one they crawled up the ladder again for fresh air. Others were sent down but at the end of an hour they, too, retreated. Dan and I stuck it out for a while. Then I began to get dizzy myself. I didn't know what the trouble was, but when I began to wobble a bit Dan placed his hand on my shoulder.

"Better climb out o' here," he said. "I'm thinkin' it's gas."

At that time I didn't know what sewer gas was. I couldn't smell anything and thought he must be mistaken.

"You'd better come, too" I answered, making for the ladder.

He wasn't coming but I couldn't get up very well without him so he followed along behind. At the top we found the foreman fighting mad, and trying to spur on another gang to go down. They wouldn't move. When he saw us come up he turned upon Dan!.

"Who ordered you out of there?" he growled.

"The gas," answered Dan.

"Gas be damned," shouted the foreman. "You're a bunch of white livered cowards—all of you."

I saw Dan double up his fists and start towards the man. The latter checked him with a command.

"Go back down there or you're fired," he said to him.

Dan turned red. Then I saw his eyes come together.

"Begob!" he answered. 'You shan't fire me, anyhow."

Without another word he started down the ladder again. I saw the Italians crowd together and watch him. By that time my head was clearer, but my legs were weak. I sat down a moment uncertain what to do. Then I heard someone shout:

I started towards the ladder, but some one shoved me back. Then I thought of the bucket. It was above ground and I staggered towards it, gaining strength at each step. I jumped in and shouted to the engineer to lower me. He obeyed from instinct. I went down, down, down, to what seemed like the centre of the earth. When the bucket struck the ground I was dizzy again, but I managed to get out, heave the unconscious Dan in and pile on top of him myself. When I came to, I was in an ambulance on my way to the hospital but by the time I had reached the emergency room I had taken a grip on myself. I knew that if ever Ruth heard of this she would never again be comfortable. When they took us out I was able to walk a little. The doctors wanted to put me to bed, but I refused to go. I sat there for about an hour while they worked over Dan. When I found that he would be all right by morning I insisted upon going out. I had a bad headache, but I knew the fresh air would drive this away and so it did, though it left me weak.

One of the hardest day's work I ever did in my life was killing time from then until five o'clock. Of course the papers got hold of it and that gave me another scare, but luckily the nearest they came to my name was Darlinton, so no harm was done. And they didn't come within a mile of getting the real story. When in a later edition one of them published my photograph I felt absolutely safe for they had me in a full beard and thinner than I've ever been in my life.

When I came home at my usual time, looking a bit white, perhaps, but otherwise normal enough, the first question Ruth asked me was:

"What have you done with your dinner pail, Billy?"

Isn't a man always sure to do some such fool thing as that, when he's trying to keep something quiet from the wife? I had to explain that I had forgotten it, and that was enough to excite suspicion at any time. She kept me uneasy for ten minutes, and the best I could do was to finally admit that I wasn't feeling very well. Whereupon she made me go to bed and fussed over me all the evening and worried all the next day.

I reported for work as usual in the morning and found we had a new foreman. It was a relief because I guess if Dan hadn't knocked down the other one, someone else would have done it sooner or later. At that the man had taught me something about sewer gas and that is when you begin to feel dizzy fifty feet below the street, it's time to go up the ladder about as fast as your wobbly legs will let you, even if you don't smell anything.

Rafferty didn't turn up for two or three days. When he did appear it was with a simple:

"Mawnin, mon."

It wasn't until several days later I learned that the late foreman had left town nursing a black eye and a cut on one cheek, such as might have been made by a set of red knuckles backed by an arm the size of a small ham.

On Saturday night of that first week I came home with nine dollars in my pocket. I'll never be prouder again than I was when I handed them over to Ruth. And Ruth will never again be prouder than she was when, after she had laid aside three of them for the rent and five for current expenses, she picked out a one-dollar bill and, crossing the room, placed it in the ginger jar. This was a little blue affair, in which we had always dropped what pennies and nickels we could spare.

"There's our nest-egg," she announced.

"You don't mean to tell me you're that much ahead of the game the first week?"

"Look here, Billy," she answered.

She brought out an itemized list of everything she had bought from last Monday, including Sunday's dinner. "I've kept that list. Many of the things she had bought were not yet used up, but she had computed the cost of the amount actually used. Here it is as I copied it off:

Flour—.25
Lard—.15
Cream of tartar and soda—.05
Oatmeal—.04
Molasses—.05
Sugar—.12
Potatoes—.20
Rice—.06
Milk—$1.12
Eggs—.24
Rye bread—.10
Sausages—.22
Lettuce—.03
Beans—.12
Salt pork—.15
Cornmeal—.06
Graham meal—.05
Butter—.45
Cheese—.06
Shin of beef—.39
Fish—.22
Oil—.28
Soap—.09
Vinegar, salt and pepper, about .05

Can of cron, .07
Can of corn, .07.
Total—$4.66.

In this account, too, Ruth was liberal in her margins. She did better than this later on. A fairer estimate could have been made at the end of the month and a still fairer even than that, at the end of the year. It sounded almost too good to be true but it was a fact. We had lived, and lived well on this amount and as yet Ruth was inexperienced. She hadn't learned all she learned later. For the benefit of those who may think we went hungry I have asked Ruth to write out the bill of fare for this week as nearly as she can remember it. One thing you must keep in mind is that of everything we had, we had enough. Neither Ruth, the boy, nor myself ever left the table of dinner pail unsatisfied. Here's what we had and it was better even than it sounds, for whatever Ruth made, she made well. I copy it as she wrote it out.

Monday

Luncheon—for Billy, cold biscuits, two hard-boiled eggs, bowl of rice, cold coffee; for Dick and me, cold biscuits, milk and rice.

Dinner—baked potatoes, griddle cakes, milk

Tuesday

Breakfast—baked potatoes, graham muffins, oatmeal, milk.

Luncheon for Billy—cold muffins, two hard-boiled eggs, rice, milk; for Dick, and me, cold muffins, rice and milk.

Wednesday

Breakfast—oatmeal, fried potatoes, warmed over biscuits.

Luncheon, for Billy, cold biscuits, two hard-boiled eggs, bread pudding; for Dick and me, baked potatoes, cold biscuits, bread pudding.

Thursday

Luncheon, for Billy—cold muffins, sausage and rice; for Dick and me the same.

Friday

Luncheon, for Billy, rye bread, potato salad, rice; for Dick, and me, the same.

Dinner—soup made stock of beef, left-over fish, boiled potatoes, rice, milk.

Saturday

Luncheon, for Billy—cold biscuits, two hard-boiled eggs, cheese, rice; for Dick and me, German toast.

Dinner—baked beans, hot biscuits

Sunday.

Breakfast—baked beans, graham muffins.

Dinner — boiled potatoes, pork scraps, canned corn, corn cake, bread pudding.

A word about that bread pudding. Ruth tells me she puts in an extra quart of milk and then bakes it all day, when she bakes her beans, stirring it every now and then. I never knew before how the trick was done but it comes out a rich brown and tastes like plum pudding without the raisins. She says that if you put in raisins it tastes exactly like a plum pudding.

By Ruth Cameron

DEAR me it just makes me feel wicked to be going off into the country to enjoy myself while so many people have to stay all summer cooped up in miserable little flats and tenements in the hot city."

A very generous thought, that, isn't it?

That's what I thought—at first. Then I wondered.

For the lady was going away for two months. During that time her home in the suburbs will be closed up—of no use to anyone. To many of the people whose misfortunes in having to stay in the hot city through the summer months touched the lady's heart so deeply, that home would have been almost a paradise. For it is a large comfortable house, with spacious high-studded rooms and a big garden filled with flowers and shade and fruit trees, and a delightful wide verandah.

Think what it would mean to some family cooped up in a little flat with no piazza and not even a foot of ground to plant a single flower in—beg your pardon, I'm exaggerating; I forgot these two flower boxes that are blossoming as the rose with mother's nasturtium seeds bought with the rag money—think what it would mean to such people to spend the two hottest summer months in that beautiful suburb home.

What's that I hear? You don't blame the woman a bit for not wanting strange people to come into her nice home and break up her furniture like as not. You wouldn't want that yourself.

No, neither would I.

But why strange people?

I happen to know that right in that woman's Church there is a very nice family who barring intervention of Providence or one of its agents, will spend the summer in a little five room flat on the third story in one of the least pleasant streets in town, and who, given the chance, would respect this woman's household goods as their own—no, more, for I know they are the kind of people who would treat anything borrowed a little better than their own.

She would risk nothing in loaning the house to them and the happiness she would give—well why belittle it by measure of comparison?

Perhaps she doesn't know about these people?

No, perhaps not.

Perhaps the five other families in our neighbourhood who closed their pleasant homes for one or two months last summer, could not possibly have found through any agency some desirable family to enjoy them.

But I wonder if the Great Accountant when He's making up the debit column of the good we might have done will think they couldn't.

Ruth Cameron

MARRIED.

SULLIVAN—DONOGHUE—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, on Wednesday, June 14, 1911, by Rev. W. J. McColl, Mary Vivian, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Donoghue, to Mr. J. E. Sullivan, Peterborough.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETITIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

TO Get Poisons From the Blood

You Have to Depend on the Filtering Process of the Liver and Kidneys.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

No medical treatment can possibly purify the blood except as it sets in healthy working order the kidneys, liver and bowels.

To these organs is assigned the duty of filtering from the blood the poisonous waste matter which is left over when the nutritious elements are extracted from the food you eat. If they are not overcrowded or slow and sluggish in action they keep the blood pure and healthy.

For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills are the most satisfactory treatment you can possibly obtain to purify the blood.

Their effects are prompt, definite and certain. The liver action is quickened, the kidneys are invigorated, the regular movement of the bowels is assured. It is only a matter of a few hours until you begin to feel the benefit of this great medicine. Further use, as often as is necessary to keep these organs active, will cleanse and purify the blood and enable the digestive system to properly do its work.

Backache, headache and bodily pains will disappear, and the fatigue which is an accompaniment of poisons in the system will give way to new vigour and energy. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

RICHARD HALL & SON

The Ardiel-Gooding Nuptials

A very pretty wedding was celebrated, Wednesday, June 14th, at Strathormond, the beautiful residence of Hon. J. R. Stratton, when his neice, Miss Alberta Louise Gooding, daughter of Mr. A. F. Gooding, Kenora, was united in marriage to Mr. L. T. Harris Ardiel, of the Dominion Bank, Toronto, son of Dr. Ardiel, of London, Ontario. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Little, B.A., pastor of the Knox Presbyterian Church, Kenora, assisted by Rev. G. W. Henderson, of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The large number of guests were received at the drawing room entrance by Mr. and Mrs. Stratton and Mrs. Gooding.

The wedding was celebrated in the yellow drawing room, which was in festal array for the occasion. The bridal pair stood under an arch of spinghert and white peonies, looped with white satin bows and banked at the rear with palms. The other decorations of the room were in white and green—foliage and flowers—very effectively placed.

The bride entered the room escorted by her uncle, Hon. Mr. Stratton—who gave the bride away—to the measures of the wedding march from Lohengrin, performed by Mr. Charles Ackerman, and followed by her bridal cortege. The maid of honour was Miss Ione Heintzman, of Toronto, and the bridesmaids were Miss Florence Steveley, London, Miss Eileen McFaul, Collingwood, and Miss Muriel Rogers, Peterborough. The ribbon bearers were Miss Jessie Matthews and Miss Rosamond Huycke. The groomsman was Mr. Lorne Ardiel, of Windsor, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Keith Lech, Peterborough, Mr P. M. Anderson and Mr. Carston McCormack, Toronto. At the conclusion of the ceremony, and while the bridal pair were signing the register, Miss Helen Davies sang "Love's Coronation," and while the newly wed were receiving the congratulations of the assistants, she sang "O Fair, O Sweet, O Holy."

The bride was charming in a gown of ivory satin with garniture of chiffon, bordered with point de Venise lace, studded with seed pearls—the lace being that worn by the bride's mother on the occasion of her own marriage. The long square train was caught from the shoulders with large satin bows. The bridal veil of tulle was arranged, with cap effect, of orange blossoms. The bride wore the groom's gift, a dainty necklet of pearls, and carried a Marie Antoinette shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, also his gift.

The maid of honour, Miss Ione Heintzman, was gowned in white marquisette with deep border of pink roses worn over ivory satin. Her large white hat was of tegal straw with band of pink velvet and pink roses tied with ceil bleu ribbon with long streamers. The three bridesmaids wore gowns of white marquissette over ivory satin, with geisha sashes and bows of ceil bleu satin and large white tegal straw hats, trimmed with blue satin and pink roses, and blue satin slippers to match. All carried sheaf bouquets of pink roses tied with ceil bleu satin streamers. The flower girls were dressed in white lingerie and lace with blue sashes, Juliet caps of lace with pink rosebuds and blue ribbons, and carried baskets of rose petals to be scattered before the bride.

The maid of honour and the bridesmaids wore the gifts of the bride—gold necklaces, with pendants, and set with baroque pearls and turquoises, and the flower girls were given signet rings. The gift of the groom to the ushers were gold pearl-set tie pins.

Among the numerous guests there were many exquisite toilettes. Mrs. Stratton, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of robin's-egg blue marquisette, with raised white silk embroidery, over white satin, large black lace hat with plumes, and carried a bouquet of Richmond roses, tied with blue ribbon. Mrs. Gooding, mother of the bride, was dressed in Dresden net over pink satin, and wore a black hat, with willow plumes. Mrs. Ardiel, the groom's mother, wore a handsome gown of black and white satin foulard, with trimmings of lace, and black and white picture hat, with plumes.

After receiving congratulations the bride and groom led the way to the marquee erected upon the beautiful lawn, where the bride's table was done in white and silver, the decorations being lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The bride's cake was surrounded by unique novelty silver slippers, filled with silver confetti, afterwards presented as souvenirs to the bridesmaids and flower girls. The buffet table, from which refreshments were served, was decorated with a large centre basket of pink Killarney roses and asparagus fern, tied with blue ribbon, and at either end were placed low baskets of syringa and roses. Suspended over the central basket was a flying Cupid, carrying a wreath of orange blossoms under a canopy formed of festoons of blue baby ribbon, mounted at intervals, with miniature silver wedding bells and reaching to the several baskets. In addition roses were profusely scattered over the table.

After the toast of the bride had been heartily honoured and she had cut the wedding cake, she slipped away to don her travelling costume of coronation blue rajah silk and Panama hat, trimmed with white satin ribbon.

The wedding presents were numerous and of great variety, and beauty. The out-of-town guests included many from Toronto, Collingwood, Hamilton, Windsor, Kenora, Oklahoma, U. S., and towns in the vicinity of Peterborough.

The bridal couple were driven to the C. P. Railway station in Mr. Stratton's four-in-hand victoria, and amid showers of confetti from their numerous escorts, they took train for Toronto, where they will embark on the steamer for a wedding journey down the St. Lawrence. On their return they will take residence in Toronto.

ENNISMORE PICNIC USUAL GREAT SUCCESS

Big Crowd Was in Attendance at Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's Annual Gathering at Tara Grove---Bright Speeches and Enjoyable Sports Marked the Big Event.

One of the most successful picnics ever held in Ennismore was pulled off yesterday under the auspices of St. Martin's T.A.S. The weather which had assumed a threatening attitude during the early part of the day, cleared off during the afternoon and evening, and it was clearly evident that the highest hopes of the management, as far as a successful issue of the event was concerned, would be fully realized. A good-natured, pleasure seeking crowd began to congregate on the grounds of Tarra Grove early in the afternoon and by the time the sporting events were well under way, it had increased to large proportions.

The chief event of interest in the excellent quota of sports which were provided, was the 10 mile road race from the Examiner office. This was won by the famous Indian, Albert Smoke. There was plenty of good, clean contestion in the race. The contestants were Albert Smoke, J. Worthley and James Dionne. The runners were started at 1.45 p.m. from the Examiner office, and it was exactly 65 minutes later when Albert Smoke crossed the wire at Tarra Grove. Worthley, who is an English runner of note, finished second, coming in about one minute behind the winner, while Jas. Dionne, who was conceded to have finished the strongest of the trio, was a close third.

Following is the list of sports and respective contestants, all of which were run o ffwith clock-like precision, with run off with clock-like precision.

Mr. O'Donovan acted as clerk of the course and needless to say, he performed his duties in a very satisfactory manner.

After the chief sporting events had been disposed of, a number of short addresses were given by the laity and local politicians. Judging by the frequent outburst of enthusiasm which was displayed and the many commendable remarks which were made on all sides, in reference to the speeches, this proved to be one of the strongest features on the programme.

Those who graced the platform were Mr. R. R. Hall, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. F. D. Kerr, ex-Ald. Phelan, Father McColl, all of this city, Father Fitzpatrick of St. Martin's, Ennismore, Father McGuire, of Downeyville and Father Galvin, of Kinmount.

The latter, who acted as chairman, opened the meeting by expressing his appreciation of the treatment which had been accorded him, and it afforded him very great pleasure to be present on this special occasion. (Applause.)

Father McGuire, of Downeyville, paid a glowing tribute to Father Fitzpatrick and his large hearted parishioners. He referred in kindly terms to the strong sense of friendship which existed between the two parishes, Downeyville and Ennismore, and while it afforded him very great pleasure to be permitted to address the gathering on this occasion, he would not attempt to make a lengthy address as there were a number of prominent speakers on the list who were yet to come. (Applause.)

Mr. F. D. Kerr, in a brief address said that he indebted to Father Fitzpatrick and the good people of Ennismore for the efforts they had put forth in their endeavour to make the picnic a success. It gave those in the city who work hard in the city, and there are some who do work hard, a chance to get out for a day to enjoy themselves. (Applause.)

Father Galvin, in introducing Mr. R. R. Hall, said that it gave him very much pleasure in calling upon one to speak who had represented the constituency a number of years ago. Mr. Hall, during his term of office, had made himself popular with the people of Ennismore, due to the fact that he had always endeavoured to do the right thing at the right time.

Mr Hall, on rising to his feet, was greeted with prolonged applause. His address was not of a political nature, but was confined to a general outline of conditions as we find them to-day. "It is remarkable when we stop to consider the great advance that this fair Dominion of ours is making today," said Mr. Hall in his opening remarks. "No matter where you may go, or where you may turn throughout the length and breadth of this Canada of our, from the Maritime provinces to the Northwest territories, you will find that the wheels of progress are turning rapidly. Vast progress is being made everywhere, but yet it is not good for us to sit up and be contented with these conditions. We should do our share, and by by centralization of concentrated effort, endeavour to materially assist in turning the wheels of progress. Some years ago, after the civil war, our neighbours to the south were inclined to be hostile towards us, but thanks to various reasons, that feeling has been entirely eliminated. To-day we are living side by side, separated by a frontier nearly 4,000 miles long, with not a cannon or a gun to mark the boundary lines. If we have ninety million people to the south of us, with one of the best markets for our produce that you will find, then why not let us take down the barrier, that we may avail ourselves of these benefits. I think this will soon be brought about. By all means let us improve our position, let us endeavour to educate the young generation to advance and improve with us." (Applause.)

Father McColl made a few brief remarks relative to the good work done in the parish of Ennismore by his successor, Father Fitzpatrick. He agreed with Mr. Hall, wherein he said that it was not good policy to be satisfied with existing conditions. Advance was the watch word. A characteristic feature of the Ennismore people was their progressiveness. I have no desire to encroach upon your good nature by making a lengthy address, as there are a number of prominent speakers upon the list, including our friend, the Hon. J. R. Stratton. (Applause.)

Ex-Ald. Phelan, in a few brief remarks, referred to the pleasure that was his in being able to attend the Ennismore picnic. He had not come prepared to make any lengthy remarks. He congratulated those concerned in the success of the picnic.

The chairman Father Galvin, in introducing the next speaker, Hon. J. R. Stratton, said that he had known the honourable gentleman for a number of years and that he and Mr. Stratton had always taken a deep interest in the community, and it afforded him great pleasure to introduce him as one of the speakers.

Mr. Stratton said ne was not present for the purpose of making a speech, but he merely wished to join in spending a half holiday with his Ennismore friends. He was glad to see Rev. Father Galvin in the chair. He was an old Ennismore boy, who was climbing the ladder of fame and going ahead, as many Ennismore boys had done previously. He instanced Bishop Scollard, of Sault Ste. Marie and the late Archbishop McEvay, of Toronto, as two who had brought distinction to the township by the prominent positions which they had occupied. He believed that church socials and church entertainments of all kinds were a pleasant means of bringing congregations together, and were it not for the ladies, with their well-filled baskets and their piety, the churches generally would not be so successful. He referred to the pleasant conditions that the people of Canada were enjoying, no part more than our own county. He was glad to see such good prospects for a bountiful harvest, and he wished all many happy and bright days.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, in closing the speaking ,gave great credit to the work done in the parish by the late Father Kielty, and which was so splendidly built upon by Rev. Father McColl, the speaker's predecessor. He thanked those who were present from outside points for their presence and good wishes.

In closing, Rev. Father Galvin referred to some coming events, Peterborough's Civic holiday, the celebration of the 12th of July, the Coronation of the King, the erection of the Chimes in Peterborough, and last, but not least, his church picnic at Bobcaygeon on Coronation Day.

The meeting then closed with cheers for the King, the chairman and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick.

The following representatives of the church were present: Father McColl and Father Fergus O'Brien of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, Dr. O'Brien of Sacred Heart, Peterborough Father McGuire, Downeyville, Father Bretherton, Hastings and Father Galvin, of Kinmount.

SHOT HIS BROTHER TWICE IN THE LEG

(Lindsay Warder.)

An interesting case came up before Police Magistrate Moore yesterday in which a young man from Downeyville was charged with shooting his brother. G. H. Hopkins, K. C., appeared for the accused and Crown Attorney Devlin for the prosecution.

It seems that the father's estate with the exception of a fanning mill had been divided between the two brothers, both of whom live within a short distance of each other near Downeyville. The two brothers came to an agreement with regard to the mill by which each was to use it when needed, both having equal possession of it. This arrangement seemed to satisfy both parties for some time, the fanning mill being exchanged once or twice but finally the accused took the mill and when his brother came to get it he refused to give it up.

A lively "scrap" was the outcome of the controversy, during which the accused, being in a very excited mood pulled out a revolver and shot his brother twice in the leg. However the wounded man continued the fight and it is said choked his brother, loaded on the fanning mill and drove home.

The affair was kept quiet for a considerable time but the authorities finally got hold of the matter and the young man appeared yesterday charged with shooting his brother. After the evidence was heard Magistrate Moore enlarged the case until Tuesday when judgment will be given.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Enjoyable Event Was Held at the Farm of Mr. Robert Hanbidge, Otonabee, Yesterday Afternoon---Reports Were Presented---Bright Speeches Were Made.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held at the farm of Robert Hanbridge, Otonabee, yesterday afternoon. In spite of the threatening weather there was a large and representative attendance, and the event was in every way a great success.

After the President, Mr. J. H. Garbutt, had opened the meeting with a short address, Mr. Collins, the Secretary, read a letter of regret from Hon. J. R. Stratton, at his inability to be present.

The report of the Executive Committee and financial statement, as submitted by the Secretary-Treasurer were received and confirmed; as also was the Auditors' report.

These reports were as follows:

Executive Report.

To the members of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

Gentlemen,—On behalf of your Executive Committee, I beg leave to submit to you for approval the 24th annual report of this Institute.

Since our last annual meeting a great many changes have taken place in our Nation, our fair Dominion, and our Province.

But we must be pleased to know, that under the Divine Providence of the Almighty God of the Universe, that we have been blessed with peace and plenty.

The usual annual excursion was run in 1910, jointly with East Peterborough and East Durham Farmers' Institutes, to the O. A. College, and was a decided success in every way.

Our regular Institute meetings were held, as follows:

At Ennismore Hall, on November 30th, two meetings being held.

Afternoon, with an attendance of 75; in the evening the attendance was 300.

The following meetings, with the same delegates, were held at Lakefield, with an afternoon attendance of 40, evening attendance, 250.

The evening meeting was held jointly with the Women's Farmers' Institute of Lakefield. Mr. H. B. Cowan, editor of Farm and Dairy, was with us at both of these evening meetings.

Splendid musical programmes were also interspersed with addresses at both Ennismore and Lakefield evening meetings.

Supplementary meetings were held on January 5th, 6th and 7th, at Stewart's Hall; on the 5th, Stewart's Hall, afternoon only, on account of the raging storm, attendance 25.

On the 6th, at Temperance Hall, 4th line of Smith, afternoon attendance 25, evening 45. (Very cold and stormy night).

On the 7th, Saturday, market day, when it was very hard to get a good attendance.

At the City Council Chamber, Peterborough, afternoon attendance 50.

And at North Monaghan town hall in the evening, attendance was very small, only 18 being present.

The delegates sent by the department to those latter meetings were Mr J. W. Clark, Cainsville, and R. Smith, of Columbus. We were very fortunate in getting some of the very best Institute speakers for our circuit.

We are in receipt of letters from the Department, urging us to take up new lines of work, offering special help for taking up some of the following lines:

Fruit Institutes; Poultry Institutes; Short Coursing in Stock and Seed Judging.

Special speakers will be provided on request, on very reasonable terms.

Superintendent Putman is also very much alive to increasing the membership of the Institute, which seemed to be a very difficult matter, as there seems to be no united effort on the part of the Directors to help to get their neighbours to join. The literature sent to the members was worth many times the price charged—25c. We ask the co-operation of all to increase our membership three or four fold for the coming year.

We cannot close without extending to the City Council our thanks for the use of their Council Chamber for holding our meetings, and also to the local press for their splendid reports published by them of our meetings, showing that they are interested in the good work that is being carried on by the Farmers' Institute, and, in conclusion, we should again urge on every farmer the necessity of our organization.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Wm. Collins, Sec.-Treas.
J. H. Garbutt, President.

John Riddell,
Joseph Barnard,
Auditors.

It was resolved that all regular and supplementary meetings be held at Lakefield, and Ennismore, and at this juncture Mr. Collins took the opportunity of suggesting that these meetings might be accompanied by a demonstration of cattle, as he believed this would serve to increase the attendance.

The election of officers was as follows:

President—Mr. J. H. Garbutt, (re-elected).

Vice President—Mr. C. E. Moore.

Directors—J. H. Garbutt, J. E. Moore, Wm. Collins, J. N. Telford, G. W. Mann, T. T. Milburn, Alex. McGregor, Fred. McKee, B. W. Manning, T. J. Cullen, H. C. Garbutt, T. D. Young, John Brown, T. M. Hunter, R. Hanbidge, S. Deyell, S. Matchet, R. Chambers, W. B. Stewart, C. C. Nixon, E. M. Elliott, R. H. Leary, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, Robert Shaw, A. Wilson, J. K. Galwin, Daniel Brough and John Flood, all re-elected.

Auditors—Jos. Barnard and John Riddell, re-elected.

Secretary-Treasurer—Wm. Collins, re-elected.

After the election of officers the President introduced Mr. E. S. Hopkins, the successor of Mr. H. C. Duff, as district representative for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, who said: "I should like to draw the attention of the Assembly to three points in farming—Farm Forestry, the Spraying of Orchards, and Farm Draining by Tiles.

I do not see any land that can be utilized for forestry in the immediate neighbourhood, but there is money to be made by re-planting in many parts.

With regard to the spraying of orchards, I intend exhibiting in the fall some fruit produced from a sprayed orchard, as compared with the produce of an unsprayed orchard. There is a great advantage to be gained by spraying the trees.

The question of the drainage of farms is a question of vital importance. I should be pleased if any farmer would care to communicate with me to give any assistance in my power which might serve to help them in the drainage of the farms.

Under the Tile Drainage Act any farmer can borrow from the Council sums of money from $100 to $1,000 for which he pays $7.36, annually, per $100, for 20 years.

It is necessary, in the municipality to secure from the Government a sum of money up to at least $3,000 and at the most $10,000. Under this Act it is possible for any farmer to secure money sufficient to drain his land, from which investment he will greatly benefit.

An approximate estimate of profits, accruing from tile draining, would be from $10 to $25 per acre. A man borrowing $100 would be able to drain four acres at the rate of $25 per acre.

This is a conservative estimate. From these four acres he would derive say, $40, and he need only pay back, annually, $7.36.

The President encouraged the farmers in this direction, and asked Mr. Armstrong if he had any remarks to make, but which Mr. Armstrong said he knew of an orchard which yielded only 40 or 50 barrells of apples a year. This farm was rented for 5 years, by a certain man, who pruned and sprayed the trees, with the result that last year 150 barrells of good apples were collected.

Mr. H. B. Cowan, editor of Farm and Dairy, gave a short, but instructive address, in which he said:

In the country life commission of the United States words are set forth to the effect that there will be no improvement in farming until higher ideas prevail, both in individuals and in communities. A man must have ideas of his own. He gave two examples.

A young man bought a farm for $6,000, a mortgage was taken out for $4,000, and he was trusted for $2,000. Through his perseverance he bought a second farm, and, ultimately, a third, and last year his farm won a gold medal, as being the best farm in 22 counties.

Another instance shows us how a young man, planting 10 or 15 acres of apple trees on the banks of Lake Ontario was actually ridiculed by his own father. Notwithstanding countless taunts, inside two years he planted another 15 acres, and last year he realized $10,000 from his apples.

It might be of advantage if the farmers of Peterborough County grew two or three kinds of potatoes, in stead of about one hundred.

I suggest that some of the farmers should meet in the form of a club to see what can be done for the good of farming in the country.

There is no reason why Peterborough should not be one of the best of agricultural counties.

At the conclusion of the meeting a picnic was held. Tea was served on the lawn, after which some of the assembly indulged in a conversasione while others (the younger portion), amused themselves with games ,etc.

BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

MANILLA, JUNE 13.— The severe thunder storm that passed over this district Saturday night did little damage in the immediate vicinity, but was followed Sunday afternoon by a terrific thunder storm, accompanied by strong gales, which blew down the large barn on the farm occupied by Mr. J. P. Brown, and owned by Mr. John Short, the Chief of Police at Lindsay. The barn of Dan McLean, about one mile directly west of this village was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mr. Geo. Gilson on the 11th con. of Mariposa, was also a sufferer. One barn was damaged by lightning, and three cattle killed by Saturday night's storm, while Sunday's storm unroofed about fifty feet of another of his barns.

Mr. A. Edwards had about twenty feet of roof stripped off his barn. Wind mills are wrecked everywhere, and to-day will be spent by all the farmers in rebuilding fences. This is the worst storm that has visited this district for years.

The question of taking ice out was discussed. Dr. McPherson suggested that those taking out ice, should be made to have a license and be notified that they will not be allowed to take ice out of the Little Lake. TARIFF IN SENATE

Reciprocity Bill is Reported Without Recommendation—Opponents of the Measure Are Lined Up

WANT AMENDMENTS

Washington, June 14.—The battle lines on the Canadian reciprocity agreement were squarely drawn in the Senate yesterday, when in accordance with an agreement, Chairman Penrose, of the finance committee reported the bill without recommendation. Favorable and adverse views were presented by Senators and the way cleared for the long siege of discussion in open session. Messrs. McCumber and Lafollette submitted reports outlining their individual views in opposition to reciprocity, and Mr. Williams presented the views of himself and Messrs. Stone and Kern favorable to the measure. The debate will begin to-day with speeches in opposition to the bill by Senators Curtis and McCumber.

The exchange of views on the bill was general. Mr. Dixon expressed surprise and regret that the committee had not been able to bring in a recommendation for or against the bill, and in so doing elicited a series of statements regarding the course of the finance committee. One of these was made by Senator Heyburn, who brought out the facts regarding the motion in committee to report the bill adversely. He said that he had presented this motion and that it had been lost by a tie vote of 7 to 7, thus rendering an opposing report impossible, while at the same time approaching very near to one.

Mr. Gore introduced an amendment to the bill which would place Canadian flour, meal, meats and agricultural implements on the free list, but said he would not press the provision if it became evident that its adoption would imperil the bill.

Senator Lafollette, in an individual report, presented adverse views on the reciprocity bill. He said it was perfectly consistent for one who believed in free trade to support the bill, but no man who believed either in a tariff for revenue only or in a protective tariff, could consistently give it his support.

"In the belief that duties should represent the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, 'when others I contended," said he, "when the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was pending, for reductions in duties to that level, in so far as the information then at hand furnished any safe criteria to determine rates upon that principle.

"I believe in reciprocity. I believe in reciprocity with Canada. The mutual give and take of tariff concessions between our country and our world neighbors along the lines laid down by Blaine and McKinley, is a policy that has in view the best welfare of all concerned."

"But I protest against this proposed revision of our tariff by executive mandate. I protest against this diplomatic bargain that is masquerading in the guise of reciprocity. It is not reciprocity. It is not a fair exchange of tariff advantages between our citizens and the citizens of Canada. It is a tariff trade conceived in special interest, selfish, negotiated in secret and brought into the open with the attractive name of reciprocity as a bid for the favor of the American public, a people who believe sincerely in reciprocity that is genuine.

"This agreement is not in the interest of the consumer. Relative high cost of living is not to be found in such a tariff compact as that represented in the pending bill.

"I purpose to offer amendments providing for a complete revision of the wool and cotton schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, revision of the rates on structural iron and steel and certain other paragraphs of that schedule; also amendments revising the sugar schedule. Such revision downward will be reducing our Government revenues less than $10,000,000 annually, will effect a reduction in the cost of living by lowering prices to the consuming public, aggregating more than $200,000 a year.

Scratched Until I Tore The Flesh

"It was in the latter end of the year 1906 that a nasty itch came through my skin, and I scratched it until I tore the flesh. I tried several ointments to no effect. I went to a skin hospital. They advised me to go to the ——— Hospital, but I refused. I could not sleep with the constant itch. I was that way until on or about the month of January. One day I chanced to see in the papers a case like mine, but I gave it no credence. At last I said, 'I will try the Cuticura Remedies.' With the first wash and Cuticura Ointment I used, I found their effects. I got one box of the Ointment more, and in less than one week the skin was all right, and left no traces after it. I have not had a return of the same since, and I shall always praise the Cuticura Remedies as being the means of my cure."

(Signed) JOHN TYRRELL,
94, Scotland Road, Liverpool.

In a further letter Mr. Tyrrell adds: "The first appearance of my skin eczema was a burning itch which I tore and left my body, legs and arms one mass of sores. It caused sleepless nights, but now I can sleep as well as ever."

NEW ERA DAWNING

Presbyterian Assembly Commends the Arbitration Treaty—New Mission Chief is Named

REV. A. S. GRANT

Ottawa, June 14.—No matter, which has come before the Presbyterian General Assembly, has evoked more hearty enthusiasm than did the motion on the arbitration proposal as introduced by Principal Forrest of Dalhousie University, Halifax, yesterday afternoon.

The resolution was introduced by Principal Forrest and seconded by Principal Patrick of Winnipeg.

"Rarely, if ever," said Principal Patrick, "has a more important question been before any assembly. For the first time in the history of mankind it is proposed that all possible questions of controversy between Great Britain and the United States should be remitted to arbitration. The principle of arbitration have been met with increasing reception in the last three decades, but until the present moment every Government in the world reserved to itself freedom of action as regards certain questions and to settle for themselves whether or not to resort to war when their honor was at stake. A new era seems dawning. No one is more pleased than the people of Canada. We see a practical working out of the proposition in the thousands of miles of boundary without a battleship or fortification. I am sure all in this assembly are of one mind and profoundly grateful that the proposal so born of the spirit of our Lord and Master and so grateful to every Christian is brought forward by the most representative men of the United States and the British Empire."

The resignation of Rev. Dr. E. D McLaren of Toronto as general secretary of the home missions, has resulted in a rearrangement of the forces by the Presbyterian Assembly.

Rev. A. S. Grant of Toronto was appointed general superintendent of missions, the assembly thus reverting to the position held by the late Dr Robertson. He will be paid a salary of $3,000 a year and will also have a secretary to be appointed by the home mission committee. Rev. Dr. Carmichael, Winnipeg, will continue as superintendent for Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but his salary has been increased to $2,500 a year, and the committee was also empowered to appoint an assistant for him.

The assembly by a practically unanimous vote approved of the form in which the mind of the people is to be learned on the great question of organic union with the Methodist and Congregational churches. A common ballot will be supplied to all the churches free and they will be asked to take a vote of adherents as well as communicants, and report to the clerks of the assembly before March 1, 1912. Three questions will be submitted:

Are you in favor of or against union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches?

Do you approve of the basis of union?

Have you any suggestions or alternative to offer?

The age of adherents whose votes are to be taken was fixed at not less than 18 years, and their vote will be taken separate from that of the sessions and church members.

SHOULD BE UNIFORM

British Subjects to be Recognized the Empire Over—The Imperial Conference Passes Resolution

DEPORTATION OF ALIENS

London, June 14.—The Imperial Conference was occupied yesterday with questions relating to imperial citizenship. A resolution was adopted in favor of the principle of imperial naturalization under an act open to adoption by the dominion, with a view to securing uniformity in the recognition everywhere of British subjects.

Resolutions also were adopted in favor of uniformity throughout the Empire in the law of accident compensation, and for reciprocal action regarding the deportation of undesirable aliens.

Sir Joseph Ward, Premier of New Zealand, in a speech at the Colonial Institute last night, pleaded eloquently for a closer union of the Empire than can be obtained by a conference every four years. The present system excluded 15,000,000 of people from full imperial citizenship. In the hour of national peril, he declared, neither Great Britain nor her children could stand alone. Closer union for defence was a vital necessity.

The conference discussed the following resolutions regarding naturalization.

From Australia, declaring the conference in favor of the creation of a system, which, while not limiting the right of a dominion to legislate in regard to local naturalization, will permit the issue to a person fulfilling the prescribed conditions certificates of naturalization effective throughout the Empire.

From New Zealand, declaring it in the best interests of the Empire that there should be more uniformity in the law of naturalization.

From South Africa, declaring it desirable to review the principles underlying the draft of a bill on imperial naturalization before the details are discussed further.

Hon. E. L. Batchelor of Australia said that nothing could be done in the direction of imperial naturalization except by the Parliaments of the Dominions themselves. Divergencies of law in the various states must also be recognized, and no attempt could be made to bring about uniformity of law as far as local naturalization in the particular Dominion was concerned, as conditions upon application varied considerably in the different Dominions, but he suggested that many thousands of people could comply with even the strictest conditions. Would it not be worth while to give imperial certificates of naturalization to such persons as could comply with a standard embodying the most drastic conditions at present imposed.

S. Malan asked whether it was contemplated if a man applied for naturalization in South Africa under the local law and his application was refused, say on the ground of character, he would be able to apply and obtain imperial naturalization, thus defeating the local law.

Batchelor replied that imperial naturalization would not be granted unless the applicant complied with the conditions in all the Dominions.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that all the dominions had availed themselves of the naturalizing powers granted them by their constitutions, but in no two dominions were the conditions the same. The certificate given by a self-governing dominion was limited to the territory of that dominion. For instance, 100,000 Americans came to Canada every year, the greater part of whom sought naturalization at the earliest moment. They were British subjects while they remained in Canada, but if they came over to Britain they were American citizens. Such a position required modification.

He strongly urged the adoption of the principle that there should be uniformity in the effect of naturalization wherever granted, and that the man who was a British subject anywhere should be recognized as a British subject everywhere. There was no objection to a variety of conditions as to machinery for granting naturalization in different dominions. It would be difficult to have the same [illegible] everywhere, as circumstances varied too considerably. If, however, they adopted the two principles of uniformity of the effect of naturalization when granted and diversity of methods as to the manner of granting naturalization, he thought they would have reached the best solution practicable.

Sir Joseph Ward saw no reason why, provided each dominion were allowed to retain their local powers on condition that they should not have uniformity of effect.

Creswell May Be Used In The Box For Saturday's Big Game

Manager Quinlan may give Creswell, the promising young Collegiate Institute south-paw twirler, a chance to win his spurs in Midland League company by sending him in against the Port Hope team in Saturday's big game at Riverside Park. Creswell has been going great guns this season, has developed speed and acquired control, and should be able to give Port Hope a busy afternoon. Rahmel may also be used, although the question of who will pitch has not definitely been settled. It is realized that one of the hardest games of the season is in sight on account of the new additions to Port Hope's team and the local management is not going to take any chances of being caught with a weakened team. There will be a full practice to-night at Riverside Park, and every player is expected to be out in uniform. There will be a big crowd of fans on hand Saturday for what promises to be the best game in years. Blake Crawford stated over the 'phone last night that he will bring a team to Peterborough Saturday that will open the eyes of the local followers of the game, and the Port Hope magnate generally makes good on any promises he hands out. The Petes realize this and will have their strongest line-up of the year in uniform on Saturday.

To-Day's Developments In The Stock Markets Examiner's Daily Letter

—NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 14.—There is not much encouragement from London to-day, where the same professional operations are in evidence. The reports from the south west are less favourable for the crops, particularly winter wheat, but the general situation in the country at large is satisfactory, well informed railroad officials, like President Brown, of the N. Y. C. and B. F. Yoakum, having faith in the future. The drought in the section referred to can be broken, as has been the case in the east, so that the ultimate yield may be well up to the normal, while the prospects for corn are most promising. Wall Street does not appear to be worried over the passing of the Denver and Rio Grande preferred dividend, realizing that such happenings are the exception rather than the rule. It should be noted that there are many stocks with the disbursements amply assured like Atchison, which can be safely bought to net well on the investment without taking chances on those less certain of a continuance of dividend. Copper stocks are legitimately strong and the better class issues are entitled to improvement, having been long neglected because of the position of the metal. The subway situation is in statu quo with neither of the bidders apparently enthused over the plan presented. Washington advices are not given much attention by speculative circles, which realize that there is little to fear in the present investigations of the big corporations. We still counsel the buying of the better class stocks.

NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 14.—The short interest in steels and coppers is still very large. The most interesting feature in the steel trade so far is the more active purchasing of heavy section rails by the railroads. Better buy steels on every reaction. Keep long of Beet Sugar. Take on B. and O. Bull Gas stocks.

New York, N.Y., June 14.—There has been a good deal of short selling on the various rumours of the last few days. We expect to see bullish specialty manipulation continue. On slight recessions we suggest that daily traders do not overlook buying opportunities in the good rails. Reading may go higher any time now. There may be a drive at steel shorts soon. Atchison has been well bought for foreign account. We still like the low priced rails.

New York, N.Y., June 14.—Consols up 1-8 at 79 13-16 for money and 79 7-8 for account.

The Interboro and E. R. T. are dissatisfied with the new subway scheme but have not yet announced whether or not they will accept them.

Judgment Reserved

Judgment was reserved at the general sessions of the peace, before Judge Huycke, to-day, in the civil action of the Bank of Ottawa vs| John Haggart.

BASEBALL

In a snappy game at Nicholls Oval last night the Central School Juniors defeated the King Edward Juniors by 8 runs to 3, leaving the two teams tied for the championship of the Junior Division of the School Baseball League. A win for the King Edward team would have meant the honours for them, as they had defeated the Central team in the first game by 12 runs to 10. Yesterday's game was close and exciting all the way, with some good fielding by both sides, the feature being two running catches by Taylor, the King Edward short stop. Both Eakins, for King Edward, and Cavanagh for Centrals, pitched nice ball, but the latter's control was better.

FOOTBALL

For Park street line-up against Coldsprings Thursday evening, the team will be chosen from the following players: Lazenby, Marsh, King, Biddle, Marks, Collets, Greyson, Smith, Fellis, Tooley, Aitkens, Currie, Caddon, Thorne, McGibbon.

LAWN BOWLING

The following games were played yesterday afternoon. Skip Fitzgerald beat Skip Renwick by 13 to 11 and afterwards defeated Skip Collings by a score of 14 to 10. In a game between Skips Yeates and Collings, Collings won by 13 to 7. In the doubles, Drs. Marshall and Caldwell won against Skip Belleghem and D. H. Moore, by 13 to 4, and again defeated Skip Belleghem and G. Clark by the same score.

TO FOOTBALLERS.

Now, boys, what do you say to starting a City League for the fall. I think we should just about have time. There are two cups that two gentlemen are willing to put up for the winners and runners up. This Church League seems to have interested Peterborough people, so why not keep it up. Now, you secretaries, let me see a good response to this item and get goin gat once.

SUGGESTOR.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,— Lovers of civic beauty hoped that at last we had a council that would give attention to neatness and cleanliness. The clean-up given the streets early in the spring was commendable, but it seems to have been merely a "spring freshet."

Correspondents have called attention to street corner haynelds, etc., but these are really picturesque in comparison with the N. W. corner of George and Brock streets, where the grass is nobly striving to cover the ancient piece of wooden sidewalk, very suggestive of the "deserted village," but a disgrace to the main street of our city.

The aldermen have furnished us with an isolation hospital (when compelled to) and from the way they are dilly-dallying with the garbage question it looks as if they wanted it filled as soon as possible. Between rotten garbage and putrid oil, we are fast approaching a malodorous condition.

The local Board of Health say they have no power to compel action. I would like to know if the Provincial health authorities can be appealed to where a council proves negligent in a vital matter of health and cleanliness year after year, as our have done.

If we had the recall system, it is certain our council would not survive the dog days. We can excuse their inability to grapple with great problems, but why on earth can they not deal with important necessities that only requires a normal amount of common sense and executive action.

Yours truly,
A CIVIC SUFFERER.

Drowning at Dundas.

Hamilton, June 14.—James Bull, aged 21, of Dundas, assistant librarian of Knox Church and District Deputy Grand Master of the Orange Order, was drowned in the canal at the town dam Monday night.

About 8.30 he went to the canal, and as he had not returned at midnight a search was instituted and his clothes were found. Yesterday morning the body was recovered.

Motive For Abduction.

Montreal, June 14.—The trial of W. Waldo, A. J King and Leo Brodie, charged with attempted kidnapping, was begun yesterday.

S. H. Jones said that Brodie was named as correspondent in divorce proceedings he had taken against his wife, and that the possession of the boy would be a good point in the defence of the divorce case.

More Death From Lightning.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—There were two deaths in this city yesterday as a result of Monday night's severe wind and electrical storm.

William G. Ellison, a motorman, whose car was struck by lightning, knocking him off the platform, died, and a Pennsylvania Railway brakeman, who was in the act of coupling a car when he was temporarily blinded by a flash of lightning and crushed between the cars, also died.

Narragansett, R.I., June 14.—While losing a window Charles Baker was struck by lightning and instantly killed Mrs. Baker, who saw her husband killed, was not harmed.

Nurses Put Fire Out.

Kingston, June 14.—Nurses at the General Hospital showed their ability as fire-fighters when lightning struck the Dotan wing and started a fire in one of the rooms.

The nurses attached a hose and put the fire out before much damage was done. The blaze broke out two or three times, but the nurses were equal to the occasion.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

Not One Woman In Twenty Has a Stong Back.

The kidneys are to blame nine times out of ten.

When the blood isn't properly filtered the poisons that ought to be carried off by the kidneys are sent back through the system, and it's hardly to be wondered that backaches and lame backs come to make life miserable.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by expelling all the poisonous matter from the kidneys, and then heal the delicate membranes and make their action regular and natural.

Mrs. A. H Hutton, Jr., McCreary, Man., writes:—"Two years ago last spring I had a very severe pain in the small of my back. When I would rise it seemed as if my back would break. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and I would have to get up three or four times during the night. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they effected a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents a box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured The Eczema

GRANDE LIGNE, QUE., Jan. 2nd, 1910

"My wife was troubled for three years with Eczema on the hands which made her hands almost useless. The doctor gave her several ointments to use, none of which had any effect. He also advised her to wear rubber gloves (she wore out three pairs).

I persuaded her, as a last resort, to try "Fruit-a-tives". The effect was marvellous. Her hands are now cured.

We both attribute our present health to "Fruit-a-tives."

CHARGE AGAINST LOUIS HOUEDRY IS DISMISSED

Jury Was Only Out Ten Minutes--Judge Huycke Agreed in Their Verdict--Defendant Considered the Stuff Sold of No Value and Had No Intention of Committing a Dishonest Act.

The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of the King versus Louis Houedry, after being out only ten minutes last night.

The case was resumed yesterday afternoon at three o'clock and lasted until 7.10 in the evening. Mr. R. E. Wood, Crown Attorney, prosecuted, and Mr. D. O'Connel appeared for the defence.

George Shearer was the first witness called. He stated that he had been employed by Houedry from October until about Christmas. His son started to work for Houedry about the last of October. He stated that when the Quaker Oats Co. was moving their stuff, there was considerable sweepings left on the floor. He said that he used to sweep it into a pile, but none of it was bagged up during his time there.

Little eleven year old Gerald Shearer was then put in the box to tell what he knew of the affair. He gave the same evidence as he did in the police court. He did not know much about it, except what happened during the half hour he spent with his brother, when he brought the former's dinner down toto the mill.

Wm. Garvey was called. He could not throw much light on the affair, except that he gave no permission to Houedry to sell the bags of feed.

Mr. O'Connel, at this stage, told His Honour, Judge Huycke, that he did not think that there was enough evidence to go before the Jury. He stated that the most that could be said was, that the stuff was not Houedry's, but it was worthless stuff, and he thought that it was his right to take it under the circumstance:

His Honour, was of the opinion, however, that it was a question for the Jury to settle, and accordingly left it in their hands.

Houedry was put in the box, and gave evidence to the effect that he only bagged up the stuff when he wanted the floor space, and that what he had bagged up, had been lying on the floor for the last two years. He then related the incident about Shearer and the two other boys running away from the mill one day when he came into the office with the mail. He said that when he went to the back of the mill, that there was a farmer there, and that the boys had been trying to sell him some flour, the property of the Quaker Oats Co.

He took the farmer to the police station and informed the authorities regarding the action of the boys. Houedry further stated that he was willing to give the Quaker Oats the $35.00 he received for the feed sold, since he had found out that he was not within his rights when selling it.

The following witnesses were put in the box, and testified to the good character of the accused: Mr. Martin McFadden, Dr. Greer, T. H. Hooper and Ald. Buller. The majority of these men had known the accused for from ten to fifteen years, and all stated that they had always found him honest and were surprised when this charge was brought against him.

In his address to the Jury, Mr. O'Connell stated that they should find no difficulty in noting the contradictory evidence of the different witnesses. He assured them, that the whole question was not whether Houedry took the feed and sold it, but did he, at the time he sold the stuff, think that he was entitled to it." He stated that it was not denied that Houedry did take the stuff and did sell it, and that the only question was, that above stated. And it was their duty to find out from the evidence, whether he did intend to commit a dishonest act or not.

The jury, after hearing the evidence retired to their quarters, and returned in ten minutes with a verdict of not guilty. His Honour Judge Huycke thanked them for their attention in the case, and assured them that he agreed with them in their verdict.

BY-LAW FOR REGULATION OF FIRE DEPARTMENT COMES UP FOR DISCUSSION AGAIN

An Attempt Will be Made to Have the By-law Passed at the Next Regular Meeting of the Council--Brinton Carpet Company Propose to Install New Type of Fire Alarm Box.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was held last night. Nothing of a very sensational nature transpired. Those present were Aldermen Morgan, chairman, Metheral, Kernoghan, Edgar, and Graham.

The question of passing a by-law for the regulation of the Fire Department caused considerable discussion.

When Chief Howard took charge of the Fire Department he drafted up a complete set of rules and regulations for the governing of the Department, an dhanded them into the Fire, Water, and Light Committee, in order that they might pass their approval upon them. It was decided at that time, to put the document through the Council and make it a by-law, but for various reasons the question has hung fire up to the present time.

It was moved by Ald. Metheral, and seconded by Ald. Kernoghan, that the committee approve of the by-law as amended and recommended that it be passed by the Council.—Carried.

The Chairman was also authorized to have several copies of the by-law printed.

Mr. McWilliams was present and requested that a light be placed on the corner of King and Reid streets. The matter will be looked into.

Prices were read from several firms for incandescent street lighting stands.

Mr. Armstrong was instructed to obtain prices from the Peterborough Light and Power Company for the wiring of the lamps.

The offer of the Canadian Machine Telephone Co. to furnish information regarding cost of underground wiring for lamps was also received.

A proposition was read from the Brinton Carpet Co. re the installation of a new fire alarm system for their factory, providing the city would help them out on the cost. The system would also be available for the residents living in the vicinity.

The new box, which the Brinton Carpet Co. proposed to install would cost $157.50, and $12 for any additional auxiliary boxes. These auxiliary boxes operate the main box, and they can be placed in any part of the building. The alarm box at present in use by the city cost $75.

It was decided that in event of the Brinton Company installing the new box they would have to pay the difference, viz., $113.50, and that the city would allow them the price of the old box, which would amount to $75.

The meeting then adjourned.

LOVE MAKING EXTRAORDINARY

(Montreal Herald)

The solidarity of the Opposition in the Province of Quebec may be inferred, without too much expenditure of energy upon laboured reasoning, from the following paragraphs in which Mr. Bourassa, in an article in the Devoir, pays his compliments to the Quebec Chronicle in particular and Tories in general:

"The principle reason for the anger of the Tories is neither my lack of a practical turn nor my 'disloyalty'. They would put on their best Sunday manner, if I were willing to wear their yoke and to defend the country, the Catholic religion and the French language arm in arm with Sir Hugh Graham and the patriot Clifford Sifton. These recurring manifestations" (mention is made also of an article in the Ottawa Journal) "serve to let sincere Conservatives know what it is the Tories expect of their allies, or rather, of their slaves, of the inferior race."

Whatever else may be said of it, there isn't perfect harmony in the Opposition camp, is there? (Mr. Bourassa, it may be parenthisized, says he has had many overtures for the Conservatives to join their ranks, with his "nationalist" anti-Imperial outfit).

"GREATEST NONSENSE," SAYS BISHOP.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

Bishop Mills in his charge to the Anglican Synod of Ontario gave a fitting rebuke to those who are "ringing changes on the cry that if reciprocity were adopted it would be the first step towards annexation, that the United States would be buying us and we would be selling ourselves." He declared emphatically that that "was the greatest nonsense that ever came from the mouths of supposedly sane men" and as a Canadian he resented it.

It is a pity that Bishop Mills is not in England just now. He might do good work there in offsetting what looks like a deliberate campaign of misrepresentation of this country and of the Government which in negotiating a reciprocity agreement is but pursuing a line of policy approved by all Canadian political parties for years.

Bishop Mills pointedly says:

I would think little of my loyalty to the British Crown and the British Empire, if it depended on tariff schedules. Those who think the national spirit of Canada is such a poor and uncertain thing, that her existence as a nation, would be imperilled by an increase of trade with the United States, certainly do not know her. There is no part of the British Empire in which there is truer loyalty than in Canada, and she can be neither bought nor sold.

Bishop Mills commends Mr. R. L. Borden for refusing to take up the annexation cry. But it must not be forgotten that Mr. Borden is the leader of a party and that as such he has apparently done nothing to prevent his supporters in the press and on the platform from perpetuating the libel.

OBSTRUCTION AND EDUCATION.

(London Advertiser)

The following quotation is being made from the Toronto correspondent of the London Times:

"The determination of the Opposition to continue obstruction in the House of Commons is undiminished. The leaders and organizers of the Conservative party believe that they can force a general election, and think that with two or three months of continuous education they can carry the country against reciprocity."

When it is remembered who this Toronto correspondent is, it becomes at once apparent that the cat is let out of the bag. Some of the Opposition managers, as has been more than suspected, are eager to have an election before the west can be represented in full strength. In connection with this design there has been an impudent effort in some quarters to fasten the responsibility upon the Government. What object can the Government have in going to the country before the redistribution bill has done justice to the west? The charge is as silly as it is impudent. But the eminent correspondent of the Times gives the plot away.

The idea of "continuously educating" Canada is praiseworthy, though perhaps, from the writer's tariff reform friends in Britain. They "educated" the people over there to such purposes that the people pitched them out of power, rather than have their food tax. And as for this country, they are not visiting in the west to be educated, but to educate. Mr. Borden will soon realize that they intend to educate him or end him, out on those prairies. The good Winnipeg Telegram talked kindly about his enlarging his views, but the grain-growers will meet him with pitchfork dilemmas that will make him scramble for his life, to decide which prong. It will be a fine education for him, and the road to learning will, as usual, be more rough than royal. Particularly when the grangers become fully aware of the plot against their political franchise, the attempt to prevent the registration of their full opinion, Mr. Borden's path will lose its roses, and have nothing left but thorns.

BANKERS AND U. S. TRADE.

(Brantford Expositor)

The Expositor has already published a list of international labour organizations to show that it is possible in trades unionism for American and Canadian interests to be closely interlocked without the least suspicion entering anybody's head that there is any danger to the loyalty of Canadians arising therefrom. The same is true of religious and philanthropic organizations of an international character, of American manufacturers establishing branches in Canada, or of Americans coming by the thousands to take up lands in the Canadian West. Now as to the banks. For some reason the Canadian bankers have been among the foremost opponents of reciprocity. Why should it be so? They are not slow to do business in the United States, and resent very strongly all effort to compel them to withdraw their investments there. Following is a list of Canadian banks and the cities of the United States in which our banks have agents:

British North America, Bank of—New York, Boston, San Francisco.

Canadian Bank of Commerce—New York, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Pittsburg, Portland, Ore., St. Paul, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma.

New Brunswick, Bank of—New York, Boston.

Nova Scotia, Bank of—Boston, Chicago, New York.

Ottawa, Bank of—New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Chicago

Quebec Bank—New York, Boston, Albany.

Royal Bank of Canada — New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Paul, Buffalo, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Spokane, New Orleans, Tampa, Miami, Pensacola, Minneapolis.

Standard Bank—New York, Buffalo.

Toronto, Bank of—New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit.

Traders' Bank of Canada — New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Oswego.

Union Bank of Canada — New York, Boston, St. Paul, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Great Falls, Minneapolis, Duluth, San Francisco

United Empire Bank of Canada—New York, Chicago, Boston.

Why is it that it is safe and desirable to have close relations between Canada and the United States in almost every other line than agriculture? Is the loyalty of Canadian farmers properly subject to suspicion? The mere asking of the question is sufficient to indicate the unfair and dangerous character of much of the argument made against the reciprocity proposals.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto News wants Toronto to "look north, not south," and to develop Cochrane and Northern Ontario generally, instead of going in for reciprocity. Why, remarks the Montreal Herald, one cannot look north for a place to produce things and south for a place to sell them is not explained. The mining experts of North Ontario are almost unanimous in the opinion that the free admission of mining products to the United States will immensely hasten the development of the great metal regions behind the Ottawa River.

Ancient Order Of Foresters To Hold Convention In City

The Ancient Order of Foresters will hold their convention in Peterborough in August next. To-day Bros. John Young, H. C. R., of Hamilton, and Bro. W. Williams of Toronto, the permanent Secretary, were in Peterborough, making arrangements for the important event, which commences on August 22, and which will bring to the city some two hundred delegates. The officers are arranging for hotel accommodation for the visitors and also securing a hall for meeting purposes. The Mayor will be asked to extend a welcome to the convention on behalf of the city.

KILLINBECK APPEARS ON THEFT CHARGE

Vernon Killingbeck appeared before His Honour Judge Huycke at the General Sessions of the Peace to-day, charged with theft. Mr. R. Ruddy appeared for the defence.

The following was the jury empanelled to try the case: A. Guerin, Jos. Ingram, John Rooey, Robt. Martin, Wm. Peoples, J. T. Drummond, J. C. McKonkey, Gordon Fox, A. S. Kent, Jos. McCauley, Wm. Lankford jr., Arthur Jury.

Er. R. E. Wood, Crown Attorney, then addressed the jury, outlining the case in a very clear and explicit manner. He pointed out the seriousness of the crime and showed how frequently these offences were being committed in Peterborough. He emphasized the fact that this special line of crime, namely: "That of getting hold of some lumber man just as he got back from the woods and setting him drunk and finally relieving him of his wad of money and leaving him without a cent of his winter's earnings."

Robt. Brown, the victim in this case of robbery, was put in the box and related the whole story as he did in the police station.

He was then cross-examined by Mr. Ruddy, the defence lawyer.

The charge against Killingbeck, of stealing $54 from Robt. Brown went to the jury at about 3 o'clock. The following jury was selected to hear the after charge against him, that of stealing $46 from John Doig: Fred Warner, Ed. O'Donoghue, A. J. Carnduff, Willis H. Moore, Robt. Dale, Wm. Moore, Wm. Morton, Wilfrid Grisdale, Fred Young, Alex. Mathews, Sam Johnston and Francis McMurray.

PAPAL DISPENSATION MAKING FOR IMPERIAL UNITY OF SPIRIT

His Holiness, Pope Pius X. has issued a dispensation, applying to all British countries that will facilitate the co-operation of Roman Catholic subjects of King George V. in the festivities attending his coronation.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, has received, through His Grace, the Most Reverend the Archbishop of Westminster, Dr. Bourne, intimation of the promulgation of a papal dispensation releasing Roman Catholics from the obligation to abstain from meats on Friday, canonical day of abstinence. Thus his Majesty's subjects in all parts of the British world, will be under no restraint in respect of full indulgence in the feasting and festivity incidental to the coronation on the day succeeding that great event.

To-Day's Developments In The Stock Markets Examiner's Daily Letter

NEW YORK, JUNE 15.—London rather irregular, although steel and copper are higher, the copper stocks being strong abroad, reflecting the improved situation of the metal. No change is reported in the Bank of England rate, which is still 3 per cent. though money is easy in tone. The average daily orders of the U. S. S. Co. are said to be larger than in May, which causes some circles to expect a resumption of activity in the not distant future. The tariff discussion is a retarding factor though there is no likelihood that Congress will take any action other than passing the reciprocity measure before adjournment. Favourable comment is heard upon the very satisfactory foreign trade, showing for the month of May, both the imports and exports being the largest on record for the eleven months, the excess of exports being over $500,000,000, which explains the control that we have in the foreign trade situation, and the possibility of gold imports if the need develops.

Crop prospects are, on the whole, most favourable, though the drought in the south west remains unbroken. The subway situation is mixed, but the city officials are expected to push matters, so that a vote can be reached by the end of the month, provided no further delay is permitted for negotiations with the local bidders. We are firm believers in higher prices, and would advise buying the better class of stocks on all recessions.

New York, June 15.—Irregular improvement is still probable in the stock market. Purchases of good stocks on soft spots continues advisable. Lehigh Valley is well taken. Low-priced rails will advance further.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Sunday.

That first dollar saved was the germ of a new idea.

It is a further confession of a middle-class mind that in coming down here I had not looked forward beyond the immediate present. With the horror of that last week still on me I had considered only the opportunity I had for earning a livelihood. To be sure I had seen no reason why an intelligent man should not in time be advanced to foreman, and why he should not then be able to save enough to ward off the poorhouse before old age come on. But now with that first dollar tucked away in the ginger jar—I felt within me the stirring of a new ambition, an ambition born of this quick young country into which I had plunged. Why, in time, should I not become the employer? Why should I not take the initiative in some of these progressive enterprises? Why should I not learn this business of contracting and building and some day contract and build for myself? With that first dollar saved I was already at heart a capitalist.

I said nothing of this to Ruth. For six months I let the idea grow. If it did nothing else it added zest to my new work. I shoveled as though I were digging for diamonds. It made me a young man again. It brought me out of bed every morning with visions; it sent me to sleep at night with dreams.

But I'm running ahead of my story. I thought I had appreciated Sunday when it meant a release for one day from the office of the United Woollen, but as with all the other things I felt as though it had been but the shadow and that only now had I found the substance. In the first place I had not been able completely to shake the office in the last few years. I brought it home with me and on Sundays it furnished half the subject of conversation. Every little incident, every bit of conversation, every expression on Morse's face was analyzed in the attempt to see what it counted, for or against, the possible future. Even when out walking with the boy the latter was a constant reminder. It was as though he were merely a ward of the United Woollen Company.

But when I put away my shovel at five o'clock on Saturday that was the end of my ditch digging. I came home after that and I was at home until I reported for work on Monday morning. There was neither work nor worry left hanging over. It meant complete relaxation—complete rest. And the body, I found, rests better than the mind.

Later in my work I didn't experience this so perfectly as I now did because then I accepted new responsibilities, but for the first few months I lived in lazy content on this one day. For the most part those who lived around me did all the time. On fair summer days half the population of the little square basked in the sun with eyes half closed from morning until night. Those who didn't went to the neighbouring beaches, many of which they could reach for a nickel, or visited such public buildings as were open. But, wherever they went, or whatever they did, they loathed it. And a man can't truly loaf until he's done a hard week's work which ends with the week.

As for us we had our choice of a number of pleasant occupations. I insisted that Ruth should make the meals as simple as possible on that day and both the boy and myself helped her about them. We always washed the dishes and swept the floor first of all there was the roof. I early saw the possibility of this much needed spot. It was flat and had a fence around it for it was meant to be used for the hanging out of clothes. Being a new building it had been built a storey higher than its older neighbours, so that we overlooked the other roofs. There was a generous space, through which we saw the harbour. I picked up a strip of old canvas for a trifle in one of the shore-front junk-shops, which deal in second-hand ship supplies and arranged it over one corner like a canopy. Then I brought home with me some bits of board that were left over from the wood construction at the ditch, and nailed these together to make a rude sort of window box. It was harder to get dirt that it was wood, but little by little I brought home enough finally to fill the boxes. In these we planted radishes and lettuce and a few flower seeds. We had almost as good a garden as we used to have in our back yard. At any rate it was just as much fun to watch the things grow, and though the lettuce never amounted to much we actually raised some very good radishes. The flowers did well, too.

We brought up an old blanket and spread it out beneath the canopy, and that, with a chair or two, made our roof garden. A local branch of the Public Library was not far distant, so that we had all the reading matter we wanted and here we used to sit all day Sunday when we didn't feel like doing anything else. Here, too, we used to sit evenings. On several hot nights Ruth, the boy and I brought up our blankets and slept out. The boy liked it so well that finally he came to sleep up here most of the summer. It was fine for him. The harbour breeze swept the air clean of smoke, so that it was as good for him as being at the seashore.

To us the sights from this roof were marvelous. They appealed strongly because they were unlike anything we had ever seen or for that matter unlike anything our friends had ever seen. I think that a man's friends often take away the freshness from sights that otherwise might move him. I've never been to Europe, but what with magazine pictures and snap shots and Mrs. Grover who never forgot that before she married Grover she had travelled for a whole year, I haven't any special desire to visit London or Paris. I suppose it would be different if I ever went, but even then I don't think there would be the novelty to it we found from our roof. And it was just that novelty and the ability to appreciate it that made our whole emigrant life possible. It was for us the Great Adventure again. I suppose there are men who will growl that it's all bosh to say there is any real romance in living in four rooms in a tenement district, eating what we ate, digging in a ditch and mooning over a view from a roof top. I want to say right here that for such men there wouldn't be any romance or beauty in such a life. They'd be miserable. There are plenty of men living down there now and they never miss a chance to air their opinions. Some of them have big bodies but I wouldn't give them fifty cents a day to work for me. Luckily, however, there are not many of them in proportion to the others, even though they make more noise.

But when you stop to think about it what else is it but romance that leads men to spend their lives fishing off the banks when they could remain safely ashore and get better pay driving a team? Or what drives them into the army or to work on railroads when they neither expect nor hope to be advanced? The men themselves can't tell you. They take up the work unthinkingly, but there is something in the very hardships they suffer which lends a sting to the life and holds them. The only thing I know of that will do this and turn the grind into an inspiration is romance. It's what the newcomers have and it's what our ancestors had and it's what a lot of us who have stayed over here too long out of the current have lost.

On the lazy summer mornings we could hear the church bells and now and then a set of chimes. Because we were above the street and next to the sky they sounded as drowsily musical as in a country village. They made me a bit conscience-stricken to think that for the boy's sake I didn't make an effort to go to some church. But for a while it was church enough to devote the seventh day to what the Bible says it was made for. Ruth used to read out loud to us, and we planned to make our book suit the day after a fashion. Sometimes it was Emerson, sometimes Tennyson—I was very fond of the Idylls—and sometimes a book of sermons. Later on we had a call from a young minister who had a little mission chapel not far from our flat and who looked in upon us at the suggestion of the secretary of the settlement house. We went to a service at his chapel one Sunday and before we ourselves realized it we were attending regularly with a zest and interest which we had never felt in our suburban church-going. Later still, we each of us found a share in the work ourselves and came to have a great satisfaction and contentment in it. But I am running ahead of my story.

We'd have dinner this first summer at about half-past one and then, perhaps we'd go for a walk. There was not a street in the city that didn't interest us, but, as a rule, we'd plan to visit one of the parks. I didn't know there were so many of them, or that they were so different. We had our choice of the ocean or a river or the woods. If we had wished to spend say thirty cents in car fare we could have had a further choice of the beach, the mountains, or a taste of the country which, in places, had not changed in the last hundred years. This would have given us a two-hours' ride. Occasionally we did this but at present there was too much to see within walking distance.

For one thing it suddenly occurred to me that though I had lived in this city over thirty years I had not yet seen such places of interest as always attracted visitors from out of town. My attention was brought to this first by the need of limiting ourselves of amusements that didn't cost anything, but chiefly by learning where the better element down here spent their Sundays. You have only to follow this crowd to find out where the objects of national pride are located. An old battle flag will attract twenty foreigners to one American. And incidentally, I wish to confess it was they who made me ashamed of my ignorance of the country's history. Beyond a memory of the Revolution, the Civil War and a few names of men and battles connected therewith, I'd forgotten all I ever learned at school on this subject. But here the many patriotic celebrations arranged by the local schools in the endeavour to instil patriotism and the frequent visits of the boys to the museums, kept the subject fresh. Not only Dick, but Ruth and myself soon turned to it as a vital part of our education. Inspired by the old trophies that ought to stand for so much to us of to-day we took from the library the first volume of Fiske's fine series and, in the course of time read them all. As we traced the fortunes of those early adventurers who dreamed and sailed towards an unknown continent, pictured to ourselves the lives of the tribes who wandered about in the big tangle of forest growth between the Atlantic and the Pacific, as we landed on the bleak New England shores, with the early Pilgrims, then fought with Washington, then studied the perilous internal struggle culminating with Lincoln and the Civil War, then the dangerous period of reconstruction with the breathless progress following—why it left us all better Americans than we had ever been in our lives. It gave new meaning to my present surroundings and helped me better to understand the new comers. Somehow all those things of the past didn't seem to concern Grover and the rest of them in the trim little houses. They had no history and they were a part of no history. Perhaps that's because they were making no history themselves. As for myself, I know that I was just beginning to get acquainted with my ancestors—that for the first time in my life, I was really conscious of being a citizen of the United States of America.

But I soon discovered that not only the historic but the beautiful attracted these people. They introduced me to the Art Museum. In the winter following our first summer here, when the out-of-door attractions were considerably narrowed down, Ruth and I used to go there about every other Sunday with the boy. We came to feel as familiar with our favourite pictures as though they hung in our own house. The Museum ceased to be a public building; it was our own. We went in with a nod to the old doorkeeper, who came to know us and felt as unconstrained there as at home. We had our favourite nooks, our favourite seats and we lounged about in the soft lights of the rooms for hours at a time.

AXLE BROKE

A farmer coming into the city this morning had the mishap of getting an axle of his waggon broken. He had a heavy load of bags on the waggon, and coming over one of the crossings on Charlotte street, about Stewart street, the axle broke, and the load had to be transferred.

CATTLE STOLEN

KIRKFIELD, JUNE 14.—For the past few days two strangers have been wandering about this vicinity, no one knowing their business, until last Thursday evening they stole eight head of fat cattle from Donald Campbell's ranch near Eldon Station. The cattle were traced to Argyle Friday morning, then a hot chase took place and by Monday morning they were found in Beaverton, where they were sold to Mr. Hill, the butcher of that village.

ASSEMBLY ON RECORD.

Presbyterians Pass Resolution Against "Ne Temere" Decree.

Ottawa, June 15.—A strong pronouncement against the promulgation of the "ne temere" decree and a warning to the people of the church to abstain from mixed marriages till the situation is cleared up was passed by the Presbyterian General Assembly here last night. The motion was carried unanimously by a standing vote.

The main resolutions as presented read, as outlined yesterday, with the adoption of the following clause:

"But so long as the 'ne temere' decree is attempted to be enforced in Canada, and so long as the Roman Catholic Church assumes the authority to interfere with and destroy the peace of those who contract mixed marriages, while deeply regretting the necessity of suffering any cloud to rest upon the social harmony that should exist among all Christians in this dominion, the General Assembly is compelled, until the cause of this disharmony is removed by the Church of Rome, to warn all our people to abstain from entering into the marriage tie with those who give their allegiance to the Roman Catholic authority."

At the afternoon session the question of church union came up again. The standing committee of which Principal Patrick is chairman, reported incorporating the recommendations of the special committee, which the assembly had already accepted and also making an additional recommendation that in addition to the vote from church sessions, members and adherents, a vote be also asked from the presbyteries. This was agreed to. The vote of members and adherents will be taken up to March 15 and of presbyteries up to March 25. The vacancies on the committee were filled and the committee was authorized to take what steps it deemed best to lay the proposed basis of union before the church members. It is possible that printed copies of the proposed bill may be sent to every member so that an intelligent vote may be taken.

In addition to the vote on the submitting question form, the members and presbyteries will be asked to make suggestions.

That self-indulgence and the desire to make money have caused a disappointing condition in church finances was one of the statements made at the assembly in the report of the committee on systematic church giving.

The report concludes with the recommendation that immediate expansion is necessary, and "that any standard of giving less than ten cents per week by each communicant, or 25 cents per family is discreditable."

Need of All-Red Line.

London, June 15.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir Frederick Borden has been able to attend the conference yesterday.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier also put in an appearance yesterday, disregarding the advice of his doctors. He is suffering from neuralgia and throat trouble.

Explaining his stand in the matter of all-red cables, he says that we need an all-British Atlantic cable, carrying a land line through Canada, is possible at such a distance from the southern frontier that it could by no possibility get itself involved in the American stategic telegraphic or economic system; for it must be remembered that we need independent communication for other than military reasons. As things stand there is a danger that the Canadian land lines may become mere subsidiaries to the enormously powerful and wealthy organizations of the United States.

R. S. Naville to Speak.

Berlin, June 15.—R. S. Neville, K.C., of Toronto, has accepted an invitation to deliver a patriotic address at the Dominion Day gathering of the Canadian Club of Waterloo County, and the Women's Canadian Club of Berlin and Waterloo, to be held in the Waterloo Park on the afternoon of the holiday.

For an Eight-Hour Day.

Amsterdam, June 15.—The Congress of Textile Operatives, now in session here, yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of eight hours' work in all the textile mills in all countries.

"ONE WAY OUT"

CHAPTER XVIII.

Sunday.

That first dollar saved was the germ of a new idea.

It is a further confession of a middle-class mind that in coming down here I had not looked forward beyond the immediate present. With the horror of that last week still on me I had considered only the opportunity I had for earning a livelihood. To be sure I had seen no reason why an intelligent man should not in time be advanced to foreman, and why he should not then be able to save enough to ward off the poor-house before old age came on. But now—with that first dollar tucked away in the ginger jar—I felt within me the stirring of a new ambition, an ambition born of this quick young country into which I had plunged. Why, in time, should I not become the employer? Why should I not take the initiative in some of these progressive enterprises? Why should I not learn this business of contracting and building and some day contract and build for myself? With that first dollar saved I was already at heart a capitalist.

I said nothing of this to Ruth. For six months I let the idea grow. If it did nothing else it added zest to my new work. I shovelled as though I were digging for diamonds. It made me a young man again. It brought me out of bed every morning with visions; it sent me to sleep at night with dreams.

But I'm running ahead of my story. I thought I had appreciated Sunday when it meant a release for one day from the office of the United Woollen, but as with all the other things I felt as though it had been but the shadow and that only now had I found the substance. In the first place I had not been able completely to shake the office in the last few years. I brought it home with me and on Sundays it furnished half the subject of conversation. Every little incident, every bit of conversation, every expression on Morse's face was analyzed in the attempt to see what it counted, for or against, the possible future. Even when out walking with the boy the latter was a constant reminder. It was as though he were merely a ward of the United Woollen Company.

But when I put away my shovel at five o'clock on Saturday that was the end of my ditch digging. I came home after that and I was at home until I reported for work on Monday morning. There was neither work nor worry left hanging over. It meant complete relaxation—complete rest. And the body, I found, rests better than the mind.

Later in my work I didn't experience this so perfectly as I now did because then I accepted new responsibilities, but for the first few months I lived in lazy content on this one day. For the most part those who lived around me did all the time. On fair summer days half the population of the little square basked in the sun with eyes half closed from morning until night. Those who didn't went to the neighbouring beaches, many of which they could reach for a nickel or visited such public buildings as were open. But, wherever they went, or whatever they did, they loafed about it. And a man can't truly rest until he's done a hard week's work which ends with the week.

As for us we had our choice of any number of pleasant occupations. I insisted that Ruth should make the meals as simple as possible on that day and both the boy and myself helped her about them. We always washed the dishes and swept the floor. First of all there was the roof. I early saw the possibility of this much neglected spot. It was flat and had a fence around it for it was meant to be used for the hanging out of clothes. Being a new building it had been built a storey higher than its older neighbours, so that we overlooked the other roofs. There was a generous space, through which we saw the harbour. I picked up a strip of old canvas for a trifle in one of the shore-front junk-shops, which deal in second-hand ship supplies and arranged it over one corner like a canopy. Then I brought home with me some bits of board that were left over from the wood construction at the ditch, and nailed these together to make a rude sort of window box. It was harder to get dirt that it was wood, but little by little I brought home enough finally to fill the boxes. In these we planted radishes and lettuce and a few flower seeds. We had almost as good a garden as we used to have in our back yard. At any rate it was just as much fun to watch the things grow, and though the lettuce never amounted to much we actually raised some very good radishes. The flowers did well, too.

We brought up an old blanket and spread it out beneath the canopy, and that, with a chair or two, made our roof garden. A local branch of the Public Library was not far distant, so that we had all the reading matter we wanted and here we used to sit all day Sunday when we didn't feel like doing anything else. Here, too, we used to sit evenings. On several hot nights Ruth, the boy and I brought up our blankets and slept out. The boy liked it so well that finally he came to sleep up here most of the summer. It was fine for him. The harbour breeze swept the air clean of smoke, so that it was as good for him as being at the seashore.

To us the sights from this roof were marvelous. They appealed strongly because they were unlike anything we had ever seen or for that matter unlike anything our friends had ever seen. I think that a man's friends often take away the freshness from sights that otherwise might move him. I've never been to Europe, but what with magazine pictures and snap shots and Mrs. Grover who never forgot that before she married Grover she had travelled for a whole year, I haven't any special desire to visit London or Paris. I suppose it would be different if I ever went, but even then I don't think there would be the novelty to it we found from our roof. And it was just that novelty and the ability to appreciate it that made our whole emigrant life possible. It was for us the Great Adventure again. I suppose there are men who will growl that it's all bosh to say there is any real romance in living in four rooms in a tenement district, eating what we ate, digging in a ditch and mooning over a view from a roof top. I want to say right here that for such men there wouldn't be any romance or beauty in such a life. They'd be miserable. There are plenty of men living down there now and they never miss a chance to air their opinions. Some of them have big bodies but I wouldn't give them fifty cents a day to work for me. Luckily, however, there are not many of them in proportion to the others, even though they make more noise.

But when you stop to think about it what else is it but romance that leads men to spend their lives fishing off the banks when they could remain safely ashore and get better pay driving a team? Or what drives them into the army or to work on railroads when they neither expect nor hope to be advanced? The men themselves can't tell you. They take up the work unthinkingly, but there is something in the very hardships they suffer which lends a sting to the life and holds them. The only thing I know of that will do this and turn the grind into an inspiration is romance. It's what the newcomers have and it's what our ancestors had and it's what a lot of us who have stayed over here too long out of the current have lost.

On the lazy summer mornings we could hear the church bells and now and then a set of chimes. Because we were above the street and next to the sky they sounded as drowsily musical as in a country village. They made me a bit conscience-stricken to think that for the boy's sake I didn't make an effort to go to some church. But for a while it was church enough to devote the seventh day to what the Bible says it was made for. Ruth used to read out loud to us, and we planned to make our book suit the day after a fshion. Sometimes it was Emerson, sometimes Tennyson—I was very fond of the Idylls—and sometimes a book of sermons. Later on we had a call from a young minister who had a little mission chapel not far from our flat and who looked in upon us at the suggestion of the secretary of the settlement house. We went to a service at his chapel one Sunday and before we ourselves realized it we were attending regularly with a zest and interest which we had never felt in our suburban church-going. Later still, we each of us found a share in the work ourselves and came to have a great satisfaction and contentment in it. But I am running ahead of my story.

We'd have dinner this first summer at about half-past one and then, perhaps we'd go for a walk. There was not a street in the city that didn't interest us, but, as a rule, we'd plan to visit one of the parks. I didn't know there were so many of them, or that they were so different. We had our choice of the ocean or a river or the woods. If we had wished to spend say thirty cents in car fare we could have had a further choice of the beach, the mountains, or a taste of the country which, in places, had not changed in the last hundred years. This would have given us a two-hours' ride. Occasionally we did this but at present there was too much to see within walking distance.

For one thing it suddenly occurred to me that though I had lived in this city over thirty years I had not yet seen such places of interest as always attracted visitors from out of town. My attention was brought to this first by the need of limiting ourselves at amusements that didn't cost anything, but chiefly by learning where the better element down here spent their Sundays. You have only to follow this crowd to find out where the objects of national pride are located. An old battle flag will attract twenty foreigners to one American. And incidentally, I wish to confess it was they who made me ashamed of my ignorance of the country's history. Beyond a memory of the Revolution, the Civil War and a few names of men and battles connected therewith, I'd forgotten all I ever learned at school on this subject. But here the many patriotic celebrations arranged by the local schools in the endeavour to instil patriotism and the frequent visits of the boys to the museums, kept the subject fresh. Not only Dick, but Ruth and myself soon turned to it as a vital part of our education. Inspired by the old trophies that ought to stand for so much to us of to-day we took from the library the first volume of Fiske's fine series and, in the course of time read them all. As we traced the fortunes of those early adventurers who dreamed and sailed towards an unknown continent, pictured to ourselves the lives of the tribes who wandered about in the big tangle of forest growth between the Atlantic and the Pacific, as we landed on the bleak New England shores, with the early Pilgrims, then fought with Washington, then studied the perilous internal struggle culminating with Lincoln and the Civil War, then the dangerous period of reconstruction with the breathless progress following—why it left us all better Americans than we had ever been in our lives. It gave new meaning to my present surroundings and helped me better to understand the new comers. Somehow all those things of the past didn't seem to concern Grover and the rest of them in the trim little houses. They had no history and they were a part of no history. Perhaps that's because they were making no history themselves. As for myself, I know that I was just beginning to get acquainted with my ancestors—that for the first time in my life, I was really conscious of being a citizen of the United States of America.

But I soon discovered that not only the historic but the beautiful attracted these people. They introduced me to the Art Museum. In the winter following our first summer here, when the out-of-door attractions were considerably narrowed down, Ruth and I used to go there about every other Sunday with the boy. We came to feel as familiar with our favourite pictures as though they hung in our own house. The Museum ceased to be a public building; it was our own. We went in with a nod to the old doorkeeper, who came to know us and felt as unconstrained there as at home. We had our favourite nooks, our favourite seats and we lounged about in the soft lights of the rooms for hours at a time.

AXLE BROKE

A farmer coming into the city this morning had the mishap of getting an axle of his waggon broken. He had a heavy load of bags on the waggon, and coming over one of the crossings on Charlotte street, about Stewart street, the axle broke, and the load had to be transferred.

CATTLE STOLEN

KIRKFIELD, JUNE 14.—For the past few days two strangers have been wandering about this vicinity, no one knowing their business, until last Thursday evening they stole eight head of fat cattle from Donald Campbell's ranch near Eldon Station. The cattle were traced to Argyle Friday morning, then a hot chase took place and by Monday morning they were found in Beaverton, where they were sold to Mr. Hill, the butcher of that village.

ASSEMBLY ON RECORD.

Presbyterians Pass Resolution Against "Ne Temere" Decree.

Ottawa, June 15.—A strong pronouncement against the promulgation of the "ne temere" decree and a warning to the people of the church to abstain from mixed marriages till the situation is cleared up was passed by the Presbyterian General Assembly here last night. The motion was carried unanimously by a standing vote.

The main resolutions as presented read, as outlined yesterday, with the adoption of the following clause:

"But so long as the 'ne temere' decree is attempted to be enforced in Canada, and so long as the Roman Catholic Church assumes the authority to interfere with and destroy the peace of those who contract mixed marriages, while deeply regretting the necessity of suffering any cloud to rest upon the social harmony that should exist among all Christians in this dominion, the General Assembly is compelled, until the cause of this disharmony is removed by the Church of Rome, to warn all our people to abstain from entering into the marriage tie with those who give their allegiance to the Roman Catholic authority."

At the afternoon session the question of church union came up again. The standing committee of which Principal Patrick is chairman, reported incorporating the recommendations of the special committee, which the assembly had already accepted and also making an additional recommendation that in addition to the vote from church sessions, members and adherents, a vote be also asked from the presbyteries. This was agreed to. The vote of members and adherents will be taken up to March 15 and of presbyteries up to March 25. The vacancies on the committee were filled and the committee was authorized to take what steps it deemed best to lay the proposed basis of union before the church members. It is possible that printed copies of the proposed bill may be sent to every member so that an intelligent vote may be taken.

In addition to the vote on the submitting question form, the members and presbyteries will be asked to make suggestions.

That self-indulgence and the desire to make money have caused a disappointing condition in church finances was one of the statements made at the assembly in the report of the committee on systematic church giving.

The report concludes with the recommendation that immediate expansion is necessary, and "that any standard of giving less than ten cents per week by each communicant, or 25 cents per family is discreditable."

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

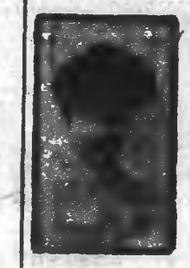
"TAKE heed of thy friends. Nothing doth countervail a faithful friend and his excellency is invaluable."—Proverbs.

Make friends.

Wherever you go, whatever you are doing, don't neglect to make all the friends you possibly can.

If I were asked to give a young man or woman starting out in the world just one piece of advice as to how to be successful, I think it would be that.

Say to yourself that you will try to make every man and woman you meet your friend. Of course, I don't mean make them intimate friends, merely make them feel friendly towards you.



Never mind how humble or how uninteresting or how cross-grained they may be. Never mind how unlikely it seems that you will ever meet them again.

The lion of Aesop fame never expected to meet the mouse again, and most certainly didn't think that tiny creature could ever be of service to his own royal highness, and yet he took the pains to do the mouse a favour and make a friend of him, and all the world now knows how—"Some time after the Lion was caught in a net laid by some hunters; and, unable to free himself, made the forest resound with his roars. The Mouse whose life had been spared came, and with his little sharp teeth gnawed the ropes asunder and set The Lion free."

A big business man who has made a really tremendous international success from very small beginnings, said to me the other day: "I think I owe my success most of all to something my mother continually impressed upon me—and that was to be courteous to everyone I met. That habit made friends for me. Friends made opportunities and I made good."

How many men could say the same thing?

Look back over your own life, you who are successful, and I'm sure you'll admit that nine times out of ten when opportunity knocked at your door it was some friend who showed her the way thither.

I know that this is a utilitarian view of friendship which might offend some, but you see I am taking that point of view to-day deliberately because that's what I'm trying to show, the utilitarian value of going through life making friends.

Everyone knows the moral and spiritual value of friendship and the comeliness and fitness of courtesy, but not every one stops to realize what a wonderful lubricant for the wheels of success is this habit of making all the people you can, feel friendly towards you.

"Whatever the number of a man's friends there will still be times in his life when he has one too few; but if he has only one enemy he is lucky indeed if he has not one too many."—Bulwer-Lytton.

Read what a Toronto lady says.

TWINGING PAINS NEARLY TOOK BREATH AWAY.

Mrs. Robert Arnoth, of 125 McCaul Street, Toronto, Ont., says:— "My back had been tender and painful for some time. A twinging pain would shoot through me in the region of the kidneys and take my breath away for many seconds. I was unable to stoop or do anything that required lifting. The urine plainly told the trouble arose from inactivity on the part of the kidneys, as it contained a quantity of sediment. The doctors who told me I had symptoms of Bright's disease failed to help me in any way. I procured Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement and had used them a very short time when I could notice a great change in my condition. The urine cleared, the secretions gradually became normal, and my appetite began to improve. My back is strong and the pain has gone."

LONDON SMILING AT THE ODD CORONATION VISITORS

STRANGE SIGHTS

LONDON, JUNE 13. — Nearly two weeks are yet to intervene before coronation day, but London is full of humanity, and many strange sights may be seen in its principal streets. There are thousands upon thousands of visitors from England's overseas dominions and colonies, and their attire is bewildering in its variety.

In describing some of the types seen in the principal thoroughfares an English reporter writes: "The American 'tripper' is here in swarms. The male representative of this species proudly sports a pork pie straw hat, half Panama and half boater, so obviously trans-Atlantic that every plait in it gives forth a twang. He dashes along the street, smoking a huge cigar, with frequent pauses for expectoration, and his whole bearing seems to convey the information that, while he is perfectly willing to let George do it during the coronation season, he is present to see that it is done right."

Colonial Fears Taxis.

Of the colonials, who are here in regiments, this critic says: "He is loose limbed, tanned and drawling, wears a broad felt hat, light grey in colour and pilots his family doggedly through the streets. His chief difficulty is getting the hang of the streets, his main fear is taxicabs and his hobby is ordering strange drinks with still stranger names. He can sleep anywhere; in the Ritz, the Savoy or on a hard seat on the embankment.

"The New Zealander can be seen at any time of the day leaning over the parapet of London bridge and recalling the unfilled prophecy of Macauley. He will tell you that London is a lonely place and sighs for the thrilling excitements in the waste spots of the land that he calls his own."

The Ahkoond of Swat and the Alake of Abeokuta have not arrived yet, but rajas are arriving by nearly every train, and their blazing, barbaric splendour is a subject of so much interest to the average Londoner that he quite forgets to order his usual quota of bitter beer.

Await Alake's Arrival.

It is hoped that the alake will come, as he will certainly give Britons an enlivening, entertaining time. When he was last here he had a suite of state apartments at the Westminster Palace Hotel, and upset the calm of that well known place by demanding strange dishes unheard of drinks and riding up and down the hotel elevator until the bearings became so hot that the managers expected a fire at any moment.

South Sea Islanders, gigantic, gaunt Australians, pensive New Zealanders, self-relying South Africans and cigarette-smoking Canadians add to the joy of London life, but unless the Alake of Abeokuta joins the merry throng, Englishmen will feel the coronation is not a complete success.

Owing to the number of members of parliament, the question of the dresses to be worn by their wives at the forthcoming coronation has demanded and received official solution. With characteristic tactfulness their majesties, through the lord chamberlain, have made certain that no labour legislator or his wife shall be debarred from attending the ceremony on the score of dress.

Lace Scarf Only Outlay.

Wives of all members of parliament may wear ordinary morning dress with a scarf of lace draped round their heads. Hats or bonnets, however, must not be worn. The member of parliament himself is allowed to wear ordinary morning dress and black coat. If preferred, however, wives of members of parliament may wear full court dress with or without trains, and the men can wear full uniform or full court dress.

"The purchase of a lace scarf is absolutely the only outlay entailed," said the manager of a famous West End dressmaking-house. "The scarf may be draped around the head, mantilla fashion, and tied under the chin. Only black or white scarfs may be worn, and a suitable size would be one and a half yard wide. Practically any walking dress, or even a coat and skirt, will be correct."

MRS. STRATTON ENTERTAINS THE WEDDING GUESTS

Yesterday evening, at the conclusion, or, perhaps, rather, in continuation of the festivities attendant upon the Ardiel-Gooding nuptials, Mrs. Stratton entertained the wedding guests to a steamer voyage down the river, now at its height of beauty of luxuriant foliage, garnishing its winding shores. Social amusements, the delights of a summer night, dainty refreshments, the untiring solicitude of the hostess for the comfort and entertainment of her guests, and the return home after the rising of the full moon, made the evening one of rare enjoyment.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS AT MEETING OF THE CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS

The large representation of delegates present at the opening session of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters yesterday betokened the deep interest throughout the Dominion in the welfare of this great fraternal Insurance Society, which now includes nearly 80,000 Canadians in its membership.

The sessions of High Court are being presided over by The High Chief Ranger, J. A. Stewart, and all the other High Court officers are in attendance.

After receiving reports of the High Court officers, which were distributed to the delegates in printed form, the meeting received the various civic deputations.

The report of J. A. Stewart, High Chief Ranger, was replete with facts and figures, showing the Order to be in a most flourishing condition, maintaining and even surpassing its record for the previous years.

On the 1st of January, 1910, the Order had a membership of 73,965, and there were initiated during the year 8,280 new members, being an increase of 911 over the previous year. During last year 3,633 members lapsed, and 498 died, leaving the net membership at the close of the year 78,104.

The increase in the Insurance Reserve of the Order during the year amounted to $276,186.13. On January 1st, 1910, the amount on hand in this branch was $3,002,308.29, and at the close of the year, $3,278,494.42.

The standing of the High Court Sick and Funeral Benefit Branch is also most satisfactory. During the year no less a sum that $147,224.96, covering 6,132 claims, was paid in this branch. The amount to the credit of this fund at the commencement of the year was $170,773.22, and at the close $207,223.20.

The report of George Faulkner, High Secretary, covering the general work of the society, was next in order, and showed in detail the large volume of business transacted through his department.

The amount of insurance premiums received during the year was $644,077,82, which, with the large sum of $133,690.75 derived from interest on investments, made the total receipts in this branch $777,768.57. There were 498 death claims paid, amounting to $501,582.44, leaving the sum of $276,186.13 to carry to the reserve, which at the close of the year was $3,278,494.42.

The amount of Sick and Funeral Benefit fees received during the year was $175,863.29, and interest $7,811.05, making the total receipts in this branch $183,674.34. There were 6,132 sick and funeral benefit claims paid, amounting to $147,224.96, leaving $36,449.38 to the reserve, which, at the close of the year amounted to $207,223.20.

There were issued from the High Secretary's Office, 8,123 insurance certificates and 7,483 membership certificates, or a total of 15,606, and in addition there were endorsements made on 1,639 insurance certificates.

The report of Robert Elliott, high treasurer, showed the funds of the order to be in most satisfactory condition. The income for the several funds was as follows: Insurance, $777,768.57, sick and funeral benefit, $183,674.34, and general fund $102,899.78. Total income $1,064,342.69. The total expenditure in these funds was $748,052.87. The surplus income over expenditure amounted to $316,289.82.

Municipal and school debentures	$3818,797.30
Dominion of Canada stock	150,000.00
Deposited in chartered banks	20,000.00
Current accounts in chartered bank	39,697.12
	$3,278,494.42

The total assets of the order amounted to $3,559,322.09, and its liabilities $28,517.97. Assets over liabilities $3,530,804.12.

The report of Dr. U. M. Stanley, chairman of the Medical Board, showed the average death rate, since the commencement of the order to be 5.22 per 1,000 of membership. There were submitted to the Medical Board during the year 10,106 applications, the largest number for any year in the history of the order, of which 9,215 were accepted, and the remaining 891 rejected. The number of applications was 1,290 more than for the previous year.

The report of W. G. Strong, superintendent of organization, showed 8,280 initiations as against 7,369 for the previous year, an increase of 911.

At the close of the year there were 1,069 courts in the Order, representing a membership of 78,104. There were 517 courts in Ontario, 280 in Quebec, 56 in Nova Scotia, 71 in New Brunswick, 14 in Prince Edward Island, 65 in Saskatchewan, 37 in Alberta, 17 in British Columbia, and 112 in Manitoba.

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS SOME IMPROVEMENTS BRING IN THEIR REPORT

At the General Sessions of the Peace this afternoon, the Grand Jury through their foreman, Mr. R. H. Leary, brought in the following presentment to his Honour Judge Huycke, who, after hearing it, said he would have their report sent to the County Council and thanked the Jurors for their attention to their duties:

To His Honour udge Huycke,—The Grand Jury of the County Court and General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Peterborough, beg leave to present that, in the discharge of their duties they are gratified to note the comparatively few and unimportant cases of crime that have demanded their attention, only three minor cases having been submitted to them

They have made the customary examination of the county buildings, and, as a result, would recommend several improvements that they consider necessary to be immediately made.

The committee room of the County Council is badly in need of papering and it is recommended that it receive early attention.

The floors in the main corridor are also in an unsatisfactory condition, and should be extensively repaired, if not relaid.

The Judge's Chambers and his private chamber generally need considerable improvement. There is an entire absence of lavatory and toilet appliances, which, we think, and recommend, should be at once provided, to put the apartments in a condition in keeping with the other improvements that have been made, especially the system of heating, which here, as well as elsewhere in the buildings, seems to be satisfactory.

We would recommend that the open fire place in the Sheriff's office should be put in a condition to make it available for use, a general overhauling of the general lavatories made.

It is also recommended that the drive in front of the Court House, should be properly drained with a cement gutter, so that the water resulting from rains or otherwise, would be carried away towards the streets on either side, instead of being allowed to flow southward upon the lawns of Victoria Park.

We would suggest that the Russian cannon in front of the Court House should be properly mounted. The present dilapidated foundation should be removed and be replaced by substantial concrete or other solid sightly foundations.

In visiting the jail we found therein confined, sixteen prisoners, fifteen males and one female. The latter is an insane person, for whom the jail is obviously an improper place of confinement, there being an absence of the facilities for treatment of a curative character, or for providing such attention as persons in her unfortunate condition should receive. There were also confined in the jail a number of persons classed as vagrants, not criminals, but unfortunates for whom a jail is neither an intended or suitable place—a place of punishment for those who have committed no crimes. We found the jail and jail premises generally well cared for and clean, indicating the careful performance of duty on the part of the officials.

The Grand Jurors also visited the County House of Refuge at Lakefield; the House of Providence and the Peterborough Protestant Home. All these institutions were found to be in excellent order and the inmates the objects of careful attention on the part of the officials. Of course, the Protestant Home is not in a desirable condition, if its construction were suitable for its purposes. However, the jurors were pleased to learn that plans have been prepared and approved of for new buildings upon a more suitable site, with lands attached, which will permit giving the inmates beneficial occupation in the open air and relieve the tedium of indoor residence and confined quarters, such as the present home can only provide.

The Grand Jurors would consider their presentment incomplete if they did not refer to the lamented death of Edward, the Peace Maker, and the great event of the coronation of his worthy successor, His Majesty King George Fifth, whose reign has opened with auspicious promise of repeating the glorious record of his predecessor to the benefit of the Empire generally and especially of Canada, whose signal prosperity is a promised continuance. All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) FOREMAN.

Can't Beat Nature

Her way is slow, but sure!

"Bad food does not kill the next day—it does not work that way. It does not even cause positive and violent illness at once. It does systematically rob your body and your brain of a little vitality to-day and a little tomorrow"
—Pearson's Magazine

Now, concerning good food:

Grape-Nuts

—the "perfectly balanced" food, made of wheat and barley, may not show full results in a day—Nature does not work that way.

But it contains the vital food elements that steadily and surely build body and brain--a little day by day--

DAME NATURE HINTS

When The Food Is Not Suited.

"Ever since boyhood I have been especially fond of meats, and I am convinced I ate too-rapidly, and failed to masticate my food properly.

"The result was that I found myself, a few years ago, afflicted with ailments of the stomach and kidneys, which interfered seriously with my business.

"At last I took the advice of friends and began to eat Grape-Nuts instead of the heavy meats, etc., that had constituted my former diet.

"I found that I was at once benefitted by the change, that I was soon relieved from the heartburn and indigestion that used to follow my meals, that the pains in my back from my kidney effection had ceased.

"My nerves, which used to be unsteady, and my brain, which was slow and lethargic from a heavy diet of meats and greasy foods, had, not in a moment, but gradually, and none the less surely, been restored to normal efficiency.

"Now every nerve is steady and my brain and thinking facilities are quicker and more acute than for years past.

"After my old style breakfast I used to suffer during the forenoon from a feeling of weakness which hindered me seriously in my work, but since I began to use Grape-Nuts food I can work till dinner time with all ease and comfort." Name given by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Windsor, Ontario.

Eight Men Hold Up Hotel Clerk And Two Are Captured

Special Wire to The Examiner.

NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 15.—Eight men held up the night clerk of the Hotel Roy on Broadway with revolvers and cleaned out the cash drawer, during the night. As soon as they left the clerk fired three shots, attracting a Broadway policeman, who captured two of the men before they got away. When searched they had large sums of money.

Storm Did Considerable Damage In The District Barns Were Destroyed

BROWN'S, MARIPOSA, JUNE 14.—One of the severest storms known in many years passed over here on Sunday evening between five and six o'clock, lasting nearly half an hour. The rain and hail fall in torrents, and the wind was furious. Fences were levelled to the ground, and a number of barns and other outbuildings were unroofed and chimneys blown down. Several silos and wind mills were carried away, and great trees were blown down in groves and orchards, some of which were carried a considerable distance.

We had several more showers on Monday and Tuesday, but they were milder ones.

ZION, FENELON, JUNE 14.— The severe storm on Sunday between five and six o'clock, did considerable damage in this neighbourhood, and it is said that it was the worst storm that ever visited here. Mr. Brynell had a piece of the roof torn from his barn. Mr. Elisha Worsley had the misfortune to have his back kitchen blown into the field, only the floor remaining, with a separator and stove; all the kitchen utensils were carried off. Mr. Warren Worsley's buggy blew away a few rods and also some of his barn. Mr. J. Marks had all the roof blown off his barn and also his kitchen. The fences all through the neighbourhood were blown down and also some stumps out of stump fences were carried away for rods.

The chimney blew off the Zion church, and the orchard opposite was nearly all blown down, breaking a great many panes of glass in the house.

Islay Suffered.

ISLAY, JUNE 14.—One of the worst storms ever known here visited this vicinity on Sunday evening last. The wind was terrific and tore up many trees and fences and buildings in its onward sweep. Scarcely any of the residents escaped without some injuries being done to their property. Mr. D. D. Spence's windmill and also the roof of his barn were blown down. Messrs. Thomas Graham's, Willie McFadyen's, T. Hills' and Sam Wright's barns were carried off. Mr. Currin's roof and the ends of his driving shed were torn down. The silos belonging to James Wilson and Tom Graham were completely carried away. Part of the roof was torn off Mr. H. Boyd's barn and his pig pen was also slightly damaged. A couple of chimneys on Mrs. Elford's house were blown down. Several other barns were also damaged. Fences were levelled to the ground, and countless trees were blown down, several of them being completely uprooted. The storm was by far the worst ever known by our oldest residents. The Jamieson Bros. had five head of young cattle killed by the lightning.

Damage at Kinmount.

KINMOUNT, JUNE 14.—During the severe thunder storm, which passed over here on Sunday morning, Mr. J. Brattamore's house was struck by lightning and badly shattered. The lightning followed the stove pipes, not one of which is left unbroken, passed out of the stove and along the dining room floor, which is almost completely torn up, and passed out through the wall, tearing up the ground. A number of other articles in the house were completely destroyed. The floor was so completely shattered that the force of it sent slivers off the floor thickly into the ceiling. Mrs. Brattamore and her two little girls were alone at the time and both girls were rendered unconscious by the shock.

Severe at Cameron.

CAMERON, JUNE 14—Last Sunday, about 5 p. m. a terrific storm passed over this vicinity. Many shade and fruit trees were broken off and some turned out of root, but although shingles and boards flew in all directions, there was no lives lost or cattle killed.

Mr. J. Perrin's house in this village was completely demolished. Mr. John Mark's barn and summer kitchen were unroofed. The roof was torn off Mr. T. Hewie's farm, and part of the roof off Mr. P. Hewie's barn. Mr. Suggitt had a log barn blown down and part of the roof of his large barn. Mr. E. Shea's windmill is minus a wheel and the church lost one chimney.

Fire at the Capital Does Damage to the Extent of $100,000—Big Warehouse Was Gutted by the Flames

CAUSE IS UNKNOWN

Ottawa, June 15—Damage to the extent of about $100,000 was wrought yesterday morning by a fire which completely gutted the storerooms of the Dominion Warehouse Co., Nicholas street. The first started from some unknown cause and within a short time had swept clean through the warerooms, which contained thousands of dollars' worth of furniture, which had been stored. It then took to the offices and storerooms of the McCormick Biscuit Co., the Canadian Fruit Co., and the Dominion Fruit Exchange.

The building was owned by the Dominion Warehouse Co., whose president is D. M. Finnie of the Bank of Ottawa. The building itself was valued at $95,000, but the walls remain and the chief loss therefore will be its contents. Thousands of bunches of bananas and a carload of strawberries were destroyed in addition to a large quantity of liquor, which had recently been imported under bond. The water pressure was poor, but the fire, on account of the inflammable contents of the storerooms, was very difficult to handle. The fire brigade confined the flames to the warehouse and the fruit exchange, managing to save the building of the Ottawa Cold Storage Co., which stood adjacent. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

On New Bank's Business.

Montreal, June 15.—In connection with the rumor that Lloyd's Bank is preparing to extend its business to Great Britain's overseas dominions, J. W. Beaumont Pease, vice-chairman of the bank, is stopping in Montreal at the Windsor Hotel. He has visited many prominent financiers here, but refuses to discuss his plans. It is understood, however, that his visit is not foreign to the proposed extension.

The extension would take the form of gaining control of an existing bank, as the Dominion Bank Act would prevent the establishment of a branch office of Lloyd's in Canada.

Serious Situation In Hayti.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 15.—News advices received here by mail describe conditions in the northern part of Hayti as serious. The fighting in northern Hayti has been desperate. One of the commanders of the federal troops has taken refuge in a consulate. The supporters of Gen. Antenor Firmin, formerly Haytien Minister of Great Britain and leader of the revolt of 1980, are jubilant over the prospect of placing Firmin in the Presidential chair. Incendiary fires are reported in various parts of the republic.

Hydro Power In Village.

London, Ont., June 15.—The first of the near-by villages to take power from the city hydro service was connected up yesterday, when the linemen of the city connected up thirty-eight houses in Byron, 6 1-2 miles from here.

Chairman Pocock of the water and lower commission announced yesterday that 4,000 subscribers would be connected up with hydro power before the end of the year, and that a surplus would be turned over to the city from the electrical department.

Leviathan "Olympic" Sails.

Southampton, June 15.—The largest and finest steamer in the world, the new White Star Liner Olympic, left this port at noon yesterday for New York, via Cherbourg and Queenston. The Olympic is due at New York on the 21st inst.

The Olympic and her sister vessel, Titanic, the latter recently launched at Belfast, are 882 feet over all—more than 100 feet longer than any other steamer afloat—45,000 tons register and 60,000 tons displacement.

Held Up and Threatened.

Kingston, June 15.—A young man employed as a servant at the Royal Military College was held up on Cataraqui Bridge by three men, who robbed him of all his money, a few dollars, and in the struggle almost tore all the clothes off his back. Three Hundred Return to Work.

Montreal, June 15.—With about a thousand of their striking comrades lining the street railway tracks and the G.T.R. embankment at Dominion, and urging them to remain with them, some 300 employes of the Canadian Car & Foundry Co., Ltd., returned to their desks yesterday morning.

Despite this break in the ranks of the two thousand men affected by the strike, the majority seemed more determined than ever to have their demand for two cents an hour over the present scale paid.

A big meeting was held by the strikers yesterday morning. While all the speakers urged the men to hold together and fight for what they claimed was a just principle, all strongly advocated pacific measures, and warned the men that any disorder would weaken their case and that repressive measures would be adopted without hesitation.

Anglicans Against Decree.

Kingston, June 15.—With rousing cheers the Ontario Synod yesterday afternoon passed a resolution protesting against the "ne temere" decree. The resolution read as follows:

"That the Synod of Ontario Diocese desires to express its resentment of the Church of Rome's action in issuing the 'ne temere decree,' and would respectfully suggest that all English churchmen maintain a firm and courteous attitude of opposition to any attempted interference in regard to such a vital matter as that covered by the decree, which strikes a serious blow at the moral status of society in general and the sacredness of home life, and that a memorial be sent to the general synod urging that united action of the Canadian Church be taken in regard to the matter."

The grocers proceeded to Victoria Park and ran off an interesting program of events, opening with a ball game between the grocers and travelers, in which the former won. Mayor Gummow proclaimed the afternoon a half holiday in honor of the Caledonian sports held at the horse show park. Last night the 48th Highlanders' band, assisted by the pipers and dancers, gave a Scotch concert in the park.

MURRAY IS RE-ELECTED

Liberals Returned in Nova Scotia For Another Five Years—Premier Sustained by a Majority of Sixteen Votes

YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS

Halifax, June 15.—The Provincial general elections took place yesterday and resulted in a victory for the Government, who have carried twenty-seven of the thirty-eight seats in the province. Halifax elects three Liberals with a majority for the highest of 1,056, and for the lowest of 705. The Labor candidate in Halifax polled a total of 2,744 votes, compared with 4,888 for the highest Government candidate, Cape Breton elects two Conservatives, but that party confidently expected at least four.

A notable feature of the election is the defeat of three members of the Government, Hon. C. Chisholm, Commissioner of Works and Mines, who ran at the foot of the poll; Hon. B. F. Pearson in Colchester, and Hon. Dr. Leblanc in Yarmouth. Premier Murray has a large majority in Victoria, and his colleague also has a big lead. The issues were chiefly local. The Liberals in this province will now have five years more to add to their 29 years of rule. The Opposition in the last Legislature numbered five. They will now have eleven, and they have the advantage of having with

SEAMEN WALK OUT

Shipping Men Are Confident However That the Strike Does Not Look Threatening—What the Men Want

MANY PORTS SUFFER

London, June 15.—The seamen's strike was formally declared last night at London, Glasgow, Liverpool, Cardiff, Bristol, Southampton and other British ports, and also at Belgian and Dutch ports, but the chances of any real international strike being declared seem remote. So far as last night's indications show, the confidence of the shipping federation is well placed, for at hardly any of these ports was enthusiasm displayed for the strike, and the ship-owners maintain an attitude of indifference, seemingly satisfied that they will have no trouble in filling the places of the strikers, who thus far can be counted by hundreds.

Tom Man at Liverpool, Ben Tillett at London, and Havelock Wilson at Southampton are doing their utmost to galvanize the movement, but with small success. They demand chiefly a conciliation board and the establishment of a minimum wage, and complain bitterly of the wholesale employment of Asiatics by the shipowners.

There appears very small hope here that Germany, Norway or Denmark will come into the movement.

At a mass meeting in East London last night, attended by 3,000 sailors and firemen, the signal for the strike was given. This consisted in the firing of three rockets and the unfurling of a banner inscribed: "The war is now declared."

C.P.R. Liner Delayed.

Liverpool, June 15.—This was the first of the big British ports to feel the effect of the general strike order issued to the union seamen to enforce the ultimatum served on the shipping federation some time ago. The crews of the Teutonic and the C.P.R.'s Empress of Ireland, which both run to Quebec, abandoned their vessels yesterday, and the ships are now tied up, unable to sail on schedule.

The crews of a number of tramp liners followed the example of the men on the big American liners. The men are very orderly, having been warned by their officers to keep away from the water front.

Officers of the union say that as fast as the big liners come in the men will quit work. All, however, will complete the trip for which they have signed, so that none of the steamers whose home port this is will be interfered with elsewhere.

Trouble at Montreal.

Montreal, June 15.—While it is not likely that the International Seamen's strike will greatly affect Montreal, it is not at all unlikely that trouble may arise between the local Longshoremen's Union and the principal shipping companies using this port.

During the past week the permanent board of conciliation appointed to settle all disputes between longshoremen and shipping have been deliberating in an endeavor to arrive at a solution of the grievances, which if not settled will threaten the ordinary quiet and peaceful conditions of labor along the water front. The main point complained of by the longshoremen is that the captains of the vessels entering the port never ask for sufficient workers, thus leaving in the longshoremen's ranks many more unemployed than are necessary.

The second complaint is that the shipping companies are ignoring the union by employing non-union hands to unload the vessels which visit Montreal.

It was announced yesterday by Mr. Francq, president of the board, that no decision would be handed down until the members of the board had themselves investigated the longshoremen's complaints.

The longshoremen are confident that the permanent board will succeed in adjusting their difference and are content to await a decision for some time yet before taking extreme measures.

The next meeting of the board has been set for Saturday, when some definite announcement is certain to be made.

Time ripens all things. No man is born wise.—Cervantes.

Suffered Greatly From Heart Trouble.

NERVES WERE VERY WEAK.

Mrs. John Farrell, Ross Hill, P.E.I., writes:—"It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

"About five years ago I suffered greatly from heart trouble, and my nerves were very weak. After seeing several doctors and using their medicine, I got no relief until a friend told me of your Heart and Nerve Pills. I took two boxes and they effected a complete cure. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women.

"I have advised many others to try them and they have all been cured of the same trouble."

The proper action of the nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends entirely upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind, it is bound to produce heart derangement.

In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart and nerve trouble.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Comfort and Convenience

If you have never experienced the pleasures of living in a "Sunshine" heated house, let us tell you that it is a comfort and convenience which is fully appreciated.

For an average of seven tons of coal to an eight-roomed house, an even temperature of sixty-five to seventy can be kept up from October to April. Once a is started there is no work attached to its operation beyond placing in coal twice a day, and drawing out ashes and filling water pan every other day. Chains on a pulley fixed in the hall, or room above the cellar, answer the respective requirements for:—Burning Up, or Closing Off.

No caretaker is necessary, no engineer has to be called in. No precautions, beyond following directions, are necessary.

If you can run a stove (and who cannot) you can run a Sunshine Furnace.

Manager Quinlan Will Give Youngster a Chance Against Blake Crawford's Bunch---"Dutch" Conter, of St. Michael's College, Will be on the Line-up of the Petes --Port Hope's New Pitching Phenom Pipher, Will Work Against the Locals.

Manager Quinlan of the Peterborough Midland League team decided last night to use Creswell the left-handed twirler of the Collegiate Institute team against Port Hope in the Midland League fixture to be played at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon. Port Hope has a majority of left handed batters and the local manager figures he will have the jump on them by sticking in the young south paw to do the flinging. The fans will be glad to see Creswell given an opportunity of making his debut, and it should be a pitcher's battle all the way, with Pipher, Port Hope's new kid find working for the Crawfordites. The Petes will be strengthened by the presence on the line-up of "Dutch" Conter, the well-known St. Michael's College player, who is home from college, and who will wear a Peterborough uniform on Saturday. He will be a valuable addition to the team, and will get a welcome from the fans. It looks as if the Petes had their work cut out for them to keep up their winning streak, as the Hopers are confident they will put a crimp in the list of victories. The strengthened team from the Front listens like bad medicine, and Manager Quinlan, realising this fact, is driving his team at top speed in the practices. The team had a lively work-out last night and will finish their training to-night, when every player is expected to be out. The line-up will be announced after the practice. Saturday's game is billed for 3 o'clock sharp.

ENGLISHMAN'S SUGGESTIONS FOR BASEBALL'S IMPROVEMENT

Sporting Editor of The Star.

As an Englishman who has attended for the first time a baseball game the following impressions may be of some interest to your readers. I noticed especially the ease with which players in the deep field caught every long hit within fifty yards of their respective positions. This must grow monotonous to the most enthusiastic. As a remedy for this I might suggest that the three men in the deep field should not be allowed to wear gloves. This would add a sporting interest to the game which could not detract from its merits. The umpires of the game were treated, or so I thought, in the most disgusting manner. A decision which did not please the crowd started the trouble. After that, every decision, whether in favour of the home team or of the visitors was noisily contradicted, and the most violent abuse heaped upon one unfortunate man by a crowd which could not possibly have been less than six thousand in number. Odds of six thousand to one are rather preposterous, don't you think?

I understand that there is a National Commission to look into the behaviour of individual players and to settle disputes. Could not something of the same sort be effected as regards the crowd at large? As a penalty the price of admission might be slightly raised until the crowd became more orderly. A man who designated an umpire as a "stone-head" or a "mutt," or even in more violent language, should be ejected from the grounds. I am sure the crowd would lend a helping hand in spotting the offender. Baseball is a magnificent game. About that there is not the slightest doubt. It only remains for the players and spectators by gentlemanly (and, I might even say, ladylike) conduct to raise the game to its deserved position —as one of the finest and most scientific of sports. At present it will stand a lot of raising.

Ian MacIntosh.

Cramps Caused The Downfall Of Reynolds

The Port Hope Guide says:

Jimmy Reynolds, who attempted to walk to Toronto and return in 35 hours yesterday, came back by carriage at 8.30 last evening, having given up the trip after travelling eighteen miles. When interviewed this morning Jimmy stated that the severe cramps in his legs caused his defeat. He has decided, however, that the trip is too much for him and he will give up the walking game. The gentleman who made the bet with Jimmy has decided under the circumstances to return his share of the wager, under the condition that Reynolds never makes him another proposition on the walking game.

HUSTLERS WON FROM PETES

The Hustlers and Pets who have been resting up on account of the unfavourable weather came together last night in a seven innings game at the Central school yard. Each player worked as if they had been holidaying for a month and were anxious for something to do. The spit ball, shutes, and etc., offered by the pitchers had no effect, and as a result the pill travelled all over the lot and a big score was piled up. Hustlers 19, Pets 9. Batteries—Hustlers, A. Trull, A. Darling; Pets, F. Tait, J. Marsh.

LEADERS MEET TO-NIGHT

The two leading teams in the City Juvenile Baseball League will clash to-night at the Oval at 6.30 sharp, and the game promises to be a clinker. If you want to see a fast game, watch these two teams fight it out for the League leadership. A large number of supporters will no doubt be on hand to root for each team. Mr. W. J. Neale will umpire and a fast, clean seven innings game is assured. Teams, Midgets vs. Thistles.

The game scheduled for Saturday between the Tecumsehs and Maple Leaves will be played at the Oval at 4 p.m., not 6.30 as advertised earlier in the week.

NEWS OF THE FIGHTERS

MATT WELLS BEAT PAL MOORE.

BOSTON, JUNE 13—There are many sore fight fans in the Hub to-day, because Matt Wells, lightweight champion of England, was given the decision over Pal Moore of Philadelphia, in their twelve round go here last night but followers of the game who are longer on ring wisdom than on patriotism agree that the decision was just.

The Briton showed lots of speed, and out-punched his opponent in almost every round.

McFARLAND AND K. O. BROWN.

CHICAGO, JUNE 14.— Packy McFarland, the champion stock yards lightweight, is waiting to-day for word from Knockout Brown, the New York fighter, to see if Brown wants a real fight. Emil Thiery, McFarland's manager, has offered Brown $7,000, win, lose or draw ,for a fight in Wilwaukee, to go as far as the law permits. McFarland asks that the weight be 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

HE'S GAME, ANYWAY.

NEW YORK, JUNE 14.—Although it took ten minutes to revive Jim Savage, of Hoboken, after he was knocked out in the second round of his fight with Andy Morris, the Boston heavy, last night, at Brown's gymnasium, the vanquished fighter is to-day trying to arrange another match with the winner.

BASEBALL

Mathewson's victory over Cincinnati Tuesday was his nineteenth straight over that team, the first coming early in 1908.

"Stuffy" McInnis, who isn't much taller than the bag, is holding down first base for the Athletics and doing a swell job of it. He doubled and tripled Tuesday.

There were five doubles, five triples and two home runs whanged out in the Cardinal-Quaker affair.

Hoffman is back on first again for the Cubs, where he is billed to remain the rest of the season.

Goode, one of the players whom Chance swindled Tenney out of, hit a home run in the tenth inning, tying up the game, which the Cubs finally won in the twelfth.

At Philadelphia St. Louis suffered its second successive shut-out Tuesday, the score being 6 to 0. Plank struck out ten men.

Johnny Kling has decided to play with Boston, after all. "Noisy" John has worked that poolroom gag just about to the limit.

Once in a while Connie Mack gets stung as hard as any of 'em. He has asked for waivers on "Lefty" Russell, the $1,000 pitcher, bought from Baltimore toward the close of last season. Next to Marquard, Russell is counted the juciest "bunk" 'on record.

The Cleveland team can take defeat with less apparent objection than any team in the American League. It scored a lone run in each of the three games against the Highlanders.

Big Jim Vaughn got back into the game for the Yankees, after a month's illness and was just as good as ever.

The Doves made 16 hits to the Cubs' 8 on Tuesday, but simply couldn't win.

The Quakers have dropped below the .600 percentage mark.

Officials of the National Commission yesterday received a protest from the Pittsburg club on the ruling of President Lynch, who ordered the contested Cub-Pirate game of May 30 thrown out and played over.

No. 1. Window dressing.—The elementary principles having been learned, no further education is required. We now come to the pipe, which must be round and yellow without corners and nothing bright about it. Not on any account must smoke be emitted from bowl or mouth; neither must the pipe be too empty. It must be held at angle between the teeth in the direction of a continuation of the nose like a fishing rod or as holding a plate. If anything is muttered it must be with a crossing the Atlantic motion of the instrument. At the psychological (may be not spelt right, but near enough) moment of expectation, give the pipe a hitch as if it were bank holiday.

Opponents of Reciprocity Are Busy in the Senate—Republican Senators War Over Amendment on Paper and Pulp

DEBATE MAY BE SHORT

Washington, June 16.—The second day of debate on the Canadian reciprocity bill proved a field day for those opposed to the measure. Led by Senator Nelson, in a prepared and exhaustive speech, a number of Senators took part in a running debate, that marked the closing period of the address. At adjournment Senator Penrose, in charge of the bill, felt that this had cleared the atmosphere considerably, and he expressed the opinion that the general debate would not be of such great duration as had been predicted.

A spirited debate among Republican Senators was precipitated over the effect of the Root amendment dealing with paper and wood pulp. Senators Lodge, Clark of Wyoming, and Smoot were all on the floor and talking simultaneously. They agreed that that provsion only restored the terms of the treaty as submitted to Congress.

"How, then, did that feature of the agreement disappear?" asked William A. Smith of Michigan.

"Ask the whispering winds," responded Mr. Clark.

Apparently pleased with the poetic character of his response, the Wyoming Senator at first seemed disposed to leave it there, but later added that the amendment was not only in harmony with the original compact between the two countries, but in consonance with the Canadian bill carrying the agreement into effect.

Mr. Smith was not satisfied and demanded from Chairman Penrose an explanation of the disappearance of that feature from the bill. Mr. Penrose had adopted the policy of allowing the opponents of the measure to do the talking and, reluctantly, he arose to reply.

"The change," he said, "occurred in the ways and means committee of the House, and the Senator from Michigan knows as much about it as I do."

"The effect, then, is to give the Canadians free trade in paper and pulp and not give it to us," commented Mr. Smith.

"And yet," he continued, "we are told by the House that we must not change a word in the bill as it was passed there, for fear of impairing it."

The debate will be resumed at noon to-day, if any Senator is ready to speak. This appeared doubtful last night.

THE STATE-OWNED CABLE POLICY IS HELD OVER

Imperial Conference Shelves the Project for the Present on the Ground That it Is Too Expensive

POSTMASTER EXPLAINS

London, June 16.—The Imperial Conference yesterday discussed resolutions providing for cheaper cable rates throughout the Empire, and the laying of a state-owned cable between England and Canada, thus securing an "all red" route, linking up all the British dominions.

The Postmaster-General, Rt. Hon. H. J. Samuel, explained the steps that have recently been taken to secure reductions in Atlantic cable rates. He said that in view of this the Government was not justified at the present time in incurring the expense of laying a new cable.

A resolution was adopted that if considerable reductions in transatlantic cable rates were not effected in the near future the project to lay a state-owned cable between England and Canada should be considered at a subsidiary conference.

Mr. Joseph Ward, at the Imperial Conference, moved a resolution declaring the urgency of a reduction in cable rates throughout the Empire. He said much had been accomplished, but the cheapening process had not gone nearly far enough. High cable rates were injurious from a public point of view. There was a restricted use of the cables themselves. There was a feeling in the overseas countries that the present rates were due to a ring or combination in the cable world.

Postmaster-General Samuel said that the Home Government cordially sympathized with and supported the resolution. Since last conference the press rates to Australia had been reduced from a shilling to ninepence, but the progress was quite inadequate. The United Kingdom was taking steps to bring about a cheapening of rates. He instanced the reduction of 50 per cent. in the rates for cablegrams uncoded, but liable to be deferred; secondly, the steps being taken towards a reduction of press rates; thirdly, that the Government intended providing that in all new land-licenses there should be inserted a clause giving effective Government control over rates, with due security to companies against abuse of that power; fourthly, the wireless system must have some effect on the cable rate.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that in all the trouble which existed at present in connection with the Atlantic part of the cables, there was an impression almost amounting to conviction in Canada that a combination existed regarding the old cables. It seemed to him that the remedy suggested by Mr. Samuel a sound one for dealing with that combination if it had existed. They in Canada were endeavoring to act practically along the same lines.

Mr. Fisher asked whether it would be feasible to grant a low rate so far as the Pacific cable was concerned for news cabled from Australia to Montreal, whence news might be posted. This would mean a great saving of time.

Premier Morris agreed that the rates were somewhat excessive. The matter was one in which Newfoundland was deeply interested. He was prepared to support the resolution.

Postmaster-General Samuel promised to represent the strong desire felt by Australia and New Zealand that the Pacific board should be authorised, so far as the United Kingdom's consent was concerned, to proceed with the work to which Mr. Pearce referred.

Mr. Acraith promised further consideration to the matter and the resolution was agreed to.

Hon. G. S. Pearce of Australia moved that the conference recommend the nationalization of the cable, in order to cheapen and render more effective telegraphic communication between Britain, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand by thus acquiring complete control of all telegraphic cable lines along the all-red route.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that after the statement of Mr. Samuel on the previous resolution, he preferred to reserve his judgment on the present proposal.

Mr. Joseph Ward, who had a resolution urging extension by laying a state-owned cable between England and Canada, with powers for the Pacific board to be entered into to lay and control such a cable, strongly held that nationalization was the right course to follow.

In view of the probability of reductions in rates, Hon. Mr. Samuel suggested that the Governments would not at the present time be justified in undertaking so large capital expenditure at the risk of loss involved. He suggested a resolution as an alternative to those submitted:

"That in the event of considerable reductions in transatlantic cable rates not being effected in the near future, it is desirable that the laying of a state-owned cable between England and Canada be considered by a subsidiary conference."

The original resolutions being both withdrawn, that suggested by Samuel was unanimously agreed to.

So violent was the shock that several neighboring buildings were damaged. No person was injured.

Brantford, June 16.—Ernest Smith, a 4 1-2 year old boy, while watching an automobile here yesterday, in the middle of Dalhousie street, was run over by an ice wagon and severely crushed. It is feared that the lad will die.

Steamers to Burn Oil.

Montreal, June 16.—At a meeting yesterday the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co.'s management had under consideration several innovations which will mean a still further curtailment in operating expenses.

In this connection the announcement was made that it is proposed to introduce oil fuel on several of the R. & O. steamers plying the great lakes and rapids between Toronto and Montreal, and that negotiations to this effect are being conducted with the Imperial Oil Co.

White Star Compromises.

London, June 16.—It was announced last evening that the White Star line and the Seamen's Union had arranged a settlement of their differences, the White Star conceding an advance of $2.50 a month in wages to all employes involved. This is one half the amount demanded by the strikers.

WOMEN ARE WELCOMED

National Council Gets a Warm Reception in Port Arthur—Afternoon is Taken Up With a Debate

GOOD YEAR'S WORK

Port Arthur, June 16.—Under the most favorable weather conditions, the National Council of Women are carrying on their annual meeting in Port Arthur. The routine work of committee and sub-committee business reports have all been disposed of and when the council adjourned for the luncheon at 1 o'clock, the heaviest and most trying time of the council gathering had passed. After luncheon a group photograph of the council in session was taken upon the lawns of the church.

The greetings of the West Algoma Council were presented by Mrs. Perry.

Lady Taylor asked that the usual president's address be omitted for this time, and then called upon the mayor to give the greetings of the city, which was given with a heartiness and good will that went right to the heart of the visitors.

The report of the treasurer was given, showing the total receipts to be $2,061.93, received through affiliation fees, council aid, sale of year books, fees of patrons, etc.

The report of the corresponding secretary showed that the local councils and standing committees have continued their work during the year. One special and two regular executive meetings had been held. The organization committee outlined the campaign of organization in different parts of the country. It is hoped that this will result in great extension and strengthening of the work. A local council in Strathcona, reported last year as formed, has united with the council in Edmonton in the new local council of Edmonton and Strathcona.

The local councils of Ontario again approached the Provincial Governments asking adequate provision for the care of the feeble-minded and were encouraged to hope that something would be done in the near future.

A copy of amendments to the Curfew Act in Ontario was sent out to the Ontario councils.

A loyal address to Her Gracious Majesty Queen Mary, from the National Council of Women of Canada, was despatched to His Excellency the Governor-General, for transmission to England.

The treasurer and recording secretary, as well as the convenor of the press committee, and the provincial vice-president of New Brunswick, have resigned owing to various reasons.

The resolution from the London Council, asking that the Dominion Government be memoralized to have the flag of the Empire fly from all public buildings and schools daily caused a discussion that took up the whole of the afternoon session, and was not then all settled for presentation.

Mrs. Huestis, speaking to the resolution, showed that it would cost the City of Toronto a great amount of money to have the flags fly daily, as a flag so used lasts but three months, and no one would want a tattered flag flying from the flagpoles of our schoolhouses. The delegates declared that the school children should be taught to salute the flag.

Mrs. Boomer pointed out that we are not installing patriotism as we should in the lives and hearts of the children. The delegate said she had ridden three miles in Toronto on the first of July and had not seen a Canadian flag. A committee was selected to consider the resolution and report later.

One of the questions facing the National Council, this year, is concerned with the finances. A special appeal will be sent forth to all local councils, asking for donations to the council aid, the fund to wipe out the deficit before the retiring treasurer, Mrs. Frost, goes out of office.

Muzzles to Go on Again.

Ottawa, June 16.—It was announced at the Veterinary General's Department here yesterday that a general order for the muzzling of dogs, as a safeguard against rabies, was not likely to be enforced this summer.

An order was, however, almost certain to be issued for the district in and around Toronto, where the local department inspectors have reported a number of suspected cases.

CHARLES L. SHAW DEAD

Well-Known Canadian Journalist Dies In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, June 16.—The death occurred yesterday morning, after a brief illness, of Charles Lewis Shaw, a well-known Canadian magazine and newspaper writer, who for the past few years has been practicing law here. He was taken ill last Monday with a heavy cold, which developed alarming symptoms, and was taken to the general hospital, where he died yesterday morning, the immediate cause being heart failure. Mrs. Shaw was on a visit to her mother in Toronto.

Charles Lewis Shaw was born in Perth, Ont., 46 years ago and graduated at Trinity College. He removed to Edmonton in the early days, where he achieved a reputation as a lawyer and after-dinner speaker. When Khartoum was threatened Mr. Shaw's spirit of adventure was too strong for his commercial instincts and he went with the Canadian contingent, handling boats on the Great River. He also connected himself with the English and Canadian newspapers and his articles attracted much attention for their vivid character.

TO SAVE BABES.

Montreal Establishes Its First Civic Milk Depot.

Montreal, June 16.—Strong efforts are being made to reduce the high infant mortality rate which for years has been a sad feature of Montreal summers.

The first pure milk depot to be opened by the local branch of the National Council of Women, for the supply of pure milk at low rates to poor families, opened Wednesday at 169 West Dorchester street, and another was opened yesterday by the Local Council of Women at 65 Britannia street, Point St. Charles.

Soon there will be three depots under the supervision of the council. The city has granted them $1,500 for the establishment of the three places. A "mothers'" clinic has also been opened in Colborne street, and every morning the mothers of the neighborhood take their babies to receive treatment for childish complaints.

Two doctors and a trained nurse are in attendance, for the purpose of instructing the mothers in the proper methods of caring for their children.

An Accusation of Bribery.

Montreal, June 16.—A serious charge was made against four constables by Jockey E. J. Simms, in the enquete court yesterday. He accuses them of having accepted bribes. Simms, who was riding at Blue Bonnets, met a Mme. Tosca, who invited him to call. He accepted, and claims that after he had spent over $90 for champagne, etc., he was kicked out of the house and his money, $700 in cash, stolen. He told the court that he brought four policemen back to the house with him. The constables, he said, were made presents of greenbacks by one of the women in the house, and advised to depart. This they immediately did.

Mme. Tosca was committed for trial, and will be brought up for voluntary statement on June 27. In the meantime Simms' charges will be investigated.

The four policemen whom he accused were present in court, but were not called to give evidence.

London's City Hall.

Good Templars Elect Officers.

TOUCHED LIVE WIRE.

Electrician Meets Instant Death at Massena, N.Y.

Cornwall, June 16.—Robert D. Byers, chief electrician on the dredges used in cleaning out the canal by the St. Lawrence River Power Co. at Massena, across the river from here, was instantly killed in the carbon building of the Aluminum Co. of America on Wednesday by coming in contact with a live electric wire carrying 2,200 volts. Mr. Byers had worked all night on one of the dredges with an electrical apparatus, and then went to the carbon building to take down a starting box to remove it to the dredge. The box was double wired, and Mr. Byers apparently did not know this. He cut three wires, but this still left three. He had cut one wire, but when his pliers came in contact with the second one he received the full voltage and dropped over gasping. Dr. Mason was sent for, but could do nothing for the unfortunate man. Byers was a Canadian, born at Pontefard, Ont., and was a son of Wm. Byers, who now lives at Orono, Ont. He is survived by his wife, one sister, Mrs. Linde of Oshawa, and one brother, Wm. Byers of North Carolina.

Doctors' Prescriptions

The one department which shows the real worth of a Drug Store, is where Doctors' Prescriptions are compounded—and in this department we are pleased to tell you that our Prescription business has increased over 50 per cent. since we opened in our new store.

When the Nugent Drug Co. opened up in 386 George St. we chose as our motto—"Quality, Skill and Care, the Ladder by which we Climb." We have tried to consistently live up to this motto—and this partially explains the above increase.

We have constantly on the premises two Graduates of Pharmacy to oversee this department—and now to further safeguard our patrons, we have put in a complete line of Squibbs' Chemicals for the sole use of our Prescription Department. We can safely say none are purer than Squibbs'.

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

The more we looked at the beautiful paintings, the old tapestries, the treasures of stone and china, the more we enjoyed them. We were sure to meet some of our neighbours there and a young artist who lived on the second floor of our house, and whom later I came to know very well, pointed out to us new beauties in the old masters. He was selling plaster casts at that time and studying art in the night school.

In the old life, an art museum had meant nothing to me more than that it seemed a necessary institution in every city. It was a mark of good breeding in a town, like the library in a good many homes. But it had never occurred to me to visit it and I know it hadn't to any of my former associates. The women occasionally went to a special exhibition that was likely to be discussed at the little dinners, but a week later they couldn't have told you what they had seen. Perhaps our neighbourhood was the exception and a bit more ignorant than the average about such things, but I'll venture to say there isn't a middle-class community in this country where the paintings play the part in the lives of the people that they do among the foreign-born. A class better than they does the work; a class lower enjoys it. Where the middle-class comes in, I don't know.

After being gone all the afternoon we'd be glad to get home again and maybe we'd have a lunch of cold beans and biscuits or some of the pudding that was left over. Then, during the summer months we'd go back to the roof for a restful evening. At night the view was as different from the day as you could imagine. Behind us the city proper was in a bluish haze, made by the electric lights. Then we could see the yellow lights of the upper windows in all the neighbouring houses and beyond these, over the roof tops which seemed now to huddle closer together, we saw the passing red and green lights of moving vessels. Overhead were the same clean stars which were at the same time shining down upon the woods and the mountain tops. There was something about it that made me feel a man and a free man. There was twenty years of slavery back of me to make me appreciate this.

And Ruth reading my thoughts in my eyes used to nestle closer to me and the boy with his chin in his hands would stare out at sea and dream his own dreams.

CHAPTER IX.

Plans for the Future

As I said, with that first dollar in the ginger jar representing the first actual saving I had ever effected in my whole life, my imagination became fired with new plans. I saw no reason why I myself should not become an employer. As in the next few weeks I enlarged my circle of acquaintances and pushed my inquiries in every possible direction I found this idea was in the air down here. The ambition of all these people was towards complete independence. Either they hoped to set up in business for themselves in this country or they looked forward to saving enough to return to the land of their birth and live there as small land owners. I speak more especially of the Italians because just now I was thrown more in contact with them than the others. In my city they, with the Irish, seemed peculiarly of real emigrant stuff. The Jews were so clannish that they were a problem in themselves; the Germans assimilated a little better and yet they, too, were like one large family. They did not get into the city life very much and even in their business stuck pretty closely to one line. For a good many years they remained essentially Germans. But the Irish were citizens from the time they landed and the Italians eventually became such if by a slower process.

The former went into everything. They are a tremendously adaptable people. But whatever they tackled they looked forward to independence and generally won it. Even a man of so humble an ambition as Murphy had accomplished this. The Italians either went into the fruit business for which they seem to have a knack or served as day labourers and saved. There was a man down here who was always ready to stake them to a cart and a supply of fruit, at an exorbitant price to be sure, but they pushed their carts patiently mile upon mile until in the end they saved enough to buy one of their own. The next step was a small fruit store. The labourers, once they had acquired a working capital, took up many things—a lot of them going into the country and buying deserted farms. It was wonderful what they did with this land upon which the old stock New Englander had not been able to live. But, of course, in part explanation of this, you must remember that these New England villages have long been drained of their best. In many cases only the maim, the halt, and the blind are left and these stand no more chance against the modern pioneer than they would against one of their own sturdy forefathers.

Another occupation which the Italians seemed to preempt was the boot blacking business. It may seem odd to dignify so menial an employment as a business, but there is many a head of such an establishment who could show a fatter bank account than two-thirds of his clients. The next time you go into a little nook containing say, fifteen chairs, figure out for yourself how many nickels are left there in a day. The rent is often high—it is some proof of a business worth thought when you consider that they are able to pay for positions on the leading business streets—but the labour is cheap and the furnishings and cost of raw material slight. Pasquale had set me to thinking long before, when I learned that he was earning almost as much a week as I. It is no unusual thing for a man who owns his "emporium" to draw ten dollars a day in profits and not show himself until he empties the cash register at night. But the fact that impressed me in these people—and this holds peculiarly true of the Jews—was that they all shied away from the salaried jobs. In making such generalizations I may be running a risk because I'm only giving the results of my own limited observations and experience. But I want it understood that from the beginning to the end of these recollections I'm trying to do nothing more. I'm not a student. I'm not a sociologist. The conditions which I observed may not hold elsewhere for all I know. From a different point of view, they might not to another seem to hold even in my own city. I won't argue with anyone about it. I set down what I myself saw and let it go at that.

Going back to the small group among whom I lived when I was with the United Woollen, it seems to me that every man clung to a salary as though it were his only possible hope. I know men among them who even refused to work on a commission basis although they were practically sure of earning in this way double what they were being paid by the year. They considered a salary as a form of insurance and once in the grip of this idea they had nothing to look forward to except an increase I was no better myself. I didn't really expect to be head of the firm. Nor did the other men. We weren't working and holding on with any notion of winning independence along that line. The most we hoped for was a bigger salary. Some men did not anticipate more than twenty-five hundred like me, and others—the younger men—talked about five thousand and even ten thousand. I didn't hear them discuss what they were going to do when they were general managers or vice-presidents, but always what they could enjoy when they drew the larger annuity. And, save those who saw in professional work a way out, this was the career they were choosing for their sons. They wanted to get them into banks and the big companies where the assurance of lazy routine advancement up to a certain point was the reward for industry, sobriety and honesty. A salary with an old, strongly established company seemed to them about as big a stroke of luck for a young man as a legacy. I myself had hoped to find a place for Dick with one of the big trust companies.

Of course down here these people did not have the same opportunities. Most of the old firms preferred the "bright young American" and I guess they secured most of them. I pity the "bright young American" but I can't help congratulating the bright young Italians and the bright young Irishmen. They are forced as a result to make business for themselves and they are given every opportunity in the world for doing it. And they are doing it. And I, breathing in this atmosphere, made up my mind that I would do it, too.

With this in mind I outlined for myself a systematic course of procedure. It was evident that in this as in any other business I must master thoroughly the details before taking up the larger problems. The details of this as of any other business lay at the bottom and so for these at least I was at present in the best possible position. The two most important factors to the success of a contractor seemed to me to be, roughly speaking, the securing and handling of men and the purchase and use of materials. Of the two, the former appeared to be the more important. Even in the few weeks I had been at work here I had observed a big difference in the amount of labour accomplished by different men individually. I could have picked out a half dozen that were worth more than all the others put together. And in the two foremen I had noticed another big difference in the varying capacity of a boss to get work out of the men collectively. In work where labour counted for so much in the final cost as here, it appeared as though this involved almost the whole question of profit and loss. With a hundred men employed at a dollar and a half a day, the saving of a single hour meant the saving of a good many dollars.

It may seem odd that so obvious a fact was not taken advantage of by the present contractors. Doubtless it was realized but my later experience showed me that the obvious is very often neglected. In this business, as in many others, the details fall into a rut and often a newcomer with a fresh point of view will detect waste that has been going on unnoticed for years. I was almost forty years old, fairly intelligent, and I had everything at stake. So I was distinctly more alert than those who retained their positions merely by letting things run along as well as they always had been going. But, however, you may explain it, I knew that the foreman didn't get as much work out of me as he might have done. In spite of all the control I exercised over myself I often quit work realizing that half my strength during the day had gone for nothing. And though it may sound like boasting to say it, I think I worked both more conscientiously and intelligently than most of the men.

In the first place the foreman was a bully. He believed in driving his men. He swore at them and goaded them as an ignorant countryman often tries to drive oxen. The result was a good deal the same as it is with oxen—the men worked excitedly when under the sting and loafed the rest of the time. In a crisis the boss was able to spur them on to their best—though even then they wasted strength in frantic endeavour—but he could not keep them up to a constant level of steady work. And that's what counts. As in a Marathon race the men who maintain a steady plugging pace from start to finish are the ones who accomplish.

The question may be asked how such a boss could keep his job. I myself did not understand that at first, but later, as I worked with different men and under different bosses I saw that it was because their methods were much alike and that the results were much alike. A certain standard had been established, as to the amount of work that should be done by a hundred men and this was maintained. The boss had figured out loosely how much the men would work and the men had figured out to a minute how much they could load. Neither man nor boss took any special interest in the work itself. The men were allowed to waste just so much time in getting water, in filling their pipes, in spitting on their hands, in resting on their shovels, in lazy chatter, and so long as they did not exceed this nothing was said.

TIRED-OUT KIDNEYS

Kidney troubles are so frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by overwork or excesses of eating and drinking. Cure is effected not by whipping them on to renewed effort, but by awakening the action of liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This rests the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and urinary disorders then disappear.

The Air Is Germ Laden

In the Springtime—Disease is Ready to Make You a Victim When the Blood is Thin

Rich, Red Blood is the Greatest of Germicides—You Can Get the Blood Right by Using

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

When the blood is rich and red, when it is largely composed of red corpuscles, there is little chance for disease germs. They cannot thrive in the system which is filled with good blood.

But in the spring the blood is generally thin, weak and watery. It lacks the vitalizing red corpuscles and you become an easy prey to the germs of disease which seem to lurk everywhere at this time of year.

You can fortify yourself against the germs of disease by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This great restorative treatment forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, makes the blood rich, red and healthy.

Weakness, tired feelings, stomach derangements and disorders of the nervous system soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

This medicine cures by the building-up process, and for this reason its benefits are lasting. Nearly everybody needs something in the spring to enrich the blood and tone up the system, and it would be impossible to get a more satisfactory spring tonic than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

St. Lawrence Sugar

Compare the report of the Provincial Government Analyst, with the Analysis of any other sugar. You will find that "ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED" is the equal of any other sugar, not only in Canada, but throughout the civilized world.

Read Prof. Hersey's Report:

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

Not only compare the analysis, but compare the sugar—and you will see for yourself that ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED is purer and better than any other sugar.—20 lb. bags—also by the pound and barrel.

SMALL CHEESE FACTORIES

From Farm and Dairy.

T. W. Dillworth, Northumberland Co., Ont.

The establishment of numerous small cheese factories in this district is not only injuring the business of old established factories, but is making the work of collecting the milk and consequently of manufacturing the cheese more costly than formerly. In this section the cheese factories are only two or three miles apart. In my own factory, we formerly manufactured 550 standards of milk. Some patrons decided that they should have a factory nearer home, and started a small factory on the joint stock plan. They have reduced the milk which I receive to 460 standards, and have such a small factory themselves that it cannot give satisfactory returns.

On one piece of road, 1½ miles long, three rigs from three different factories collect milk. One of them could collect all the milk with one rig at one-third the expense. We cheese makers would prefer to have larger factories and greater satisfaction that we could give would more than repay the patrons for hauling their milk a slightly longer distance. Those small factories from which come the poor cheese would not exist were the patrons not so anxious to have a cheese factory right at their door.

I am an attentive reader of Farm and Dairy every week, and receive a great deal of benefit from it.—C. Marker, Dairy Commissioner for Alberta.

J. H. Grisdale, Dir. Dom. Exp. Farms

Corn after it is up from two to eight inches, may be harrowed and if we have had a cold rain or some unfavorable conditions, it is well to harrow it even after it gets to this height. The chances are the harrow won't tear out much of the corn. The slanting tooth harrow might be useful at that stage, but it is just as well to use the straight tooth harrow. The slanting tooth puts the face of the harrow too close to the ground and the bars sometimes do damage. If we use a straight tooth harrow, it is only once in a while that it will hit a plant.

After we have harrowed, we get our cultivator going as soon as we can, especially if it is dry weather. The more frequently we cultivate in dry weather, the greater are our chances of success. In Eastern Canada, we think we are in a zone where there is never any trouble about moisture, but I venture to say there is not a farmer in this room to-day who has not had some difficulty every year and would like to have a little more rain, especially when forage crops are grown. We can make rain to a certain extent by proper cultivation and that is one of the principal reasons for this intensive cultivation. It is the best provision against lack of rain that one can have.

If we knew that we could give our corn fields half an inch or one inch of rain whenever we took the notion, then it would not be necessary to work our land so much, but we do not know anything about that. Therefore, we must get our rain ready; get the moisture ready and make provision against a drought by cultivation and keep it up right through the summer. We must provide against droughts from the middle of May to the last day of August and after that the corn can look after itself.

When we are harrowing corn land, after it is sown, we do not go very deep, just let the harrow track over lightly. When we start to cultivate between the rows, we can put on a little power, because the soil is not occupied by the roots and no harm is being done. As the season becomes further advanced we should cultivate a little shallower.

Had Severe Pains In His Back.

Could Hardly Work.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Gorrie, Ont. writes:—"For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stooped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor.

"This was nearly four years ago and I still remain cured."

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

TO ENSURE GOOD MILK

From Farm and Dairy.

A combined ice house and milk room such as is found on the farm of Ont., an illustration of which may the Telford Bros., Peterboro Co., be seen on this page, ensures good milk.

This milk house is a combination of cement and wood. The milk room proper is 7x9 feet inside measurement. The cement floor is one and a half feet below the surface of the ground and three sides are of cement to a height of nine feet. A cement water tank large enough to hold two 300 lb. cans is situated in the house immediately behind the platform. The crane is so arranged that it swings into the milk house and cans can be lifted from any part of the room and carried out to the platform. When closed up as it is in hot weather, the milk room is dark and flies are therefore excluded. The cold air from the ice house adjoining has access to the milk room.

The ice house is 12x10 feet. The walls are constructed with a six inch air space. The floor is of gravel which permits of good drainage. The house has a capacity of 125 blocks. The total cost of the ice house and milk room was $65, not counting labor.

"It has paid for itself already" said Mr. Earnest Telford to an editor of Farm and Dairy when at his farm recently. "Most of our neighbors thought that we were going to too much expense but were we doing it over again we would build the house in just the same way. One night we made a test and found that we could cool our milk down to 50 degrees 10 minutes after milking, the milk being poured into the cans as milked. As a general rule we use ice on Saturday nights only but the night's milk is always cooled in water."

POOR CHEESE

From Farm and Dairy.

G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor, E. Ontario

As a result of the extremely hot weather, which we have just experienced, a lot of weak, open cheese are being placed on the market. Any cheese of this kind is likely to result in lowering the price, and will also affect the reputation of Canadian cheese. There never was a time when it was more important that the reputation of our cheese should be maintained. I would advise that special attention be given to the manufacture of June cheese, so as to insure good keeping qualities.

To do this it will be necessary to set the milk a little sweeter and to use a little more salt, than when making quick ripening cheese. Particular attention should be given to the cutting and cooking of the curd to see that it is of uniform size, and firm and elastic by the time there is sufficient acid for the removal of the whey. I would advise not more than .1 on the alkali or 1-4 on the hot iron, with the whey drawn close to the end. Be sure and have the curd well dried out before matting. Nothing is more essential to insure firm body, uniform color and smooth texture in cheese, than having the curd carefully cooked and properly dried, with the proper amount of acid at time of matting.

I would also remind the makers of the importance of good finish, weighing the cheese correctly, and having the weights and brands neatly stencilled on the boxes. Several complaints have been received from the Old Country, regarding these defects.

WHY DOES THIS SPIRIT EXIST?

From Farm and Dairy.

Editor Farm and Dairy, — Why should breeders of the different breeds of pure bred dairy cattle combat each other? It is a mystery and puzzle to me, why breeders in a small, selfish spirit, should belittle the merits of other breeds. They have a much greater and more important mission to fill. In this great Dominion of ours there should be and is room and a place for all the different breeds. All breeds have good qualities and characteristics of their own that are required to fit them for particular purposes and sections.

Aside from all this, however, our people will never be all of one mind. Some men will choose one and others another breed. I venture to say that we will not live to see the day when there will be no room in this vast, great country of ours for all the improved cattle that we can produce and we have all the rest of the world as a market.

Take Holland, for example, the home of our black and white Holsteins, where practically all the cattle are pure bred. One would think that there could be no demand for their cattle but the fact is that they are selling higher than ever before. They are demanded in all other countries and the same will hold good of the countries where other breeds are produced.

If we, instead of fighting each other, directed our energies to the still further improvement of our chosen breed, and to doing missionary work among those who still keep scrub and unprofitable cows of which cows there are thousands and tens of thousands yet in the country, which could, and should be replaced in time with pure breds, we will fulfil a mission worthy of ourselves and the good cause. So let us join hands in the good cause, and let our motto be: "Friendship among ourselves, improvement of our favorite breed, and eradication of the unprofitable scrub dairy cows."—H. Ballert, Oxford Co., Ont.

SOME GOOD RECIPES

From Farm and Dairy.

CHOCOLATE CREAM

Half a cake of chocolate dissolved in a little hot water; put in a cup of milk, and when it boils have five eggs well beaten and mixed with two cups of milk; pour the hot chocolate into the eggs and milk; stir well and boil all together for a few minutes; sweeten to your taste. To be eaten cold.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE

Take one quart of thin cream, sweeten and flavour; whip the cream until all in froth; then take half a box of gelatine, put in as little cold water as possible to soak, and set on the stove to melt; have the gelatine cool before putting into the cream; have a dish already lined with cake or lady-fingers, pour the cream into it and set on ice until ready for use.

CUSTARD JELLY

Make a boiled custard of one quart of fresh milk, three eggs, one teacup of sugar, two teaspoonsful of vanilla; dissolve a half box of gelatine in as little water as will cover it, and when well dissolved add the juice of one lemon and two glasses of sherry; stir the custard well while pouring in this mixture; strain through a sieve into a mould. Serve with whipped cream, flavoured with wine and vanilla, or with rich cream.

TOMBS OF SAND.

Cape Cod's Treacherous Shoals and the Prey They Grip.

Secrets of the sands of Cape Cod are constantly being disclosed by the sea. In the many storm tides that flood the desolate beaches the hulks of staunch ships lost along the coast on the half hundred miles of beaches between Monomoy at Chatham and Wood End at Provincetown are frequently exhumed from tombs of sand.

Sometimes a wreck appears that has been buried a century or more, as in the case a few years ago of the bones of the British frigate Somerset, whose timbers of oak were disclosed to view back of Provincetown, near the life saving station in Dead Men's Hollow. The Somerset was lost on Peaked Hill bars Nov. 2 or 3, 1778.

Once a vessel is gripped by the sands the process of entombing her goes on with great rapidity, the craft appearing to sink steadily in the yielding beach. All around the doomed vessel the sand piles up in great drifts, like snow. Every crevice of the hull is quickly filled. The sand rises in a solid barrier outside it and flows about it as the tides flood the shelving beaches. Finally it sweeps over the wreck, and the process of entombing goes on until the entombed craft is covered many feet deep.—Boston Globe.

SURE TO BE MISSED.

A Famous Cook's Lament on the Death of His Royal Master.

The most successful book that was published by William Harrison Ainsworth during his first year of business, says Mr. S. M. Ellis in his biography of the English author and publisher, was a cookbook. It was "The French Cook," by Louis Eustache Ude, "the Gil Blas of the kitchen."

This unique study of the culinary art brought in a handsome sum to the astute young publisher who had purchased the copyright, and the book was in the hands of every gourmet in London.

Ude had been chef of Louis XVI., of Mme. Letizia Bonaparte and then of the Earl of Sefton, at a salary of 300 guineas a year. At another time he presided over the culinary department of the Crockfords, but his favorite master was Frederick, duke of York. When the royal gormand died his bereaved chef pathetically ejaculated:

"Ah, mon pauvre duc, how much you will miss me, wherever you are gone to!"

Odd Word Survivals.

Far away back in the days when the English language was in its infancy there were poets who wrote of the blossoms on the trees in the spring. They didn't write "blossom," however, but used the word "blow" and made it rhyme with snow and flow. When they wished to sing of the beautiful mass of apple or hawthorn flowers they called it the "blowth." This word is found in the dictionaries, which assert that it is obsolete, but it is very much alive in Rockingham county, N. H., and York county, Me. The orchardist thereabout speaks of a "full blowth" or "light blowth" on his trees in May and predicts a good or poor "set" of the fruit in consequence.

"Orts" are supposed to be refuse of some kind, but in the valley where the Piscataqua river mingles with the sea "orts" is the name for "swill."—Exchange.

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Blood Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box. 9

Tricking the Bobby.

A Dublin eccentric a short time ago entered a purveyor's shop and bought a ham. Having paid for his purchase, he requested that it should be hung outside the shop door, saying that he would call back for it. The customer then paced up and down outside the shop till a policeman came in sight, and just as the man in blue caught his eye he grabbed the ham and bolted. The constable, however, soon collared the thief, as he thought, and hauled him back to the shop. Having explained the nature of the alleged crime to the shop assistant, he asked the latter to charge the offender.

"Bet," said the assistant as he realised the joke, "it's his own ham. He was quite at liberty to take it in any circumstances he chose."—London Answers.

Weatherwise Birds and Fish.

The seagull makes a splendid living barometer. If a covey of seagulls fly seaward early in the morning sailors and fishermen know that the day will be fine and the wind fair, but if the birds keep inland, though there be no haze hanging out toward the sea to denote unpleasant weather, interested folk know that the elements will be unfavorable. Of all weatherwise fish the dolphin is the most remarkable. During a fierce gale or a storm at sea the mariner knows that the end of it is near if he can see a dolphin or a number of that fish sporting on the high sea waves.

Unanswered Letters.

These letters that I ought to write—
Their haunting memory thrills
Me with a vague uneasiness,
Like thoughts of New Year's bills.
Too long have I neglected them,
And now I see them there,
All mutely looking up at me
With a reproachful air.

They haunt me in my waking hours,
They haunt me in my dreams.
I know to all my waiting friends
My fault enormous seems.
I know I ought to answer them—
My guilt I will allow—
Yet I don't feel like sitting down
To write those letters now.

VERNON KILLINGBECK SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR ON EACH OF TWO CHARGES OF THEFT

Sentences Imposed by His Honour Judge Huycke Will However Run Concurrently---Prisoner Was Convicted of Stealing $54 From Robert Brown and $46 From John Doig, the Jury in the Second Charge Bringing in a Recommendation of Mercy.

THE EVIDENCE HEARD AGAINST THE PRISONER

Vernon Killingbeck was this morning sentenced to one year in the Central Prison, Toronto, on each of the two charges of theft, sentence to run concurrently.

Before passing sentence, His Honour, Judge Huycke, asked the prisoner if he had anything to say, or if he had any reason to offer why sentence should not be passed upon him.

Killingbeck stated that he would like to have a chance to do better, and get away from the bad fellows he had been going around with. He promised that if given a chance he would do better, and would settle down with his father and mother.

His Honour then addressed the prisoner, in part as follows: "If you had done as you should have done, you would have had a brilliant future before you. I do not mean that you have lost that chance, or that you have not now got a future before you, but you seem to have started wrong. I don't want to discourage you. You should be a man, but I cannot understand what made you do the deeds you have committed. These deeds were most contemptible. You preyed upon a poor cripple and a foreigner, showing great cowardice. If you had stolen from a person of your own age and in a similar condition, it would have been less serious in the eyes of the public. I do not say it is not wrong to steal at all, but I mean it would have been less cowardly, had you preyed upon one of your own age, but a poor cripple and a man not capable of defending or looking after himself, is a shame. I cannot allow you to go on suspended sentence as you were out on suspended sentence when you committed this crime. If, when you get out, you go on as before, your life will be a wreck. I will have to send you to prison, and I am going to communicate with the prison authorities, and make arrangements, if possible, to give you a chance and teach you something. I want you to make yourself worthy of their teaching and care. You have been proven guilty of a shameful crime, and I feel quite sure that you are ashamed of it." His Honour then passed sentence, as stated above.

Mr. G. N. Gordon addressed the Judge on behalf of the prisoner and drew His Honours' attention to the fact that the prisoner was only 17 years of age, and that it was more on account of the bad company he kept, that he became degraded, than of his own will. He asked that he given a short sentence, as he would be mixed up with genuine criminals, who would make him a criminal for all time.

The Jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the charge of stealing the $54 from Robt. Brown, as twelve minutes to four, and while they were out, he was tried on the charge of stealing $46.00 from John Doig. The jury on this charge, were out over an hour before they could come to any conclusion, but finally came in with a verdict of guilty. He was therefore proved guilty of both offences.

John Doig, in his case, was put in the box, and gave about the same evidence, as he did in the police court.

John Dougherty, who was with Killingbeck when the theft was committed, was put in the box and related the story the same as before.

Killingbeck was then put in the box, and stated that what Dougherty said was all lies. He said that when he met Dougherty in the lavatory of the Grand Hotel, that evening, he said: "I got away with a buck and a few johns." But he denied having any reference to John Doig. His explanation of his statement was that, a green horn at the game of poker, was called a "John," and an old hand, a "Buck."

He said on that particular night, he was playing poker with a few farmers from up near Lakefield and some other fellows, and it was out of this game that he made the money. He admitted that he had worked less than two months since Christmas. He denied, however, that he had been supporting a certain girl for the last two months, but admitted spending some money on her. He also denied knowing anything about the girl having gone out of the city, when he was arrested. On this charge, neither counsels made any address to the jury, and after the Judge explained their duty to them, they went out, and remained out for over an hour, returning with a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation for leniency.

LONDON IN A STATE OF SIEGE

LONDON, JUNE 15—The fleets, fleets are assembling off Spithead for the Coronation naval review: London seems in a state of siege. In all thoroughfares leading to the route of the royal procession are wooden barricades with gateways that will be closed on the two great days, and have been erected to keep the crowds back, instead of the cavalry used formerly.

As a result traffic is terribly congested, and merchants are complaining.

Canadian and other visitors from abroad are pouring into London, and many Englishmen, and their families are flocking to the seaside and country places to get away from the crowds.

SAID HE WAS STABBED IN A SCUFFLE

And as a Result of This Complaint on the Part of Hotel-keeper Man Named Crawford Goes To Gaol For Month

COULD NOT PAY FINE

Peter Fairbairn, Morgan and Crawford appeared in the police court this morning charged with being drunk and disorderly. They all pleaded guilty.

The first named was also charged with vagrancy. It is alleged that the accused were mixed up in a free-for-all fight, which took place at one of the local hotels on June 8th. The proprietor and bartender were also implicated. During the affray the proprietor was stabbed in the leg by Crawford.

Fairbairn put up a strong plea for leniency on the ground that he was crippled with rheumatism at times, which incapacitated him from work, and if he was given his freedom he would go to work at once. He hails from Toronto.

They were all dismissed with the exception of Crawford, who was charged with stabbing. He was fined $10, to be paid forthwith, in default of which he was to get 30 days, at hard labour. As the necessary cash was not forthcoming he will have to put in the thirty days.

Why spend six months learning shorthand? Our catalogue will convince you that 30-Day Shorthand is eminently satisfactory. Moon College 282-286 Yonge St., Toronto.

With The 24th Batt. At Camp

Peterborough Contingent Arrived at Petawawa in Good Shape in Spite of Heavy Showers Upon Their Departure and Arrival

A MINOR ACCIDENT

Special Staff Correspondence.

Camp Petawawa,
June 14th, 1911.

The 24th Battery, C.F.A. arrived here Monday morning at 7.15, men and horses all in good condition, considering the rain storm that they were in when leaving the Peterborough armouries. The journey from Peterborough was rather tiresome, both to men and horses. After the Battery were quartered, another heavy rain storm took place, which kept up continuously until last night, but this morning old Sol was good and the "bunch" feel happy. The men and horses are A1. Sickness is scarce—one of the 24th took a fainting spell through over exertion. One of the men got his leg tangled in a horses heel rope, and while the horse was struggling to get free—as the horse was not accustomed to being held by a heel rope—the man's ankle was wrenched severely, but he is expected to be in harness in a day or so.

There are about 4,000 men in the "canvas" city, and they seem to be a jolly lot of fellows and all seem to be well pleased, far better than last year. There is a camp canteen on the grounds, which opens from 5.30 p.m. and closes at 9.20 p.m. Ale and soft drinks are dispensed, and the men are certainly behaving themselves fine. So far no one has been put in any of the guard rooms, which speaks for itself.

There are a couple of bands in camp which in itself keeps the boys out of mischief.

Old "Dad Probe" looks as if he is going to give us some good weather, for which the camp outfit will thank him, as it is an awful job to keep harness and clothing looking spick and span and neat. The 24th will not be backward as far as appearance and discipline is concerned. They are a very nice lot of fellows and should bring credit back to their places of abode in Peterborough.

Promotions have not been fully completed, but your correspondent will inform you of them later on.

All are feeling tip top and there are no shirkers. Lieut. Fee, the newly appointed officer, is more than making good and is the right man in the right place. Major Young is again acting brigadier of the brigade (10th) and as usual is "Johnny on the spot."

More anon. All are well.

JACK.

The 3rd P. W. D. arrived here safely yesterday and are looking well and seem to enjoy their surroundings, and also meeting old acquaintances.

Sale Of Ice Cream Sundays

Crown Attorney, of Toronto, Says That Ice Cream and Soft Drinks May be Sold if They Are Consumed on the Premises

NOT CARRIED AWAY

TORONTO, JUNE 15.—In reference to the sale of soft drinks, ice cream, and cigars on Sunday, the Crown Attorney, in a letter addressed to the Staff-Inspector, states in part:

"On Sunday a restauranteur cannot sell candy to be taken away, this being the trade of a merchant. Neither can he sell soft drinks, or cigars, to be taken away. He may, as part of his business, sell soft drinks to be consumed on the premises. Judge Middleton says nothing about selling drinks with a meal in his judgment, nor does he dispose of Sunday ice cream sales, which question was not before him. The proprietor of a cigar stand in a hotel may not sell cigars on Sunday."

There were a number of cases today in Magistrate Kingsford's court brought by Staff-Inspector Kennedy.

Ernest Graham, keeper of a booth at Centre Island, admitted selling soft drinks to be taken away, and was fined $10.

A. E. Pritchard was fined $10 for selling a box of candy on Sunday.

Arthur B. Sansburg of Centre Island, paid $5 for selling cigars.

The others are prepared to fight their cases, and though several asked for a week's remand, the Crown prosecution refused, upon the grounds that the coming Sunday must be protected. The cases will come up tomorrow. They are: Rosa Snodden, Ossington avenue, selling bananas; E. Maw, H .R. Webb and Emil Brooker of Sunnyside, the first two allowing ice cream bricks to be carried away, the latter cigars; A. B. Harbun and Albert Hart of the Beaches, allowing ice cream bricks to be carried away, and Kostos Noukas of West Toronto, the same.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT C. G. E. LAST NIGHT

Mr. Hugh Darke, Well Known Resident of Peterborough, Caught in a Large Drive Belt and Was Whirled Around Until His Head Struck a Pulley---Was So Badly Injured That He Died in the Ambulance on Way to Hospital.

COMMUNITY SHOCKED BY THE TRAGIC AFFAIR

Caught in an immense wooden pulley carrying a two-foot wide belt, crushed and mangled almost beyond recognition, was the horrible fate that befell Hugh Darke, an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company, last night, at about 10 o'clock. The victim was employed on the night shift in the Test Department, and was engaged in bolting down a large motor to the floor, in order to make a test of the machine, when the accident happened. The only eye witnesses of the tragedy were William Cartner and another employee. When the former was seen by an Examiner representative, he was completely unnerved, and was only able to give a very incoherent statement as to how the accident happened. It appears that the deceased was sitting on a large belt, engaged in putting on the finishing touches to the work of fastening the machine to the floor, when William Cartner, who was similarly engaged a short distance away, rose to his feet, and looked across at the man who was in charge of the switch or means for starting the machine. The latter, taking this as a signal, turned on the power. The victim of the unfortunate accident, who was sitting on the belt, close up to the pulley, was immediately drawn in, and whirled around the pulley, his head being dashed against the machine, to which the pulley was attached. When the machine was stopped he was still breathing and a hurry call was sent in for doctors and ambulance. In the meantime the mutilated body of the victim was removed to the surgery.

Dr. Boucher and Dr. Williamson were soon on the scene and after a hurried consultation, it was decided to remove the injured man to the hospital, but the victim succumbed to the severe injuries received, while on the way.

Deceased, who was fifty years of age, had only been employed at the Works a short time. He was well known and highly esteemed, and his death comes as a great shock to a wide circle of friends.

The remains were removed to Comstock's undertaking establishment.

He is survived by a sorrowing wife mother, and two sons and one daughter.

The funeral announcement will be found elsewhere in these columns.

Trying To Save Life Of Italian Woman Petition Circulated

SAULT STE. MARIE, ONT., JUNE 15.—A letter has been received here from the Hon. Sir Allen Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, in regard to the case of Mrs. Aurelino Neopolitano, under sentence of death for killing her husband. The letter is sympathetic, it intimates, however, that it will be impossible for the woman to know the result of the petitions on her behalf before accouchement takes place. So far the shorthand notes of the trial have not been transcribed, and it will take several weeks before the record of the case can be laid before the Governor-General.

The date of the execution is set for early August.

A very determined effort is being made to secure a commutation of the death sentence. American papers, mostly of the lurid kind, have been trying to work up sympathy for the woman, by making it appear that she was compelled by her husband to live a life of shame. They gloss over the fact that the woman, who killed her husband by hacking his head off with an axe while he slept, had been attacked with a knife by her husband when he returned from a trip and found her with another man. Various charitable and woman's organizations in Canada are also acting for sentimental reasons.

In due course the case will be dealt with. The evidence will be submitted to the Minister of Justice, who reads all cases carefully. His Excellency also closely examines the testimony in all such matters.

Four Women Executed.

The records of the Department of Justice show only four executions of women in Canada. They are:

Phoebe Campbell, hanged in London, Ont., May 6, 1872.

Elizabeth Workman, hanged in Sarnia, May 26, 1875.

BOY LOST HIS LIFE IN TRYING TO RESCUE BALL

HAMILTON, JUNE 15.—While his little playmates watched him climb under a T. H. & B. freight train at the corner of Ferguson avenue and O'Reilly street, to get a ball that had rolled under a car, George Gauthier, the five-year-old son of Edward and Mrs. Gauthier, 177 Young St., was run over and fatally injured last night. The boy got the ball and was starting to crawl out with it when the train started. His right leg was caught under a wheel. His screams attracted the attention of passersby, but his companions were so horrified that they ran away.

The boys were playing "catch" on a vacant lot at the corner. The T. H. and B. tracks cut across the end of the lot and there was a train standing on the south track. The ball had rolled under the cars several times before and the lads had crawled under the cars and thrown it out. They did not notice the engine on the train when the Gauthier boy went after the ball, but a brakesman on the other side, who could not see the boys, signalled for the engineer to go ahead. The train pulled out of the yards and the crew was unaware of the accident that had happened, the engineer not learning of it until half an hour after the boy had been removed to the hospital.

The lad's right leg was run over just above the ankle. Several cars passed over the mangled limb before he was dragged off the track. Dr. Balfe was called and he had him removed to St. Joseph's Hospital where he amputated the foot. The shock and other injuries the lad sustained hastened his death, which occurred shortly before 10 o'clock.

The boy's father was one of the first to arrive at the corner where the accident happened. He was standing at the corner of Young street and Ferguson avenue and heard the scream. He ran down and when he saw that it was his son he nearly fainted. The boy recognized him and before the ambulance and doctor arrived he called for his "daddy" and "mama."

Five minutes after the emergency call was received at police headquarters Patrol Driver English had the injured boy at St. Joseph's hospital.

The neighbours in the vicinity say they are surprised that more accidents have not occurred at the corner, and they think a watchman should be employed there.

Coroner Dickson was notified and ordered an inquest.

The sentence crumpled him [illegible] but he soon recovered and said [illegible] verdict came as a surprise; I [illegible]ok the peoples money with best intentions, and if I had been acquitted I hoped to make good the people's money lost through me."

THE JUDGE'S SUMMING UP IN CELEBRATED FRASER CASE

Mr. Justice Teetzel summed up the finding of the Divisional Court on the Michael Fraser case in his judgment as follows:

"I agree that the proper conclusion upon all the evidence is that Michael Fraser at the beginning of the proceedings herein and at the present time, although not a lunatic in the popular acceptation of that term, was and is a person of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself or his affairs, within the meaning of the Lunacy Act; and that the Toronto General Trust Company should be appointed committee of the estate, and that Margaret Fraser should, until further order, be appointed committee of his person.

"His child-like submissiveness under the extraordinary circumstances of his alleged marriage, when he neither expressed surprise at the unexpected and violent methods of his invaders, or a word of condemnation against those who are alleged to have kept him from pursuing his business, the improvident disposition of substantially all the property under his control to his alleged wife, the absolute obliviousness of his mind to every business transaction he has had since the death of his brother John, his complete lack of knowledge or appreciation of the property he had at the time or since, and of the fact that he has divested himself of his property, demonstrate to my satisfaction that he is no more fit to manage his own affairs or to act as executor of John's estate than would be a child of tender years.

"As the concomitant result of old age, accelerated probably by his habits of life or disease, his mind and memory have become so impaired that, in my opinion, this Court would be recreant to its duty if it did not appoint a committee to protect him and his estate, not only against his own acts, but against the efforts of designing persons, in whose hands he would be an unresisting victim. The costs should be disposed of as indicated by my brother Middleton."

THE NOVA SCOTIA ELECTION.

(Globe.)

The returns from Nova Scotia show that the Conservative Opposition will be stronger in the Legislative Assembly than it has been during the past three Parliamentary terms. In the House elected in 1906 there were thirty-four Liberals to four Conservatives; in the one before the last the numbers were thirty-five to two; in the one preceding that there were thirty-five to three.

In 1894, two years before Mr. Fielding retired to the Dominion Parliament, the Conservatives numbered twelve, and in 1890 ten. They held office from 1878 to 1882 with a majority of thirty-one to seven. With the exception of that term, the average Conservative minority from 1871 to 1894 inclusive was exactly twelve, so that after the somewhat abnormal Liberal majorities of the past three elections, parties have arrived back at about their normal relative strength.

The contest which ended yesterday was, apparently by common consent, fought out on purely local issues. Very little was said about Dominion politics, and the subject of reciprocity was almost completely ignored. The most prominent topics of discussion were education and good roads, and as the Murray Government has an unimpeachable record for good administration, while the community is generally prosperous, the Liberals counted from the first on a safe victory. Had there been any doubt about the result the majority would have been larger.

WHENCE COME THE ATTACKS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The Hamilton Spectator says there is Canadian general election campaign material in the making in Great Britain just now. There is. It is not the first time that the Northcliffe crowd have tried to make capital out of Canadian politics, and incidentally assist the Tories on this side of the Atlantic. The criticisms of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude at the Imperial Conference and which have been so persistently cabled over, have all appeared in the extreme Conservative and Imperialistic newspapers of England. Tory papers like the London Morning Post and the London Standard and Globe, have never forgiven Laurier for refusing to join with them in their campaign against the Asquith Government—a campaign which has ignominiously failed in several general elections.

These are the papers which created, largely out of their own imagination, the German war scare; that asserted that Britain's trade was all going to the dogs in the face of extraordinarily emphatic official figures to the contrary; that accused the Liberal ministry which includes such men as Sir Edward Grey, of being "little Englanders"; that fought for the retention of the autocratic powers of the classes against the masses; that opposed Lloyd-George's great measure to make the rich landlords pay their just share of taxation; that have in and out of season condemned as traitors those who would give Ireland Home Rule.

British statesmen have felt it an honour to be criticised and maligned by these organs of the rich, and it is almost an evidence of the correctness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude that they should now be levelling their guns at him.

Between the Northcliffe and Morning Post crowd and the Canadian Conservative party there has for years been a close alliance, and the recent attacks on Laurier have been made with a view to creating election campaign material both in England and in Canada.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD AND CANADA'S PARTICIPATION IN BRITISH WARS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

In view of the pother that the Canadian Conservatives are making these days over the principle laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that Canada's participation in British wars should be discretionary rather than automatic, it is interesting to note that this was also the idea of their old party chieftain, Sir John A. Macdonald. In an articla contributed to the Nineteenth Century in 1888 by Mr. W. E. Foster, the founder of the Imperial Federation League, we find this statement:—

Sir John Macdonald, the Premier of the Dominion, made a very short speech at the last Federation Conference, but there was a passage well worth remembering. He said he believed "that the whole policy of Great Britain was opposed to aggressive war and in any other war the people of Canada would be ready to take their share of the responsibility and the cost."

Sir Wilfrid's attitude seems to be identical. Of course in any war that involved the honour of the Empire, Canada would, in the first place, be compelled for self-preservation to participate and, in the second place it would desire to take its share of the "responsibility and the cost." But, as has been pointed out by the Toronto Star, Britain is always more or less involved in petty wars and as to whether this country should participate in these is a question for the Canadian Parliament to decide.

Sir John Macdonald's statement in 1888 was hailed by the former apostle of Imperial Federation as a great concession. Up to that time it had never been expected that Canada would take any part in British wars. Now when Canada has by practical proof shown its intention of abiding by the policy laid down by Sir John, the party which knew him as leader is pleased to pronounce that policy absurd and traitorous.

The fact is the opposition of the Canadian Conservative party to the attitude of Sir Wilfrid on Imperial questions and the opposition of the Conservative party to a scheme of reciprocity with the United States which they previously advocated can be explained in only one way—it is all a battle between the ins and the outs.

SPRING SEEDING OF CLOVER

From Farm and Dairy.

Prolonged drought and hot weather in May caused much of the spring seeding of clover in western Ontario to be a total failure. All clovers winter-killed badly and old meadows other than timothy are not common this season. Even the timothy seems to have been injured more or less by the unfavorable winter, and hay bids fair to be an exceedingly light crop. The situation is a serious one to all dairy farmers who look to clover hay as an indispensable portion of the ration for their cows. No clover for this year and no new seeding coming on for clover meadows next year is indeed serious; but a solution to the problem now confronting many farmers in the matter of their hay crops is to be found in alfalfa.

Some farmers in the vicinity of St. George, Ont., interviewed by an editor of Farm and Dairy last week are about to seed some of their winter-killed meadows to alfalfa, sowing it as soon as possible now without a nurse crop. These men expect to cut from one or two tons of alfalfa hay to the acre in September from this seeding and secure sufficient growth afterwards to carry the alfalfa through the winter. Next year with the possibility of from four to five tons of good alfalfa hay to the acre they need not feel any anxiety about being without red clover as many will be owing to the peculiar conditions of this season.

Those who in years gone by have sown alfalfa late in June or in early July, sowing it without a nurse crop, have met with splendid success. Mr. J. W. Clark, of Cainsville, who until some years ago farmed 220 acres below Brantford, told our representative last week that he had secured splendid results from alfalfa sown in this manner and that one virtually ran no risk whatever in sowing alfalfa now, provided preparation was thorough and plenty of moisture is available.

It looks like a good proposition to plow up a meadow, having a prospect of one half ton yield per acre of inferior hay, in order that two tons of good alfalfa may be secured this fall and then have a splendid showing for a four or five ton crop next season. The plan is worth a trial.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

I'M going to promulgate one of my queer schemes to-day.

People who don't like queer schemes are respectfully warned to keep off the premises. Trespassers prosecuted to the full extent of boredom.

The queer scheme is this—the establishment of an introduction bureau in every town and city of any size in the country.

When I was an active newspaper woman I was sent, one hot night, to the weather bureau to get a list of the hottest cities all over the country and sundry other details—you know the kind of hot weather story all papers occasionally print. The full reports from the different cities had not yet come in and while I was waiting for them I conversed with the assistant clerk of the weather, a very pleasant, well mannered young man.

In the course of the conversation he confided to me that he had come to the city only a few weeks ago and had found it a very homesick place.

Said he, "I'd like to meet some nice girls. I like girls and I'd like to have someone I could take to the theatre occasionally and things like that. But how's a fellow going to meet them if he doesn't know anybody in the city? Of course, I could pick up a girl on the street any time, or I suppose I could make friends with a girl over the wire, but that isn't the kind of girl I want. I want to meet some nice girls."

Just then the fact that it had been 102 in the shade in Tacoma, which was the last of the bulletins I had been waiting for, arrived, and I had to hurry back to my paper, so I wasn't able to hear any more of the young man's tale of woe.

But with me, along with the bulletins, I took a new born idea — the introduction bureau.

There must be other young men in the big cities all over the country situated as this one was.

There undoubtedly are myriads of young girls in the same position.

Now why can't each city have an introduction bureau, whose purpose should be to bring these young people together and introduce them in a perfectly respectable way?

The bureau could be made up of representatives from all the churches, all the young peoples' societies, and all the social settlements and similar institutions in the city.

A young person desiring its services would be supposed to bring references from some responsible person in the home town.

These would be presented to the secretary of the introduction bureau. The bureau would then see that the young man or woman was introduced to other young men and women. Furthermore, through the societies represented in it and through parties and entertainments which it could give itself, the bureau would do all possible to see that the strangers had plenty of healthy social life.

This is merely a suggestive outline of the introduction bureau's make-up, duties and scope. If such a bureau were ever really established it would undoubtedly work itself out in its own way.

Now is it really such an absurd and impossible scheme?

Truly, I can't see it so.

To-Day's Developments In The Stock Markets Examiner's Daily Letter

NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 16.—Sentiment in speculative circles is more bullish as a result of the resiliency displayed and the pools are showing more activity than in months. Cheap money explains the better feeling, though the prospects for good crops are also serving to keep Wall street cheerful. The drought appears to have been broken in the south-west, the decline in the price of wheat and cotton being suggestive in this regard, while in the north-west the situation is most promising. It is, of course, too early to take large harvests as assured, but the progress so far has certainly been gratifying and unless all signs fail, the results must tend to stimulate general business. Talk of improvement in the iron and steel industries continues to be heard, the railroads being expected to show more interest in supplies, their buying this year being far below normal. The Erie is credited with being in the market for equipment, especially locomotives, which hardly indicates that the railroads expect the present trade depression to be prolonged. The report is current that the B .R. T. will accept the subway proposition of the committee, though the Interboro is making propaganda against the same in order to force delay. More savings banks are reducing their interest rates to 3 1-2 per cent, which action should tend to cause investment in good stocks and bonds. We are bullish hon the future of the market and would buy the better class issues for higher prices though not neglecting good profits on bulges.

New York, N.Y. June 16.—Realising on the better crop and steel trade news may continue in the market temporarily, but we would conservatively buy good stocks, especially the rails and the active low priced issues on any heaviness.

Un. Pac., Reading, Cl), St. P., Lehigh, R. I., and Sou. Pac. are reported by specialists as showing offerings in greater volume on rallies of a point or two. Gt. Nor. and Nor. Pac. show temporary reactionary tendencies.

New York, N. Y., June 16.—London 12.30, p.m., Consols are unchanged at 79 7-8 for money and 79 15-16 for the account.

General rains reported in Oklahoma, improving crop prospects there. Rain in Nebraska has helped wheat conditions.

Liverpool, 1.30 p.m., wheat 1-4 higher, corn 1-4 higher.

NEW YORK, N.Y., JUNE 16—Rains Thursday were heavy and general in that part of South Dakota, from which the unfavourable crop news has been coming.

Private cable advices received by one of the largest international copper houses in this city say that the stocks of copper in Europe decreased 1,800 tons during the first half of the current month.

TWO NEW FACES ON PETERBORO'S LINE-UP

Creswell Will Pitch and Gonter, Late of St. Michael's College Will Play Short Stop---Big Game at Riverside Park is Called for 3 O'clock and Promises to be a Battle all the Way Down the Line.

There will be two new faces on Peterborough's line-up for the Midland League game against Port Hope which is called for 3 o'clock sharp, at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon. Stan. Cresswell, the south-paw flinger of the Collegiate Institute team, will be on the slab, while "Dutch" Conter, the well-known football and baseball player of St. Michael's College, will play short. Otherwise the line-up will be the same as in the last two games. Cresswell has been selected to open the engagment and is in the best of shape. Pitchers Quinlan and Rahmel will be kept in reserve in the event of emergencies. Port Hope will have the strongest line-up in action they have had this season, and expect a victory over Manager Quinlan's agregation, placing their confidence in Pipher, their new pitcher, who showed great form against Bowmanville last week, and in the all-round improvement the last two weeks of practice have made in the team. The Port Hope line-up includes Carmichael, the professional hockey player; Rowden, who used to play such good ball in the outfield for the old Port Hope team, and who is playing a sensational game at third Ike Waters, the battle-scarred veteran of a thousand frays, and other well-known players, including Burgoyne, a new first baseman. With this galaxy, Blake Crawford can see nothing but a win, and he may be doping it right, but Manager Quinlan cannot see it that way.

Riverside Park is in grand shape, reflecting great credit upon the grounds keeper. The base paths are being skinned and the diamond was never in better condition.

A big attendance is expected for to-morrow's battle. The admission charges have been placed at 15c for ladies, 25c for gentlemen, and 10c. for children.

DAY TO HAVE MATCH WITH 'LIL ARTHA

Toronto Star: There is no bunk about this bout at Dublin, Ireland, between Bob Day, the Canadian heavyweight champion and Jack Johnson. Day leaves in two weeks for Ireland.

"I'm in fair shape now, and I'll stoke all the way over on the boat, and should land weighing under 200 pounds," said Day last night. "We used to go it in the steam trawlers in the Old Country and stoke on them to get our weight down. If they give me six weeks I'll be in shape and will make Mr. Johnson hustle for eight or ten rounds anyway."

ANOTHER SURPRISE

Coldsprings Team Beaten 4 to 1 in a Church League Fixture

There was another surprise in the Church Soccer League last night, when the strong Coldsprings team ran into an unexpected defeat at the hands of the Park Street eleven. Park Street won and won easily, the score, when it was all over, being 4 to 1, in their favour. Coldsprings, by reason of their recent victories over the leading teams, were fancied over a second division team, but Park Street, with several new players on the line-up, played a grand game, and had easily the better of the argument. The feeling was expressed by the spectators that had the Baptists the same line-up earlier in the race they would have been in the running all the way. Mr. Pagett of the C. G. E. team, refereed satisfactorily.

BAPTISTS ANNUAL CONVENTION

Successful Sessions Held in the Gilmour Memorial Church—Rev. J. R. Webb is the New Moderator.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

The annual convention of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches, which has been meeting in the Gilmour Memorial church, Smith, was brought to a successful conclusion this afternoon. The convention has been a great success all through, the reports presented having been of a most encouraging character. Some fifty delegates were present and were most hospitably entertained by the congregation of the Gilmour church.

The meetings began on Wednesday morning when the Ladies' Mission Circles held a meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. W. D. Scott. At the afternoon meeting reports were given by the leaders of the various Mission Circles and Mission Bands throughout the Association. These messages indicated that the different organizations are in a healthy, flourishing condition.

In the evening Dr. J. L. Gilmour, of Toronto, gave a splendid address upon "Home and Foreign Missions." The Association was given a cordial welcome by Rev. J. R. Bonner, and the moderator, Dr. W. J. Scott, replied suitably.

Thursday morning the sessions of the Association began at 9.30 o'clock. The Association represents about twenty-two churches in the counties of Peterborough, Northumberland, Durham, Hastings and Prince Edward Island. Membership reports were given and it was indicated that there had been a total increase during the year of 63, while last year a decrease of 31 was reported. The increase was gratifying to the delegates as a sign that the tide was turning.

In the afternoon, Rev. Dr. Gilmour gave an address on "Our Educational Work," referring in passing to the fact that McMaster University is likely to lose its Chancellor, Rev. Dr. McKay.

Rev. J. S. Laflair, of Port Hope, preached the annual sermon, choosing as his subject, "Taking up the course and being faithful unto death." Rev. C. C. Smith, of Belleville, gave an address on "Shall We Abandon Our Mid-week Service," dealing very powerfully with the means that could be adopted to improve prayer meetings.

The appointment of the officers for the ensuing year resulted in the election of Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray street Baptist church as Moderator, and of Rev. Wm. Carey, of Campbellford as Clerk.

At the evening service Rev. C. C. McLaurin, Baptist Mission Superintendent of Alberta, gave an address on Western Missions, dealing in realistic fashion with the conditions of Baptist church pioneering in his province.

Rev. C. J. Cameron, of Toronto, spoke of "Mission Problems of Immigration and of the New Settlements," illustrating his address with one hundred and fifty splendid slides shown by a powerful oxy-hydrogen lantern. The address brought forth powerfully the work done by the Home Mission Band of Ontario and Quebec.

To-day's Sessions.

This morning resolutions were passed dealing with the White Slave traffic, the social purity question and the need of instruction to the young on the question, the International Arbitration question and the duty of Baptists in regard to church union.

Rev. John Galt, of Picton, gave an address on "Adequatae Missionary Giving," followed by a conference.

This afternoon there was a conference on Sunday school work, led by Rev. Mr. Playford, the General Superintendent, followed by an address on Foreign Missions by Rev. A. A. Scott, of Tuni, India, bringing the sessions to a close.

POST CARD COLUMN

June 15, '11.

To the Mayor and Corporation of the City of Peterborough—

Worshipful Sir, and Gentlemen of the City Council—Permit me to have the honour to address you to say that Charlotte street on [illegible] night is very badly lighted, and [illegible] on Saturday I thought your detective was some low, hold-up blackguard. Also, that if your police court were more worthy of its name there might be less perjury and more justice; and that the police cells are a disgrace to those responsible for the above mentioned, disgraceful conditions. Gentlemen,

Yours respectfully,
W. A. BAILEY.

The above is a copy of letter which please insert to-day at my cost.

PRESENTATION TO EX-DEP. CHIEF GRANGE BY THE MEMBERS OF FIRE DEPT.

A Handsome Gold Locket Was Presented to Ex-Deputy Chief Grange Last Night---Chief Howard Made an Appropriate Address.

A very pleasing event took place last night at the Central Fire Station, the occasion being the presentation of a handsome gold locket to Mr. George Grange, ex-Deputy Chief of the Peterborough Fire Department. Mr. Grange has, during his three years of faithful service on the brigade, gained the friendship and esteem of his fellow employees. Following are a few remarks that were made by Chief Howard, concerning the faithful services that were rendered by Mr. Grange to the Fire Department:

"During the three years' faithful service of Mr. Garnge, I feel safe in saying for myself, and, believing as I do, that it voices the sentiments of the men who are here, that it has been a pleasure to work with Mr. Grange. I do not believe that there is another place in Canada or the United States, where a Chief and Assistant Chief have worked so well together as Mr. Grange and myself have. The good habits and stability of character of Mr. Grange have endeared him to me more than any other man during my twenty-one years' experience as a fireman. The men came to me and requested that I give them permission to collect a sum of money for the purpose of purchasing a suitable token of remembrance. This permission I granted on one condition—that the request be unanimous. Mr. Grange has kindly offered his services at any fires that we may have to contend with and it gives me great pleasure to know that he is leaving our midst without any hard feelings towards the Department. Several men have left the Department for various reasons. One man I have in mind, who left the Department in bad graces, I am sorry to say, has wound up in the penitentiary.

In conclusion, I trust you will have abundant success and prosperity in your new field of labour."

Mr. Grange made a suitable reply. Words failed him, he said, to convey his feelings. He was deeply grateful for this kind token of esteem, and he would always look upon the gift as one of his most treasured belongings. Mr. Grange referred to the good will and friendly assistance which his fellow-firemen had always shown towards him, and he wished them to feel that mere words could not express his gratitude to them.

Firemen McBride, Munden and Kidd made a few appropriate remarks relative to Mr. Grange's gentlemanly conduct while on the Department, after which the gathering broke up with a hearty handshake all round.

Chief Howard also thanked the press for their kindly attitude towards the Department.

APPLIED FOR POSITION OF CHIEF

(Lindsay Warder)

Mr. Kidd, of Peterborough, was in town last night and sent in his application for the chief of police. Mr. Kidd is at present connected with the fire department of Peterborough, but previous to that served six years on the police force in London, Eng., and has his honourable release from that body as well as the highest recommendations from the chief. He has also diplomas for life saving, ambulance work, and is altogether a very competent, all round man.

LOOKING LIVELY

Things are looking lively on the spot recently occupied by the Houdrey Pea Factory. Part of the dérelicts have been cleared and boathouses have been in course of erection, to replace those consumed by the conflagration, for several weeks, until at the present time, no less than ten stand ready for use.

SEASON OPENS

The fishing season opened this morning, and from Chemong Park come reports of some good sport with the finny tribe this morning. There was a big fleet of anglers out and some of them at least met with luck. Mr. Jack Patte bagged a 'lunge weighing twelve pounds. Mr. J. M. O'Brien landed another that weighed 8 3-4, and Mr. W. Pearson was successful in hooking a six pounder. Burke of Canton O., captured splendid bass, the aggregate of which was nine pounds.

AGREEABLY SURPRISED

Mr. John Sergant and Mr. W. J. Kidd, two gentlemen of the Grand Jury, expressed themselves as agreeably surprised at the clean and orderly condition in which they found the Lakefield House of Refuge during their recent tour of inspection. There are about thirty-five inmates in the institution at the present time. The jury found everything in first-class condition and a general air of orderliness pervaded throughout the whole building. This reflects credit on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bevis and daughter, upon whom the care and responsibility of the supervision of this building rests.

CREAM GRADING.

From Farm and Dairy.

If a system of cream grading were adopted by all creameries and districts it would certainly lead to an improvement in the quality of cream. Where, however, there are several wagons on a line, some for joint stock factories and others for private parties and each trying to outdo the other, the first one to introduce the grading system would have uphill work.

We collect the cream in large tanks. The teamster, therefore, would have to do this work. We try, and generally do get reliable men but they are hardly qualified to undertake the grading of cream. The sample taken for testing is not large enough to grade by excepting for richness and even if it were the question of the opposing creameries would still have to be met.

Until the creamery business is conducted more on the lines of a large corporation and we are in a position to demand certain grades, the only way that I can see to improve the quality of cream is for each creamery man to discuss the matter with his patrons and try in a quiet way to show the benefits of having the best quality and so gradually work up to a higher plane.

L. A. Southworth, Victoria Co., Ont.

What effect will reciprocity have on the price of butter? At the present time in the United States there are immense quantities of rather low grade butter in cold storage. Butter was very high on the other side for a couple of years and much was put into cold storage for further advance and is now being dumped on the market with a consequent depression in price. Opponents of reciprocity therefore tell us that should this pact become law, we creamery men would be put out of business.

I believe that for strictly fresh goods prices in the United States over now are better than they are here. And we will plan to give them goods of first quality. The opposition to reciprocity is easily understood. All that is necessary is to know the owners of the papers opposing the movement. Has the owner of the

ORCHARDS WORKED ON RENTAL

From Farm and Dairy.

A. McNeill, Chief, Fruit Division.

A marked feature of the apple industry, particularly in Ontario, this year, will be the large number of orchards that are being worked on rental. A large amount of English capital has been invested through two or three companies in this enterprise. In addition to this, many local apple dealers have changed their methods and, instead of buying the fruit in the orchard as in former years, they have proceeded to rent the orchards. This has been done on so large a scale that it cannot fail to materially affect the quantity and quality of apples produced in Ontario orchards. Nearly all these rented orchards will be thoroughly sprayed and many of them have been pruned. In most cases there is a stipulation for cultivation of the ground as well.

It is safe to say that there will be several thousand trees this year receiving cultivation, pruning and spraying that did not receive treatment in former years. The immediate effect of this good treatment will be to increase the crop materially the first year. In estimating the crop for this season, therefore, liberal allowance will have to be made, over and above the usual estimates, for the increased quantity and quality of the apple crop as the result of this feature. This is mentioned for the purpose of bringing to public notice this new element in the crop estimate, although there is yet insufficient data to make any definite estimate of the actual condition of the crop as the result of these new ventures.

Another important feature is the formation of a large number of new co-operative associations in all probability the number will be double that of last year. Many of these of course are very small and may not do effective work the first year. The tendency, however, is towards a better quality of fruit, and a larger quantity from the same number of trees. It would be an easy matter, by only ordinary good care to double the merchantable quantity of Ontario apples. This cooperative movement is not confined to Ontario. The development in Nova Scotia is even more noticeable and it is not at all improbable that the larger portion of the crop will be handled cooperatively there, if not this year, in the very near future. A large increase in the number of associations is also noted from British Columbia.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT

From Farm and Dairy.

The journal of the Royal Agricultural Society of England for 1910 contains the final report of an interesting experiment conducted at the Woburn Experiment Station in the testing of varieties of alfalfa grown from seed of French (Provence), American and Canadian origins. The test was begun in 1905, and in 1910, the fifth and final year, the report says: "The plots were all dug up in preparation for a more extended experiment with lucerne, the Provence and American varities having, to all purposes, come to an end, though the Canadian variety would have continued to yield a crop for some years more."

In every year, the yield of the Canadian variety was markedly higher than that of either of the others, the excess over its nearest competitor, the American, being five tons, ten cwt. in 1909 and seven tons, six cwt. in 1910.

Three varieties from the Argentine were also tested but failed completely, being attacked by a fungus from which the earlier-sown plots were free.

The luxuriant growth of the Canadian sort kept down the weeds effectively, while the lighter yield on the other plots resulted in their being overrun with them. The name of the Canadian seed originally used in this experiment is not known, but the test is being renewed this year with Canadian seed of known origin, in comparison with varieties obtained from Turkestan, Provence and other countries.

KIT'S COLUMN

In a very few days a notable procession will be passing through certain parts of old London on its way to Westminster Abbey. England will be making history in the crowning of a comparatively youthful king and queen. The eight cream-coloured horses with the pink noses and the bad tempers will be led in gorgeous trappings by no less gorgeously arrayed grooms and outriders. The king and queen—whom God preserve—will sit in the great coach of state—in which the humble writer once sat in stately silence and darkness for the space of five minutes, during which she felt greater and grander and perhaps a thousand times happier than the noblest queen of them all—and they will bow to right and left, poor things, till their backs ache, and they will look as if they were enjoying themselves all the time. In the old queen's time—may her kindly memory never leave us!— springs were attached to the cushions, so that the weary work was alleviated, slight exertion only being necessary, but somehow, I don't think Queen Mary will descend to any compromise of that kind, she is so thorough in everything she does. Moreover, she is comparatively young, and very active and strong and may not be easily fatigued. The king does not care about this bowing and scraping and would do away with it if he could, but he goes nobly through it though always with a serious face. King Edward enjoyed a royal progress thoroughly as did his lovely queen, now gone from pomp and glitter, and still mourning for her popular husband, whose reign was all too short.

Speaking of Queen Alexandra reminds one of the churlish and unworthy comparisons between queens which of late have been going the press rounds. Queen Victoria—the greatest and most worthy queen England ever had—has had stupid remarks made about her in a Canadian newspaper. As though such could affect her memory of our affectionate remembrance of her! And Queen Alexandra is just now being compared with Queen Mary. Someone writing from London affects to give away toilet secrets of the widowed queen, and comments in a very shabby manner on certain purely personal matters relating to the loveliest woman that ever sat on a throne. Why should not Queen Alexandra try to preserve that beauty and to keep that youthful appearance which pleased her husband and which every woman prizes the more when old Time is executing his unholy jokes upon her face and figure? There is something contemptible in comparisons and odious insinuations at all times, but especially in this case when one woman sits mourning in retirement thinking of the glories of the past when she reigned, a beloved and beautiful queen, and only a few years ago blazed her way through London, her splendid king and husband by her side, and the other who is about to take her place on the great throne of England, wearing the crown and bearing the sceptre. The queen-mother is content to be forgotten in the pageantry of the moment. She does not force her presence or her personality upon the world. She is alone with her attendants and the little faithful four-footed friend whom her husband loved. She has her dark, her bitter, her lonely hours — she asks nothing of the world. Surely we can respect her grief and privacy and offer her in silence thoughts of love and sympathy without accounting ourselves disloyal to the radiant couple whose hours are so golden to-day.

"Oh, hey! Oh, hey!" sang the bonny lass,
Oh, hey! and wae is me!
There's siccan sorrow in Scotland
As een did never see!"

The tremendous exodus from Scotland to this country, while good for Canada, is reducing the old land to the sad state of Ireland, where in the little villages you will find only old people and children. These Scotch lads and lassies do not leave their country for their country's good. The drain on Scotland is at the rate of 1500 a day and sometimes it runs higher. The census returns have revealed the fact—beyond dispute—that Scotland is being depopulated because certain millionaires—American for the most part—want game preserves and deer parks. Glad as we are over here to welcome the emigrants, there is something saddening in the fact that our betterment should mean Scotland's decay. Population is not increasing to any extent in Scottish cities. The duke of Sutherland owns 1,300,000 acres, and steady emigration has materially reduced the population in every parish he owns. He is by no means a bad landlord, but he, with the other 69 landowners, wants "silence" for his game.

Breed the game birds but let the children go—for that's what it amounts to. What wonder that Socialism is progressing! Think of London just now with all the riches that lie within her — and all the hunger and shame and misery. I have in mind the splendid array of the Jubilee, the balls and receptions and reviews—no whit less splendid in their day than now at this coronation. What jewels the women wore, what gowns—what a riot of roses garlanding royal opera box and balcony, the petals dropping in rosy showers as long ages ago they dropped at the banquets of Nero and Caligula—and just around the corner, down through that archway and out on a by-street, what squalor and hunger and shameless vice and ragged clothes! Wretched human outcasts shiver in the mist that rise from the river while in the great hotels which overlook the Thames Embankment; guests sit at a dinner, and the jewels of the women on the balconies almost outshine the stars. And the vain world wags on adoring only money, and exploiting its own vanity while the children starve and the women sell themselves in the streets. As Robert Blatchford says:

"Oh, honourable and wise, and holy superior persons, if every man and woman in England were fed and clothed and taught; would England be less happy? If the superior persons had health and plenty and happiness, could they need more? And in a few years you will be dead. And there is no wealth, and no power, and no joy in the grave."

And so it is. The Irish landowner had no use for poor peasants, so the young man and woman went forth to the new country and left only the old man and woman and the little grandchild, and the stretches of silent land. And now, the "silence" is necessary for the deer, and the grouse and the partridge, that the millionaire Yankee and the "Scotch" Carnegie may have "moors" and woods and fields to shoot over and the Scotch peasant can get out like his Celtic brother over the water.

Well, what is Scotland's loss is Canada's gain, and there is a big welcome and a big place here for the lads and lasses, but.

"There's siccan sorrow in Scotland

There have been fashions in crowns as in other things. The evolution of the royal crown of England from William the Conqueror's time to the present reign as shown by a London print is extremely interesting. William's crown resembles a desk ornament more than a circlet for royal brows, though we are told it was a "crowne of goulde" from which rose four spikes. William Rufus had five spikes on his with balls on the top and a distinctly feminine bunch of tassels at each side. Edward the Confessor wore a mitre crown as befitted a saint and hermit. Adelaide's crown (second wife of Henry I) would delight the heart of any modish queen of to-day, being a circlet adorned with four long hat pins with shamrock tops. Henry Third's queen wore a charming low coronet adorned with trefoils and buttons, just like the fillets the fair maids of to-day tie round their locks. Margaret of Anjou, queen of Henry VI, wore a like modest crown. The most pretentious crown, up to its time, was that of Queen Elizabeth, which was a "cap" crown within four semi-arches heavily jeweled with every rare and precious gem that could be found in the world. The crown of ill-fated Charles I resembled the Cap of Maintenance sewn with jewels, but that of Charles II was even more magnificent. He had in fact two crowns—the crown of St. Edward, and the imperial crown. Both had arches and circlet depressed at the top and carrying the orb, sceptre and three famous gems; the immense ruby won by the Black Prince of Crecy, the splendid pale sapphire two inches long, and the large emerald one in Edward the Confessor's ring.

A new state crown was made for the coronation of George IV—more ornate than any of its predecessors, but a far more graceful one was built for Queen Victoria. The gold circlet, cross and orb were covered with jewels, and besides the Confessor's great sapphire, and the famous ruby, it held 1783 diamonds, 277 pearls, 16 sapphires, 11 great emeralds, and four rubies. It was, in fact, the Charles II crown modified.

The crown which King George V will assume on the twenty-second of this month is of the usual Cap of Maintenance shape, but above the band of ermine glitter the two great Cullinan diamonds which can be removed and worn as a pendant by the queen. Queen Mary's crown is light and lace-like in effect and no doubt will not press too heavily on her royal brow. She wears it far back on the high mount of short curled hair which we are familiar with as being the accepted coiffure of royalty.

The most splendid of all crowns was that of Queen Victoria with its blaze of jewels, while the most beautiful was the diamond crown of Queen Alexandra with the famous Koh-i-noor, that storied stone around which lies the tragedy and romance of India.

Not to have read Arnold Bennett these days is to argue oneself unread. He draws life in exquisite mosaic. He once put some time in as editor of a Woman's Page—that Mecca of all budding young lady journalists — and he answered Correspondents with tact and patience. Can I say more in his favour? He learned much. There is no finer school in which to learn human nature—especially woman nature, and here Mr. Bennett discovered for himself those big little heart secrets which women either hide altogether or reveal to the journalist over an assumed name. He learned likewise details of feminine attire which his man-mind would never otherwise have grasped. Thus we got the perfect "Old Wives" and "Auntie Hamps." Recently that prince of caricaturists, Mr. Max Beerbohm, tried his hand on Mr. Bennett, and produced a caricature that is a delight to those who knew "The Old Wive's Tale" from cover to cover. The author is depicted in the foreground with the chimneys of Bursley of the Five Towns behind him, and with a cradle and child on his left and a grave on his right hand. Beneath is the legend:

"Personally Conducted Tours from the Cradle, Through Bursley, to the Grave."

SAVE THE HAIR

Newbro's Herpicide Will Do It

No woman should have poor, thin, scraggy hair, and no man need become bald. Poor hair and final baldness are due to the dandruff germ.

Newbro's Herpicide will destroy this little germ and stop the hair from falling. Further evidence of this is found in a letter from Mrs. F. Neilsen, of Tomah, Wis. She says: "I fought the worst kind of dandruff for nine years. I have been using Herpicide now one week, and my scalp is healthy, the dandruff has gone and the itching has stopped. It is the best remedy for scalp diseases I ever saw, and I have seen many."

Don't subject yourself to disappointment and expense by accepting something claimed to be "just as good" as Newbro's Herpicide. These off brands may possibly be good, but why take chances? The genuine and original dandruff germ destroyer can always be obtained. If your own druggist has nothing but "just as good" articles, go to McDermid and Jury, who will furnish you with Newbro's Herpicide and guarantees one dollar size bottles. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

PRIZE FOR THE BEST ESSAY ON RECIPROCITY

Mr. Geo. N. Baker, of Syracuse, N. Y., became a resident of Peterborough two weeks ago, and at that time assumed the duties of Superintendent of the Lundy Shovel and Tool Co. His first action in becoming a resident of Peterborough, augurs well for his future usefulness as a citizen.

He has always had an interest in the young, and after the pending Collegiate Institute examinations, proposes to offer a prize of a gold ring for the best essay on the subject of "Reciprocity," prepared by a member of the graduating class. The competitors are at liberty to take either side of their subject, the award to be made by an independent authority. The essay must be within two hundred words. The prize will in due time be on display in one of the jewelry stores of the city. It is to be distinctly understood that the competition is not to take place until after the conclusion of the examinations.

Doctors' Prescriptions

The one department which shows the real worth of a Drug Store, is where Doctors' Prescriptions are compounded—and in this department we are pleased to tell you that our Prescription business has increased over 50 per cent. since we opened in our new store.

When the Nugent Drug Co. opened up in 326 George St. we chose as our motto—"Quality, Skill and Care, the Ladder by which we Climb." We have tried to consistently live up to this motto—and this partially explains the above increase.

We have constantly on the premises two Graduates of Pharmacy to oversee this department—and now to further safeguard our patrons, we have put in a complete line of Squibbs' Chemicals for the sole use of our Prescription Department. We can safely say none are purer than Squibbs'.

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

The trouble was that the standard was low, and this was because the men had nothing to gain by steady, conscientious work, and also because the boss did not understand them, nor distinguish between them. For instance the foreman ought to have got the work of two men out of me but he wouldn't have, if I hadn't chosen to give it. That held true also of Rafferty and one or two others.

Now, my idea was this: that if a man made a study of these men who, in this city at any rate, were the key to the contractor's problem and learned their little peculiarities, their standards of justice, their ambitions, their weakness and their strength, he ought to be able to increase their working capacity. Certainly an intelligent teamster does this with horses and it seemed as though it ought to be possible to accomplish still finer results with men. To go a little farther in my ambition, it also seemed possible to pick and select the best of these men instead of taking them at random. For instance in the present gang there were at least a half dozen who stood out as more intelligent and stronger physically than all the others. Why couldn't a man in time gather about him say a hundred such men and get better treatment, possibly better pay, possibly a guarantee of continuous work, make of them a loyal, hard working machine, with a capacity for double the work of the ordinary gang? Such organization as this was going on in other lines of business, why not in this? With such a machine at his command, a man ought to make himself a formidable competitor with even the long established firms.

At any rate this was my theory, and it gave a fresh inspiration to my work. Whether anything came of it or not it was something to hope for, something to toil for, something which raised this digging to the plane of the pioneer who joyfully clears his field of stumps and rocks. It was a different future from that which had weighed me down when with the United Woollen. This was no waiting game. Neither your pioneer nor your true emigrant sits down and waits. Here was something which depended solely upon my own efforts for its success or failure. And I knew that it wasn't possible to fail so dismally, but what the joy of the struggle would always be mine.

In the meanwhile I carried with me to my work a note book and during the noon hour I set down everything which I thought might be of any possible use to me. I missed no opportunity for learning even the most trivial details. A great deal of the information was superficial and a great deal of it was incorrect, but down it went in the note book to be revised later when I became better informed.

I watched my fellow workmen as much as possible and plied them with questions. I wanted to know where the cement came from and in what proportion it was mixed with sand, and gravel and stone for different work. I wanted to know where the sand and gravel and stone came from and how it was graded. Wherever it was possible I secured rough prices for different materials. I wanted to know where the lumber was bought and I wanted to know how the staging was built and why it was built. Understand that I did not flatter myself that I was fast becoming a mason, a carpenter, an engineer and a contractor all in one and all at once. I knew that the most of my information was vague and loose. Half the men who were doing the work didn't know why they were doing it and a lot of them didn't know how they were doing it. They worked by instinct and habit. Then, too, they were a clannish lot and a jealous lot. They resented my questioning however, delicately I might do it and often refused to answer me. But in spite of this I found myself surprised later with the fund of really valuable knowledge I acquired.

In addition to this I acquired sources of information. I found out where to go for the real facts. I learned, for instance, who, for this particular job was supplying for the contractor his cement and gravel and crushed stone—though as it happened this contractor himself either owned or controlled his own plant for the production of most of his material. However, I learned something when I learned that. For a man who had apparently been in business all his life, I was densely ignorant of even the fundamentals of business. This idea of running the business back to the sources of the raw material was a new idea to me. I had not thought of the contractor as owning his own quarries and gravel pits, obvious as the advantage was. I wanted to know where the tools were bought and how much they cost—from the engines and hoisting cranes and carrying system down to pick-axes, crowbars and shovels. I made a note of the fact that many of the smaller implements were not cared for properly and even tried to estimate how with proper attention, the life of a pick-axe could be prolonged. I joyed particularly in every such opportunity as this no matter how trivial it appeared later. It was just such details as these which gave reality to my dream.

I figured out how many cubic feet of earth per day per man was being handled here and how this varied under different bosses. I pried and listened and questoned and figured even when digging. I worked with my eyes and ears wide open. It was wonderful how quickly in this way the hours flew. A day now didn't seem more than four hours long. Many the time I've felt actually sorry when the signal to quit work was given at night and have hung around for half an hour while the engineer fixed his boiler for the night and the old man lighted his lanterns to string along the excavation. I don't know what they all thought of me, but I know some of them set me down for a college man doing the work for experience. This, to say the least, was nattering to my years.

As I say a lot of this work was wasted energy in the sense that I acquired anything worth while, but none of it was wasted when I recall the joy of it. If I had actually been a college boy in the first flush of youthful enthusiasm I could not have gone at my work more enthusiastically or dreamed wilder or bigger dreams. Even after many of these bubbles were pricked and had vanished, the mood which made them did not vanish. I have never forgotten and never can forget the sheer delight of those months. I was eighteen again with a lot besides that I didn't have at eighteen.

My work along another line was more practical and more successful. What I learned about the men and the best way to handle them was genuine capital. In the first place I lost no opportunity to make myself as solid as possible with Dan Rafferty. This was not altogether from a purely selfish motive either. I liked the man. In a way I think he was the most lovable man I ever met, although that seems a lady-like term to apply to so rugged a fellow. But below his beef and brawn, below his aggressiveness, below his corseness, below even a peculiar moral bluntness about a good many things, there was a strain of something fine about Dan Rafferty. I had a glimpse of it when he preferred going back to the sewer gas rather than let a man like the old foreman force him into a position where the latter could fire him. But that was only one side of him. He had a heart as big as a woman's and one as keen to respond to sympathy. This in its turn inspired in others a feeling towards him that to save my life I can only describe as love—love in its big sense. He'd swear like a pirate at the Dagoes and they'd only grin back at him where'd they'd feel like knifing any other man. And when Dan learned that Anton had lost his boy he sent down to the house a wreath of flowers half as big as a cart wheel. There was scarcely a day when some old lady didn't manage to see Dan at the noon hour and draw him aside with a mumbled plea that always made him dig into his pockets. He caught me watching him one day, and said in explanation "She's me grandmither."

After I'd seen at least a dozen different ones approach him I asked him if they were all his grandmothers.

"Sure," he said, "Ivery ould woman in the ward is me granmither."

Those same grandmothers stood him in good stead later in his life, for every single grandmother had some forty grandchildren and half of these had votes. But Dan wasn't looking that far ahead then. Two facts rather distinguished him at the start; he didn't either drink or smoke. He didn't have any opinions upon the subject but he was one of the rare Irishmen born that way. Now and then you'll find one and as likely as not he'll prove one of the good fellows you'd expect to see in the other crowd. However, beyond exciting my interest and leading me to score him some fifty points in my estimate of him as a good workman I was indifferent to this side of his character. The thing that impressed me most was a quality of leadership he seemed to possess. There was nothing masterful about it. You did not look to see him lead in any especially good or great cause, but you could see readily enough that whatever cause he chose, it would be possible for him to gather about him a large personal following. I was attracted to this side of him in considering him as having about all the good raw material for a great boss. Put twenty men on a rope with Dan at the head of them and just let him say, "Now, hiys—altogether," and you'd see every man's neck grow taut with the strain. I know because I've been one of the twenty, and felt as though I wanted to drag every muscle out of my body. And when it was over I'd ask myself why in the devil I pulled that way. When I told myself that it was because I was pulling with Dan Rafferty I said all I knew about it.

It seemed to me that any man who secured Dan as a boss would already have the back-bone of his gang. I didnt ever expect to use him in this way, but I wanted the man for a friend and I wanted to learn the secret of his power if I could. But I may as well confess right now that I never fully fathomed that.

In the meanwhile I had not neglected the other men. At every opportunity I talked with them. At the beginning I made it a point to learn their names and addresses, which I jotted down in my book. I learned something from them of the padrone system and the unfair contracts into which they were trapped. I learned their likes and dislikes, their ambitions, and as much as possible about their families. It all came hard at first, but little by little as I worked with them I found them trusting me more with their confidences.

In this way then the first summer passed. Both Ruth and the boy in the meanwhile were just as busy about their respective tasks as I was. The latter took to the gymnasium work like a duck to water and in his enthusiasm for this tackled his lessons with renewed interest. He put on five pounds of weight and what with the daily ocean swim which we both enjoyed, his cheeks took on a colour and he became as brown as an Indian. If he had passed the summer at the White Mountains he could not have looked any hardier. He made many friends at the Y. M. C. A. They were all ambitious boys and they woke him up wonderfully. I was careful to follow him closely in this new life and made it a point to see the boys myself and to make him tell me at the end of each day just what he had been about. Dick was a boy I could trust to tell me every detail. He was absolutely truthful and he wasn't afraid to open his heart to me with whatever new questions was bothering him. As far as possible I tried to point out to him what to me seemed the good points in his new friends and to warn him against any little weaknesses among them which from time to time I might detect. Ruth did the rest. A father, however much a comrade he may be with his boy, can go only so far. There is always plenty left which belongs to the mother—if she is such a mother as Ruth.

As for Ruth herself I watched her anxiously in fear lest the new life might wear her down, but honestly, as far as the house was concerned, she didn't seem to have as much to bother her as she had before. She was slowly getting the buying and the cooking down to a science. Many a week now our food bill went as low as a little over three dollars. We bought in large quantities and this always effected a saving. We bought a barrel of flour and half a barrel of sugar for one thing. Then as the new potatoes came into the market we bought half a barrel of those and half a barrel of apples. She did wonders with those apples and they added a big variety to our menus. Another saving was effected by buying suet which cost but a few cents a pound, trying this out and mixing it with the lard for shortening. As the weather became cooler we had baked beans twice a week instead of once. These made for us four and sometimes five or six meals. We figured out that we could bake a quart pot of beans, using half a pound of pork to a pot, for less than twenty cents. This gave the three of us two meals with some left over for lunch, making the cost per man about three cents. And they made a hearty meal, too. That was a trick she had learned in the country, where baked beans are a staple article of diet. I liked them cold for my lunch.

THE FIVE-FINGERED ORANGE

Grows Exactly the Shape of a Half Opened Hand

A most weird-looking fruit is the five-fingered orange. It grows exactly the shape of a half-open hand. Even the nails are identical, hard pointed and claw-like, tipping the orange flowers with a length equal, in some cases, to three inches.

It is no freak, but a proper kind of orange, belonging to a special variety. That tree itself is a rugged little shrub that does not average more than five or six feet in height in its native home—Japan. It does not grow straight as the ordinary orange-tree should but is curved in all directions.

Even the branches grow in spiral or twisted forms, so that the width of the tree is often greater than the height. The fruit itself is of a pale yellow color, of a pure lemon hue, growing greenish toward the stem. The size is immense, considering the smallness of the tree, the largest ones measuring when mature fully ten inches from the wrist to the point of the middle finger, including the nail.

But the fruit is not good to eat, though what it lacks in flavor it more than makes good in perfume. Perhaps the strangest thing about this perfume is that it is the fruit and not the flower that is odorous.

THOSE BRAINY SCOTS!

A noted Scot is Viscount Haldane, lately plain Mister. He was partly educated at the University of Gottingen. Discussing the German Universities the other day his lordship remarked:—

"Scottish students have quite a reputation at Gottingen. A great German professor said to me:—

"'I think we shall have to exclude young Scotsmen from our schools. They no sooner come here than they begin to cheat.'

"'Cheat?' said I, alarmed. 'How so?'

"'Why,' said the professor, 'they only pay for tuition for one, but they learn enough for three or four!'"

THE BACHELOR'S WISDOM

Whether you be men or women you will never do anything without courage.

Prefer diligence before idleness, unless you esteem rust before brightness.

God does not look to see if the hands are full. He looks to see if they are clean.

An opportunity is like a pin in the sweeping: you catch sight of it just as it flies away from you, and gets buried again.

WITH A ROYAL ACCOMPLICE

The Queen, like so many members of our Royal Family, is blessed with much tact. On one occasion she was present at a banquet in a large provincial city, when her Majesty sat next to the Lord Mayor.

Soon he confessed that he was greatly worried about the printed address he had presently to read, and that he would far sooner "say a few words" that he really felt.

"Very well, then," replied her Majesty sympathetically; "let us hide that printed speech behind this flower-pot!"

This they did, and the Lord Mayor made a little speech that rang true instead of reading his address.

CARUSO'S BIG LOSS

It is announced that Signor Caruso hopes to benefit by a complete rest and change of air, the physicians having forbidden him to sing this season. The loss sustained by the great tenor through what was in the first place regarded as an ordinary slight cold is estimated at about $60,000, as he has been compelled to refrain from singing for a period of twelve weeks.

PROFITS ON "GLADSTONE"

Morley's "Gladstone" has beaten all records in biographies. The cheque sent by the publishers to the proprietors of the book—that is, to the Gladstone family—for the first year's accounting, was greater by several thousand pounds than Longman's famous $100,000 cheque to Macaulay for the profits on the third and fourth volumes of his History of England.

THE ELEPHANT'S TRUNK

Naturalists consider the elephant's trunk the most marvellous miracle of Nature. It contains over 4,000 muscles—a great many more than are found in the entire human body. By aid of these muscles the trunk will uproot trees or gather grass, lift a cannon or a nut, kill a man or brush off a fly. It is as useful as a hand with all its fingers to supply the elephant with food, and, being hollow, is used as a suction pump. No other animal has a single member or organ so perfect and so useful.

TREMENDOUS WHALE

The largest whale of its type of which there is scientific record was captured recently off Port Arthur, Texas. He measured 63 feet in length, and was estimated to be about 300 years old. Capt. Cob Plummer, mate of a United States pilot boat, sighted the monster in the shoals off the jetties, and the crew of his vessel captured the mammal. The huge body was towed ashore, exhibited and much photographed before being cut up.

IT TELLS ABOUT THE SANE HEATING OF HOMES

"Comfort & Health" tells about a heating system.

It goes into the question of healthful heating and shows how important a part the furnace plays in the health of your family.

It explains the principle of warm air heating; how the furnace draws in fresh air, warms it and circulates it moist and pure to every room in the house.

Then it tells about the perfect warm air furnace—the "Hecla." The furnace that cannot leak gas. The furnace that gives heat without dust. The furnace that is easy to run, and what is more important, how that furnace—The "Hecla"—saves you one ton of coal in seven.

"Hecla" Furnace

Cannot Leak Gas

Gas in the house is disagreeable. Often it proves dangerous to the health. The "Hecla" is so constructed that gas cannot get into the living rooms. The places where gas leaks occur in the ordinary furnace are fused in the "Hecla" so that gas cannot possibly find an outlet.

Saves 1 Ton in 7

The "Hecla" uses only six tons of coal where others use seven. It is the steel ribbed fire pot that makes this saving. How flanges are of steel plate placed close together and welded into the fire pot get more heat from your coal is told in "Comfort & Health."

CORONATION LETTER

The Great Event Is Creating a New Interest in the Empire and the Dominions Beyond the Seas—The "Coronation Exhibition"

(Special Correspondence).

London, June 7.—As the Coronation season is at last upon us, and all the magnificent preparations are dazzling the eyes of the crowds, everybody is talking of nothing but Coronation. Even the country folk from all parts of the kingdom are pouring into London, and they also are talking of the special wonders in their town of the Coronation novelties with which the natives are being startled. The humble tradesmen in every remote village are boasting of their wares, which are no longer commonplace and familiar, but made attractive to the village folk as "Coronation." You are forced to buy Coronation suits, Coronation hats, and even the grocer has for a novelty Coronation coffee and Coronation sardines. The City tramcars swarm with the happy country visitors, who boast of what they are doing at home to honor the Coronation. The nation, not alone in proud London, but in the most obscure rural districts, is Coronation mad.

Triumphal Arches

In the West End and in all the opulent thoroughfares, the borough councils are vying with one another in the splendor of their triumphal arches and costly decorations. The ancient City of Westminster has made Whitehall glorious in its wealth of garlands and festoons and huge white and gold pillars, with statuettes and other striking emblems, to express their enthusiasm, which must not be understood as less than the Metropolitan City itself. The very bridges are now lined with stands for the millions of sightseers on the great day. The busy city folk are rushing eagerly, while there is yet time, to snatch a fearful joy at the Coronation Exhibitions, of which there are several, which the least curious of Englishmen are talking of as "sights," such as they may never see in the world again. As a result of this increasing interest in the coming events, there is a new interest in the Empire and the Dominions beyond the seas. The thought that the ceremony which is to crown him at Westminster on the 22nd of June is really the apotheosis of King George of the British Empire and to make every man prouder of his citizenship, not alone of this great city, but of the great dominions in the distant parts of the globe.

At Shepherd's Bush

The Festival of Empire is one of the features of King George's Coronation. But it is not alone, and no loyal visitor to the old city will miss a sight of the Coronation Exhibition at Shepherd's Bush, which is no less interesting than the fascinating Festival of Empire at the old familiar Crystal Palace. The Canadian or New Zealander who is bewildered with the sights of London in what may now appear as the grey City's wedding garb, should spend a day or several days at the latest of Colonial Exhibitions at Shepherd's Bush, where a few years ago the "Franco-British" gave Canada her first glorious opportunity of bringing to stay-at-home Britishers the wonders of the new English nation out in the Western prairies. The Coronation Exhibition is not merely a show and an entertainment for our guests while waiting here for the events of next month, but it is meanwhile a liberal education to Englishmen, and hardly less to our fellow citizens who have crossed the seas, to see here at the heart of the Empire the first realistic sights of Canada and Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, and the mystery and the glamor of England's great dependency in the East. To the visitor to whom London is new and strange, the run on the bus from Oxford Street, past Marble Arch and through Bayswater and on for miles to the gates of the White City, will appear as the most amazing revelation of London's magnificent distances and its wondrous opulence. Along the heavy fringe of the giant Hyde Park the mansions of Britain's territorial and commercial aristocracy show startling signs that here in Western London live the captains of the world's industry and wealth, and that here, as we approach Shepherd's Bush, are the gates that open to us the wonders of Britain's possessions, which are the sources of London's wealth.

Tableaux of the British Isles

The principal entrance to the Coronation Exhibition in Uxbridge Road very appropriately introduces the stranger from over-seas to an entrancing glimpse of the world-famous places in the Old Country. Those who have not the opportunity to make a tour of the old Homeland may take away vivid and delightful memories of its scenic beauty and be provided in advance with a mass of statistical information of commercial and social and historical and literary facts, the understanding of which makes the appreciation of the trip so educative and so interesting. A stroll through the excellently organized series of tableaux inside the gates of the Coronation Exhibition might almost satisfy the hurried Cook's tourist of the British Isles, for in a few hours he may feel he has done everything and seen all that the scampering tourist sees with guide-book in hand, and with impressions as vivid and intelligent perhaps, without all the expenditure of time and the fatigue of travel. In the entrance hall are tableaux showing facts of Britain's social and industrial progress. Through picturesque roads the astonished stranger comes upon glorious scenery of "Merrie England." The first of the tableaux is the coast of Devon and the fleet of warships, and ocean steamships in the harbor of Devonport. Then the delighted stranger is surprised by a panorama view of Windsor Castle and again with the lovely scene of Shakespeare's little town on the banks of the Avon. To right and left of the road extend romantic scenes read of in books, and now beheld for the first time.

Greatness of the Empire

Every one of the tableaux seems actual as nature itself. Here is Arundel Castle and the county where the Normans landed. Here again is Pembroke Castle and Cardiff Docks, and the natural sublimity of the scenery of "Wild Wales," and a succession of fascinating views of Harlech Castle, and Carnarvon, where the King's son is to be honored next month as Prince of Wales. Passing on the road, which the colonial has never seen before but in dreams, he comes upon a glorious series of tableaux of apparently actual views of the Green Isle, the Vale of Avoca, Blarney Castle, and the shores of Killarney. A turn of the road brings the tourist under the magic spell of Bonnie Scotland. Here surely is Edinburgh, and there is Stirling Castle, and there the bonnie banks of Loch Lomond, and the Canadian feels a glow of pride as he recognizes the noble University of Glasgow on the heights of Kelvinside. It is all so beautiful and wonderful that the stranger is grateful to the artists who have brought the Old Country before his very eyes. The visitors are of course mostly British, whose knowledge of their own land is chiefly accidental, and whose ignorance of the British Empire is now being enlightened since their schooldays by colonial exhibitions and their improved intercourse with their colonial cousins. The buildings in the White City are meant to teach geography and to bring pictures of far-off scenes familiar to Britishers.

Having passed along the delightful paths through the lands of romance at home, the visitor reaches the strange seaports of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand and Canada, and the attractions of the other out ports of Empire. Britain's intimate relations with Canada make the Canadian exhibit the most fascinating of all in the Exhibition. The beautiful palace, in the most conspicuous site in the White City, which is emblazoned with the magic name of "Canada," is as yet hardly complete, for the Exhibition was officially opened less than two weeks ago and cannot be quite finished and ready for careful inspection for some weeks to come.

Already we see in all the Exhibition so far that the attention of the sightseer is being attracted not so much to the industries of Greater Britain as to the natural resources and physical features of the new country. Canada at the Coronation Exhibition will probably create an impression such as the traveller may actually bring back after an actual glimpse of the outstanding features of the country. The building as yet is occupied with the realistic tableaux, giving the Britisher and the European emigrant an idea of what to expect in the "Land of the Prairies." The building represents the actual wilds of the North American Indians, the awful mountain heights, and forests, and the towns and cities, from Quebec to Vancouver. After a stroll through "Canada" at the White City, I have seen Quebec and Ottawa and Montreal, and now realize the greatness of the prairie wheatfields and the illimitable wealth of the forest and mining lands. For bringing its attractions to the eyes of intending emigrants nothing could be more alluring than "Canada" at the Coronation Exhibition. The pictorial representations of settler from the Old Country and of the Titanic greatness of the country's natural resources from British Columbia minerals to the water power of Niagara, are bound to make this one of the most impressive of the Coronation Exhibitions. The sights of the White City are all on so colossal a scale that future visits to it will be needed to give the stranger an adequate idea of its greatness, not only from the spectacular point of view but from the point of view of the colonial pioneer and the inquiring emigrant. The exhibition includes Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, and it represents with strange vividness the salient features of each country. And over all there is the dominant idea that it is an event of the Coronation season, and that it is meant to impress the idea on every visitor that this is a Coronation not alone of the King of England but Emperor of Greater Britain. Every effort is being carried out with this exalted idea of the Empire, local and united.

Kitchener in Command

Lord Kitchener, the Empire's great est military commander, has been appointed to control the troops, the necessary policeman, who knows all about street traffic, will of course be practically supreme in his own sphere. The public are warned that traffic will be stopped on Coronation Day at an early hour in the morning and that seat-holders will be required to be in their places probably about 7 a.m. Those who are afraid of the crush must be conveyed to their stands and be prepared for a test of their endurance on this eventful day.

REFORMED TOO SOON

An eminent speaker at the Congregationalist meeting in the First Congregational Church, East Orange, was telling the other day of a Westerner's opinion of the East. "This man," said the speaker, "was a prominent churchman, and had occasion to visit New York, where he remained for a few days. In writing of his experiences to his wife in the West, he said: 'New York is a great city, but I do wish I had come here before I was converted!'"

PICKING A QUEEN FOR FUTURE KING

Princess Elizabeth Is Now Mentioned as Possible Wife of Prince of Wales.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

GOSSIP is now considering the game of the Prince of Wales with Princess Elizabeth as his possible bride. She is younger than he is, a granddaughter of the Duke of Edinburgh and therefore a cousin of the Prince. According to one of the writers who are more or less familiar with doings of royalty the chief drawback to an alliance with Princess Victoria Louise is not so much that the young lady is two years older than the Prince, but that she is too closely related in blood. At present the subject of the Prince's matrimonial prospects is being discussed guardedly, and there is a general belief that he will not marry till he is well past the twenty mark. However, much will depend on the result of the young Prince's forthcoming visit to Potsdam.

It is not generally known that King George is probably one of the best shots in the three kingdoms and holds the record for having killed two stags in one finish. At first it was thought that the King's hunting this year would be limited to the big game in Nepaul, where he will be the guest of the Maharajah, but it is now known that His Majesty will do a fair amount of shooting in England before he leaves. He will go to Scotland in August, and before he departs in November he will have done some execution among the pheasants and partridges at Sandringham. King George has likewise accepted invitations to shoot in Lancashire and Yorkshire and will do a little deer stalking at Balmoral.

SHAKESPEARE BALL TO BE MAGNIFICENT

Will Be One of the Great Events of the Gayeties Surrounding Coronation Period.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

MORE than four thousand tickets have been issued for the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre ball, which is to be held at Albert Memorial Hall on the night of June 20, two days before the coronation, and there is little doubt that it will be one of the most magnificent functions of modern times. The demand for tickets is so great that the price has been raised from thirty shillings to four guineas, while as high as £1,600 has been paid for grand tier boxes. Applications for tickets have come from America, Australia, India and other far off lands.

Albert Hall on the night of the ball will be transformed into a Tudor garden. There will be lawns dotted with sculptures on grassy banks, and cypress and other trees will add to the picturesque beauty of the scene. One hundred and twenty musicians, clad in the costume of Queen Elizabeth's time, will occupy the band stand. Shakespearian costumes are, of course, essential, and there will be thirty quadrilles, each of about twenty characters of some Shakespearian play, and each arranged by a leader of English society.

Famous artists have designed the color schemes for the costumes that are to be worn in these quadrilles to the end that harmony may go hand in hand with splendor of dress.

The Mighty Delaware Surpasses All Others in Coronation Fleet

Seventeen Powers Will Be Represented at the Great Naval Review Off Spithead, but the American Vessel Will Be the Only Real Dreadnought in Line.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE list of war ships that are being sent to represent foreign Powers at the great naval review in honor of the coronation of King George V. is now complete. It includes eighteen vessels, representing seventeen nations, there being two ships from Japan. This is very similar to the list of vessels sent to England in June, 1902, for the coronation review that had to be postponed on account of the illness of the late King Edward, for there were then eighteen vessels from foreign countries in all, Japan sending three ships, and fifteen other Powers one vessel each. Portugal, which sent a representative in 1902, is not doing so on this occasion, while China and Turkey, which were unrepresented in 1902, are each sending a vessel to the pageant on June 21.

The heaviest war ship present at King George's coronation review will be the United States battle ship Delaware. The German Von der Tann, which has just returned from a cruise to South American waters, will be the heaviest cruiser present. As these are the only two foreign vessels of the dreadnought era taking part in the celebrations, they may be compared with the latest battle ship and the latest cruiser of the British navy to be seen at Spithead, viz., the Neptune and the Indefatigable. Such a comparison will show that in neither case is there much difference in battle efficiency between the British vessels and those from the two next strongest naval Powers.

THE DELAWARE'S STRENGTH.

The Delaware takes pride of place by reason of her displacement of 20,000 tons, this being one hundred tons more than the displacement of the Neptune. The ships are of about the same date, both being launched in 1909, but the Delaware was laid down a late in 1907, more than a year before the Neptune, whose designer, moreover, had the benefit of experience gained with earlier British dreadnoughts. It is noteworthy in how many points the Neptune and Delaware are similar, there being hardly any difference in the length, beam, draught, designed speed, and—allowance being made for the Delaware having reciprocating engines and the Neptune Parsons turbines—the horse power. The Delaware, probably has an advantage in armor, having a five-inch central battery for the anti-torpedo guns and thicker protection for the heavy guns, although she is not so well armored at the bow and stern. She carries ten 12-inch guns, like the Neptune, but with a length of 45 instead of 50 calibres, and while all the ten heavy guns fire on either side in both vessels, the centre fire method of distribution in the Delaware admits of only four being fired ahead or astern as compared with six in the British vessel.

The Delaware and the Neptune are the most powerful war ships yet completed for any navy in the world, but in less than a year this distinction will have passed from them. In the Arkansas and the Orion types American and British designers have increased the offensive power, the former by adding two more 12-inch guns, the latter by increasing calibre to 13.5-inch and leaving the number carried at ten. The effect of this, as is pointed out in the Navy Annual just issued, will be that, although smaller in point of displacement, the British battle ships of the Orion class will be able to concentrate a broadside of 11,880 pounds on an enemy's ship, as compared with the broadside of 10,000 pounds which the Arkansas can fire.

The Von der Tann and the indefatigable afford another close comparison, but the advantage seems to rest with the British vessel. It is true that the Von der Tann has a displacement of 19,100 tons, compared with the 18,750 tons of the Indefatigable, but her main armament consists of 11-inch instead of 12-inch guns, and she is not so well protected. Although, too, she has ten 5.9-inch guns in an armored citadel, while the Indefatigable has sixteen 4-inch guns mounted in the superstructure, it is doubtful if the former would be found of much use in a fleet action, and for repelling torpedo attack the smaller weapon, with its greater rapidity of fire, is preferred by many naval men.

Next to the Delaware and the Von der Tann, the Danton, from France; the Radetski, from Austria, and the Kurama, from Japan, will claim most attention in the lines on June 24. These three ships are of a type to which the Lord Nelson is a counterpart in the British navy, having four 12-inch guns and a more numerous battery of 9.4-inch or 8-inch weapons, instead of one calibre of gun only. Since the Danton and the Radetski were launched in 1909, the dreadnought idea has taken complete possession of the naval world, so armored ships with mixed batteries being now under construction.

Next in point of strength to the Italian cruiser San Marco, an armored vessel of 9,850 tons. On this comparatively small displacement, which is about two-thirds of that of contemporary British and American armored cruisers, the San Marco carries four 10-inch and eight 7½-inch guns, has an 8-inch armor belt and a speed of 22½ knots. The Giorgios Averoff, which will represent the Greek navy at the review, is an Italian built armored cruiser of very similar type to the San Marco.

VESSELS OF OTHER POWERS.

Four lesser European Powers—Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Holland—will be represented by coast defence vessels or small armored cruisers, viz:—The Olfert Fischer, of 3,535 tons; the Hidsvold, of 3,667 tons; the Fylgia, of 4,100 tons, and the Heemskerck, of 5,210 tons. These vessels, fairly powerful for their size, but with reduced speed and coal capacity, except the Fylgia, are well fitted for the work they have to do, though whether it would not be better policy for the Powers to which they belong to build seagoing armored cruisers of greater mobility is a moot point.

The South American republics represented will be Argentina, by the Buenos Aires, and Chili, by the Chacabuco, both protected cruisers. China is another Power to be represented by a protected cruiser, the Hai-Chi, and it is a notable fact that these three vessels were all built in England at the yard of the Armstrong, Whitworth Company at Elswick. The only other foreign protected cruisers present will be the Reina Regente and the Tone, representing Spain and Japan, and built respectively at Ferrol and Dusobo.

Two other visiting ships remain to be noted, the Rossiya, of the Russian navy, and the Hamidieh, from Turkey, vessels which, especially the latter, are as remarkable for their antiquity as anything else. The Rossiya is fifteen years old, and in 1897 represented the Russian navy at the Diamond Jubilee review. It is a secondary matter, of course, as to the particular ship selected to represent any Power, but it is significant that the Russians should have sent the Rossiya in preference to the Rurik or Admiral Makarov, both launched ten years later, or the Ioann Zlatoust, the first battle ship of their new navy. The cruiser Abdul Hamid, launched at Elswick in 1903, or her sister, the Medjidieh, launched at Philadelphia by Cramp in the same year, would also have more worthily represented the Turkish navy than the old Hamidieh of 1885.

WESTMINSTER IN SPLINTS FOR THE CORONATION
FROM THE SPHERE.

Some Details of the Great Spectacle That Will Be Seen on June 22.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THERE is still nearly a full week before coronation day, but London is full of humanity, and many strange sights may be seen in its principal streets. There are thousands upon thousands of visitors from England's overseas dominions and colonies, and their attire is bewildering in its variety. In describing some of the types seen in the principal thoroughfares an English reporter writes:—

"The American 'tripper' is here in swarms. The male representative of this species proudly sports a pork pie straw hat, half Panama and half boater. So obviously transatlantic that every plait in it gives forth a twang. He dashes along the streets, smoking a huge cigar, with frequent pauses for expectoration, and his whole bearing seems to convey the information that while he is perfectly willing to let George do it during the coronation season he is present to see that it is done right."

Of the colonials, who are here in regiments, this critic says:—

"He is loose limbed, tanned and drawling, wears a broad felt hat, light gray in color, and plies his family doggedly through the crowded streets. His chief difficulty is getting the hang of the streets, his main fear is taxicabs, and his hobby is ordering strange drinks with still stranger names. He can sleep anywhere—in the Ritz, the Savoy or on a hard seat on the Embankment.

"The New Zealander can be seen at any time of the day leaning over the parapet of London Bridge and recalling the unfulfilled prophecy of Macaulay. He will tell you that London is a lonely place, and sighs for the thrilling excitements in the waste spots of the land that he call his own."

The Ahkoond of Swat and the Alake of Abeokuta have not arrived yet, but rajahs are arriving by nearly every train, and their blazing, barbaric splendor is a subject of so much interest to the average Londoner that he quite forgets to order his usual quota of bitter beer. It is hoped that the Alake will come, as he will certainly give Britons an enlivening, entertaining time.

When he was last here he had a suite of State apartments at the Westminster Palace Hotel and upset the calm of that well known place by demanding strange dishes, unheard of drinks and riding up and down the hotel elevator until the hostage became so hot that the managers expected a fire at any moment. South Sea Islanders, gigantic, gaunt Australians, pensive New Zealanders, self-relying South Africans and cigarette smoking Canadians add to the joy of London life, but unless the Alake of Abeokuta joins the merry throng Englishman will feel that the coronation is not a complete success.

* * *

The Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, has announced the appointments made by the King for the coronation ceremony. Lord Kitchener, who will be commander in chief of the troops, is putting the final touches to the arrangements for the military display, and everything is being done to make the decorations and illuminations harmonise with the comprehensive uniform scheme.

As the whole of the coronation procession and ceremonial on June 22 will be within the bounds of Westminster, that ancient city has determined to make its streets worthy of the memorable occasion. Piccadilly from the top of St. James street to Hyde Park corner will be decorated in accordance with the plan evolved by Sir William Richmond and a committee of famous artists. Masts bearing large crowns will line each side of the street and be joined together by garlands of evergreens.

The whole design will be illuminated by thousands of electric lamps, forming a double avenue of light. St. James street at each end will be spanned by beautiful pink and white and gold canopies supported on four columns. Between these, two rows of tall Venetian masts joined by garlands of flowers and evergreens will line the street and will be decorated with flags. Pall Mall, Trafalgar square and Duncannon street, will be adorned by alternating Venetian masts and tall pikes, joined by a garland and bearing alternately trophies of arms and banners, with suspended baskets of flowers.

White and gold will also be prominent in Whitehall and Parliament street, where a fine series of Corinthian columns have been erected. These are surmounted by golden lions, griffons, figures of victory and other allegorical statuary. These columns will be united by festoons of laurel and oak leaves, and on the columns will depend shields bearing the arms of the kings of England, from William the Conquerer to George V.

The Canadian triumphal arch will be erected at the end of Downing street, and there will be other arches in all the other streets and avenues along the line of march. It will be seen, therefore, that the whole route of the coronation procession will be a long avenue of graceful masts and waving garlands, in which white and gold and green will be the predominant colors.

* * *

King George, according to an announcement made by the Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, has settled the following officials for the coronation:—Lord High Steward of England, Duke of Northumberland; High Constable of England, Duke of Fife; Deputy to the Great Steward of Scotland (the Prince of Wales), Earl of Crawford; High Constable of Ireland, Duke of Abercorn.

Bearers of the King's Regalia—Bible, Bishop of Ripon; Chalice, Bishop of Winchester; Patent, Bishop of London; St. Edward's Crown, Duke of Northumberland; Orb, Duke of Somerset; Sceptre with the Dove, Duke of Richmond; Sword of State, Earl Beauchamp; Curtana, Duke of Beaufort; Second Sword, Earl Roberts; Third Sword, Viscount Kitchener; Gold Spurs, Earl of London and Lord Grey de Ruthyn; Sceptre with the Cross, Duke of Argyll; St. Edward's Staff, Duke of Roxburghe.

Bearers of the Queen's Regalia—Her Majesty's Crown, Duke of Devonshire; Sceptre with the Cross, Marquis of Waterford; Ivory Rod with the Dove, Earl of Durham.

The carpet on which the King and Queen will walk in procession in Westminster Abbey on coronation day is completed and has been brought to London from Glasgow. It is in two pieces, one 153 feet long by 9 feet wide, and the other 76 feet by 9 feet. The two pieces when laid down in the Abbey will form the letter "T."

The carpet is constructed of Axminster pile in mohair wool and is worth £6,500. Its color is royal blue. In the interspaces formed by interlacing bands of laurel leaves are devices of hereditary badges of the United Kingdom, the rose, shamrock and thistle, alternating with designs of the principal orders of knighthood, each with its motto. The side spaces formed by the laurels are alternately occupied by the initial letters of the names of the King and Queen, "E" and "M," surmounted by the imperial crown. Owing to the number of labor Members of Parliament the question of the dresses to be worn by their wives at the forthcoming coronation has demanded and received official solution. With characteristic tactfulness their Majesties, through the Lord Chamberlain, have made certain that no labor legislator, or his wife, shall be debarred from attending the ceremony on the score of dress.

Wives of Members of Parliament may wear ordinary morning dress with a scarf of lace draped round their heads. Hats or bonnets, however, must not be worn. The Member of Parliament himself is allowed to wear ordinary morning dress and black coat. If preferred, however, wives of Members of Parliament may wear full court dress, with or without trains, and the men can wear full uniform or full court dress.

"The purchase of a lace scarf is absolutely the only outlay entailed," said the manager of a famous West End dressmaking house. "The scarf may be draped round the head, mantilla fashion, and tied under the chin. Only black or white scarfs may be worn, and a suitable size would be one and a half yards long and a half yard wide. Practically any walking dress, or even a coat and skirt will be correct."

* * *

Music will play an important part in the coronation ceremonial and will greatly enhance the solemnity and beauty of the occasion. The programme is now complete and the music, both new and old, is ecclesiastic. The anthem which will be sung by the choir when the King and Queen enter at the west door of the Abbey is:—

"I was glad when they said unto me."

"We will go into the house of the Lord," and is to the setting by James Turle. The Nicene Creed will be sung by a full choir in unison to the ancient setting by John Merbecke, arranged by Sir George C. Martin. It is noted that with the exception of the anthem, "Zadok the Priest," by Handel, all the music is by British composers. Handel's anthem has been sung at every coronation since that of George II.

It is in the homage ceremony that the first new music, an anthem composed by Sir Frederick Bridge, organist of Westminster Abbey, will be heard. At the opening of the communion the offertory "O harken thou unto the voice of my calling, my King and my God," is to music by Sir Edward Elgar. The "Sanctus" is to a setting by Dr. Walter E. Alcock, the "Gloria" by Sir Charles Stanford and the "Te Deum Laudamus" by Sir Hubert Parry. Sir Edward Elgar has written a recessional march, which will be heard as the King and Queen leave the Abbey, and Sir Alexander Mackenzie has also composed an orchestral piece to be played in the early part of the programme.

WILL GUARD GRAVES AROUND ST. PAUL'S

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The foundations of St. Paul's Cathedral have ever been an anxiety to the Dean and Chapter, since London has become a honeycomb of tubes; and now the work in connection with the new bridge across the river, which will pass by the east end of the Cathedral, is causing them further anxiety, so much so that they are proposing to make a thorough examination of the Cathedral's foundations and find out once and for all upon what sort of soil they stand.

For this purpose a consistory court was specially held the other day for the purpose of obtaining the necessary faculty to excavate within the churchyard. Some objections were laid before the court by persons whose ancestors were interred in the grounds that the graves would be interfered with, but the chancellor, Dr. Tristram, who gave judgment, said it was necessary for the safety of the Cathedral that the excavations should be carried out, instructions being given to the architect that if it should be found necessary to touch any grave notice should be sent to the relatives.

HOUSEBOATS COMING INTO GREAT VOGUE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The demand for houseboats and bungalows on the upper reaches of the Thames is beating all records this season. "Many of the bungalows," said the manager of a firm of boat builders, "are realising unparalleled prices, and $300, the average season's rent, is being far surpassed this year.

"Most of the houseboats are privately owned, but many wealthy coronation visitors are already paying several thousand dollars in excess of the more $1,000 to $1,500 usually asked for the use of a houseboat for a few weeks.

"I fancy," said the manager referred to, "that coronation year will see the top price ever paid by any man, however wealthy, for houseboats. Nearer London, Richmond is easily eclipsing her neighbors, Kingston and Teddington, in the matter of river business. This is, of course, chiefly due to the presence here of King Manuel and so many notabilities from his country.

"Motor boats are coming in, and no end of people are only too eager to pay the two guineas—the daily hiring price—for them. This year there will be hundreds of them on the river."

ENGLISH INCREASE GROWING SMALLER

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The census returns have revealed one important fact, namely, that the increase of population affords the smallest percentage since 1801. Nine important English counties have been depopulated to the extent of nearly one hundred and fifty thousand within the fifty years since 1861, this being due to the decline of the mining and agricultural industries within their borders.

With regard to English ports, commercial and naval, the growth is as striking and continuous. Two are five times what they were in 1861 and ten have nearly doubled.

HOW TO DANCE THE STAIRCASE WALTZ

Principal Performer in Herr Lehar's Latest Sensation Describes the Trip Upstairs.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

DURING the last year or two all light operas that come out of Vienna have been "made" by waltzes. Nearly the whole civilised world is familiar with the waltz of "The Merry Widow," and "The Waltz Dream," as its name signifies, contributed something novel in a sartorial sense, but it remained for "The Count of Luxembourg," London's latest comic opera success, to introduce what is unique, the staircase waltz.

In discussing this latest exemplification of the poetry of motion from the city of the beautiful Blue Danube Mr. Hartman Wallis, with Miss Lily Elsie, glides up a golden staircase in Herr Franz Lehar's success. It is certainly a graceful novelty, but as a dance it is more difficult than it seems. A disadvantage is that the staircase is curved and has a kind of landing half way up. This half landing has to be taken in one step, just like the ordinary steps of the staircase a little lower down. The music allows you only the same time, and dancers will appreciate what this means. Each trend or step of the staircase has to be taken to one bar of music.

"They are rather broad treads, and there is room for the feet to revolve on them completely," says Mr. Wallis. "We go up on a sort of half swing, and could not possibly do it to anything but waltz time. The right poise and swing can be obtained only by practice, and the great thing is to go at it with not a feeling or trace of nervousness, and this, I think any one who tries it will candidly admit, is not always easy.

"You make a complete revolution in mounting two steps of the staircase. We start off on the lowest step of the staircase with opposite feet—that is to say, the right foot of one and the left foot of the other—but not the two inside feet.

"We go up the left staircase—the right of the audience—first, and do the reverse step because this fits in more easily and naturally with the trend of the stairs. We start with my left foot and my partner with her right, so that on the next step of the staircase comes my right foot, followed by my partner's left.

"The secret of it all is in keeping the feet of the dancers together, and when we land on the top platform we quickly dance in the ordinary way to the left, where we make an exit—that is, to the audience's left, but to our right on the stage.

"For an encore we have arranged to go down the stairs we have just come up, I first, with my back to the audience, and my partner following. We are hand in hand—just a loose hold—and walk down.

"Then, with arms extended, we waltz across the stage to the foot of the other staircase and begin to waltz up it—but this time it is not to the reverse step. Then I am on the right hand of my partner, whereas originally I was on the left, so that I start with my right foot and she starts with her left.

"When we reach the platform, or landing at the top, we waltz across and disappear in the same way. The only peculiar thing about it then is that instead of my right arm being round my partner's waist, as in ordinary waltzing, I put my left instead. This helps us up the stairs.

"It makes it appear a very left-handed affair, our arms really working against our feet, as it were. Another curious feature about this peculiar upward waltz is that the dancers' bodies swing away from the stairs as if they really must fall—that is, of course, from the observer's point of view as he looks on. They appear to be inclining to an overhanging point almost as if they were going to fall. This effect is seen better from an angle than if looked at direct.

"What we have to keep in mind the whole time," said Mr. Wallis, "is our distance, and we must correctly gauge the curve of the steps as well as that of the staircase, so that we may land at the right place at the top at the right moment."

LONDON TO BECOME CITY OF SILENCE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

LONDON will be better worth living in when rubber paved streets have made it a city of silence. Imagine, if you can, what the English metropolis will be like when the roll of wheels and trotting of horses no longer make a lasting din, and the noisiest of motor buses make no more than a passing rumble.

Rubber makers think this paradise of quietude sooner or later will be realised. At any rate, when the International Rubber Trade Exhibition opens, on June 20, at the Royal Agricultural Hall, there will be displayed for the first time examples of rubber paving, suitable, it is claimed, as a substitute for the present day methods of paving. A rubber roadway, 120 feet long by 16 feet wide, will be laid, and though each manufacturer employs different secret processes all claim to have prepared a durable material.

During many years rubber paving has been used, with very satisfactory results, at some of the railway stations in London. Further, rubber paving blocks are reversible, and can also be reclaimed. The opinion is now confidently expressed that the new product is bound to supersede the old style of roadway and paving. If its introduction means that the constant roar and din of the traffic is to disappear, then Londoners will gladly welcome it.

CORONATION DRESS OF QUEEN SYMBOL OF WIDE EMPIRE

The Oak and the Lotus Mingle with Thistle and Shamrock in Decoration.

MARVEL OF FILMY LACE AND FINE GOLD THREAD

Sovereign's Monogram Forms Centrepiece of Robe, Which Measures Six Yards When Extended.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

Queen Mary's dress for the coronation consists of two parts exquisitely blended—dress and robe. The dress, a princesse model in deep ivory duchesse satin, was made at Buckingham in Ulster, by the Queen's special command. It was designed by Reville & Rossiter, of Hanover square. The embroidery was done at the Princess Louise Needlework School. Introduced in the pattern are the English rose, the Scottish thistle, the Irish shamrock, the star of India, the lotus lily of India and English oak leaves and acorns, all worked in the finest gold thread, with a border of oak leaves and acorns. Above this is a band of gold embroidery cunningly worked to simulate water, representing the seas of the empire.

The low cut bodice gives room for the introduction of a tucker of exquisite lace inset in two layers. The outer one is of delicate gold thread hand woven into splendid lace and the inner one of real Irish Machaist white edge. The latter shows above the gold lace, giving a delightfully soft finish.

Filmy hand made lace and fine gold thread similar to that upon the bodice are used for trimming the sleeves, which are bordered with tiny oak leaves. The material of the robe or large train is silk velvet, specially woven at Sudbury.

The utmost care has been taken to obtain the true royal shade of purple. The fully extended robe measures six yards by a yard and a half. The rose, a shamrock and thistle are cleverly blended with the Queen's monogram as a centrepiece. The lining throughout is of ermine. The cape also is of ermine.

Formerly it was the custom of the Queen to robe at the Abbey for the coronation, but Queen Mary will wear this dress in the procession from the palace. Returning to the palace she will wear the crown.

SLEEP, SLEEP, AND THEN GO TO SLEEP.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

If you want to obtain complete rest and recuperation equal to a week's vacation, in minimum time, sleep the clock around twice, is the advice of a physician who holds a high place in medical circles in England.

"To spend twenty-four hours in bed," he said to a friend, "instead of rushing away for a few hours' change of scene when you are run down physically and mentally is worth a week's holiday. The night before, having gone to a theatre to take the mind off worries and having supped wisely and well, instructions should be given that the morning calling shall be omitted.

"Then sleep. On waking, turn over and sleep again. On waking again, ring for some hot milk. Drink it, and sleep again, and keep on sleeping. Have nothing in the intervals more substantial than soup. Do not read. Keep the eyes shut constantly. Have a warm bath in the evening, and sleep again.

"When you are tired of sleeping, sleep again for the night. Nothing calms the nerves more than resting the eyes."

ANOTHER BREAK IN THE TIMES' STORY

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

ANOTHER break in the history of the London Times is marked by the announcement that the old residential estate of Bearwood, Berkshire, is for sale. The estate has been the ancestral home of the Walter family for a century, having been purchased from the Church by John Walter 1st, the founder of the newspaper, and great-great grandfather of the present occupier.

The house which now stands on the estate was built in the 90's by John Walter, 3d, and is situated in a beautiful wooded park of some five hundred acres, including a large lake.

Bearwood has been the scene of many historic reunions in connection with the newspaper, one of the most noteworthy having been in 1865, when the centenary of the Times was celebrated.

A sinister reminiscence in connection with Bearwood was the tragic death of the young Oxford graduate who would in the fulness of time have been John Walter, 4th, at Printing House square. He was drowned, owing to the ice breaking while he was skating on the lake, in a gallant but unsuccessful effort to save a brother's life.

PECULIAR TRAGEDY

Shot His Wife, Set Fire to the House, Then Committed Suicide

The papers are full of an extraordinary tragedy which occurred in a villa just outside St. Petersburg on the Baltic line. About two years ago a German subject, named Kurtz, married a wealthy widow, over 50 years of age. He himself was only 30 years old, and the marriage from the outset was unhappy, there being interminable quarrels arising from jealousy and financial recriminations. After a violent dispute at lunch, Kurtz left the house, but returned about an hour later and threatened his wife with a revolver. She tried to escape, but he fired three shots after her, hitting her each time in the back, but without inflicting serious injuries. She staggered out into the street and was taken to a hospital in an unconscious condition. Kurtz then poured quantities of petroleum over the furniture and set fire to it. Then he appeared on the balcony of the drawing-room and addressed the crowd assembled below. His last words were: "All will soon be burning, and there will be nothing left." Thereupon he shot himself in public twice through the heart with a revolver. Almost immediately flames burst forth from every part of the house. When the firemen got the fire under control, the charred remains of Kurtz were found on the balcony.

MEN'S FASHIONS

A Paper in Rome Receives Some Radical Suggestions

That men as a whole take nearly as much interest in fashion as women, has just been proved by a recent symposium in a Rome paper, which draws some interesting declarations from well-known painters and writers as to what should constitute the regulation attire for the male sex in future. Out of thousand answers received, no fewer than 840 decided for a radical change in men's fashions. Leonardo Bessaro, the artist, would like to see the number of buttons reduced, the high, stiff collar done away with, and the soft hat adopted. He admits that if these reforms become accomplished facts life, for men at least, would again be worth living. Alfredo Maiani is an enemy to the prevailing fashion because it is colorless and without folds. Color, he says, gives men animation and energy. Ugo Flares, the writer, is in favor of trousers being dispensed with on the ground that this garment is an enemy to sculpture. Alfredo Panzini, another writer, complains that the men who spend their lives in schools, offices, and factories, not only sacrifice their beauty, but their thoughts for beauty in their fidelity to black and grey clothes, geometrically cut. Angelo Dall 'Oca Bronca, who writes as well as he paints, considers that the garments worn by men to-day, though hypocritical, are comfortable and necessary in order to conceal their misshapen legs, their stomachs, and their souls.

"WHERE'S THE MISSIS?"

During the tour round the world of the King and Queen as Duke and Duchess of Cornwall, one of the ceremonies was at the University of Melbourne in Australia.

The Duke was to receive an honorary degree, but the Duchess was unable to be present. There was a vast crowd. At last the solemn procession of the Council and Senate of the University emerged and made its way to the platform, the Chancellor escorting the Duke, gorgeous in his new hood and gown. In the hush of the moment, while the dignitaries were taking their places, a student of the University called out, in a disappointed tone:—

"Hello, George! Where's the missis?"

HAIR-DYEING MYSTERY

A Lady Who Failed to Equalize the Shade of Her Tresses

A Paris court has been severely taxed to solve a hair-dyeing mystery in connection with a claim on the part of a banker's wife against a hair-dresser for $600 damages for injury to her hair. Even after the court gave its decision, it is still permissible to believe that the lady had reason to bring her suit, and on the other hand, that the hair-dresser had done his heroic best. The hair dye, perhaps, was simply bewitched. This is what appears from the statement made in court. The lady asked a hair-dresser to equalize the shades of her hair, part of which had begun to show signs of gray. The capillary artist accepted, and the work was only to cost a few francs. It was a simple, ordinary and current operation, such as ladies themselves may even execute if they like. Naturally, the artist had no misgivings, as he had performed the same service in hundreds of cases before without the slightest mishap. But what occurred on this occasion is really mysterious. He began with the usual shampoo, then applied some "eau ozigenee" and ammonia, as is the custom. A hair compress was intended to finish the treatment, but, when it was removed, all the beautiful ringlets of which the lady had been so justly proud, were discolored, and the rest of her glorious wealth of hair was simply a wild disordered mesh, stiff, brittle, and earthy in appearance. She rushed back to the hair-dresser for relief, and, being himself horrified at the heterogeneous hue, he vigorously frictioned the hair and washed it with ammonia and a sponge; but all his efforts were unavailing. The sponge was actually eaten away as if it also were bewitched, and the coiffeur's amazement grew in proportion. On the following day he applied a compressor bandage, and followed it up with a shampoo. But this, which had always succeeded in other cases, again failed, and the hair-dresser finally had no other resources but to apply a liquid tincture which left the hair a jet black. The lady, who had been a blonde before, hesitated to appear to her friends in her new complexion, but there was no need. In a few days her hair began to fall out, and she had to keep to her room. In despair, she summoned another hair-dresser, who could only suggest a wig to relieve her distress. There was no other remedy, and the wig was fitted on at once. But the lady, arguing that she had reason for complaint against her first coiffeur, brought a suit for $600 damages. The method used by the coiffeur was thoroughly discussed in court. No fault could be found with the substances used, and the judges were deeply perplexed. But, upon the evidence produced, they decided that the hair would grow again in a few weeks, and allowed her $100 damages.

CANARY FOR THE QUEEN

The Property of Campling, a Canary Breeder for Fifty Years

The selection of a canary, to be presented with a cage, by Norwich fanciers to the Queen, was made recently in the little showroom of the Norwich Alliance Cage Bird Association. One by one the cages were taken down and their inmates subjected to a long and careful scrutiny, every little feature being ardently discussed. At last, after many consultations and a long examination, a young bird of last year was picked, and it was unanimously regarded as an ideal canary of its kind, with splendid head, neck and feathers, and a beautiful finger. It turned out to be the property of a poor shoemaker named George Campling. Campling's joy was great. He has been a canary breeder for forty years and has won many prizes at all English shows. The selection committee will travel to London to present the bird and cage at Buckingham Palace.

The Pontifical Mission to the Court of St. James for the Coronation festivities will be headed by Monsignor Granito di Belmonte, late Nuncio at Vienna, who accompanied the Mission on the occasion of the Victorian Golden Jubilee, and ten years later represented Pope Leo XIII. at the Diamond Jubilee in London. Mgr. de Belmonte, who is bringing a distinguished suite with him, will be created a Cardinal on his return to Rome. He will be the bearer of an autographic letter and a precious gift from his Holiness to King George.

BUILDERS WHO ARE BUSY

Some Huge Buildings Being Erected in London, England

Probably in London's history there has never been a year in which a larger number of great buildings are being erected, the whole representing several millions of capital expenditure.

On one side of Kingsway is rising a magnificent new opera house which is to cost $1,000,000. On the other side is being erected an enormous steel and concrete structure, costing $400,000, which will have seven floors, with a total area of 96,000 square feet, and which will be able to hold 500 employees.

Further up, in the same direction, one sees an hotel, to which 500 new rooms and the most palatial Turkish bath ever seen in London are being added. Then there are the new Law Courts which, costing $500,000, will be complete in July, 1912. Further west, in Tottenham Court Road, the Y.M.C.A. is establishing a new head quarters, with numerous offices, 200 bed-rooms, a swimming-bath, a gymnasium, and recreation-rooms, at a cost of $875,000; and in Regent Street the Polytechnic are extending their premises at a cost of over $450,000.

In Drury Lane a new music hall is being built at a cost of $160,000; while the London County Council, the British Museum, the Local Government Board, and the Wesleyan Methodists are all extending their premises in various parts of the metropolis.

RECENTLY DISCOVERED STAR

M. Deslandres, a well-known French astronomer and chief of the Meudon observatory, brings out some new points about a variable star, in the constellation of the Lizard. This star, which was discovered about a year ago, seemed at first to be of the twelfth or thirteenth magnitude. Its brightness suddenly increased, and during last November it reached the fifth magnitude. Less than a month after its brilliancy lessened, and now the star is only of the seventh magnitude.—Science Siftings.

SMALLEST GLASS BOTTLE

What is regarded by skilled artisans as the smallest perfect glass bottle ever blown has just been turned out by Robert Gillespie, one of the blowers of the great Whitall-Tatem glass works in Millville, New Jersey. The tiny bit of glass is not much larger than a kernel of corn, but is in every way perfect, including a ground stopper. Gillespie was at infinite pains to produce the curiosity, which, compared with a 110-gallon carboy, such as is turned out at the same works, would be about like a fly against an elephant. Indeed, a common housefly could barely crowd into the Gillespie bottle.

PLATINUM IS SOARING

The prices of platinum are soaring. Recently, hard platinum reached the record price per ounce of $43, whilst the soft metal touched $41. Six years ago the pure metal was selling at $18.50 per ounce. Through the year 1906 the price of hard went up to $40. The market then declined, until in August, 1908, prices had fallen to $20. One incidental cause of enhanced prices, says the Canadian Mining Journal, is the growing use of platinum in manufacturing jewellery. Another is the demand for the metal in making tips for the sparking plugs of automobiles. But probably the main factor is the closer control of the principal Russian sources of supply.

TICKET MACHINE

The Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Company have installed a remarkable automatic machine at Sandhills Station, Liverpool, by which, on dropping a penny in the slot, a ticket is printed, dated, and cut. The machine is worked electrically, the power being supplied from the live rail. When the supply of cardboard is running short the clerks in the office are warned by the ringing of a bell.

PROTECTION OF SMALL BIRDS

The Agricultural Society of the Gironde, France, is convinced that the continually increasing numbers of enemies of crops, and especially of the insects so harmful to vines, Cockyllis and Eudemis, is due to a great extent to the disappearance of small birds. The society, therefore, has invited all the agricultural associations of France to unite and insist upon the protection of these valuable auxiliaries of the farmer.

RIDE SOME DAY IN GOLDEN TAXIS

A Few of the Amazing Things We May Do in the Magical Future, According to Edison

What will the world be like a hundred years hence?

None but a "wizard" dare raise the curtain and disclose the secrets of the future; and what wizard can do it with so sure a hand as Thomas Alva Edison, who has wrested so many secrets from jealous Nature? He alone of all men who live has the necessary courage and gift of foresight; and he has not shrunk from the venture.

Already, Edison tells us, the steam-engine is emitting its last gasps. A century hence it will be as remote an antiquity as the lumbering coach of Tudor days, which took a week to travel from Yorkshire to London. In the year 2011 such railway-trains as survive will be driven at incredible speeds by electricity (which will also be the motive force of all the world's machinery), generated by "hydraulic" wheels.

But the traveller of the future will largely scorn such earth-crawling. He will fly through the air, swifter than any swallow, at a speed of two hundred miles an hour, in colossal machines which will enable him to breakfast in London; transact business in Paris, and eat his luncheon in Chicago.

Steel Cradles for Babies

The house of the next century will be furnished from basement to attic with steel; at a sixth of the present cost of steel so light that it will be as easy to move a sideboard as it is to-day to lift a drawing-room chair. The baby of the twenty-first century will be rocked in a steel cradle; his father will sit in a steel chair at a steel dining-table; and his mother's boudoir will be sumptuously equipped with steel furnishings, converted by cunning varnishes to the semblance of rosewood or mahogany, or any other wood her ladyship fancies.

Books of the coming century will all be printed on leaves of nickel, so light to hold that the reader can enjoy a small library in a single volume. A book two inches thick will contain forty thousand pages, the equivalent of a hundred substantial volumes of to-day; three such volumes, six inches in aggregate thickness, would suffice for all the contents of the "Encyclopaedia Britannica." And each volume would weigh less than a pound.

Already Mr. Edison can produce a pound-weight of these nickel leaves, more flexible than paper, and ten times as durable, at a cost of $1.25. In a hundred years' time the cost will probably be reduced to a tenth.

More amazing still, this American wizard sounds the death-knell of gold as a precious metal. "Gold," he says, "has even now but a few years to live; the day is near when bars of it will be as common and as cheap as bars of iron or blocks of steel." We are already on the verge of discovering the secret of transmuting metals, which are essentially the same in matter, though "combined in different proportions." Before long it will be an easy matter to convert a truck-load of iron bars into as many bars of virgin gold.

We Shall Not Be Here

In these magical days to come there is no reason why our great liners should not be of solid gold from stem to stern; why we should not ride in golden taxi-cabs; or substitute gold for steel in our drawing-room suites. Only, steel will be the more durable, and, thus the cheaper in the long run.

And in the world of manufacture the changes of the next hundred years will be just as revolutionary. Where we have now a score of machines, each responsible for a stage of manufacture, one will suffice.

"Before long," says Mr. Edison, without a twinkle in his eye, and certainly without his tongue in his cheek, "we shall have a machine into one end of which you will put cloth, thread, buttons, and so on, and from the other end draw suits complete to the last stitch, and ready folded for delivery."

All our present marvels of phonograph and telephone and aerial telegraphy are but blind gropings in the dark compared with the light that shall flood the next century.

The Briton of 2011 will be able to sit in his armchair and converse with his son at the Cape, or with a friend in Melbourne, as easily as across the hearthrug; and not merely to listen to his friend's or his son's voice, but to see each of them as clearly as if he were in the same room.

He went on, however, to condemn the professionalism in the modern game.

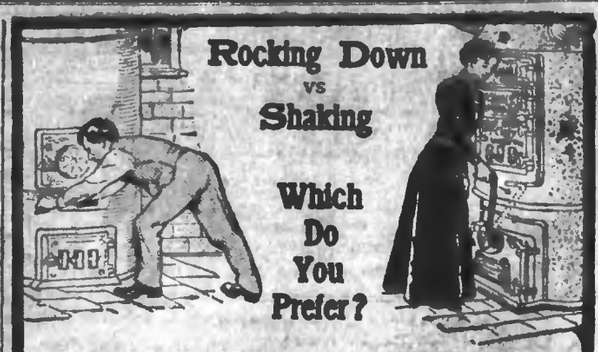
London's Alpine Garden

In a lecture at the Royal Photographic Society's exhibition in London, Mr. H. T. Malby said that he had converted his ordinary suburban patch into a miniature Alpine garden. The plants he had been able to make flourish included the Alpine crocus, the auricula, many species of saxifrage, and various hardy orchids.

A NEW HAT PIN

One That Can be Used for Any Sort of Hat

Since the hat pin has developed from the inconspicuous useful black-headed article to the present style of decorative jewelled pin, women have needed a whole collection of pins to suit different hats. Every kind of hat has demanded an individual hat pin, but now comes an invention which makes it possible for one pin to be used for as many hats as a woman possesses, however dissimilar they are in coloring. This is a hatpin whose button-shaped head can be unscrewed from the pin. The fancy button has a rim of gilt, which is then removed, and the button itself can be covered with any material or color, the rim is then replaced, and the material outside it is tucked into the inside of the button. Thus, if one wishes to wear a lace hat, a silk-covered hatpin can be changed into a lace-covered one; or if pink plumes are worn in another hat the lace top can be removed in favor of a pink silk cover.



Rocking Down vs Shaking

Which Do You Prefer?

Look at the man above. He's SHAKING an ordinary furnace. He bends nearly double, exerts all his strength, works up a prespiration, and gets a sore back.

Now, look at the woman. She stands nearly erect, gently moves the lever to and fro, a few inches, and the ashes are dropped into the Sunshine ash-pan. This is called ROCKING DOWN. It's so easy a child can do it.

Which method do you prefer? Why, Rocking Down, of course.

O'Keefe's PILSENER LAGER

"The Beer With A Reputation" Is Better Than Any Imported Lager

"Imported" does not mean "better". It simply means "higher prices" because of the excessive duty.

It is a Government regulation that all Canadian lagers must be brewed only from barley malt, hops and water,—which cannot be said of any American lager.

O'Keefe's "Pilsener" costs about half as much as imported brands—and is their superior in every respect—in purity, in flavor, in wholesomeness.

Are you going to pay a higher price for a poorer lager—or are you going to insist on having O'Keefe's?

Leading dealers, hotels and cafes have O'Keefe's.

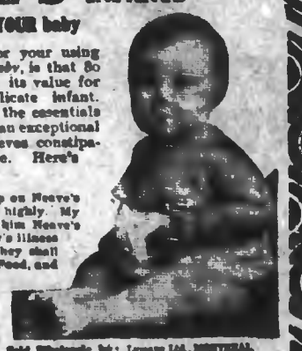
NEAVE'S FOOD FOR INFANTS
Is the RIGHT FOOD for YOUR baby



The strongest argument for your using NEAVE'S FOOD for your baby, is that 80 years experience has proved its value for the youngest and most delicate infant. NEAVE'S FOOD contains all the essentials for bone and bone forming in an exceptional degree—assists teething—relieves constipation—and makes baby thrive. Here's what one mother says:

"My baby has been brought up on Neave's Food, of which I cannot speak too highly. My baby did not thrive until I gave him Neave's Food, and he has never had a day's illness since. If anyone asks me what they shall give their babies, I say Neave's Food, and they get on just the same as mine, and thank me for telling them." Mrs. Savery of Bristol.

JOHN REDMOND, IRISH LEADER

What manner of man is John Redmond?

The answer is given in a sketch by Mr. Louis Redmond-Howard, who is the adopted son of the Irish leader. A note of filial affection runs through it. But while the book is more laudatory than critical, it presents a very life-like portrait of the man, and gives an excellent narrative of his career. Mr. Redmond-Howard, who was born in New South Wales, was left an orphan at an early age. "When my mother died," he says, "leaving me an orphan, I was taken into Mr. John Redmond's house as one of his own children, with a kindness and magnanimity which did for me all that a father could have done for the education of his own son."

Reserved, silent in company, contemplative, and with a touch of melancholy in his outlook, John Redmond has none of the Irish exuberance and gaiety of spirit. Constant in his attendance at the House of Commons, he does not mingle in its rich, free inner life. He is a widely-read man of cultivated tastes and with a serious view of life and duty. It is no surprise to learn that he thought at one time he had a religious vocation.

An Ancient Family

Mr. Redmond belongs to the old Irish gentry. He is the head of an ancient Anglo-Norman family, which has been rooted in Ireland since 1176. Following the all-but invariable habit of the English settlers in the Emerald Isle, the Redmonds became Irish of the Irish. Has not Froude shown us with matchless art how English, Norman, and Scotch settlers in Ireland succumbed to the witchery of their new surroundings and became ipsis Hibernis Hiberniores? In 1170 Raymund le Gros, leader of Strongbow's advance guard, landed with a small force in Wexford, and that county has ever since been the home of his descendants.

Several members of the family sat in the Westminster Parliament, including Mr. Redmond's father, William Archer Redmond, who was returned for the borough of Wexford in 1872. A zealous Catholic and a temperance reformer, W. A. Redmond was described by the "Tablet" on his death in 1881, as "a man of large and cultivated intellect, refined and sensitive nature." In his election address of 1872 Mr. W. A. Redmond strongly urged the necessity of Home Rule for Ireland, and declared that "ample means existed to achieve this result within the limits of the Constitution and without infringing upon our loyalty to the throne."

Clerk in the House of Commons

With such an ancestry, John Redmond took naturally to politics and to Nationalism. Born in 1856, he received his early education at the Irish Jesuit College of Clongowes, in Kildare. Here he was a diligent scholar, and early gave promise of excellence in speaking and writing English. He was a shining light in the amateur theatricals of the college. Mr. Redmond retains his youthful enthusiasm for the stage, and is an assidious theatre-goer in London.

From Clongowes he went to Trinity College, Dublin, and was called in due course to the Irish Bar. He was fortunate enough to obtain a clerkship in the House of Commons while still in the early twenties, and from that position of detachment observed the startling rise of Parnell and the birth of a new nationalist movement in Ireland.

Resigning his clerkship in the House of Commons, Mr. Redmond soon returned to it as member. In 1881 he was elected M.P. for New Ross, and joined Mr. Parnell's band, then in its brilliant dawn. Mr. Timothy Healy tells a story of how Mr. Willie Redmond, himself later to become a Nationalist M.P., but at that time a lively young Militia officer, telegraphed in horror from Wexford barracks to his brother on hearing of the candidature for New Ross, "For God's sake don't disgrace the family by joining the Land League and Parnell." How amusing is that telegram in the light of later events.

The Schism and After

There is no need to retraverse the old familiar ground of the Irish agrarian agitation in the 80's, Parnell's amazing ascent into fame and power, and then after the divorce suit his swift descent into the abyss. Mr. Redmond stood by the chief in the schism that destroyed the unity of the Irish party. As a Parnellite he stood at the General Election of 1892 for Waterford, where he defeated Michael Davitt. Before this, on the death of Parnell in 1891, he succeeded to the leadership of the little forlorn remnant of what was once a powerful party. After ten years of bitter fratricidal strife, a re-union of Anti-Parnellites and Parnellites was effected in 1901, and John Redmond became the leader of what was again a more or less united band.

Mr. Redmond first distinguished himself in the House of Commons during the debates on the Home Rule Bill of 1893. The force, the cogency and the clearness of his speeches showed that he was a valuable addition to the debating strength of the Irish members. He has always been averse to the idea that Ireland should cut herself away from an Empire to whose greatness Irish valor and Irish statesmanship have contributed so largely, and which includes within its borders so many millions of the Irish race.

Corean Marriages

In Corea marriage is even more important and essential for a man than it is for a woman, as, until a man be wed, he is a being of no account. If a father has not selected wives for his sons ere they reach the age of twenty he is considered worthless and neglectful.

AN ANCIENT BRITISH CANOE

An ancient canoe, the third found within a few weeks at Lochmaben, has been discovered at the Kirk Loch. It is of black oak. One of the sides and part of the other are gone, but the bottom and the ends make it recognizable as one of the ancient hollowed out canoes used by the prehistoric Britons. When unearthed, it was partially filled with stones, as if it had been sunk with them. The canoe probably dated back 2,000 years. It is last. in length, and at the broadest part is 2ft. 8in. It is about 15in. in height.

NEW WIVES FOR OLD

Viscount Wolseley has completed his seventy-eighth year. During his long military career he has met with many experiences, amusing and otherwise. One of the most comical was after Cetewayo, the conquered leader of the Zulus, had been sent by him into exile.

Cetewayo had wives by the hundred, but the British general set most of them at liberty, permitting the native to take only three with him. Again and again Cetewayo pleaded to be allowed to take all; but in vain.

The climax came when Lord Wolseley's departure for England was announced. Cetewayo sent a last despairing message to ask that, if the general would not send him more wives, he would at least exchange those he had for three others!

ALL GROW BEARDS

Among the many suggestions made for the commemorating the reign of King Edward VII., the quaintest is that now put forward by Captain MacIlwaine, R.N. Captain MacIlwaine's suggestion is that the men of the British Empire, following the example of the late King, should put their razors aside and proceed to grow beards. Our present King, sharing the views of his father, grows a beard, and makes his staff do the same. The beard is the exception, not the rule, among men of the present day.

TO STOP HAT-LIFTING

To put a stop of hat-lifting as a form of salutation a league has been formed at Zurich which seeks to introduce the military form of salute. The league states that the uncovering of heads is the cause of many colds affecting mainly the older men. In Germany, Austria, and German Switzerland it is the custom for a man to hold his hat in his hand until the lady asks him to "cover" himself. A nod is generally sufficient, but some wait for a formal request.

CAST-OFF UNIFORMS

Much money is made out of cast-off police uniforms. Quantities are bought by African traders and exported to various parts of the "Dark Continent," where they are exchanged for palm-oil, ivory, skins, and other merchandise. It is by no means an uncommon sight to see a swarthy savage dressed in the uniform of a London policeman, and wearing the regulation helmet of the force.

VERY ABSENT-MINDED

On the stage Sir Herbert Tree can be alert enough on occasion. Off it he is absent-minded. Sir Herbert took a taxi, and gave the driver the address. Throughout the journey he was reading letters, and when the house he was going to was reached the cab stopped and the driver came and opened the door. Still reading, Sir Herbert looked up abstractedly and said to the amazed chauffeur: "Come in! Come in!"

DEMAND FOR LIGHT HORSES

The demand for all light horses of approved style and breeding is keen in the Old Country, and prices rule very high at the London sales. Among the sales at Tattersall's were twenty horses which brought prices ranging from $500 to $1,070 each, and in a list of forty in the same sale, the lowest price was $365.

VENTILATING THE FOWL HOUSE

An Important Matter Which Must Not Be Overlooked

If you do not keep your fowls under thoroughly healthy conditions you cannot hope to be successful.

If you bear in mind that in a natural state birds roost in trees—and on many farms fowls do actually spend the night in this way—you will realize how important plenty of fresh air is. Imagine, for instance, thirty birds cooped up in a tiny house 6ft. by 7ft., without ventilation, and you will realize how stuffy the quarters must be by the time the slide is raised in the morning.

As a matter of fact, the night apartment of a hygienic fowl-house should have an entry for fresh air near the base, and an exit at the roof. In this way there will be a continual passage of air without draughts. In some pens there are sliding shutters; they run up and down grooved frames, and at the top of each is a hook. From the eaves of the roof chains depend, and the hook adjusted to a link in the chain. On warm nights the shutters are left well open, whilst when cold threatens they are tightly closed. Keep the sleeping-place draught-proof yet ventilated; have it rain-proof and whitewashed inside.

MILLIONAIRE POLICEMAN

The Philadelphia police force now boasts the possession of a millionaire policeman. This is Mr. Edward T. Stonesbury, the well-known financier and sportsman, and a partner of Mr Anthony J. Drexel. He has been sworn in as a special policeman by the Chief of Police of Philadelphia as a mark of the force's appreciation of his generous donation to the police funds.

HAREM-SKIRTED CARPENTER

A carpenter in a harem skirt is one of the curiosities at Cluzeau, near Montlucon. The artisan in question is the wife of a carpenter, and both are employed on a new building for the infantry barracks. The "lady carpenter" may be seen every day, carpentering away as cleverly as any of her male companions, but the chief novelty of the case is that she wears a good practical harem skirt, with a green velveteen jacket and breeches. She is a native of Senlis, and 29 years of age.

"BUNKUM"

"Buncombe" is the spelling of bunkum in the new English dictionary. Buncombe, of course, is the place in North Carolina whose representative in Congress once justified himself for making a superfluous speech by explaining that he was speaking not to the House, but to Buncombe.

PEOPLE'S CHIMES

Dedication of the Bells Will Take Place at 12 O'clock Noon in Front of St. John's Church—An Outline of Programme

AN HISTORIC EVENT

The dedication of the People's Chimes will take place at 12 o'clock noon on Thursday next, Coronation Day, the ceremony being performed immediately in front of the church. It will be preceded by the Coronation service at 11 o'clock in the church, conducted by the Bishop of Toronto.

Citizens of Peterborough generally, are invited to participate in this unique and historic event.

Mayor Morrow on behalf of the contributors will present the Deed to the Bishop.

The Mayor and City Council, the County Judge and other officials have been invited to be present for the occasion.

Representatives of the different fraternal societies which have contributed so generously towards the Chimes, are invited to be present in the regalia of their order and accommodation will be reserved for them.

The Doxology, National Anthem and O, Canada will be sung, led by the 57th Band. The Bishop will deliver a very brief address, and immediately afterwards the bells will play patriotic selections for half an hour.

An official luncheon will be given in the school house at 1 p.m. in honour of the Bishop of Toronto.

Note.—A reference to the above programme will very readily suggest the importance of the public being present to take their share in the consummation of an event, to which the liberality and cooperation of all creeds and classes have so splendidly contributed. It is a public occasion, a civic occasion, in which all our people are interested. The Chimes are the "People's Chimes"; and St. Johns, by the accident of initiative, age and situation, becomes their resting place and the authorities, the custodians, trustees, on behalf of the people of the whole city. It is becoming, therefore, that the people should generally take part in the inauguration of the chimes and in the rejoicing, as much in consonance, with the spirit of civic and popular harmony the chimes represent.

The price of one suit of clothes, wisely invested will increase your yearly income by at least 30 per cent. Yes, it's a Moon College ad., but, like all other Moon College Ads. it is fact, not fiction.

CATTLE THIEF ARRESTED IN TORONTO

LINDSAY, JUNE 16.—The local police have received notice that one of the cattle thieves, who stole the cattle from an Eldon farmer, has been arrested in Toronto. It will be remembered that on Friday, June 2nd, Mr. Donald McEachern, of Eldon Station, had eight head of cattle stolen. A short time ago it will be remembered that an article appeared in the Warder stating that the cattle had been discovered in the possession of a butcher at Begverton, from whom they were obtained by the owner.

Robert Grant of Eldon Station was arrested in Toronto yesterday charged with the theft, while the arrest of the other is expected at any time. Constable Thornbury will leave today for Toronto, to bring the prisoner to the local jail.

C. G. E. WHISTLE BLEW FOR TEN MINUTES

An incident which caused considerable speculation, occurred last night, at 7 o'clock, when the C. G. E. whistle blew a ten-minute blast. It was caused by the whistle lever attachment catching and holding the whistle open. It was thought by those who heard it, that there was a fire, and a telephone message was sent in to the Fire Station, to this effect. The brigade got all ready for a call, but a message was sent in to the Department, informing them of the cause of the disturbance, and the anxiety of the 'moment was transformed into a 'huge joke.'

INTERNATIONAL FLYER IS BADLY WRECKED

Many Improvements At Juniper Island, Mecca Of Stoney Lake Residents

Pavilion on the Wharf an Addition That Will be Appreciated ---Better Docking Facilities Have Been Provided--Large Boat House Has Been Erected and the Place Has Been Altered in Many Ways.

Juniper Island,
Stoney Lake, June 17

Juniper Island has a surprise in store for the residents of Stoney Lake this summer. Greater changes than those of last year have added to the charm of this already attractive spot.

The enterprise shown by Mr. H. W. Stock and the Cottagers' Association is to be commended. Last year they constructed to the rear of the store, nothing on a quiet sheltered bay, a large boat house, two stories in height, the upper flat being sub-divided into several sleeping rooms for the convenience of tourists, and equipped with a kitchen for the purpose of preparing meals.

Late in the fall a large addition was built to the pavilion, making it almost twice as large as the original structure. The extension was made in the direction of the wharf, close to the water's edge.

Yachting parties, who have to tie up at their own special landing, gain access to the steamers over a walk constructed on the same level as the main wharf, at the foot of the lattice work surrounding the pavilion.

Another improvement in the arrangement of the store equipment is the change in the position of the post office. This has been transferred to the corner nearest the wharf, leaving the other side free to the patrons of the ice cream parlour.

The climax of surprises, however, centres in the handsome pavilion provided by the government. Mr. Stratton certainly is to be congratulated on securing such an addition to the usefulness and beauty of this favourite rendezvous.

In design it resembles the structure at Lakefield, which was erected at the time the cement wharf was built, for the protection of the travelling public waiting for their steamers.

Its position is at the southern end of the main wharf, resting on two piers, each sixty feet long, the outside one forming an unbroken front with the main wharf, to which vessels can tie up during a storm and land or receive their passengers without exposing them to the inclement weather.

The Trent Valley Canal painters added the finishing touches to the decorations last week, the red of the roof presenting a strong contrast to the green of the surrounding trees.

Mr. Stock has had a triangular sign placed in the gable above the store, and a rectangular one below, calling the attention of the public to the nature of his wares. He will have as an assistant Mr. Zimmerman, son of Dr. Zimmerman, of Toronto.

A Bowser gasoline tank is on hand ready to be installed near the water's edge, where motor boats may draw up alongside and have their supply of gasoline replenished, without the inconvenience of transferring to cans, and then to boats. This innovation will be greatly appreciated by owners of crafts that depend upon gasoline for their motive power.

Juniper Island will always be the "Mecca" of Stoney Lake. In position it is the central point, being almost equidistant from such places as McCracken's Landing and Mt. Julian, Kawartha Park and Boschink, Burleigh Falls and Crowe's Landing.

It not only enjoys the prestige of being the post office for the most populous district of the lake, but is the spot where everybody goes to meet everybody else.

The regular nightly "hops" prove a great attraction for the young people, while the Sunday morning services are increasing in popularity each year.

No prettier sight presents itself in Stoney Lake than the weekly gathering of cottagers from every quarter, some in canoes, some in skiffs, while the greater majority arrive in yachts, many filled to their capacity, besides towing behind several well filled canoes.

At the conclusion of one of the services last season an American visitor who had been constrained by his friends to remain over Sunday, remarked that his vacation would have been quite incomplete had he missed such a magnificent sight.

Canada Leads In Number The Coronation Contingents

Canada easily takes the lead in the strength of the Coronation contingents now in London, representing the Overseas Dominions, and this may account for the fact that the men from the Land of the Maple have been selected to take the lead in the Empire's military display in the Royal Progress through London, on the day following the Coronation.

The continents from the remotest parts of the Empire are limited to small numerical strength owing to expense.

	Officers and men.
Canada	807
Australia	25
New Zealand	60
South African Union	340
Rhodesia	48
Ceylon	10
Malay Straits	10
Hong Kong	10
Barbadoes	10
British Guiana	12
Jamaica	10
Leewasd Islands	10
Trinidad	12
Windward Islands	4
British Honduras	10

Canada and South Africa each send 230 mounted men.

A NECK AND NECK RACE

Broken Axle is Thought to Have Been the Cause of the Disaster —James Madill, a Toronto Drug Traveller Was Killed.

MANY INJURED

Special Staff Correspondence.

NEWCASTLE, JUNE 17.—The international flyer on the G. T. R., was wrecked one mile west of Newcastle yesterday afternoon at 4.30. The cause of the wreck is thought to have been a broken axle. Mr. James Madill, a traveller for a drug company, was killed. He was about 45 years of age and resided in Toronto. A number of passengers were injured, among them being Dr. Ivey's mother, of Cobourg, who had several ribs broken and one lung punctured. She is not expected to live. There were seven coaches, having on board about 200 passengers.

The coaches stayed on the rails, although the trucks were torn from the cars, and the inside of the cars badly wrecked. The east bound train had a narrow escape as the wreckage was very close to the other track, escaping by only a few feet. The Belleville auxiliary was called out and are now clearing the wreck from the tracks, which will likely be clear this afternoon.

The train was in charge of Conductor Arnold and Engineer Blacock. Assistant Superintendent Coleman is superintending the clearing of the wreck. An Italian on his way to Toronto to attend a convention, was severely cut about the head. The man who was killed was going from one coach to the other and fell beneath the cars as the train broke. The train was composed of three day coaches and four Pullmans.

Mr. James Madill, the victim of yesterday's wreck at Newcastle, was a brother of Mr. Wm. Madill, the local druggist, who left this morning for Newcastle. Further particulars will be given in Monday's issue.

Messrs. C. N. Banks, Joseph Denno and other local people were on the east bound G.T.R. local which crossed the International just a few seconds before the accident happened. Ten seconds earlier and the two trains would have piled up.

HERE TO-DAY

The Brewery Workmen's International Union excursion arrived in the city this morning about 10.45 from Toronto. There were between four and five hundred. There were also quite a large number came down on the D.&S. C.P.R.. They were met by the City Clerk, and the necessary directions were given regarding the location of the Oval, where their sports will be held this afternoon. Their sports include a 5 mile bicycle race, jumping, ladies' races, hundred yard dashes, throwing weights, etc. The Str. Otonabee took a large crowd of the excursionists up over the lift lock to Nassau and returned in time to allow them to take part in the sports.

HOME FROM CONVENTION

Mr. Joseph Denno has returned from Windsor, where he was attending the Convention of the Catholic Foresters. He reports a very successful convention and a very enjoyable visit. En route he stopped at Hamilton, where he had an opportunity of calling upon his old friend, Chief Ten Eck, of the Hamilton Fire Department, the quarantine upon whose house had been removed the day before Mr. Denno's arrival. In Windsor he, too, renewed acquaintances with Fire Chief Murray, with whom he used to work thirteen years ago. Mr. Denno says that Windsor has a very modern fire-alarm system with forty-three alarm boxes and four more to be added shortly.

WAS NOT ON TRAIN

Mr. O. Levoy, the engineer of the Belleville train, was greatly relieved on reaching Belleville last evening, to find that his oldest daughter, who was due from Toronto by the wrecked International Limited had not left Toronto. A slight indisposition had very opportunely arisen with her preventing the undertaking of the journey. She is to be congratulated, therefore, on escaping a very serious danger.

GRATIFYING APPEARANCE

The painting and decorating of the front of Merrill and Meredith's store is nearly completed, and when finished will have a most gratifying appearance. The work is being done by J. D. Howell, quartered oak specialist. Reid street, and it is expected that it will be finished by Monday.

Some Interesting Light Upon The Early History Of The 57th Regiment

Rev. Patterson, of London, England, at One Time an Ensign of the Rangers Sends to the Commanding Officer a Short Review Upon the First Days of the Local Militia Corps.

The communication given below, received by Major Clegg, Officer Commanding the 57th Regiment, is full of interest, not only to members of the regiment, but also to the citizens of Peterborough generally, as it throws considerable light upon the early history of the Rangers. It is from Rev. R. Stewart Patterson, of 31 Hartington Road, West Ealing, London W., England, who fifty-five years ago was an ensign in the 57th. In a letter enclosing the communication he refers to his old associations in Peterborough and points out the desirability of the Canadian regiments securing affiliations with regiments in the Old Country.

The interesting bit of history he refers to is as follows:

I forward this to Peterboro, as it may prove of interest to members of the 57th Batt. (Peterboro Rangers):

The Rev. R. Stewart Patterson, who has received a card to be present at His Majesty King George's Levee, when he will have presented to him a number of Volunter officers whose commissions are dated prior to 1860.

It was not contemplated that Colonial officers should be entitled to the honour of attending, but owing to the special request of His Royal Highness Field-Marshal the Duke of Connaught Mr. Patterson has been included.

In 1856 the 1st Company of Peterboro Rifles was formed, the original officers of which, if I recollect aright, were Captain Edwin Poole, Lieut. Daniel Sutherland, and Sub-Lieut. or Ensign Robert S. Patterson, whose commission bears date February 1857.

Shortly afterwards Lieut. Sutherland resigned, and Lieut. Patterson was promoted. His place was taken by Mr. Thomas White (late Hon. Thomas White, Minister of the Interior). Mr. John Kennedy was subsequently appointed to the office of Adjutant, but later on left the Rifles and became Captain of an Infantry Company (scarlet uniform). One of the officers of the new company was Lieut. William Kennedy, who was an officer of the first Red River Expedition, and joined the Gordon Relief Expedition on the Nile under Lord Wolseley as Paymaster to the Canadian Voyageurs, with the rank of Lieut.-Colonel.

In connection with the 1st Rifle Company, shortly after its formation a very excellent band was formed. The instruments were paid for by subscriptions from members of the corps and through the generosity of the citizens of Peterboro. A. Mr. Rackett, Band Sergeant of a British regiment stationed at Kingston (the 17th, I think), became bandmaster of the new organization, and the choice proved an excellent one.

Having served for several years, Lieut. Patterson resigned his commission on leaving Peterboro. Having in the meantime taken Holy Orders in 1870 he accepted an appointment as Chaplain to the North-Western Expeditionary Force under Colonel, now Field-Marshal, Lord Wolseley, and proceed to Fort Garry.

He remained with the two Volunteer Battalions, the 1st Ontario and 2nd Quebec, to which he was attached, and returned with them over the portages, etc., in the autumn of 1871. In the spring of the following year, having been given a commission in the Chaplains' Department, he took up duty in the Southern District at the Portedown Forts, but remained there only a short time, as he was ordered to join the expeditionary force against the King of Ashanti under his old chief, now Sir Garnett Wolseley. For upwards of a quarter of a century he served at many stations at home and abroad, and finished his career in the service as Senior Chaplain to the army of occupation in Egypt. He had the honour of being under most of the distinguished soldiers of the age or serving with them. Lord Wolseley has already been mentioned, Field-Marshal Lord Napier of Magdala, Generals Sir John Adye, Sir William Norcott, Sir Lothian Nicholson were his chiefs in Jersey and Gibraltar; Field-Marshal H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught at Portsmouth; General H.S. Highness Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar while in Ireland; General Sir Archibald Alison at Aldershot; General Sir Richard Harrison in the Western District; and Generals Sir Forestier Walker and C. B. Knowles in Cairo.

Amongst those whose names are well known, he served with Generals Wauchope and Woodgate, both killed in the Boer War; Generals Buller and Butler, who were comrades on the First Red River Expedition and in Egypt; Field-Marshal Lord Kitchener, the present Sirdar (Sir Francis Wingate), Sir Rudolph Pasha and others.

At the Levee the Volunteer officers will be presented to His Majesty by Major-General J. S. Cowan, M.V.O., Director-General of the Territorial Forces, and this circumstance points to the conclusion that it is not so much on account of Mr. Patterson's services and long connection with the Regular Forces that he has received the honour of a command to attend the forthcoming Levee, but because he is an old officer of the Canadian Active Force, first as a combatant officer in the Senior Company of what is now the 57th Battalion, and subsequently as the first appointed Chaplain to H.M. Dominion troops.

Headquarters, 57th Regiment,
(P.R.)
Peterborough, Ont.,
13th June, 1911.

Rev. R. Stewart Patterson,
31 Hartington Road,
West Ealing,
London, W., England.

Sir,—By direction of the Officer Commanding the 57th Regiment ("Peterborough Rangers"), I am deputed to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 24th of May, 1911, and to convey to you, on behalf of the officers and men of the corps, their appreciation of the very interesting "bit of ancient history" with which you have been good enough to favor them.

It is indeed a unique event in our history to hear from one who was connected with this regiment at its inception 55 years ago; and we feel a personal pride in the meritorious record of one who spent with us his military childhood, and who is now retiring with the laurels earned by long years of faithful, loyal and patriotic service in maintaining the prestige, dignity, integrity, and solidarity of the British Empire.

Nor can we feel otherwise than gratified to learn that you attribute the honour of an invitation to His Majesty's Levee to your connection and association with this corps so many years ago. Such a tie gives added emphasis to your regimental motto: "Quis separabit."

Of the history of our regiment we have as yet no completed records, but are now endeavoring to collect information for such a history, and you will be pleased to know that your account of the formation of A Company, out of which grew the Peterborough Rangers, is fully corroborated by information received from other sources.

Of that first company all the officers save you, and most of the men have passed away, but there are in Peterborough some citizens and retired officers of the regiment who can recall the early days, who remember the visit of the Prince of Wales, and who have a vivid recollection of Sgt. Rackett and his band.

The regiment has grown to eight companies, with a peace establishment of 405, and we are at present over strength. Some three years ago we vacated the old wooden Drill Hall, and are now occupying handsome new armouries erected on the old site at a cost of some $150,000. You will find enclosed a list of the present officers, none of whom it is likely you will know, but of some of whom you will no doubt recognise the family name. The Command has just recently been transferred to the Senior Major, E. B. Clegg, from Lieut.-Colonel Stevenson, whose father, the late James Stevenson, you will recall.

For some years we have had under consideration the question of affiliation with a sister regiment in the Imperial Army, and at the beginning of this year Lieut.-Colonel Stevenson began a correspondence with the idea of effecting such an affiliation with the 57th Regiment of the Line, which is, I think, at present quartered in India, and we are looking forward in the hope that the desired affiliation may be consummated in the near future.

We fully appreciate the offer of your good offices, and shall esteem it a great favour to have your personal assistance should the opportunity present itself to you to further our efforts.

We congratulate you on the honour so well deserved and so faithfully earned of a command to attend His Majesty's Levee. We earnestly desire to convey to His Majesty, through you, our devoted loyalty, as subjects, to his person, our unswerving fidelity and allegiance to the Crown, and our unalterable adherence to the great Empire over which he rules.

For yourself, we pray that the King of Kings may still bless you with long years of peace and comfort, so well merited, after the active life which you have spent in His service.

I have the honour to be,
Sincerely yours,
D. WALKER, Capt.-Adjt.,
On behalf of the Regt.

CONTRACTS ARE LET

For the Erection of the New Protestant Home—Successful Contractor for Bulk of Work is Mr. J. G. Graham

THE OTHER CONTRACTS

A special meeting of the Directors and representative members of the Protestant Home Board was held on Friday afternoon, June 16th, at the Home, on Stewart street.

The meeting was called to discuss the matter of letting the contracts, and to settle all final business with Mr. Sandford Smith.

Teh successful contractor is Mr. J. G. Graham, for the bulk of the work. The heating will be in the hands of Mr. R. J. G. Sutherland, and the plumbing will be done by Adamson and Dobbin. Building operations will be commenced at once, and it is tobe completed by the earliest possible date.

At the close of the meeting the board adjourned to the site, and the location of the house was decided upon.

The directors feel very grateful to all those representative members of the various churches who so kindly attended this meeting and rendered most valuable assistance in deciding such important matters.

It is to be hoped that the citizens in general will not overlook the appeal which is being made for funds. If this building is completed free from debt, it is hoped that it will be self-supporting and that no further appeal will have to be made.

The response made so far has been very generous, but there still remains a considerable sum to be collected. Contributions may be paid to any member of the Board or to Mr. Travers of the Bank of Montreal.

TWO-THIRDS OF SENATE FAVOURS RECIPROCITY

WASHINGTON, JUNE 16.—Chairman Penrose of the Senate Finance Committee, in conference with President Taft to-day confirmed the report that sixty Senators are expected to vote for Canadian reciprocity, and predicted that within two weeks a date for a vote would be agreed upon.

He gave the President a detailed report of the situation in the Senate, and declared the bill would be passed without amendement.

Later, Mr. Penrose issued a formal statement, in which he said:

"A careful canvass of the Senate shows that sixty members, or substantially two-thirds of the Senate, are in favour of the reciprocity bill and more than that number will be opposed to the Root amendment. The Senate will hold daily sessions from now on, and during the next two weeks great progress ought to be made toward reaching a final vote on the measure. The bill wil lbe passed at an early date without amendment. It would be well if it could be passed before the Canadian Parliament reassembles, the latter part of July."

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1911

CONGRATULATIONS.

Congratulations are due Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, upon his election to the important and honourable position of Moderator of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches. It is a matter of congratulation, to himself, to the congregation he ministers to and the city in which he resides and labours with so much evident acceptance and success. It is a recognition of his ability and standing as a preacher—of his administrative as well as ministerial ability. To be well esteemed for ones work's sake is well; but to be primus inter pares, is gratifying for the recognitionary character as well as responsibility, authority and opportunity for larger service, it involves.

LIBERALISM IN HALIFAX.

The most striking local victory of the late election in Nova Scotia was won in Halifax, where the three elected Liberals had majorities over their Conservative opponents of 1,056, 1,366, and 1,969, says the Toronto Globe. This simply means that the constituency of which Mr. R. L. Borden is one of the representatives in the House of Commons has gone completely over to Liberalism. Halifax is one of the few constituencies in Nova Scotia in which there was some discussion of the reciprocity agreement, and that was chiefly at the beginning of the campaign. Probably because the Conservative candidates found their attitude on the question unpopular the discussion of it virtually ceased before polling week. It seems from these figures that Mr. Borden may have to come back to Carleton for a seat if he forces an election this fall on the reciprocity agreement ratification.

DECORATE.

The crowning of King George V. has a world-wide significance, in that it brings officially to his own the monarch of an empire, that, rules the world as an example of, and in influence in, all that is highest in the promotion and maintenance of human freedom, the highest manifestations in constitutional government, in commerce, in industry, in science, in art, literature, and all things that make for the enlightenment and uplift of humanity.

As a part of the British empire, Canada will take its due share and place in the great event. As a part of Canada, Peterborough has its place assigned, and its people will give outward and visible signs of their inward rejoicing over the crowning of the king.

It is to be hoped that every citizen will feel his responsibility and privilege in this matter; for the coronation of a British king is not an event that will come often into the average life of the average citizen. Every imperial Union Jack or Canadian flag should be hung out upon the outer wall of every home, as they will be done on every public building. This will not be meaningless display of bunting; but a token of that deep-seated feeling that makes every Canadian, every Australian, ever South African, and every subject of the far-flung, but politically and morally compact, British Empire, a participant in the great event that sets London ablaze and stirs to its depths the heart of the Empire on Thursday next, June 22nd.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, spoke in Halifax in the Conservative interest in the by-elections. The Halifax seats went Liberal by the largest majority in the whole province. The province Mr. Borden is going out west to speak in view of an election. Draw your own conclusions.

Unreasonable and inappropriate flag-wagging is one of the curses of this continent, says the Montreal Herald. A flag is not a thing to be pushed forward upon all occasions, any more than a prayer. The too common and meaningless use of either is apt to diminish reverence. But there are places where the flag has always a meaning; and there are times when it has a meaning anywhere in the King's dominions. Thursday next is one of these times.

THE CHANGE THAT HAS COME.

Mr. Borden is starting off for his tour of the West, the Nova Scotia election being over and done with.

He goes to ask the population to overturn a government which has been in existence since 1896, during which period most of those he will address have gone into the country.

He will visit large and prosperous towns in districts where there was no population at all in 1896.

He will be driven through miles of farms in places where before 1896 only the gophers worked the land.

He will travel far over the Canadian Pacific main line, now running through a populous country, where just prior to 1896 the Company was ineffectively begging settlers to stay on their farms.

He will travel from Regina to Prince Albert, through a country that before 1896 was condemned as a decert, and where now are the finest farm houses and barns in the whole Northwest.

He will ride over four or five lines parallelling the main line of the Canadian Pacific, each after the other, carrying farther and farther northward the vanguard of population and agricultural production.

He will find places that were struggling hamlets before 1896 turned into handsome cities, with paved streets, and with signs everywhere of prosperity, of wealth, of comfort,

In a land which before 1896 cried out for farmers, he will find farmers organized in legions, filled with enthusiasm for the country they work in and eagerly supporting plans of their own for its development.

When Mr. Laurier went there as leader of the Opposition in 1894, the difficulty was to find the farmer. When Mr. Borden goes there in the same role in 1911 his difficulty will be to keep out of the way of the farmer.

That, perhaps, is the readiest measure of the change that has been wrought under the intelligent direction of the Government he seeks to overthrow.—Montreal Herald.

A POPULAR SENATE.

(Toronto Star)

The Senate of the United States has passed by a two-thirds majority an amendment providing for the direct popular election of Senators. It is declared by the New York Post that there are difficulties ahead of the measure. The bill contains a clause retaining for the Federal Government the power to supervise Senatorial elections. If the bill goes before the State Legislatures in that form, it may be that the Southern States will reject it. The Post, however, thinks that cool reflection may convince the Legislatures that the danger of Federal interference is so extremely remote as to be negligible. "The existing constitutional power of Congress to regulate the election of United States Senators has never once been exercised. Its new form might likewise lie dormant for a hundred years."

The Senate has at last yielded to public opinion, which is overwhelmingly in favour of the change. This state of public opinion is all the more remarkable because the Senate has been held up as all that a Second Chamber should be. he defenders of the House of Lords have laid emphasis on the fact that a democracy had as strong a checking and revising body. In Canada some of those who desire the Senate reformed have proposed that the American plan be followed, and the Senate chosen by the Provincial Legislatures.

After a trial of more than a hundred years, our neighbours are discarding the system. It is not difficult to understand why. A legislative body nominated by other legislative bodies is likely to be little more appreciative of the people than one chosen by birth or by the nomination of the Government of the day. In practice, the choice is frequently made by a caucus of the dominant party in the Legislature. The system lends itself to personal canvasing, wire-pulling, and intrigue, and in one case at least there was gross bribery.

Popular election has its defects, but it has the tremendous advantage of publicity. The successful candidate must have some qualities that appeal to the mind and heart of the people. He and his friends must declare themselves on public questions. There must be a process of education. And there is more likelihood of an independent vote in an electorate composed of tens of thousands than in a Legislature of a hundred members. The calculations of machine politicians are likely to be accurate in the case of the small body; but they are frequently baffled by the people at the polls. The change will be a severe blow to the power of the boss.

ECZEMA ON THE HEAD

Mr. Peterson, South Bay, Ont., writes: "For years I suffered a sort of eczema on the head. I tried four different doctors, giving each a fair trial, but the disease grew worse and spread to my arm. I got Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has entirely cured me. I give you my name because I want other sufferers to know about this splendid Ointment."

Porcupine Handbook

"PORCUPINE," that one attractive, alluring, magic word is the title of an interesting booklet on Porcupine stocks and a general history of the camp, just issued by Charles A. Stoneham & Co. Its contents are concisely written and are authentic. The statement of C. Algernon Moreing to the shareholders of the Northern Ontario Exploration Company, Limited, in London, occupies a leading position in this booklet. This one article in itself puts an indelible stamp of approval on the Porcupine camp as to its permanency, and the man making it is undeniably a world-wide authority in such matters. A story on all active operating companies, together with the latest map of the district and a conservative article entitled "PORCUPINE AS IT IS TO-DAY," combine to make this publication of the greatest interest to the investing public.

We have unrivalled facilities for obtaining the latest and most authentic news on the Porcupine camp. We shall be pleased to communicate such news to our friends and clients immediately on its receipt by means of our special service.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S VIEWS ON RECIPROCITY

(Hamilton Times.)

In the House of Lords a few days ago the Earl of Selborne made an attack upon Canada's course in the reciprocity matter. In a spirited re ply Lord Lucas declared that "they might look at it as they might, and disguise it as they would, but there was no question about it that the noble earl would like in some form or another to take away from the Dominions the rights they at present enjoyed and had exercised for many years past to control the commercial arrangements they had made with other powers. Lord Selborne might deny, but no one could listen to his speech and put any other construction upon it. Did Lord Selborne suggest that they should attempt to forbid Canada to conclude this arrangement, which was entirely within her present statutory rights? Were they going to put obstacles, diplomatic or otherwise, in the way of negotiations.

That was rather a poser for the Tariff Reform wing of the Unionists, how would Canada remain as a supplier of raw materials in the Chamberlainite scheme of things, said it received no answer. Lord Lucas pointed out that in the nature of things Canada stood to profit by such a reciprocity agreement. Said he: "One had only to look at the statistics of production of the two countries to realise that Canada and the United States were, in matters of trade, complementary one to the other in a degree in which Canada and this country never could be. The history of the countries and of the negotiations showed that in making the agreement with the United States Canada was realizing what had been the desire of her people for half a century." Lord Lucas said his Government did not believe in turning back the clock and taking away from Canada the power of individual negotiations if it could be done. As for that how could Canada or Great Britain prevent the United States altering the duty which they placed on wheat if they wished to get wheat from Canada? Lord Lucas declared for the fullest autonomy for the British nations. "Their true policy," said he, "was to allow the component parts of the Empire to seek their own prosperity in whatever way they thought best." And he averred: If Canada in her wisdom considered that more rapid prosperity would be achieved by negotiating this reciprocity agreement, that would automatically do far more for British trade than we could possibly lose under the agreement; and, secondly, when a Dominion had deliberately made up its mind to follow a policy of that kind, the Government must give it a fair field and no interference whatever.

Not only had Ambassador Bryce been watchful of British interests in the reciprocity negotiations, but "he had assisted the Canadian delegates in every possible way." And he challenged Lord Selborne as a leader in the Tory party to say if he would have taken a different course. And he did not dare to attempt to controvert his arguments. The British Government has no fault to find with the reciprocity agreement. Not noly is it not apprehensive regarding it, but it believes great benefit will accrue to Canada and the British Empire from its ratification.

SERMON FROM SHAKESPEARE

(Copyright, 1909, Bradley-Garretson Co., Ltd.).

Me, poor man, my library
Was dukedom large enough.
Tempest, Act I., Sc. II.

Shakespeare was evidently a book-lover. His dramas prove that. They show a wealth of knowledge that could only have been gained by affectionate study. It was not unnatural that at the height of his dramatic power, in the closing years of his devotion to his art, he should have created a drama in which the central character was a bookman, a being endowed with the magic of learning. Prospero felt that his library was dukedom large enough. No doubt Shakespeare when he settled down in his Stratford home, after his successful business career in London, like Prospero became devoted to his books; not to the same extent, however, for he never neglected his business as Prospero, to his temporary loss, did his dukedom. Shakespeare has a strong affection for his bookish characters. Prospero in his adversity, Henry VI., Hamlet, Brutus, are all created so as to win the sympathetic affection of cultured minds. There is a fineness about them, born of their reading and their dreams, that is attractive.

Prospero called his library a dukedom. Dukedom or kingdom is an excellent term to apply to a collection of books. It is a dukedom richer in willing subjects than any ordinary one. The owner of it has at his command an army of men and women who cannot but obey his will. He is at a loss how to act as a citizen—he has Plato and Aristotle, Locke and Mill, Benjamin Franklin and Emerson to advise him. The problems of life and death oppress him; Job and Isaiah, David and Solomon and St. Paul, Epictetus and Seneca, Kant and Hegel, Berkeley and Spencer are ready to assist him in solving the riddles of existence. He desires a knowledge of the planet on which he lives—Hugh Miller and Dana, Darwin and Wallace, Huxley and Haeckel, Agassiz and Bessey have wrested her secrets from nature, and delight in disclosing them to anyone who seeks the light of truth. Does he desire theology? Calvin and Knox, Rutherford and Mather, Robertson and Stanley, Phillips, Brooks and Beecher at his command will discourse eloquently to him. Is he dejected, melancholy? The wits and humorists of the past and present are at his elbow. He has but to reach out his hand to command the genial laugh of Tom Hood or Mark Twain. "Tartarin of Tarascon" or "Sam Slick" can be made to "play the fool" for his amusement. Has he a craving to know the deeds of men in bygone times? Josephus and Thucydides, Herodotus and the "mighty Caesar," Hume and Gibbon, Mommsen and Merivale, Prescott and Parkman are ready to satisfy his hunger for historical information. Let his imagination yearn after the immortal music of the bards and the "captains of the hosts of song." Homer and Virgil, Dante and Hugo, Goethe and Schiller, Chaucer and Spenser, Shakespeare and Milton, Burns and Wordsworth, Shelly and Tennyson, Poe and Longfellow rejoice to pour into his ears their imperishable songs. Sitting by his fireside he can travel through torrid Africa with Livingstone and Stanley, search the remote regions of China and Tibet with Sven Hedin; voyage through the tumbling ice-packs surrounding the South Pole with Scott and Shackleton, experience the perils and the glories of the Arctic seas with Franklin and Kane, Nansen and Peary.

It is something to be able to sit by the fireside and command explorers, poets, historians, humorists, theologians and philosophers. In his library on a winter's night a man can take down his Marlowe and Ben Jonson and Shakespeare, and without difficulty imagine himself an inmate of the Mermaid Tavern, enjoying the flashing wit and penetrating insight into life of the master minds of the Elisabethan age. A good library is indeed a dukedom; its owner is a ruler of the world's choice spirits.

A home without a library is like a body without a soul. Gross and material are the lives of the ignorant. There are many who profess carelessness with regard to books, who take pride in saying that they never read. They are parasites enjoying the spiritual environment created by readers.

There is a danger that books may become tyrants and enslave their devotees. A witty writer once wrote regarding a contemporary that "he might be a very clever man by nature, for aught I know, but he laid so many books upon his head that his brains could not move." Unless knowledge is applied the mind is affected through great learning much as the body is affected by gluttony.

A large library, a broad dukedom of literature is an excellent thing, but it is impossible to have an intimate acquaintance with all the books in it. It is necessary to pick and to choose, to select some and to read and re-read them. The Latin orator who said "Beware of the man of one book" was wise. Know and love a few well. These few make "a substantial world both fair and good." Chaucer and Shakespeare, Milton and Browning, Carlyle and Emerson can be any man's boon companions. What a privilege!

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

I AM perpetually urged by correspondents to write on matters of etiquette.

Now, I can't write on the fine points and elaborate distinctions, because I do not know them well enough. I'm just a plain person. You'll have to go to the etiquette books for that.

But from what I have seen of the manners of the younger generation, it seems to me that a few reminders of the "do's and don'ts" of everyday politeness—those things which everybody knows and yet which almost everybody apparently forgets occasionally—would not come amiss.

I'll give the men their dose first, because I honestly think—no feminine prejudice, truly—that they need it most.

A FEW ETIQUETTE "DO'S AND DON'TS" FOR THE MASCULINE SEX.

Never smoke when on the street with a woman.

Never smoke when in the room with women, no matter how well you know them, without asking their permission.

When you are smoking, never talk with your pipe between your teeth. Always remove it before speaking.

Always remove your hat in an elevator where there are women. Yes, I know that an elevator is not so very different from a street car, and men keep their hats on there, and I know that women's hats often annoy you more than yours possibly can them. I have been informed of these and all the other arguments on the subject before. But you see, I didn't establish the custom. Convention did that and she still favours it.

Never take a woman's arm in the street. If you wish to assist her you should offer her your arm, but that is not customary except at night or if she is aged or infirm.

Never clean your nails or pick your teeth in the presence of your intimate friends any more than you would in public. It is just as unpleasant to them to have to see you as to the general public, and surely you owe them as much consideration. (Will the people who think that warn-ch and see how many really decent ing is not needed anyway please wat way.)

looking men they see offending that the room where you are calling and

Always rise when a woman enters remain standing until she is seated you find the seat, let the lady precede

In the theatre if an usher helps you. Otherwise you precede her.

Don't sit in a street car with your feet stretched out in front of you where people will be apt to tumble over them. That is selfish and dangerous, as well as ill-bred.

At the table always remain standing behind your chair until your hostess is seated. I think it is a charming bit of domestic ceremony when this custom is carried out in the home circle and the father and children remain standing until the mother is seated.

There, I guess that's enough for one day.

The ladies shall have their turn later. Please excuse this reversal of the conventional order of things. I explained the reason for it above.

By the way, here's a suggestion for the feminine contingent. If "himself" offends in any way of these particulars and you don't quite like to speak about it openly, why not clip this and mail it to him.

UNEEDA REST

A Vacation Suggestion by Simon the Sailor

Did you ever pause to take stock of your physical resources?

Why does a merchant set apart a few days each year to make a list of his possessions? Simply that he may complete the balance sheet, showing his assets and liabilities; and he is reckoned a success or a failure according to the manner in which the statement balances. What an anxious moment as he scans the final operations, to see how much the debit side exceeds the credit? The results of this important epoch largely regulates his policy for the following year.

If it is so important for a man to ascertain the state of his financial status, which concerns only a few paltry dollars he may have been able to accumulate in excess of that required for his living, how much more important is it that you should learn the extent of your physical resources, to see if you have come through the past year with a surplus, or a deficit, and thus determine your programme for the ensuing twelve months.

It is a lamentable fact that the great majority of people seldom consider the condition of their bodies, but go blindly on, burning the candle at both ends, until the fatal day arrives and they are transferred from the ranks of the physically perfect, happy, independent workers to the great army of dependents, who become a burden to themselves and an affliction to their friends.

How many homes have been invaded by the grim monster—sickness which could have been prevented, in a large measure, by the exercise of the most ordinary common sense?

Happiness is the great desire of the human race, yet how recklessly we sacrifice it by our senseless observance of the laws of health. No person who is sickly can be truly happy. No one who is unhappy can enjoy life to the fullest. Therefore, to get the most out of this short "span" we must keep our physical natures in perfect condition. This can be done only by providing a surplus of energy in our spare time, to more than make up for that expended during the working hours.

Some people are always bemoaning the fact that they have to spend so much time in bed. The space of twenty-four hours should be apportioned: eight hours for sleep, eight for work, and eight for recreation, (which being interpreted means re-creation). Instead of this allotment many work ten hours, which, unfortunately, is the general rule of society at the present time, sleep six, or often less, and spend the balance in dissipation, instead of re-creation. Is it any wonder so many have their lives so prematurely snuffed out?

If we have been careless in our habits in the past, expending more energy than our system has generated, it is up to us to stop short, and make a resolve that from this day forward, we will give our bodies a square deal, that the days of our declining years may not be spent in bitter remorse, that our younger days had not been spent more wisely in the conservation of our physical energies.

There are four things that come not back:

The spoken word,
The sped arrow,
The past life, and
The neglected opportunity.

The year 1911 spells "opportunity" for you. Then see that you do not miss it. Make up your mind that the two weeks which the firm allows you shall be spent wisely; for it is remarkable the amount of vitality one can pick up during fourteen well-spent days. If you feel that two weeks will not give you the desired rest, ask for more, even though you have to lose the time. Money sacrificed in this way will recompense the loser one hundred fold.

Indeed, the employer is rapidly appreciating the fact that the efficiency of the worker is greatly enhanced by wise, physical development.

The proprietor of one of Canada's largest departmental stores is a thorough believer in the value and importance of athletics as a means of furthering the working ability of his employees. They have been encouraged to organize an athletic association, and their numerous baseball and golf teams have received substantial help from his hands. Contests in such sports as basketball, bowling, etc., are arranged, and an annual field day is held to which all the clerks and their friends are invited.

It is interesting to note that the actual productive power of the great staff has been greatly increased. The heads of the various departments assert that not only has an esprit de corps been generated, but those of the employees who avail themselves of the athletic schedule are more fit for strong, effective work, than those who skip it.

If it is a profitable thing for merchants to spend money and sacrifice precious hours that their clerks may be in a better physical condition to perform their duties, is it not time you should get wise and do a little for yourself? Waken up! Not next year, but to-day, lest you plod along till the hour of the "great awakening," when the physician, with bated breath, tells you that the work must cease, and gravely whispers to the sorrowing friends that they try and make you as comfortable as they can till the "Crossing of the Bar."

Get outdoors, away to the pine-clad hills. Breathe God's good air that has not been polluted by the inventions of man. There is health to be had for the taking, and enjoyment is free to all. Change your point of view; live over again some of those happy days of your childhood: those days when you were perfectly happy and care-free. Set yourself to live those days over again. Banish from your mind all thoughts that do not belong to those days. Give the child in you a holiday, and it will rest the man in you. If you succeed you will be amazed to find how fresh and vigorous you will be when you go back to work.

If at all possible, get a canoe and small tent and spend your entire holiday in roughing it. O, the joy of an outing spent entirely out of doors, to paddle and portage, to make your bed of boughs and sleep the sleep of the careless!

There is joy, too, in the moist smell of the woods, at dawn, in catching one's own breakfast, the firm flesh from the cool waters of these beautiful streams makes a breakfast tempting even to a dainty appetite.

There is joy in paddling along the quiet shore just as the sun begins to tint the tree tops. The lake lies limpid like molten lead with never a ripple, save where a bass jumps, and sends out a series of widening circles of tiny wimples. The love loon lets out a melancholy cry that wakes the echoes in the cliffs, and ridges.

O, the peace and perfume of it all! After breakfast you go forth to find the hiding place of the black bass, and by noon you are as hungry as a bear, and light a camp fire on a tiny isle and fry more fish, or perhaps a slice of bacon.

There is joy in the morning, at noon and at night—best of all, at night.

After a wholesome supper, a pipe, or good cigar, the camp-fire flickering among the trees, the low wind bringing to you the balsamic odours of the bush-land, you lie down with the sweet smell of your pine pillow permeating your tent, and the low lush of the sapping waves lulling you to sleep.

No people on earth are so favoured as those of Peterborough, for right at their back door lie the charming Kawartha Lakes, very aptly termed the Highlands of Ontario. While they do not possess the awful grandeur of those of Switzerland, nor the cold ruggedness of some of the Scotch lochs, yet there is about them an inspiration more subdued and peaceful while every point, every island, every bay and headland glows with a picturesque beauty. Slowly threading a narrow passage between verdure-clad islets, the rounding of a point will suddenly bring into view a broad expanse of water whose continuous shores seem to have no outlet; but, hidden behind some island or projecting headland, will be found a passage leading through another labyrinth of beautiful scenery, and, just as further progress seems impossible another miniature sea breaks into view.

What could be more delightful than a holiday spent in the midst of such charming surroundings? A fortnight's sojourn on Stoney Lake, drinking in this elixir of life out of doors, would make you young again, would so invigorate you that for the balance of the year you would enjoy perfect health and happiness, and fortify you for another year's trials.

THE FAMILY HEARTH

It is a pity that the hurrying world cannot realize more that there is something ennobling to the frank and unfailing expression of the tenderer sentiments which stir the mind and heart—that the kindly word and the cheery clasp of the hand is like a draught of water to a thirsty soul or the shadow of a great rock in a weary land. It would redouble our joys and minimize our sorrows and scatter flowers along the highway like the footfall of the spring.

* * *

You will never have a friend if you must have one without a fault.

* * *

A woman without religion is like a flower without perfume.

* * *

It is one of the paradoxes of life that the more a woman keeps her husband in hot water the colder he grows toward her.

* * *

A man will spend $25 to buy cut flowers for his dead wife's coffin, when if he had spent twenty-five cents for a bunch of flowers for her when she was alive, she would have fainted. You wait until she is dead and then get some preacher to tell how good she was.

* * *

So far as possible, let all women dress beautifully; so God dresses the meadows and mountains. Let them wear pearls and diamonds, if they can afford it. God hung around the neck of his world strings of diamonds and braided the black locks of the storm with the bright ribbons of the rainbow.

* * *

Don't repress the buoyant spirit of your children; half an hour of merriment around the lamp and firelight of a home blots out many a care and annoyance during the day, and the best safeguard they can take with them into the world is the unseen influence of a bright little domestic circle.

* * *

Speak kindly in the morning; it lightens the cares of the day, and makes the household and all its affairs move along smoothly. Speak kindly at night, for it may be before dawn some loved one may finish his or her space of life for this world, and it will be too late to ask forgiveness.

* * *

We are often very much impressed by the woman who is doing a great and grand work for humanity, but the one who retains our respect is the true wife and mother, who presides over her home and children with a heart and head, demonstrating kindness and ability, which puts the blush on the public life.

* * *

Let the parents, the father as well as the mother, impress upon their young daughters, whether they are in the country schoolhouse or college, that the true woman's sphere is in the home, and the great business and educational world that have thrown wide open the doors for woman does not detract one jota from the importance of her sphere.

* * *

Put home first and foremost; for there will come a time when the home circle will be broken, when you long "for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still," and when your greatest pleasure will be in remembering that you did all in your power to put a song under every burden, to make each other happy.

* * *

A kind word costs but little, but it may bless all the day the one to whom it is spoken. Nay, have not kind words been spoken to you which have lived in your heart through years, and borne fruit of joy and hope? Let us speak kindly to one another. We have burdens and worries, but let us not, therefore, rasp and irritate those near us, those we love those whom Christ would have us save.

* * *

It is when the sun has gone down that the home influences become actual and potent. In opening the tender buds of young characters the light from the heartstone is far more efficient than the sunlight. The distinctive characteristics of the home life are manifested most strongly when the labours of the day are ended and the family gather round the fireside for the evening. One hour of evening homelife is worth a month of the ordinary daily experience.

* * *

Our country needs grand and good men, and to become a grand and good man, one must be a grand and good boy. It is a wrong idea that every boy must "sow his wild oats." When you sow a crop of wild oats, you must take time to harvest a crop; and the crop is never anything but chaff. "Wild oats" need never be sown. The time spent in sowing wild oats is worse than lost, for the time could be spent in sowing a crop that would yield a golden harvest. Be careful about the kind of seed you sow, for "whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

* * *

We ought to consider home and all the members of the household as entitled to the first consideration in all things. What are those we meet in society to us that we should take such pains to be agreeable to them and neglect those who have the strongest claim upon us? It all comes about because we have got into a wrong way of thinking. We have put the home into the background when it should occupy the foremost place in our thoughts. We should strive to make ourselves such pleasant members of the household band that our absence is like the loss of the sunshine from a summer day. We can do it and we will do it if we enter into the right spirit—the spirit of home.

RICHARD HALL & SON

Shot Ball Player And Claims Self Defence Victim Is Well Known

Albany, N. Y., June 16.—Self-defence will be the plea of John V. McSlea, the Augusta, Georgia, theatrical manager, who shot and killed First-baseman Arthur Brown, of the Albany State League baseball team, whom he found last night in company with his wife in Brown's rooms. McSlea was arraigned before Police Judge Brady to-day and his case will be considered by the grand jury now in sessions. Mrs. McSlea, known on the stage as Mildred Barry, is detained in the House of Shelter as a witness.

Brown never regained consciousness after he was shot, and died in an hospital soon after.

President Winchester, of the Albany baseball team, took charge of the body, and under his direction it was prepared for removal to-day to Wilkesbarre, where he resided. He was shot five times, three bullets entering the abdomen.

McSlea's Story of Affair.

McSlea's story of the shooting is as follows: Four months ago his wife left Augusta for this city, where relatives reside. Since her departure he heard stories from Albany which aroused his suspicions. He decided to come to Albany and take his wife back home. McSlea arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and found that his wife was living in a boarding house on South Pearl street. Early in the evening he called at the boarding house, conducted by Mrs. Louise Johnson.

McSlea asked Mrs. Johnson if Miss Brown lived there. He was told that there was a Mr. and Mrs. Brown living there, and then Mrs. Johnson called upstairs to Mildred. McSlea told the police that when he heard his wife's name called he rushed past Mrs. Johnson up to the third floor, and entered the room just in time to see his wife get up from Brown's lap.

McSlea says that Brown jumped up, saying: "Now,——, I'll get you now," and rushed toward him, striking him a blow in the face. Realizing that Brown was too much for him, McSlea says he then drew his revolver and shot him.

He Was Attacked First.

When asked by the police if he had shot Brown, McSlea said: "He broke up my home and ruined my life, and he must suffer the consequences. I did not come to Albany to shoot him, and I probably would not have done it if he had not attacked me first."

Mrs. MSclea is a daughter of George L. Bliven, of Albany, a railroad engineer. She is about 23 years old, and is a sister of Mrs. Patrick Millerick, whose husband is a well-known baseball player. While on the stage she met McSlea in New Orleans and they were married.

After living with her husband for six months she returned to the stage, declaring that she had been brutally treated. After the shooting last night Mrs. McSlea was much worried about Brown, who, she declared was a royal good fellow.

McSlea was manager and stage director of Blaney's Lyceum in New Orleans, and had also been on the stage. He says he came to Albany on receipt of a telegram from his wife's relatives, who urged him to take his wife away.

Brown was one of the best players in the State League. He had played on the Detroit, Montreal and Trenton teams.

STARVED NERVES

The Cause of Neuralgia—It Must be Treated Through the Blood

Neuralgia is a cry of the nerves for more and better blood. It literally means that the nerves are being starved. Like every other part of the body the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. There is therefore no doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure the worst cases of neuralgia. They actually make new, rich blood, carrying to the starved nerves the elements they need, thus driving away the sharp, torturing pains which nearly drives the sufferer wild. So many cases of neuralgia have yielded to treatment through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that every sufferer from this dreaded trouble should lose no time in giving the Pills a fair trial. Mrs. Sophia H. Johnson, Mosan, Sask., says: "For upwards of ten years I was a periodical sufferer from neuralgia. It located in the side of my face and in the jaw, which would actually click every time I opened or closed my mouth. At times the pains would be almost unendurable, and as time went on, my whole nervous system seemed to be affected. I was constantly doctoring, but the doctor did not seem to be able to give me permanent relief, and at last I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a half dozen boxes, and before they were half gone I felt much better, and by the time I had used them all every symptom of the trouble had gone, and I was enjoying a comfort I had not known for years. I have since remained in the best of health, and can only say I owe the joy of living without pain to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE LIL' BLACK SHEEP

"Po' lil' sheep dat strayed away
Done los' in de win' an' de rain—
And de Shepherd he say: 'O hirelin',
Go fin' my sheep again.'
An' de hirelin' say, 'O Shepherd,
Dat sheep am brack an' bad.'
But de Shepherd he smile, like dat lil' black sheep
Wus de onliest lamb he had.

"An' he say, 'O hirelin,' hasten,
For de win' an' de rain am col,'
An' dat lil' brack sheep am lonesome
Out dere, so far f'um de fol',
But de hirelin' frown, 'O Shepherd,
Dat sheep am ol' an' grey!'.
But the Shepherd he smile, like dat lil' black sheep
Wus fair as de break ob day.

"An' he say, 'O hirelin', hasten!
Lo! here's is de ninety an' nine;
But dere, way off f'um de sheepfol',
Is dat lil' brack sheep ob mine!"
An' de hirelin' frown; 'O Shepherd,
De res' ob de sheep am here!'
But the Shepherd he smile, like that lil' brack sheep
He hol' it de mostes' dear.

"An' de Shepherd go out in de darkness,
Where de night was col' an' bleak,
An' dat lil' brack sheep he fin's it,
An' lays it agains' his cheek.
An' de hirelin' frown: 'O Shepherd,
Don't bring dat sheep to me;'
But the Shepherd he smile, an' he hol' it close,
An'—dat lil' brack sheep—wus—me!"

WHO SAYS SO?

Mrs. Lora S. Lamance, State Press Superintendent of the Georgia Women's Christian Temperance Union, discusses in the Anti-saloon League Monthly, the parrot cry that prohibition is a failure. She says:

Who says prohibition is a failure? The brewer and distiller? Yes, they say it. Who else says it? The saloon-keeper and bartender? Yes, they say it, and say it a dozen times a day. The sot in the gutter? Yes, he says it and he certainly looks like it was a failure. The man who violates the liquor laws? Certainly he says it, and does all in his power to make it so. The whiskey doctor and the whiskey druggist? Yes, and both of them are the chief abettors in their community of that state of affairs.

Who says prohibition is a failure? The gambler? Yes, he says it, and he associates with the very set that would make it a failure. The whole set of bootleggers, joint-keepers and blind-tiger men, they say it. Of course they do, and do their best to make it so.

What does the United States government say? Fifty miles of saloons closed in 1908, and the liquor bill less the year before by $217,000,000. That's going some. And in 1909, forty-one saloons closed a day, sixty miles of them in the year, over two million less barrels of whiskey drunk, and the estimated drink bill lower by $412,000,000.

What do the liquor men say among themselves? Julius Liebman, the head of the United Brewery of the United States, in an address to the brewers in June, 1909, says that the prohibition wave had curtailed the output of beer in the United States over five million barrels in eighteen months' time.

In a private letter to a saloon-keeper friend, one of the largest wholesale wineries in the country lamented that, "Here in Virginia we are fighting for our very existence, if this thing continue much longer we shall all be broke, even if we win." Which may not be an over-grammatical sentence but one plain to understand. The writer continues: "In the last year we lost over $300,000 of established trade, legislated out of existence."

Do you ever say that prohibition is a failure? Think a minute. Do you want to train with the crowd that is always crying this? Use your common sense. If as much whiskey is sold under prohibition as under license, in the name of common sense, why do not all the saloon-keepers work for prohibition, save their license money, and sell as much as ever? when they move heaven and earth to defeat prohibition, and pour out money like water to do this they acknowledge by their actions that prohibition prohibits altogether too well to suit them.

MAINE.

In the State of Maine there is now a constitutional problem within a constitutional problem. The State Legislature has decided that at the general election on September 11th, the question of repeal of the prohibition clause in the State consitution is to be submitted to the electors. Some journalists claim that this action of the legislature is in itself illegal and that constitutional amendments can only be submitted at the time of a general State election, the next recurrence of which is due in September, 1912.

Meantime, a campaign is being waged on both sides with remarkable energy and diligence. Mrs. Lillian M.M. Stevens, the National President of the W.C.T.U., whose home is in Maine, writes to the Union Signal a prediction of the outcome as follows:

The combat deepens in Maine. I think it rather better to say that it heightens. It certainly brightens. So long has Maine been free from the open saloon the people cannot readily understand what the saloon really is, but even the most indifferent are now aroused when we ask if they wish to have the saloon set up next to their home, their school house, their place of business, and already many whom we counted as doubtful are out on the Lord's side.

The W. C. T. U. is acting splendidly its part. In the cities, the villages, the rural districts, the plantations, on the coast, inland, from Kittery to Eastport, from Calais to New Sweden, white ribboners are awake and working hard to carry out the extensive plans made by the Maine W. C. T. U. We have a fine lot of campaign literature and new leaflets are frequently issued. The campaign songs are very popular. Our long list of out-of-State speakers is constantly lengthening. The clergy of the State, the Sunday Schools, the Grangers and the church organizations are all out for prohibition.

The temperance men of Maine are working on parallel lines with the W. C. T. U. Utmost harmony prevails—all working for the one great end, to prevent the repeal of the prohibitory amendment; to secure on September 11 an overwhelming victroy for prohibition.

From our slope of the mountain everything seems favorable, but we realise there is another side. We do not underestimate the strength of the enemy, subtle, astute, with an unlimited amount of money, working with a desperation born of fear, for they declare, Maine holds the key to the situation; if we win Maine, our future success everywhere is secured.

We are deeply grateful to comrades from various parts of our own country and from over the sea for their interest, manifested by word and deed, and I believe we shall be able to say to them on the evening of September 11—our triumph is your own.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Colour—Dandruff Quickly Removed

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

THE HOWDEN PROPERTY on Manning Avenue is in the market. It is fine residence property, has a number of bearing apple trees, and is close to the Normal School—The new extension of the Street Railway on the next Street, Aberdeen, will make this very desirable for homes—It is in the hands of Dumble & Johnston and will be sold cheap to tear up Estate business. 2d-140

DR. CLIFFORD AND HIS FRIENDS

As a free church leader in the fight against Roman Catholicism and establishment, as a temperance worker and a social worker, Dr. Clifford is ever in the van. He is one of the 'X'—a club composed of five Baptists and five Congregationalists, who meet at one another's 'for social and other purposes.' The Congregationalists were Dr. Joseph Parker, Dr Guinness Rogers, Prof. Vaughan Price, the Rev. W. Hardy Harwood and the Rev. Silvester Horne. The Baptists are Dr. Clifford, Dr. Green, Principal Gould, the Rev. William Brock, and the Rev. George Hawkens.

In the education campaign of the London Progressives, of 1894 the Daily Chronicle said, just before the results of the ten months' fight was made known, 'Whether we have won or lost, on polling there is one man in London to whom the supreme thanks of the Progressive party are due, that is Dr. Clifford. For grit, intellectual power and directness of purpose, Dr. Clifford's fight for the children and for the schools stands out a notable example of what a good and strong man can do. The 'British Weekly' said, 'Dr. Clifford has fought with magnificent courage, determination and skill, and he will hold a higher place than ever in the affections of Liberals and Nonconformists.'

In 1896 Dr. Clifford did yeoman service in the fight against the Government's Education Bill. In 1895 he helped stir the country to the realization of the Armenian horrors. As for his opinion on gambling, he says 'A boy must not be fined for playing pitch and toss, while the Duke of Westminster is allowed to win £16,000 on a single race.'

And, as usual with most great men, behind Dr. Clifford is Mrs. Clifford. Dr. Clifford married in 1862, Miss Carter, daughter of Mr. Thomas Carter, a medical man at Newbury, and sister of Dr. William Carter, of Liverpool, and it is the joke among those who love him best that Louisa Alcott's statement that every man requires at least three women to look after him is, in his case, literally true. So oblivious is he of some mere externals that they are convinced that but for his wife he would 'half starve himself, and certainly he would almost appear in rags so oblivious is he of external things.' He himself says but for his wife he would never get a new hat. What Mrs. Gladstone was to England's great Liberal leader, Mrs. Clifford is to England's great Baptist—great Nonconformists. The other woman responsible for Dr. Clifford is his daughter, Miss Kate Clifford, who is also his secretary. He has four sons and two daughters.

If the children require physic, none acts so nice as Miller's Worm Powders; very pleasant to take. Wm. Madill.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE

The Reception committee met last night with the following present: Ald. Graham, chairman, Aldermen Bradburn, Kerneghan, Edgar and Anderson. The committee arranged to have Victoria Park lighted, especially for the evening of the 22nd having one hundred or more lights extra. They also decided to send invitations to the veterans and Boy Scouts only to take part in the sports at the Central Park on that day, and not have the Collegiate Cadets as before intended.

Acting on the decision of the committee last night, Mr. Armstrong, City Clerk, met the excursion of the Union Brewery Workers, of Toronto half way this morning, and advised the committee in charge, of the different parks, and where the sports would take place. No other business was transacted.

EARLY CLOSING AND HOLIDAYS

During the months of July and August, every Thursday afternoon at one p.m., the dry goods, clothing, gents furnishings, hatters and furriers and jewellers of the city will close their stores, in order to afford the employees a half-day during the hot spell.

As Dominion Day comes on Saturday this year, the regular market day will be held on Friday preceding. All business houses will be closed on the holiday.

Coronation Day, June 22nd, will also be observed by all the stores closing.

Says Church Is Lagging Behind

KINGSTON, JUNE 14.—"The Anglican Church has been lagging behind in the work of social and moral reform," declared Rev. W. L. Armitage, of Picton, at the Ontario Synod to-day. "It is allowing other denominations to do the work, to its discredit. The Anglican church should be a leader in the work."

Mr. Armitage was criticising the Synod committee for not giving the clergy something to inspire them in the work. The committee had recommended that the clergy be governed by local conditions in the action they take on local option. Said Mr. Armitage: "Local option will sweep this country, in spite of the churches. Perhaps ten years from now there will be no licensed bars in Canada, and the Synod may be asked what it had done to rid the country of them."

The Picton rector's remarks were resented by Bishop Mills and Dean Bidwell. The former said that the Anglican church was exercising its powers regarding temperance and moral reform work. The Dean also took exception to the statement that the church was lagging behind.

DEFEATED GANG

NEW YORK, JUNE 16—One girl defeated a gang of highwaymen yesterday morning when she grappled with one fellow, brought aid by her screams caused the other foot-pads to flee and thereby saved her employer's money.

Miss Rebecca Grossman, twenty-one years old, is assistant cashier for the E. J. Schwabe picture frame company at No. 629 East Sixteenth street. She had drawn $176.14 from a bank for the Schwabe payroll. As she passed the corner of Avenue A and East Sixteenth street, members of a gang which loafs there called to her. She quickened her steps but had gone only half a block when the roughs overtook her.

She turned and grappled with the leader. He struck her but as she reeled to the sidewalk she caught him by one leg and screamed. The money bag was snatched from her hand. With a last effort she bore him to the ground. His confederates were so interested in the battle that they made the blunder of staying to see it.

Two blocks away Patrolman Delaney had heard Miss Grossman's cries. He ran down East Sixteenth street and came upon the girl and her assailant just as the robber broke from her clutch. The fugitive was chased to East Seventeenth street and into No. 601. Delaney on the third floor captured the man, who said he was Joseph Martin of No. 387 Avenue A.

When the chase was going on Miss Grossman went to the factory and told her story. A dozen workmen armed with balesticks ran out and found Martin and the policeman. The workmen, who at that time thought they had lost their pay, took joy in helping the policeman to drag his prisoner to the East Twenty second street police station. In the Yorkville Court Martin was held in $3,000 for further examination.

The money bag and its contents were found in the street on the route of the chase. Several weeks ago there was a hold-up at the same corner.

POST CARD COLUMN

A great many have wondered many times why our local Bowling Club has not given us a summer tournament, when such pleasant grounds are available for such a purpose.

Under the conditions which surround this city, it should be possible to at least get 25 or 30 rinks here, as there are Port Hope, Cobourg, Belleville, Campbellford, Keene, Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Perry, Uxbridge, Barrie, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby to draw from; also Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Galt and London might be induced to send some rinks, so would say, get busy boys, and give us a Tournament this summer.

T. Brightman.

Editor of the Examiner:

With the opening of the band concerts in Victoria Park comes simultaneously the hideous disturbance kicked up by the hundreds of citizens who frequent there during the evening. Apparently there is no one to look after the noisy swarm of youngsters who are allowed to play tag all over you, throw grass down your neck, yell in your ear and in many other varied but successful ways divert your attention in spite of yourself away from the band. The mothers seem to think it cute to see their offspring turn a somersault over some unoffending man's pedal extremities or disturb the equilibrium of his hat with a well aimed bunch of grass. They apparently forget that a few misguided individuals go to the Park with the hope of listening to the band. Strange as it may seem to those who regard the weekly concert as a kind of an al fresco nursery, there are in the crowd some people who really want to hear music and to take it "neat" too, not mingled with raucous cries of "Hot roasted peanuts 5 a bag" and the bawling of infants who should be home inbed. All joking aside, the noise is hideous and it would not be a bad idea if the people were to make an example of some of the offenders, while at the same time all vendors of peanuts and other indigestibles should be chased out of the park. Really, a curfew bell would be of more service than the People's Chimes, if it would keep down the attendance of howling youngsters at the band concerts.

Yours, etc.,

One Who Wants to Hear the Band.

To the Editor of The Examiner

Dear Sir,—While the agitation for a park in East City is to the fore it seems to me that a few words on the question of the best site for the breathing spot in question might not be out of place. As a resident of East City and one who has studied the situation to a considerable extent, it strikes me that the most desirable and most logical location for an East Ward park would be the property on the north-west corner of Hunter and Mark street. Here is a lot of about an acre in extent, most centrally located, that could be converted into a beautiful little park, a place that would be a play ground for the children and a resting place for their elders. To my mind there is no doubt that this property enjoys the advantage of being the best situated that could be secured. It is in the centre of the ward, on the main thoroughfare, and on the route to the lift-lock. If a park was located there it would not only serve as a pleasant spot in which sight-seers, on their way to the famous lock, might enjoy a rest, but it would also tend to give visitors a better conception of the public-spirited temperament of the citizens. A park buried away in some corner of the ward, requiring minute directions before it can be located by a stranger, is not what is wanted. One has only to consider the number of people who enjoy the shade of Central Park on a hot day to realize the advantage of having a park on a leading street, where it can be used by the greatest number of people. As the situation is now the people in the north end of the Ward have Nicholls' Oval to serve them for park purposes, while the south end is not very thickly populated. The site I propose is in the centre, where it can easily be reached by everyone. The people who come down from the northern part of the ward to cross the river, have to pass this spot, and the advisability of having a park there to serve as a pleasant break in the long journey these people have to make, should readily commend itself.

Some objection has been raised to the site I mention on the ground that it would require considerable filling-in, but that is by no means an insurmountable obstacle, especially in view of the fact that there is a public-spirited resident of the ward, who will undertake to look after half the filling-in. Surely the other half can be arranged for, and I have no doubt that a beautiful park could be arranged. Shade trees could be planted; a section of the ground might perhaps be laid out as a bowling green, to be looked after by the young men of the neighbourhood. By all means let us have a park in East City; we need it badly, but on no account should it be placed anywhere else than at the corner of Hunter and Mark streets. No other site will serve so many people; no other site needs improvement more than this corner, and no other site will suit the majority of the people of the East Ward.

Yours, etc.,

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

A very pleasant evening was spent yesterday, when an ice cream social was held, under the auspices of the young ladies of the Park street Baptist church at the home of Mr. G. T. Gillespie.

The assembly, which was a large one, was entertained in various ways, the most enjoyable items being cornet solos by Mr. J. Miller and vocal solos by Mr. Bentley. The affair was a financial success.

CHURCH LEAGUE SOCIAL WAS GREAT SUCCESS

A pleasant evening was spent yesterday in the Knox lecture hall, when a social was given by the football league.

There was a large assembly, who joined heartily in the singing of some of the songs. At the interval, about 9.30, light refreshments were served.

The proceeds will be spent in providing medals for the winning team, and it is intended to make the social an annual event.

Mr. Fitzgerald was chairman, and the following programme was rendered, much to the enjoyment of the audience, who showed their approval by enthusiastic applause.

Colonies Can Now Get Out of Irksome Treaties—Commission of Inquiry Will Be Formed

PREMIER'S SUGGESTION

London, June 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At the Imperial Conference yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved that the Government be requested to open negotiations with the several foreign Governments having treaties, which apply to the overseas dominions, with a view to securing the liberty for any of those dominions, which may so desire to withdraw from the operation of a treaty without impairing the treaty in respect to the rest of the Empire.

He said these proposals had been before the public for some time and had given rise to various comments, some one-sided, others fair and reasonable. The necessity for what he proposed might be shown by the experience of Australia, who, when they wished to give preferential treatment to British products carried in British ships were prevented from so doing by the most favored nation clause in certain treaties.

A similar difficulty arose when Canada wished to give a preference to the Mother Country. There were twelve treaties in existence containing that clause.

It had been suggested that the proposal would destroy the principle of commercial unity, but that principle did not at present exist. The United Kingdom had a free trade system, and all the dominions had fiscal policies based on the principle of raising revenue by customs duties, but no two of their tariffs agreed. Instead of commercial unity there was commercial diversity. Consequently it was not difficult to understand that when the United Kingdom made a treaty which suited its own requirements that treaty might not suit the requirements of the Dominion. For very many years, at least fifteen since he had been in office, the Home Government, when negotiating commercial treaties, had followed the policy of not including any of the dominions without their consent. What he suggested was that the old treaties should now be brought into line.

It was not an argument for separation, but would make for closer union. Proposal should be coupled with three principles. First, it should be the first effort of the self-governing dominions to develop their trade as far as possible with the Mother Country; secondly, they should not confine their effort to the British markets, but be allowed as their second object to increase their trade with other nations; thirdly, any benefits given to the dominions or other favours should be given also, not only to the Mother Country, but to other dominions of the Empire.

Premier Fisher said that both the resolution and the arguments in support of it strongly commended themselves to the Commonwealth point of view. The Dominion Government appreciated the difficulties, but strongly wished, without embarrassing the Home Government, that treaties by which they were affected should be modified in the way proposed at the earliest convenient moment.

Sir Joseph Ward agreed with the resolution, assuming it meant that the old treaties would be renegotiated by the Imperial Government, with a view to a better arrangement being made. So far as the dominions were concerned, both agreed with the resolution.

Premier Morris was also entirely in its favor.

Sir Edward Grey said the resolution was one which in facts of the case must be accepted.

The case might be met by agreeing to open negotiations with the countries concerned and asking whether they would be prepared to modify the treaties in the direction desired, so as to bring them up to date in the point desired. If they agreed, the course would be quite simple, but if they did not the best course of procedure would be to enter upon negotiations for new treaties without denouncing those now in existence.

On behalf of the Home Government he was prepared to accept the resolution on that understanding.

The resolution was agreed to with the addition of the word "commercial" before "treaties."

Australia had given notice of resolutions urging that every effort be made to bring about co-operation in commercial relations in matters of mutual interest, and that efforts in favor of British manufactured goods and British shipping should be supported as far as practicable.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the Government of Canada had perfect sympathy with the objects to be obtained by these resolutions, but it was difficult to secure improvement in trade relations between the dominions and the United Kingdom unless they possessed more information than they had at present. He therefore thought the first thing to be done was to institute an enquiry, and with this object he proposed a resolution which recommended "That His Majesty should be approached with a view to the appointment of a royal commission representing the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Newfoundland, with a view to investigating and reporting upon the natural resources of each part of the Empire represented at this conference.

Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt said the resolution was only another step in the policy which had been the governing note of the conference, namely not of imperial concentration, but imperial co-operation.

Premier Fisher thought the resolutions a very practicable way of dealing with a rather difficult set of questions.

Sir Joseph Ward thought the proposal met the position in a very practical way.

Premier Morris also expressed concurrence.

Asquith thought the conference was much indebted to Laurier for making this very practical proposition, which would certainly prepare the way and possibly make the way plain for effective action at the next conference, if not before. The proposed commission would be an advisory body with reference as wide as words could make it on all matter connected with trade and commerce, production and intercourse between the different parts of the Empire, but would not be a commission to suggest or state a policy to any part of the Empire.

THE WAY IS CLEAR NOW

Reciprocity Has a Majority in the United States Senate—Measure Through to Its 2nd Reading

SPEECHES YESTERDAY

Washington, June 17.—The determination of the Senate finance committee to push through the Canadian reciprocity bill with all possible speed, and the confidence of the Senate leaders that there is a clear majority in favor of the bill without amendment was made plain yesterday, when Chairman Penrose of the committee forced the bill into its second reading before the Senate, and announced its probably early passage.

In reply to questions from Senator Cullinger, Chairman Penrose said he believed no speeches would be ready before next week.

He had found, he said, that few friends of the bill cared to speak on it, but preferred to vote as quickly as possible. The opponents of the measure, he said, wanted more time to prepare their arguments.

"Do I understand that no one wants to speak in behalf of this bill?" asked Senator Smith of Michigan.

Senator Penrose said that for his own part he was ready to vote today. Other members suggested that the President and many other leading Republicans and Democrats had explained and endorsed the bill.

"I am not surprised," returned Senator Smith, "that a measure so devoid of merit, similar to the treaty of 1854, which President Lincoln saw no reason for continuing in force, and similar to the projects rejected by Grant and Blaine and others, should find no one in this chamber willing to stand up and risk his reputation as its champion.

"I did not intend to make a speech I thought when the bill came here we would be greeted by a great burst of wisdom that would flood the country with light and that would cement the people of the country together in support of this agreement. Instead all lights are out. The country is in darkness so far as anything has been revealed in favor of this measure."

"Don't you consider the President's speech at Chicago as enlightenment on this bill?" asked Senator Kern of Indiana.

"The President has been able to make intelligible many public questions," replied Senator Smith, "but it is amazing that if all the things he has discussed, and of all the suggestions he has made, this reciprocity agreement is the only one that has found favor on the Democratic side of the chamber, and that finds no championship on this side."

Chairman Penrose volunteered no statement as to the Senators who would speak for the bill, if any. The Senate listened to the second reading of the measure, which brought it officially before that body for amendment, and Senator Root's pulpwood amendment, which has been adopted by the finance committee, was then offered, but as Senator Root was not prepared to speak upon it no attempt was made to vote.

From that time forward speeches are expected every day on the bill until it is finally disposed of. Senator Townsend of Michigan announced that he would offer an amendment instructing the President to undertake Friend's Plight Too Much For Him.

Toronto, June 17.—Depressed by the plight of his friend, Joseph Jessiman, who is awaiting trial for the murder of James Lougheed, William Torrance, a fireman in the Richmond street hall, committed suicide at his room in West Gerrard street early Friday morning by taking a quantity of carbolic acid.

His landlady, with whom he had roomed for ten years, found the body early yesterday morning. Speaking of the probable cause for his act, she said:

"He was a friend of Jessiman, who shot Lougheed a short time ago, and he was all the time talking about this case. He couldn't see what made Jessiman do that, and thought he must have been wrong in the head. He kept repeating, 'I wonder what made him do it!' There was nothing else that I know of that would cause him to commit suicide."

No Conscience Clause.

Montreal, June 17.—The Anti-vaccination Society of Montreal has been awakened into activity by the recent vaccination legislation passed by the City Council, the outcome of several cases of smallpox, yesterday declared the new bylaws. These make vaccination absolutely compulsory and provide penalties for non-compliance. There is no "conscience clause" and the only exemption is by a doctor's certificate testifying as to physical inability to undergo the operation.

The society will distribute literature throughout the city and provide for the delivery of lectures. Several doctors are with them in their fight.

A challenge is also being issued to Doctor Louis Laberge, city health officer, to engage in public debate with the leaders of the society, on the question of vaccination.

Hurt by Live Wire.

Cornwall, June 17—A Bell Telephone Co. lineman named Leitch, was working on a pole in Morrisburg, when the back of his neck touched a live wire and was badly burned. Leitch fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried into the Central Hotel, while a doctor was summoned. He is recovering.

MEN GOING BACK

Car Company Expects Workmen on the Job on Monday.

Montreal, June 17.—The strike of the men of the Canadian Car & Foundry Co., Ltd., at Turcot and Dominion, which commenced at one o'clock last Monday, has not yet been settled, though indications point to the majority of the men being at work on Monday, as more are returning to work each day. The open air meeting held yesterday morning was not characterized by any excitement, and only a few hundred men surrounded the speakers.

The younger element hooted and shouted at the passing cars filled with men going to work, but the police kept the men off the car lines.

At the Dominion works yesterday morning men were working to the number of 450 and for the first time since the strike they entered the shops without any big assembly of strikers shouting at them from the railway embankment.

The company shipped eight cars on Thursday and sixteen yesterday.

L. A. Rivet, deputy for Hochelaga, has offered his services as mediator between the men and the company.

A Fatal Accident.

Cornwall, June 17.—Little Myrtle Elizabeth McLeod, the two-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan W. McLeod, Vankleek Hill, is dead as the result of a runaway accident. The parents and child were thrown out and all more or less injured, but the little girl passed away after lingering four days.

LIST OF THE VICTIMS

Six Are Injured in Disaster Near Newcastle in Which the International Limited Was Wrecked

MR. MADILL'S BROTHER

Bowmanville, Ont., June 17.—One man was killed and six injured in a wreck immediately west of Newcastle at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the tender and seven coaches of the "International Limited" left the rails and toppled over to the south track, to be wrecked and torn by the drive of the engine until the couplings broke and left the shattered cars upon their sides.

Dead.

James Madill, 47 years, a commercial traveler, married, 50 Spencer avenue, Toronto. Head crushed and leg almost severed. Body held at Newcastle for inquest.

Injured.

Thomas P. Smith, sailor, 44 years, single, Kingston; left rib broken; taken to St. Michael's Hospital in Matthews' private ambulance; not serious.

Hector Dauphinais, shoemaker, 42 years, married, St. Hyasinthe, Quebec; cut on head; taken to St. Michael's Hospital; not serious.

— Simmons, said to live on Laurier avenue, Toronto, and taken home; broken rib.

Mrs. Pallister, Ottawa, bruised face; at Palmer House.

Miss Swerer, Philadelphia, Pa., sprained ankle; at the King Edward.

The cause of the wreck is unknown, save that it appears there has been trouble with the south rail, which appears to have spread or broken after the engine passed over it, allowing the heavy tender and cars down upon the roadbed, which was plowed up for a considerable distance.

There were 250 passengers in the five passenger coaches and diner, and the cars were terribly shaken, as, one by one, in rapid succession, they left the rail. The engine still held to the tracks and pulled the trucks from beneath the laboring coaches. These fell to their sides and were wrecked and torn until the couplings broke and left them free from the urge of the engine. Fortunately, not even the diner, which held the only fire in the coaches, was set ablaze, and so the horrors of fire was not added to the wreck.

When the rocking coaches came to a standstill, all those who were able made their way outside, and several doctors who were aboard, immediately began to care for the injured, who were taken to Newcastle in automobiles and then the three most seriously injured were sent on to Toronto in a special train sent out from that place, in charge of Dr. Gordon Rice, assistant to Dr. Riordan, G.T.R. surgeon. A wrecking train was sent on from Belleville, and a crew went to work to clear the tracks.

The body of James Madill of Toronto, the only fatality, was taken to Newcastle, where, under the instruction of County Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, Coroner A. E. Tiller set about investigating the wreck, preparatory to holding an inquest.

Fined the Pilot.

Quebec, June 17.—Pilot Phileas Lachance was yesterday fined $100 as a result of the investigation held into the grounding of the steamer Manchester Spinner at White Island. A number of witnesses were heard, including the pilot, who acknowledged that he had been guilty of an error in judgment, having mistaken the White Island lightship lights for the stern lights of a steamer.

Killed In Wisconsin.

Cornwall, June 17.—John McGillivray, son of the late Murdoch McGillivray of Finch Township, was accidentally killed while working with a construction company in Superior, Wis., a short time ago. The remains were brought home by his cousin, Mrs. John Mackenzie, and the funeral took place to the Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek, and the sixth concession cemetery. Rev. Mr. Mackenzie officiated.

To Welcome Premier.

Ottawa, June 17.—There will be a public reception for Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he gets back from attending the Imperial Conference, probably about July 12.

It is likely that the civic authorities will, within a few weeks, arrange for a fitting welcome to the Premier.

Wants Law Annulled.

Montreal, June 17.—The power of the Provincial Parliament to pass a regulation along the lines of the early closing law and to provide penalties for an infraction of the same has been questioned by Lawrence Wilson, president of the Licensed Vitualliers' Association, who appeared in court with the demand that the new law be annulled.

Owing to the extreme importance of the points of law, which a hearing of the application would raise, it was decided to postpone hearing until June 27.

Killed by Runaway Horse.

Brighton, June 17.—Richard Parker, a farmer living about two miles west of here, while attempting to stop his brother's runaway team of horses at nine o'clock yesterday morning, received injuries from which he died a half an hour later. HERE ARE FOUR PEOPLE WHO TESTIFY

That GIN PILLS Positively Cure Rheumatism

Rheumatism is a dreadful disease. Only those, who have had it, can appreciate the agonizing pains—the excruciating torture—that racks the body when Rheumatism sets in. No wonder those, who have been cured of Rheumatism by GIN PILLS, are so grateful and so enthusiastic.

They gladly testify that GIN PILLS cured them and want all the world to try GIN PILLS.

MANY KINDS OF MEDICINE

Alex. Moore Esq., is one of many hundreds who know that GIN PILLS will cure Rheumatism. He writes from Newburgh, Ont.

"My father had been troubled with Rheumatism for a number of years. He tried two doctors but got no relief, when my uncle insisted on him trying GIN PILLS. He purchased a box and after taking GIN PILLS for a week, found that they were giving him much relief. He then bought three more boxes, which were the means of curing him. He is now a strong man—in good health—and able to attend to his daily work—and all the credit is due to GIN PILLS."

HIS FATHER WAS TROUBLED

They know about GIN PILLS down in Nova Scotia too. In fact, GIN PILLS are the old standby all over the Maritime Provinces because GIN PILLS really cure Rheumatism. An old gentleman in Yarmouth, N.S. says:

"I have been bothered with Rheumatism for the past year and have taken a good many kinds of medicine, but found no relief. One day, a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS and after taking a few boxes, I felt like a new man. I want you to know how thankful I am for the relief they gave me and would advise all sufferers to take GIN PILLS".

In New Brunswick, GIN PILLS have cured hundreds of men and women of Rheumatism. Mr. Wilson of Hartfield, N.B., is one of the many who owes his good health and strength to GIN PILLS. He writes: "It affords me great pleasure to convey not only to you, but to all sufferers from Back Ache and Rheumatism the great relief I have obtained from the use of GIN PILLS. I am sounding the praises of GIN PILLS to everyone suffering as I did". Robert M. Wilson.

SOUNDING THE PRAISES

Back to Nova Scotia for the fourth letter from D. J. Lawler of Ogden.

"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and told me to go to the hospital but all to no good until a cousin told me to try GIN PILLS. I did so, and after taking a few boxes, I am perfectly well".

COULD NOT WORK

Benedicts And Bachelors Play On Tuesday

Once more the battle of Waterloo will be fought all over again for the special benefit of the sporting fraternity of Peterborough.

The opposing forces will meet at the football field of the Park street Baptist church at seven o'clock next Tuesday evening.

The Benedicts intend to show the Bachelors just how football should be played, and hope to play so well that they will be invited to play in the city league next fall. And the ambulances in the city, if not in use will be in action during the game. Wellington is to be resurrected to referee, or a substitute, and a good game (may?) be played. After the game the young ladies of the church will restore the victorious or vanquished heroes to health and strength in the parlours of the church across the road.

The popular pastor of the church has kindly consented to do some kicking at the ball on behalf of the Benedicts, so a lively game may be expected.

Don't forget to come and enjoy the evening's fun. Everything free.

LEAFS BEAT MIDGETS IN AN EXCITING GAME

By far the best game seen this season in the City Juvenile League was played last night at Nicholls' Oval, when the Maple Leafs, away at the bottom of the second division, surprised the leaders, the Midgets, defeating them by 4 runs to 3, after a most exciting struggle, in which both teams played the snappiest kind of ball. The Leafs took the lead early in the game, getting one in the third and one in the sixth, while the Midgets were blanked. The latter, however, rallied in the seventh, and tied up the game by scoring two runs. It was necessary to play an extra innings to decide the issue. The Midgets scored one in their half and looked like winners, but the Leafs came back with a pair with two out, and landed the victory. Parker and Brumwell both pitched good ball and their support was splendid. Bain, the Leaf shortstop, starred in the fielding. Mr. F. Tait was a satisfactory umpire. The batteries were: Leafs, Brumwell and Marty; Midgets Parker and Horsfield.

WHITE SLAVE TRADE.

National Council of Women Discuss Evil.

Port Arthur, Ont., June 17.—The report of the standing committee on equal moral standing and prevention of traffic in women, by Mrs. Asa Gordon of Ottawa, read by Mrs. Boomer yesterday morning, touched a live wire of interest at yesterday's session of the National Council of Women, and it was with the greatest difficulty that Lady Taylor could close the discussion. Lady Taylor recommended the work of Dr. Shearer, saying that, while his work was confined to the Presbyterian Church, nevertheless it was a great and wonderful one of the Dominion.

Mrs. Leathes of Toronoto, speaking to the resolution, said that it was a great pity that people cannot see an evil until something awful happens to shock them into action. This evil is not at our door; it is inside. The best way to prevent the white slave traffic is to make conditions harder for the people who are engaged in this traffic among women. The raising of the age of consent will raise the age of protection for the girls of Canada. Investigation in New York shows that 80 per cent. of these women are not women at all, but children. She would advise the raising of the age of consent from 16 years, as it is at present, to 18.

Mrs. Cummings pointed out that there is an organized traffic in women; everywhere there are agents, and in most cases these agents are attractive, who lure young and unsuspecting girls downward.

Mrs. Torrington of Toronto said that while the laws were made by men they would be made for men, and, as this was a woman's question, it was the women of Canada who should come to the rescue.

AFRAID TO TESTIFY.

Girl Victims of Italian Fear Friends Will Avenge Him.

Montreal, June 17.—Arrested on suspicion of being the man who has for the past three months been assaulting little girls in many parts of the city, Cichile Subrini, has been remanded eight days for medical examination as to his sanity. Subrini was arrested on Monday by special Constables Walsh and Robillard while in the act, they claim, of attacking a 13-year-old girl on the corner of St. Urbain and Milton streets.

Six witnesses were summoned to appear against Subrini yesterday, four of his alleged victims, and two teachers at the schools where little girls were assaulted. All will appear next Saturday.

Special Constable Walsh declared that as Subrini is an Italian many other offences that might have been brought against him, mostly girls, who have positively identified him from the description as their assailant, are afraid to come to the court and give their evidence for fear that he or some of his friends may avenge him.

Fire In Steamer's Hold.

New York, June 17.—A fire in the hold of the steamship President Lincoln defied the efforts of the Hoboken firemen for three hours yesterday, while the vessel lay at pier 2 of the Hamburg-American Line.

The city fire department, with the aid of the fire brigade of the steamship company, confined the flames to hatch No. 6 amidships. Not far away, at pier No. 3 was the Cincinnati of the same line, which is due to sail to-day, and several tugs stood by, ready to haul either vessel into the river, should the flames get beyond control.

WOULD VERY OFTEN FAINT AWAY.

Doctor Said That Sometime He Would Never Come Out of One.

Many people may be unaware of having anything wrong with their heart till some little excitement, overwork, or confinement in an overheated or overcrowded room or public building makes them feel faint or dizzy.

If you neglect the warning the slight feeling of dizziness gives you, and fail to take treatment, there will be a gradual progression to something more serious.

There is no reason you should wait till your case becomes desperate before you avail yourself of a perfect cure by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mr. F. S. Chute, Wheatley, Ont. writes:—"It is with gratitude I tell how your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills benefited me. I was very weak and run down, and had headache, nearly every day and would very often faint away.

"In fact, my doctor said that sometime I would never come out of one of them. After taking three boxes of your pills I am glad to relate that it has been a number of years since I have had a fainting spell and scarcely have had a headache. Too much cannot be said in praise of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for in me they have effected a perfect cure."

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25.

SPRING LOVE

Not in Heaven, but as It Really Occurred

By F. A. Mitchel

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When the poet said that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to love he should have added that in the spring a girl becomes frivolous.

The Buddingtons on May 1 moved into one of a block of houses fronting on a small park. Grace Buddington watched from a second story front window the delicate spring leaves come out on the trees under the warm sunshine. Whether her heart budded at the same time is not known, but an incident occurred that burst a blossom of mischief into a full blown flower.

Grace had caught a glimpse of a young man who lived next door. He was nineteen or twenty, while she was seventeen and a half, being very particular that the half should be put on when her age was mentioned. The fact of this gentleman, who was very good looking, who wore buff gaiters over his boots, whose clothes were cut by the correctest pattern and whose white cuffs always protruded exactly two inches below his sleeves—I say, the fact of his being a next door neighbor excited a profound interest in the young lady's heart. They were to live, no one knew how long, side by side. They might become bosom friends, possibly like brother and sister, possibly lovers. This "may be" is decidedly pleasanter to contemplate than "might have been." The first is the bud, the last the decaying flower. Oh, blessed age when there are no sad memories!

Nevertheless youth is peculiar. One would suppose that, harboring such rainbow fancies, Miss Buddington would act in a way calculated to bring them about; that she would look forward to a conventional meeting with her neighbor which would grow into friendliness and from friendliness expand in some one of the channels that had been dug for it by her imagination. She did so very opposite.

While she was watching the nurses in the park airing their baby carriages for a brief bit of chat, the fountain sparkle in the sun, while she listened to the chirp of birds and a distant confused noise of many vehicles on a street beyond, the door of the next house opened, and the young gentleman of whom she was dreaming came out on the stoop. His boots, a stickpin in his neckwear and his silk hat all glistened in the sun. He stood swinging his cane in his hand, looking out on the pleasant scene before him evidently very well satisfied with himself. Then, noticing that not quite enough of his cuffs showed below his sleeves, he adjusted first one and then the other. But in doing so he noticed a spot on his right cuff and, taking out a snowy cambric handkerchief, endeavored to obliterate it.

During all this time Miss Buddington was watching him from the window some dozen feet above him and two or three feet to one side. While he was endeavoring to remove the spot from his cuff she disappeared for a few moments and when she returned held in her hand a pitcher of water. Extending her arm, she held the pitcher directly over the reflected streak of sunlight crossing the top of his silk hat.

But she refrained. Whether this was on account of pangs of conscience or a desire to enjoy the situation by prolonging the climax or from a dread of making an enemy instead of a friend of her immediate neighbor there is no record. The sensation was certainly delicious. But the most delicately flavored wine must be swallowed at last, and presently, dipping the pitcher, she poured a stream down on her unsuspecting neighbor.

When Mr. Tippler—that was the young man's name, T. Pemberton Tippler—felt the water resounding as on a drumhead upon the top of his hat and splattering fountain-like all over him his first impulse was to stand from under, the second to look up to see whence it came. He was too late to see more than the pitcher and a shapely wrist disappearing within the window. But he had before seen the young lady who had recently come to live next door and was especially got up with a view to disporting himself that she might see and admire him. Love scorched turns to hate. Mr. Tippler having come out to be admired and having been treated, as he considered it, contemptuously, he was quite sure, by the girl next door, he swore a great oath of revenge.

A few days later Mr. Tippler while walking home saw Miss Buddington coming from the other direction. He involuntarily straightened his back, then suddenly glanced up and down to the right and to the left and up at the sky. The stoops of their respective homes were side by side or, rather, there was but one stoop with a stone division. At first Mr. Tippler wished to meet Miss Buddington at the bottom of the steps that he might show his supreme indifference to her by turning his back upon her. Then he was afraid he would meet her. He took out his handkerchief and blew his nose. He carried a silk umbrella in his hand and while trying to walk with dignity tripped on it. His hat fell in front of him, and he stepped on it. Grace Buddington, who at that moment turned to ascend the steps, giggled.

Mr. Tippler was boiling with rage.

After that whenever Mr. Tippler caught sight of Miss Buddington approaching him he made a strenuous effort to appear unconcerned. The way he did it was first to pull down his cuffs. Next he would adjust his neckwear. After that his handkerchief came out and he blew his nose. Finally when he passed her his face would be as red as a turkey cock.

As for Miss Buddington, when she saw Mr. Tippler coming she would proceed on her way with the utmost composure. On passing the gentleman the only sign of embarrassment she showed was putting her palm to her back hair, but this should not be counted as embarrassment, for all women do that.

Meanwhile the courtship was progressing finely. When Mr. Tippler went into the back yard he would seize the limb of a tree and pull himself up by his arms to show his strength to the girl next door, who, he felt sure, was peeping through the blinds at him. Then he would loll on a wooden bench, taking care to assume a graceful position. All the while he was waiting for an opportunity to show his contempt for the girl for whose benefit he was posing.

Finally came his chance for revenge. One day when he was "showing off" in the back yard, while his back was to the houses, he heard something lightly strike the ground behind him. Turning, he saw a little posy. Looking up at the next door windows, he saw no one.

But he knew.

And where was revenge? He was supremely happy. Why? Not because he might throw back this little token. Instead of doing so he put it in his buttonhole and looked up at half a dozen windows, from one of which he was sure the posy had been tossed. His face wore a smile which he intended for an appreciative and tender one. But intended smiles are always like those people put on to be photographed, stereotyped. Nevertheless it was seen and appreciated by Grace Buddington, who had thrown the posy.

It's the old story of the alternate claw and velvet touch. From time immemorial women have poured water—sometimes hot—on men's heads and then have wiped out the insult by a posy.

This love affair had passed the excruciating first stage. Having been begun all wrong, its earlier features were distressing to the young man. But as all things are enjoyable from antithesis, he found delight in the very unhappiness that had marked its beginning. The girl, who at that beginning had found pleasure in pouring water upon the adornments which the young man—like certain birds who disport themselves in rare plumage to attract the female—had put on to please her, pursued the even tenor of her way. She was simply doing her share in the love making on feminine principles—principles that are as far hidden from men as undiscovered natural laws. Was her first communication with him a stroke of genius? Did she reason that it was an efficient way of snaring him? Not by these steps which men call reason. She chose her way instinctively.

Having first made the young man suffer and then given him a sop, the young lady proceeded to the next step. Common usage would have suggested an open acquaintance. But Miss Buddington, as has been observed, was not prone to use common methods. Was it because she acted on the principle that stolen fruit is the sweetest or did she consider secrecy and duplicity better suited to her purpose? Only a woman can answer this question, and perhaps no woman could answer except for herself.

Miss Buddington now thought it time that her admirer should do something in the way of courtship, so she waited. The young man had learned the whereabouts of her room and had learned that it was third story back. His own being in a like position in his own home. A window in each room adjoined. He contrived to get a note to his lady love by tying a string to the end of his cane and the note on the end of the string, whipping the missive into her open window. This led to an endless string between the two windows, over which passed bits of nothings, gradually warming up until they became words of love.

One morning Mrs. Buddington, who was nourishing some plants in her back yard, turning from them, happened to look up at the rear of her domicile. Her curiosity was excited by an endless string run on two pulleys, the one fixed to a window sill of the adjoining house, the other to the sill of one of her daughter's windows. The lady kept her own counsel, but the same afternoon, seeing the young man next door come in, she hurried out to the back yard and concealed herself under a tree, where she could keep watch of the endless string. It was not long before it began to move, and with it a folded bit of white paper. A hand detached the paper, and in a few minutes another paper was crawling along the string in the opposite direction.

"Grace," said Mrs. Buddington the next morning at breakfast, "get ready to go to your Aunt Mary's. You will leave on the 2 o'clock train."

"Why, mother! What's that for?"

"Never mind what for. And you'll not come back here next autumn. You will go to boarding school."

But boarding school failed to solve the problem. What there was in a pitcher of cold water poured over Mr. Tippler and his spick and span outfit to cement him to Miss Buddington as mortar will unite two bricks is a mystery. At any rate his love once thus planted grew furiously, and before the first term of school ended he had eloped with his lady love.

COUNTING HEADS.

The First Census Was Taken by Moses in the Wilderness.

There is a record of a census in China as far back as the year 2049 B. C. and of one in Japan in the last century before Christ. Under the constitution of Solon the citizens of Athens were divided and registered in four classes, according to the amount of their taxable property or income. The Roman census was burdened with more statistics than any of these, however. It had its origin under Servius Tullius, sixth king of Rome, and was an affair of much solemnity. Every citizen had to appear upon the Campus Martius and declare upon oath his name and dwelling and the value of his property under the penalty of having his goods confiscated.

The most ancient statistical record of a census is found in the Bible. The census was taken by Moses in the wilderness, and, as shown by the first chapter of Numbers, the enumeration must have been very simple. "Take ye," says this account, "the sum of all the congregations of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls; from twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Israel; thou and Aaron shall number them by their armies." This census was an affair that must have been seen ever, lasting no longer than one day, being merely a counting of the heads of the fighting men. The women and children and cripples and the old men were not included; "neither were the Levites numbered among them." Those who did stand up to be numbered totaled 603,550.—New York World.

His Bad Break.

"Why on earth do you come to me to borrow money, Billups?" said Hartaway peevishly. "Why don't you go to Jerrocks? He's the prosperous looking member of our set."

"That's just it, Hartaway," said Billups. "Jerrocks looks so very prosperous that I am quite sure he spends every penny he makes, but you, old man—why, you dress like a man who saves his money."

P. S.—He didn't get it.—Harper's Weekly.

It Was His Own.

Shirley Brooks, the famous Punch editor, once met Charles Salomar, the composer. On being introduced to Shirley the composer said:

"I had often and often seen your face, Mr. Brooks, but I never knew to whom it belonged."

"Oh," replied Brooks quickly, "it always belonged to me."

ODORS AND MOISTURE.

A Scheme That Is Said to Improve the Sense of Smell.

"The most striking fact connected with my school career," said the prep school graduate, "was a peculiar ability on the part of our commandant to detect the faintest odor of smoke in a room on his daily inspection. The school I attended was of the military variety, and smoking was a rather serious offense. No matter how much a room had been aired or fanned with wet towels previous to the inspection, the offender was always caught.

"After I had received my finishing touches and become a citizen I made so bold as to inquire from what peculiar dispensation of providence the ability was given to detect one molecule of smoke in a hundred cubic feet of pure air. The old boy smiled and, binding me to secrecy, imparted the reason of his wonderful ability. Then he took me to a boy's vacated room and told me to wet my finger and rub my nostrils with it and sniff. Lo and behold, where before there seemed no taint in the atmosphere was now detected that smell of old tobacco smoke! Since then I have taught school myself and have used the trick occasionally, entirely for experimental purposes, however.

"I have also sought the scientific explanation, but with little success. It may, however, be somewhat analogous to the process of tasting. You know, it is impossible to taste anything that is not dissolved in water or is not a liquid itself. So the moisture on the nostrils must carry the small particles of smoke in a more or less damp state to the olfactory nerve ends and thus make the smell more apparent. At least this is the only explanation I have ever found for the phenomenon.

"The same thing can also be used for detecting other odors, and I have found it useful on a number of occasions for this purpose, both in analytical chemistry, when only a small particle of a certain material is available for analysis, and in detecting faint perfume from flowers that are ordinarily quite odorless."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Only a Decoy.

"I think she will make a very domestic wife. I have been calling on her for several months now and always find her darning one of her father's socks."

"But have you noticed that it is always the same old sock?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

High Finance.

"Why do you keep asking people for change for a dollar and then asking other people to give you a dollar for your change?"

"Well, somebody may make a mistake in change some time. And, believe me, it won't be me!"—New York Journal.

Wonderful Kindness.

DOCTORING A DIAMOND.

Trick That Makes a Yellow Stone Appear Clear Blue White.

Let me show you a little trick that I would advise you not to put into practice, said a jewel fancier to a number of friends the other day.

The conversation had turned to diamonds during the midday luncheon, and the expert had been holding forth on his favorite subject. The little group of St. Louisans were interested still more when the speaker drew a big solitaire from his finger and beckoned a waiter across the cafe.

"Bring me a glass of water and an indelible pencil," said he when the servitor came over to the table.

"This is a trick that is essentially crooked," said the jewel fancier, "and will get by nine times out of ten even when the examiner is an expert at judging precious stones and detecting trickery. It will make a yellow 'off color' diamond look like a stone of the very first water. Pawnbrokers innumerable have been fooled by this same trick, as it is extremely difficult to detect even with a powerful glass."

The expert took the pencil and allowed the indelible lead to dissolve in the glass of water. In a couple of minutes the water was as blue as indigo water.

"Now watch," said the man who knew the lore of jewels.

He took the ring and dropped it into the glass. Its brilliancy was dimmed by the hazy, bluish water until it looked like a dead stone.

"Now, you noted," said the demonstrator, "that the diamond I placed in there was a bit yellow. It will be a clear bluish white when it comes out of its bath."

At the end of a minute the stone was taken out. The top of the gem was dried with a soft handkerchief and then the ring was waved to and fro for a few moments. It was held up for inspection. Not a gleam of yellow was to be seen. The stone was apparently a magnificent blue white gem that any one would be proud to own and loathe to pledge.

"It is the blue pigment deposited on the back of the stone that has made the difference," said the jewel expert. "The deposit is so slimy that a strong glass cannot detect it. You cannot see it from the rear of the mounting and only a bath of alcohol will remove it. It will stay on the gem for weeks if it is not removed in that way. It used to be a favorite trick of many folks who now and again had to put a diamond into the hands of a pawnbroker.

"The trick is called 'doctoring a stone,' but, as I said in the beginning, I would not advise you to try it. I don't know what the law on such matters is in Missouri, but there are states where a person convicted of such an offense would serve a long penitentiary term for his cleverness."—St. Louis Republic.

A GREAT STORY TELLER.

T. C. Irving Was a Great Friend of the Late Alexander Mackenzie.

Mr. T. C. Irving, manager of Bradstreet's, is one of the champion story-tellers of Toronto. The walls of his private room in the McKinnon Building on Melinda street are hung with an odd assortment of pictures—each one with a story. And in his desk drawers there is an accumulation of autograph photographs and letters from well-known people of all kinds which would make a collector's mouth water—for Mr. Irving is a great mixer and he has done his mixing all over the country. He was born in Scarborough Township, a dozen miles from Toronto, and was the son of a Scottish farmer. But very early in life Mr. Irving decided that the over-seriousness of his race was folly. He started in to have all the fun possible out of life, to be kind and genial with everybody, and to disparage no one, and he has kept this up with great success to himself and to the delight of the members of the National Club and a host of friends everywhere. He entered the employ of the Bradstreet Company here forty years ago.

Talk to Mr. Irving on any subject and he will surprise you by the extent of his knowledge of men, affairs, and books. And he can tell you a dozen good stories about anything or anybody. Mr. Irving is broad. For example, he always championed Goldwin Smith as a true patriot, and thinks it a shame that no portrait of the great scholar hangs on the walls of the National Club, of which he was the first president. He has a way of silencing disparagement of the peculiarities of anyone with great achievements to his credit by saying: "When a man has done things like that it is taken out of our hands to estimate his worth."

That's what Mr. Irving says about Alexander Mackenzie, whose friend he was, and for whom he had the greatest admiration. "One night," he says, "Mackenzie confided to me that his childhood had been without one ray of sunshine, and I quoted to him 'From things like these Old Scotia's grandeurs rose'."

And here is a story which Alexander Mackenzie once told Mr. Irving:

When Dr. Thomas Chalmers, the great Scottish divine, was a student in Edinburgh, a number of the boys in his boarding-house went out one Hallowe'en and stole a lot of signs. They took them home and put them in the cellar. Next morning they looked out and saw that the police were on their trail—they were coming in the gate. So the boys quickly decided to have family prayer. The plan was to hold the officers in this manner until two of the lads could burn the signs in the furnace. When the men of the law entered they were told to be still until prayers were over. Chalmers prayed at great length, until a signal came that the signs were invisible. Then he concluded with the quotation: "A wicked and perverse generation seeketh after a sign, but no sign shall be given them."

GEORGE WAGNER MEETS WITH TRAGIC DEATH

Was Electrocuted While Working on the Lines of Otonabee Power Company Yesterday Afternoon—Thousands of Volts Passed Through Body of the Unfortunate Man —An Inquest To-night.

A sad fatality occurred yesterday afternoon at Nassau, when George Wagner met instant death by coming in contact with a live wire. The victim of the accident was an employee of the F. R. J. Macpherson Co., electrical contractors and had gone up to Nassau for the day to help the Power Company, who are making extensive improvements to their system. Following is the statement given out by Mr. R. R. Hall one of the directors of the Otonabee Power Co., concerning the event leading up to the accident:

Edward Guerin, foreman of the pole line, along with Ed. White, Berrett and George Wagner were making repairs on the pole line at Nassau. They commenced work at 7 o'clock in the morning, after making arrangements with Mr. George Newberry, who is in charge of the power line at Dam No. 5 that the power be shut off.

At the power house Mr. Peter Kerr, superintendent, was engaged in putting in some new cogs in one of the water wheels. After this was done, it was found necessary to operate the water wheel and generator in order to ascertain whether the new cogs were meeting as they should. Before starting the generator the switches were cut out, therefore eliminating all possibility of danger to the men out on the line, as no electrical current would be transmitted over the line.

Mr. Peter Kerr then instructed Mr. Newberry to close the gate, so as to shut off the power from the wheel. This was done, but it seems that there was some bark or other refuse obstructing the proper closing of the gate ,allowing a sufficient amount of water to pass through to operate the generator very slowly.

While Mr. Peter Kerr was in the telephone booth, Mr. Newberry undertook to put in one of the switches in order to stop the generator, thinking that there would not be enough current to do any injury to any person who might be working on the line. In addition he supposed that the men would be at their lunch, it being between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock. Mr. Newberry unfortunately miscalculated the volume of water and the consequent current which came from the generator.

The unfortunate man was severely burned about the hand and lower portions of the body. Deceased, who is unmarried, and whose home is in Guelph, has been employed by the Macpherson company since February. He was considered to be a thoroughly experienced man in all kinds of electrical work. A brother of the deceased is expected in the city to-day.

An inquest will be held in Comstock's undertaking establishment at 8 o'clock this evening.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ATTEMPTED MURDER

Two River Drivers Appear in County Police Court To-day, the Complaint Being Brought Against Them by a Boy Named Campbell.

Two young men named Osbourne Montgomery and Louis Thibadeau, river drivers, from Nogies Creek, near Bobcaygeon, were arrested on Saturday night at Bobcaygeon by High County Constable Cochrane, on the very serious charge of attempted murder. They were arraigned before Magistrate Edmison in the County Court this morning, and were represented by their counsel, Mr. G. N. Gordon. They would neither plead, nor elect. They were remanded until next Friday at 10 o'clock, when the witnesses on both sides will be present. The Examiner is informed that the circumstances of the case are as follows:

It appears that a week or so ago these young men were coming down the creek on a drive, and the wind turned against them, so they stopped at Nobles Creek Bridge and got into a little shed there. While they were in there, it is said, a young boy named Campbell came along and spiked the door. Then men inside had to break the door to get out, and when they did so the boy had gone. The next evening they were in the same place, and the boy appeared on the scene again. He was, it is stated using some insolent language, and the men caught him, and ducked him in the creek, with the result of this charge being laid.

Crown evidence, it is stated, will be to the effect that they took the boy into the middle of the creek, amongst a lot of logs, threw him in and left him to sink or swim; but to meet this, the defence states that the water was only two feet deep. No evidence was taken in the case, as the witnesses could not be present but it will be dealt with on Friday.

George Freeburn of Harwood, was charged with being drunk and disorderly in that place on Sunday. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5.00 and costs, amounting to $15.00 in all.

Another case ot come up on Friday is that of two Harvey residents, charged with unlawfully destroying a fence, the property of Chas. A. Bishop, of Lot 11, Con. 7, Harvey

WOMAN KILLED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Mrs. Wm. Coad, of Oakwood, is Dead and James Webster, of Same Place in Critical Condition as the Result of Wild Dash of Frightened Horse.

LINDSAY, JUNE 19—A terrible runaway occurred near Oakwood yesterday at noon as a result of which Mrs. Wm. Coad was killed and Mr. Jas. Coad so badly injured that little hopes are entertained for his recovery. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Coad and their daughter Nellie were driving home from church when their horse took fright and bolted throwing Mrs. Coad out on the road, and she was almost instantly killed. Miss Coad sustained painful injuries. The frightened animal continued on its career and crashed into a buggy containing Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Webster of Oakwood. Mr. Webster was thrown out and badly injured, several ribs being broken, while he sustained most serious internal injuries. His condition is critical. The accident has cast a gloom over the district, as both Mrs. Coad and Mrs. Webster were widely known and highly respected.

FINAL REHEARSAL FOR THE CORONATION HELD TO-DAY

LONDON, ENG., JUNE 19.—A final full rehearsal of the Coronation was held to-day, with the King and Queen attending. It was announced to-day that Archbishop of York will preach the sermon in the Abbey. There was none for King Edward. All London is in a fever excitement. The streets are jammed with people and important personages from every land are arriving hourly. A two days' rain has destroyed miles of street decoration and a lot will have to be replaced. Eight thousand tickets were sold for the Abbey, while twenty thousand people will crowd the stands in the vicinity. Lord Kitchener, who will have command of the police and soldiers, will ride beside the carriage of the King and Queen.

Doctors' Prescriptions

The one department which shows the real worth of a Drug Store, is where Doctors' Prescriptions are compounded—and in this department we are pleased to tell you that our Prescription business has increased over 50 per cent. since we opened in our new store.

When the Nugent Drug Co. opened up in 286 George St. we chose as our motto—"Quality, Skill and Care, the ladder by which we Climb." We have tried to consistently live up to this motto—and this partially explains the above increase.

We have constantly on the premises two Graduates of Pharmacy to oversee this department—and now to further safeguard our patrons, we have put in a complete line of Squibbs' Chemicals for the sole use of our Prescription Department. We can safely say none are purer than Squibbs'.

SACREDNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

The two recent appalling deaths resulting from the inadvertent starting of machinery or turning on of the electric current, call for the adoption of measures of precaution that will prevent the loss of life, the blighting of homes and the sad train of suffering and sorrow that follows such sudden and awful happenings,—suffering none the less real and poignant because the bereaved may endure in silence. The sacredness of human life is emphasized and brought home to the most careless in the face of events that sweep away the head of the family and a young life in the full flush of activity, usefulness and promise, in the twinkling of an eye; and the impression is deepened when these two sad events come within the compass of two days.

Without possessing any special mechanical skill one can easily claim that such accidents are preventable to an extent that almost removes them from the category of accidents. We all know that familiarity with danger, in regard to machinery or other things, begets a carelessness or indifference on the part of all responsible for, or connected with, the operation of machinery or electrical energy, that may be easily contributory to disastrous accidents.

To a layman it seems easily possible to devise some simple means of precaution that will absolutely prevent, forestall and render impossible such appalling accidents as have had to be recorded recently. If a placard or some similar danger signal were attached to the electrical switch that controls the operation of the electrical energy or the device for starting machinery, were provided; and if the workmen or other person who is to do work in a position that becomes dangerous or fatal to life, if machinery is started or current turned on, were to affix the placard himself, with the distinct understanding that the switch or device for starting machinery is on no account to be put to service till the workman himself returns from the position of danger and removes the warning placard or sign—if these precautions are taken, all possibility of danger of fatal or other accident, from inadvertent starting of machinery would be absolutely removed. It should further be understood, and impressed upon every employee about the establishment that he is in no way to meddle with, or put into operation, any machinery however remotely connected with that which suddenly started might endanger a human life, while such danger signal is in position.

Such a precaution might be regarded as a time-wasting interference with industrial or mechanical operation; but a human life, is so sacred as to have a value, not only a thousand times, but, incalculably, beyond the profits of a year's or two years', or a lifetime's operation of machinery.

No attempt can be made to apportion offhand, the responsibility for the two terrible accidents that have shocked and saddened the community; but there is responsibility of some sort somewhere, which the evidence to be revealed at the two coroner's inquests may definitely fix, and which will be largely futile if it does not suggest some certain means of prevention, and not to be merely punitive in character.

CHILDREN'S AID SENTIMENT.

Mr. J. J. Kelso denies that there are many instances in which children sent to foster homes are abused or neglected. In his annual report he says:

There have been, during the past year, several widespread newspaper charges of cruelty to boys brought out from England, and while there was some ground for this in one case, in three others that were enquired into the farmers who were complained of were not to blame so much as the boys themselves. It was found that in one instance the lad was 19 years of age, and was not either mentally or morally bright, with the result that he failed to take proper care of himself. In another case, where a boy had one of his feet frozen, it was shown that he had failed to report the matter promptly, and that if he had mentioned it sooner, the trouble might have been avoided. While we are constantly urging upon the agents of the various immigration societies to prosecute any apparent case of harshness or neglect, there is always present the temptation not to do so on account of the publicity given to these cases and the almost certain denunciation of farmers generally as a cruel and heartless lot. There are thousands of these boys in farm homes all over the Province, and they are, as a rule, receiving the best of treatment. To make a general charge against the farming community is unfair in the extreme, for if the homes in city and country could be averaged up it would be found that the great preponderance of kindly treatment and care would be found in the country.

Another thing to be remembered is that a public sentiment has been created in Ontario on the subject of the proper treatment of children, and any cases of abuse are, as a rule, promptly reported.

A GOOD ACT.

(Brantford Expositor.)

As an evidence of the extent to which the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act is being utilized throughout the Dominion in the adjustment of industrial disputes, it may be of interest to know that at the present time seven boards of conciliation and investigation are in session. During the four years which elapsed between the enactment, in March 1907, of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, and the end of March, 1911, 108 applications were received for the establishment of boards of conciliation and investigation, as a result of which 94 boards were established. In the 12 remaining cases the matters in dispute were adjusted by mutual agreement whilst communications were passing with the department in respect of the establishment of a board. In 83 out of 94 cases referred for investigation, the inquiry resulted either in a direct agreement between the parties or in such an improvement of relations as led to the settlement of the dispute. There have been in all ten instances during the four years in which strikes have occurred after the reference of disputes under the terms of the act. Three of these ten disputes concerned the railway industry, and the other one related to the street railway industry.

BISHOP MILLS' SOUND SENSE.

(Montreal Herald.)

Bishop Mills, of Kingston, is taken severly to task by the Toronto Mail and Empire because he had the hardihood to say his mind on a vital phase of the reciprocity issue, in his address to the Synod of the Church of England of his Diocese. Here is what His Lordship said:

"Whether reciprocity would be in the general interests of the country is a question for debate, and about which different opinions may be held. But politicians have not devoted their attention so much to the discussion of this question as in ringing changes on the cry that if reciprocity were adopted it would be the first step towards annexation, that the United States would be buying us, and we would be selling ourselves. I think that is the greatest nonsense that ever came from the mouths of supposedly sane men; as a Canadian I resent it. I would think very little of my loyalty to the British Crown if it depended on tariff schedules. Those who think the national spirit of Canada is such a poor and uncertain thing, that her existence as a nation would be imperilled by an increase of trade with the United States, certainly do not know her. There is no part of the British Empire in which there is truer loyalty than in Canada, and she can be neither bought or sold. The opposition to reciprocity is simply a political one. That there are men of both parties opposed to it simply means that men can be led by sentiment. The thought of annexation makes many incapable of calmly judging the matter. Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the opposition, like a sensible man, has, I believe, while opposing reciprocity on economic grounds ,refused to take up the annexation cry, or to use it in any way as an argument."

Since the utterance of such sentiments gives offence to those who are holding the language Bishop Mills condemns, it is only just to give his declaration a place in these columns, where the same view of what Canadian self-respect, Canadian manhood and Canadian patriotism are has been urged since the beginning of the controversy. Canadians can't be scared, and, as Bishop Mills says, they can't be bought ,either.

BRAVE BOY SCOUTS.

Score another for the Boy Scouts. The London Advertiser tells the following story:

"Willie and "Dad" Southcott, two members of the Boy Scouts of East London, succeeded in saving two lives from drowning in the Thames on Sunday afternoon. The boys, who are expert swimmers, although both quite young, were swimming in the river near the old swimming hole in the neighbourhood of Vauxhall bridge, which is frequented by the boys of the East End, when they noticed that a man who was teaching his little son to swim appeared to be exhausted. The boy, too, was overcome, and threw his arms about his father's neck.

The latter, who was in danger as it was, could do nothing to save either himself or the child.

One of the Scouts, observing this, at once swam out to their aid, but were unable to dislodge the little fellow's arms from about his father's neck.

One of the boys, seeing that something had to be done quickly, struck the child a heavy slap on the face, with the result that he immediately released his hold. His rescuer at once set out to shore with him, and the other Scout sought to aid the struggling man, but the latter grabbed the young fellow about the neck, and he, too, had to be treated roughly before he would let go.

A good sound blow between the eyes made him loosen his hold, and the boy, not without difficulty, but with a pluck far beyond his years and size, succeeded in towing the drowning man to safety.

The Scouts, with the knowledge of first aid work which they had learned, resolutely set about restoring the father and son, who were partly unconscious. After a short treatment they were able to go home.

Both of the boys, who, with so much courage and persistency, effected the rescue of the drowning pair, are members of the Owl Patrol of Boy Scouts.

It would perhaps be too much to say that the boys whose bravery is above described would not have attempted a rescue had they not been scouts, but it is certain that the results of their efforts might have been entirely different but for the intelligent manner in which their training as Scouts led them to go about their work.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—At this time it would seem opportune to make certain announcements and explanations regarding the "People's Chimes," which are now installed and will be publicly inaugurated on Thursday next, Coronation Day, and be dedicated at noon by His Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, when citizens generally are warmly invited to be present.

But before dealing with the future it may be well to recall certain matters of past history with which some may not be familiar. The movement was started in April, 1910, with the definite object of marking the 75th anniversary of St. John's church. The scheme was tentatively presented to the public, and from the beginning, most unexpectedly general and generous support was given. The heading of the subscription lists reads:

"The subscriptions below are given towards a chime of tubular bells, which it is proposed to place in the tower of St. John's church, Peterborough, asking $1550.00 in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of its opening."

And many of the large gifts received were accompanied by letters expressing the writers' interest in St. John's church. Owing to the support given, the scheme was in July extended so as to procure a set of heavy bells. As the work progressed the name "People's Chimes" was applied by one of our daily papers, in consequence of the wide support received from the people and the popular interest in the movement. At a vestry meeting of St. John's in November, though no demands had been made by the public, and no promises given, it was, at my request, determined that the bells be voluntarily accepted by the church in trust for certain lines of public service specified in three resolutions.

In December, after three-quarters of the whole sum had been subscribed, the newspaper title, "People's Chimes" was ordered to be engraved on the large bells. A documentary deed has been made out and engrossed for the inauguration ceremony setting forth the resolutions of vestry, governing the public use of the chimes, which will be published, and a copy handed to the Mayor for safe keeping.

But, while St. John's will have the chimes together with the responsibilities and expense involved, the officials of the church feel that this ownership is only valuable as giving them the privilege of serving as far as they are able, the great body of the people. Indeed, whatever the church holds is not for selfish enjoyment, but for the good of all who are willing to be sharers. But the people having presented these bells will naturally feel a special part and interest, and pleasure in them, while being relieved of the expense of ordinary operation and up-keep. Should occasion arise in the future, appeal can be made to the deed of dedication or to the resolutions of vestry.

There is, however, small ground for fear. The more widely the chimes can be used, the better shall we be pleased, and we feel sure that the actual working out of the enterprise will be satisfactory to all reasonable persons, at least this is our decision.

Our hearts are filled with gratitude for the broad kindliness and splendid generosity which have enabled this scheme to be carried out in so worthy and pleasant a fashion, and we invite the suggestions and friendly co-operation of all to the end that the very best may be made of this unique addition to the resources and attractions of Peterborough.

Yours, etc.,
J. C. DAVIDSON,
Chairman Chimes Committee.

P. S.—I may add that reliable experts have carefully examined the well-built tower, and pronounce it absolutely safe, and entirely equal to the burden of the bells, only one of which is to be rung. There is evidently no ground for fear on this score.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Association meeting of the Baptist Women's Home and Foreign Mission Circles and Bands, was held at the Gilmour Memorial Hall last week. Fifteen Circles reported as follows: $332.84 for Home Missions, $457.33 for Foreign Missions. The twelve aBnds reported $263.43. Total amount raised by Circles and Bands $1,053.62; increase over last year, $46.55.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. D. Scott, Peterborough.

Vice-Pres.—Mrs. R. Weston, Campbellford.

Director—Miss M. A. Nicholls, Peterborough.

Asst.-Director—Mrs. J. Jackson, Port Hope.

DOUBLE CAPACITY

The present seems to be the time for the expansion or consolidation of existing businesses, so far at least as Canada is concerned. This is largely owing to the tremendous strides the country is making, which calls for extensions to existing plants. Probably no field has developed so rapidly as the railroad business. The mileage has increased, until to-day there are over 25,000 miles of track in Canada, with about 6,000 more under construction or being surveyed.

Recently several car manufacturing concerns amalgamated and increased their plants for the purpose of catering more fully to the needs of the railways. Now comes the announcement that the Canadian Locomotive Company of Kingston, are about to double the capacity of their plant. For a number of years they have been turning out seventy-five locomotives per year, but at the same time have been refusing many orders owing to the limited capacity of their plant. The company are about to issue bonds and a block of stock which will enable them to make the necessary extensions.

BOBCAYGEON PICNIC TO BE HELD JUNE 22

An event of first importance will be the picnic that is to be held in Bobcaygeon on Coronation Day, June 22nd, under the combined auspices of the parishes of Bobcaygeon, Galway, Fenelon Falls and Kinmount. Father Galvin has assured us that no effort is being spared to make the day a most enjoyable one. Amusements of various kinds will be found on the grounds, music of a high class order will be supplied, and meals that will appeal to the appetites of the many will be supplied by the ladies of the above mentioned places.

This occasion will furnish non-residents of Bobcaygeon an opportunity of visiting this picturesque little village. None, therefore, should fail to spend Coronation Day at Bobcaygeon.

Showers For Bride-To-Be

A happy event took place at the residence of Miss Gladman, Dickson street, last Thursday, when a miscellaneous shower was given in honour of Miss Banks Clementi, by a number of her intimate friends. Miss Clementi is soon to enter upon the happy realms known as matrimony, and her many girl friends chose the above method of showing the warm place she occupies in their hearts.

Miss Clementi was also the recipient of a shower on Friday, from about thirty of her girl friends, at the residence of Miss Irene Perks, Gilmour street. Miss Clementi is to be married on Wednesday, June 21, to Mr. Guy McDougall of Port Arthur, Ont.

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

As for clothes neither Ruth nor my self needed much more than we had. I bought nothing but one pair of heavy boots, which Ruth picked up at a bankrupt sale for two dollars. On herself she didn't spend a cent. She brought down here with her a winter and a summer street suit; several house dresses and three or four petticoats and a goodly supply of under things. She knew how to care for them and they lasted her. I brought down, in addition to my business suit, a Sunday suit of blue serge and a dress suit, and a Prince Albert. I sold the last two to a second-hand dealer for eleven dollars and this helped towards the boy's outfit in the fall. She bought for him a pair of three dollar shoes for a dollar and a half at this same "Sold Out" sale, a dollar's worth of stockings and about a dollar's worth of underclothes. He had a winter overcoat and hat, though I could have picked up these in either a pawnshop or second hand store for a couple of dollars. It was wonderful what you could get at these places, especially if anyone had the knack which Ruth had of making over things.

CHAPTER X.

The Emigrant Spirit.

That fall the boy passed his entrance examinations and entered the finest school in the state—the city high school. If he had been worth a million he couldn't have had better advantages. I was told that the graduates of this school entered college with a higher average than the graduates of most of the big preparatory schools. Certainly they had just as good instruction and if anything, better discipline. There was more competition here and a real competition. Many of the pupils were foreign born and a much larger per cent. of them children of foreign born. Their parents had been over here long enough to realise what an advantage an education was and the children went at their work with the feeling that their future depended upon their application here.

The boy's associates might have been more carefully selected at some fashionable school, but I was already beginning to realize that selected associates aren't always select associates and that even if they are this is more of a disadvantage than an advantage. The fact that the boy's fellows were all of a kind was what had disturbed me even in the little suburban grammar school. For that matter I can see now that even for Ruth and me this sameness was a handicap for both us and our neighbours. There was no clash. There was a dead level. I don't believe that's good for either boys or men or for women.

Supposing this open door policy did admit a few worthless youngsters into the school and supposing, again, that the private school didn't admit such a different order (which I very much doubt)—along with these Dick was going to find here the men—the best had proved this and the present was proving it—who eventually would become our statesmen, our progressive business men, our lawyers and doctors—if not our conservative bankers. For one graduate of such a school as my former surroundings had made me think essential for the boy. I could count now a dozen graduates of this very high school who were distinguishing themselves in the city. The boy was going to meet here the same spirit I was getting in touch with among my emigrant friends—a zeal for life, a belief in the possibilities of life, an optimistic determination to use these possibilities, which somehow the blue blooded Americans were losing. It seemed to me that life was getting stale for the fourth and fifth generation. I tried to make the boy see this point of view. I went back again with him to the pioneer idea.

"Dick," I said in substance, "your great-great-grandfather pulled up stakes and came over to this country when there was nothing here but trees, rocks and Indians. It was a hard fight, but a good fight, and he left a son to carry on the fight. So generation after generation they fought. "Now," I said, "you and I are going to try to recover that lost ground. Let's think of ourselves as like out great-great-grandfathers. We've just come over here. So have about a million others. The fight is a different fight to-day but it's no less a fight and we're going to win. We have a good many advantages that these newcomers haven't. You see them making good on every side of you, but I'll bet they can't lick a good American—when he isn't asleep You and I are going to make good, too."

"You bet we are, Dad," he said, with his eyes grown bright.

"Then," I said, "you must work the way the newcomers work. I do not want you to think you're any better than they are. You aren't. But you're just as good and these two hundred years we've lived here ought to count for something."

"You make me feel as though we'd just landed with the Pilgrims," he said.

"So we have," I said. "June seventh of this very year we landed on Plymouth Rock just as our ancestors did two centuries ago. They've been all this time paving the way for you and me. They've built roads and schools and factories and it's up to us now to use them. You and I have just landed from England. Let's see what we can do as pioneers."

I wanted to get at the young American in him. I wanted him to realise that he was something more than the son of his parents; something more than just an average English-speaking boy. I wanted him to feel the impetus of the big history back of him and the big history yet to be made ahead of him. He had known nothing of that before. The word American had no meaning to him except when a regiment of soldiers was marching by. I wanted him to feel all the time as he did when his throat grew lumpy with the band playing and the stars and stripes flying on Fourth of July, or Decoration Day.

I urged him to study hard as the first essential towards success, but I also told him to get into the school life. I didn't want him to stand back as his tendency was and watch the other fellows. I didn't want him to sit in the bleachers—at least not until he had proved that this was the place for him. Even then I wanted him to lead in the cheering. I wanted him to test himself in the literary societies, the dramatic clubs and on the athletic field. In other words, instead of remaining passive I wanted him to take an aggressive attitude towrads life. In still other words, instead of being a middle-classer I wanted him to get something of the emigrant spirit. And I had the satisfaction of seeing him begin his work with the germ of that idea in his brain.

In the meanwhile, with the approach of cold weather I saw a new item of expense loom up in the form of coal. We had used kerosene all summer, but now it became necessary for the sake of heat to get a stove. For a week I took what time I could spare and wandered around among the junk shops looking for a second hand stove and finally found just what I wanted. I paid three dollars for it and it cost me another dollar to have some small repairs made. I set it up myself in the living room which we decided to use as a kitchen for the winter. But when I came to look into the matter of getting coal down here I found I was facing a pretty serious problem. Coal had been a big item in the suburbs but the way people around me were buying it made it a still bigger one. No cellar accommodations came with the tenement and so each one was forced to buy his coal by the basket or bag. A basket of anthracite—was costing them at this time about forty cents. This was for about eighty pounds of coal, which made the total cost per ton eleven dollars—at least three dollars and a half over the regular price. Even with economy a person would use at least a bag a week. This to leave a liberal margin, would amount to about a ton and a half of coal during the winter months. I didn't like the idea of absorbing the half dollar or so a week that Ruth was squeezing out towards what few clothes we had to buy, in this way—at least the over-charge part of it. With the first basket I brought home I said, "I see where you'll have to dig down into the ginger jar this winter, little woman."

She looked as startled as though I had told her someone had stolen the savings.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

I pointed to the basket.

"Coal costs about eleven dollars a ton, down here."

When she found out that this was all that caused my remark, she did not seem to be disturbed.

"Billy," she said, "before we touch the ginger jar it will have to cost twenty dollars a ton. We'll live on pea soup and rice there times a day before I touch that."

"All right," I said, "but it does seem a pity that the burden of such prices as these should fall on the tenement poor."

"Why do they?" she asked.

"Because in this case," I said, "the dealers seem to have us where the wool is short."

"How have they?" she insisted.

"We can't buy coal by the ton because we haven't any place to put it. She thought a moment and then she said:

"We could take care of a fifth of a ton, Billy. Thats only five baskets.'

"They won't sell nve any cheaper than one."

"And every family in this house could take care of five,' she went on. "That would make a ton."

I began to see what she meant, and as I thought of it I didn't see why it wasn't a practical scheme.

"I believe that a good idea," I said. "And if there were more women like you in the world I don't believe there'd be any trusts at all."

"Nonsense,' she said. "You leave it to me now and I'll see the other women in the house. They are the ones who'll appreciate a good saving like that."

She saw them and after a good deal of talk they agreed, so I told Ruth to tell them to save out of next Saturday night's pay a dollar and a half apiece. I was a bit afraid that if I didn't get the cash when the coal was delivered I might get stuck on the deal. The next Monday I ordered the coal and asked to have it delivered late in the day. When I came home I found the waggon waiting, and it created about as much excitement on the street as an ambulance.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

WHY doesn't the minister come to tea any more nowadays?

The regular, once-a-year-to-every parishioner way he used to, I mean.

Surely there isn't anyone whose memory reaches back two or three decades but can remember the days when one would have as soon thought of omitting one's spring housecleaning as the minister's annual supper invitation.

I was talking with a woman who was a Methodist minister's daughter about this, and she told me how one day a little girl came to the parsonage and said her mother would like to have the minister come to tea next Wednesday. "She said you might as well come and get it over for the winter," the youngster gratuitously explained.

Which is by way of illustrating not only infant depravity, but also the inevitable character of the minister's annual tea in the long ago.

And now—well, how long since the minister's been to your house to supper; dinner, I mean, of course?

No, I don't suppose it will make any particular difference in your spiritual state nor in his happiness, if he never comes.

It's just one of those pleasant old customs that I somehow hate to see go—one of those relics of the time when Sunday morning church was an inexorable custom, not a possible alternative to resting or pleasuring, and when the minister was one of the first men of the town and at the same time the personal friend of his flock.

And then, too, I'm sorry for the children of to-day who miss the delectable excitement of this occasion. Will the children of the last generation ever forget the delicious cream of tartar biscuits or Parker House rolls, and the peach preserves, and the festiveness of the best dishes, and the wonderful three layer cake, and the thrilling embarrassment of being asked where one went to school and if one liked it, by the minister man, on the great day when the minister came to tea?

And in those days when supper was supper, instead of dinner, we used to have our children's schoolmarm to tea sometimes, too.

Do you ever do that now?

Do you ever know by sight the woman who presides over more of your children's waking time than you do yourself?

Or has she, like the minister, ceased to be of so much a person and become more an institution to you?

This is the day of organisations and institutions and impersonal relationships.

Of course in some ways it's a very splendid day, but then again I think we lose something of the old pleasant friendly flavour from our lives when we drop little customs like these.

Don't you?

Spring Humors

Result From the Poisoned Condition of the Blood

Discharge is Checked---Sores Are Cleaned Out and Healed by

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Aside from the suffering caused by pimples, sores and skin eruptions, there is the annoyance and embarrassment to which they give rise, particularly when on the hands or face.

It is quite proper to try to get the blood right by use of internal treatment, but this is a tedious method of overcoming the skin troubles, which can so readily be gotten rid of by using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The three pricipal ingredients of this great, soothing, healing ointment are the most potent known to the medical profession as a means of cleaning out sores and ulcers, destroying morbid growth, lessening the discharge, preventing blood-poisoning and stimulating the healing process.

Dr. Chase's Ointment stops itching almost as soon as applied and often heals almost like magic.

The time required for cure depends on the nature of the ailment, but, unlike internal treatment, the benefits are apparent to the eye, and you can note from day to day the improvement made.

The wonderful success of Dr Chase's Ointment in the cure of eczema, salt rheum, psoriasis and old sores and wounds is sufficient proof that it is bound to be satisfactory in the treatment of less severe diseases of the skin. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample box free if you mention this paper.

I guess it was the first time in the history of Little Italy that a coal team had ever stopped before a tenement. The driver had brought baskets with him and I filled up one and took it to a store near-by and weighed into it eighty pounds of coal With that for my guide I gathered the other men of the families about me and made them carry the coal in while I measured it out. The driver, who was at first inclined to object to the whole proceeding, was content to let things go on when he found himself relieved of all the carrying. We emptied the waggon in no time and the other men insisted upon carrying up my coal for me. I collected every cent of my money and incidentally established myself on a firm footing with every family in the house. Several other tenements later adopted the plan but the idea didn't take hold the way you'd have thought it would. I guess it was because there weren't any more Ruths around there to oversee the job. Then, too, while these people are far-sighted in a good many ways, they are short sighted in others. Neither the wholesale nor co-operative plans appeal to them. For one thing they are suspicious and for another they don't like to spend any more than they have to day by day. Later on through Ruth's influence we carried our scheme a little farther with just the people in the house and bought flour and sugar that way, but it was made possible only through their absolute trust in her. We always insisted on carrying out every such little operation on a cash basis and they never failed us.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Campbellford Postmaster Was Married Fifty Years Ago

The quiet little hamlet of Meyersburgh, on the River Trent, about five miles from Campbellford, was enlivened by a very pleasant event, which occurred at the residence of Mr. Geo. Potts, Sr., on Friday last when about fifty relatives and friends assembled to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their wedding, the arrangements being very quiet, the event was a complete surprise to them. At 10 o'clock the party sat down to a sumptuous repast and the wedding cake was very prettily decorated with the dates of the original wedding, 1861, and of the golden wedding, 1911, and mounted with sprays of orange blossoms, was the prominent feature. The guests returned to the parlour about 12.30, when the following address was read by Mr. E. J. Waterman of Peterborough, and the presentation made by Mrs. Geo. Bartlett of Meyersburgh, and Miss Janet Wood of Campbellford. Congratulations were also received from friends in Florida, Clanton, Ill., New York City, and Bloomfield, U.S.A., and from Port Perry, Burlington and Picton, Ont.

Following is the address:

Meyersburgh, Ont., June 16, 1911.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Potts,—We, a number of your friends, cannot allow the fiftieth anniversary of your wedding to pass without offering you our hearty congratulations. It is given to only a few to enjoy the honour of a celebration such as yours, and you have, indeed, been abundantly blessed.

The highly responsible position which you hold makes it exceedingly difficult to please all; but you have by your cheerfulness, unselfishness, and sterling character, won all our hearts and reached a position to which we would like to attain. To the older ones of us you have been a source of encouragement and consolation in our trials, while the younger have benefited greatly by your kindly and paternal advice, and in asking you to accept the accompanying presents, viz., a walking cane and reading glass, we do so in the hope that you will not consider their intrinsic value as any criterion of your worth and character, but just as a remembrance. Hoping that happiness and prosperity may be yours for many years to come, we remain, yours,

On behalf of the subscribers,

Mrs. George Bartlett,
Miss Janet Wood.

The gifts to the bride were a gold watch and reading glass, gold mounted, and a beautiful hanging lamp; to the groom, a gold-headed cane, with dates, from 1861 to 1911, engraved thereon.

The groom replied in an effective manner, after which games were entered into by both old and young. The party broke up about 2 o'clock, a.m.

"MY BACK IS KILLING ME"

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" WILL CURE

Backache means Congestion of the Kidneys. Dull ache in the back—sharp, shooting pains—headache and nervousness—mean that the Kidneys are overworked. The Bowels are constipated and the skin is inactive, so that the Kidneys are compelled to do the work of both bowels and skin in throwing off the waste of the body. The Kidneys thus become irritated and inflamed and backache results. The only possible way to relieve the congestion and cure the pain is to force the bowels and skin to do their share of the work.

"Fruit-a-tives", the great fruit medicine, is the best and most scientific Kidney Remedy in the world.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always cure Pain in the Back and Kidney Trouble. 50c. box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. Dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HEBREWS RIOT.

They Resent Attempt to Christianize Them In Toronto.

Toronto, June 19.—Eight Hebrews are under arrest in the Agnes street police station, and all the "Ward" is in excitement as the result of a fierce fracas at the corner of Agnes and Terauley streets, for nearly an hour last night. Those arrested are: Harry Perchewsky, 91 Agnes street, butcher, assaulting the police; Nathan Gelstein, 102 Ontario street, obstructing the police; and Samuel Gleek, 45 Chestnut street; Morris Hans, 219 McCaul street; Samuel Goldberg, 110 Elm street; Heiman Kas, 53 Elizabeth street; Isadore Fink, 90 Elizabeth street, and Morris Cetlman, 109 Elizabeth street, for disorderly conduct. From two or three hundred joined in the fray, which lasted from seven to nearly ten o'clock.

Mrs. Harry Perchewsky is at her home, 91 Agnes street, more or less seriously hurt. It is declared by Hebrew bystanders that a policeman in rushing into her house to make an arrest, wantonly struck her with his baton. She is said to have sustained a broken rib.

A meeting which will view the protests of the Hebrews both against the Christian missionaries and police treatment, will be held in the Lyric Theatre to-morrow night. Such is the announcement of Dr. John Shaynt, president of the Zionist Association.

Bank Clerk Is Dead.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 19.—J. A. E. Barth, the young bank clerk who shot himself Friday morning, died yesterday at 10 a.m yesterday, not having regained consciousness. He was attended by his brother Louis, who arrived from Toronto Saturday noon. No cause for his act has yet been discovered, although it is said that he was worried about a recent consultation with a Toronto physician regarding his health. The body will be forwarded to Toronto to-day.

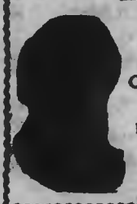
RICHARD HALL & SON

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.



Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Blasphemy Common

Millions of Christians Unwittingly Profane the Creator in Misrepresenting What His Holy Name Represents.

Denver, June 18.—Pastor Russell gave two public addresses here to-day, one of which we report. Many of Denver's prominent religious people were conspicuous in the large audience. Profound impressions were undoubtedly made. Speaking from the text, "Holy, holy, holy Lord God Almighty, the whole earth shall be filled with Thy glory" (Revelation iv, 8), the speaker said:

Shakespeare tells of some "damned by faint praise!" We grasp his statement as implying that a faint praise is more injurious than silence. But as we look to ourselves and the remainder of the reputed four hundred millions of Christendom and their united tribute of praise to the Almighty Creator we are forced to admit that with many He is given "faint praise," while the vast majority positively blaspheme the Holy Name by most atrocious misrepresentations of the Divine character, which they claim to be His own revelation of a demoniacal plot for the eternal torture, in one way or another, of the thousands of millions brought into existence by His power and without their own consent.

There may be said to be three different theories prevalent in Christendom on the subject. They all have zealous, earnest, honest advocates. Each contradicts the others. Each claims to love God and to seek to serve and honor Him. Evidently, two at least of the three are wrong. It is our conviction that all three are in error. We believe that all three of them have fragments of the truth around which have crystallized distorting, slanderous, blasphemous errors. The upholders of these theories are so blinded and bewildered that they fail to discern that their praise and worship toward the Creator are defiled and converted into slanders and calumnies and blasphemies by their incrustations of falsehood.

All three of these views declare that the Almighty, with full power to have done otherwise, so created humanity that a child once born into the world can never die—he must live somewhere unceasingly—either in pain or in pleasure. By what authority any make these declarations we have never ascertained.

Surely it is a gross slander upon a God of infinite Justice, Wisdom, Love and Power to claim that He ever entrusted to poor, fallen, human parents the power to bring into existence sin-blighted and sin-disposed human creatures such as we see our race to be, and then made the happiness of their eternity dependent upon a superhuman resistance of the evils of their environment and of their depraved constitutions! This blasphemy against the Holy Name is common to nearly every creed of Christendom.

Our Catholic friends tell us that by Divine arrangement terrible purgatorial experiences await practically every member of our race, in the hope that, if rightly exercised thereby, after centuries of torture, an eternity of bliss will be gained. Is not this also a blasphemy against the Holy Name? Who can deny it? Who would not shudder to have such an awful crime of evil design charged against himself or against his earthly parents? Who that is begotten of the Holy Spirit is not pained even to think of such a charge being made against his Heavenly Father, "the God of all grace"? Surely such a theory is blasphemous, horrible.

But we have grown so accustomed to this blasphemy that it fails to prick the majority to the heart as it should. With all of our development of human sympathy and care for the sick and even for our wounded enemies on the battlefield, and with our precautions of modern times against criminal negligence which might lead to the destruction of human life by conflagration—with all of our fire apparatus and benevolent laws for the protection of the very humblest of our race, we have calmly and without protest charged against our great Creator, and indorsed it as our belief, either publicly or tacitly, that He would look upon a holocaust of millions with no fire brigade for their relief. Is not this blasphemy of the Holy Name?

Is it any wonder that in early life our childish hearts were filled with fear rather than with love toward our Creator and toward His Revelation, the Bible? Is it any wonder that it required all kinds of fighting with our common sense to believe, as we were taught we should, that God lovingly predestinated that all the families of earth should suffer eternally except a saintly handful—because He was pleased to have it so! because He foreordained that it must be so! because He made a great place called hell before He made the earth, and made it large enough to hold the entire human family! because He created fire-proof demons to inflict torture upon the poor unfortunates who were born in sin, shapen in iniquity, in sin conceived by their mothers, and many of them left without an opportunity of hearing of the "only name whereby they must be saved"—and that He wisely and with devilish intention laid up fuel enough to last to all eternity for the torture of His helpless creatures!

And are not such evil thoughts and presentations respecting our great Creator blasphemy? If not, pray tell me what would be blasphemy? Most assuredly I can think of nothing that could possibly enter the human mind or pass the human lips more blasphemous than this doctrine. And yet those who bow down before this creed number some of the ablest and most intelligent, most enlightened and most benevolent of our depraved, fallen race. How is this? How comes it that we have been so blinded in respects our own conduct and misbelief? The Scriptures answer that Satan has deceived us; he has put light for darkness and darkness for light.

A considerable portion of thinking and Christian people will join with us in saying, Ah! surely Brother Calvin previously erred and grievously misrepresented the God of Love when he taught the doctrine of the predestination of the wicked to eternal torture! Ah! say these Christian friends, our hearts rebel against that theory of Divine predestination. We claim that the Almighty is Love itself—that He is sympathetic with His creatures and is using every effort to avert the great calamity of eternal torture.

Ah! my friends, is not this still another form of blasphemy? If some of us blaspheme the Holy Name in representing our Heavenly Father as merciless, loveless, have we not in another way blasphemed that same Holy Name in declaring that He lacks the power and the wisdom to do the good which His loving heart would prompt? Do we worship a stupid and impotent God, one who blundered in the creation of our race, and who, for six thousand years, has been striving to rectify that error and all the while has been allowing thousands of millions of His creatures whom He loves to go down to an eternity of torture! Alas! it would be nearly as easy to worship an all-powerful and loveless God as to worship an all-loving but unwise and impotent God who foolishly, sinfully, brought thousands of millions of intelligent beings into existence only to cause them to suffer an eternity of agony through His incompetence.

Thank God! dear friends, for the glorious day in which we are living, with its electric light and other evidences that we are in the dawning of a New Age. Thank God! that in this day the electric lamp of truth is showing up the mistake of these blasphemous errors which have so defiled all the precious truths of God's Book for years, for centuries. Thank God that our Bible is becoming a new Book to those whose eyes of understanding are opening to the lengths and breadths and heights and depths of the love of God which it declares.

Now we are seeing that "the wages of sin is death"—not eternal torment nor Purgatory. Now we are seeing that Jesus met this death penalty as the Redeemer of our race from the power of the tomb. Now we are seeing that the salvation that God has promised will be brought to us at the second coming of Jesus and the establishment of his mediatorial kingdom for the blessing of all the families of the earth! Now we are seeing that the salvation provided is a resurrection of the dead — not merely an awakening from the tomb, but a complete uplift out of sin and degradation to the full perfection of human nature in the earthly likeness of the Creator.

Now we are seeing that this great blessing has been set apart by the Almighty as the work of the great Sabbath Day of a thousand years, in which "the last enemy to be destroyed is death." Now we are seeing that the whole earth is to be reclaimed from the curse and made to blossom as Eden—that the place of Jehovah's feet, His footstool, will be made glorious and in every way happyfying to all the willing and obedient, whom the great Messiah shall recover fully from sin and death. Now we are seeing that the intelligent rejectors of Divine Grace will not be tormented but, as it is written, "All the wicked will God destroy."

Now we see that the free grace and glorious opportunity to human restitution will be ushered in with the Kingdom, but that preceding that glorious Epoch God is making a selection of a saintly class to be the Bride of Christ —"the Lamb's Wife." This explains why the darkness has been so long permitted—because God would test the "elect" by obliging them to walk by faith and not by sight—He would test them by obliging them to endure hardness as good soldiers—He would test them by requiring that they shall suffer for righteousness' sake and thus manifest their love of righteousness to a remarkable degree. Now we see that the faithful of these are to experience a change from earthly to heavenly conditions, in the First Resurrection, and that this change has its beginning in the Divine begetting of the Holy Spirit. Now we see that these, with the Redeemer, will constitute the Kingdom class which, invisible to men, will bind Satan for a thousand years and supplant his reign of darkness and sin by a reign of light and righteousness, helpful and uplifting to mankind.

We come now to our text. It declares that the time is coming when the whole earth shall be full of God's glory. Ah! glorious Day! Then the shadows of ignorance, superstitution, misunderstanding and misrepresentation in respect to the Divine character will all flee before the light of the knowledge of the glory of God—the appreciation of the Divine Plan for human salvation. Could this Scripture ever be fulfilled, could the Divine character ever be appreciated by intelligent, honest, just and loving hearts, if in any corner of the Universe there were such orgies and tortures of His creatures as the creeds of the Darker Ages have set forth? Surely not! On the contrary, in this glorious Day will be fulfilled the Scriptural prediction: "All in heaven and in earth and under the earth (everywhere) heard I saying, praise, glory, honor, dominion and might be unto Him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb forever!"

As we emerge from the darkness and praise the Lord in thought and word and act, we thus "show forth the praises of Him who has called us out of darkness into His marvelous light."

The Apostle Paul (Romans viii, 21) declares that the groaning creation shall be delivered from its bondage to corruption into the liberty of the Sons of God. The meaning of this is clear. The corruption came upon all through Adam, the deliverance from that corruption is to come to all through the second Adam. All are to be delivered from such bondage, however they may use the deliverance and the privileges of liberty. Those who use them rightly will come into harmony with the Redeemer and with the Heavenly Kingdom and will be blessed eventually with the eternal life. Those who reject these liberties after they come to understand fully, and comprehend their lengths and breadths, will thus be choosing for themselves the Second Death.

The liberty of the Sons of God, their freedom from corruption, death, is here distinctly shown. The angels are not subject to, not bound by, such corruption, such dying conditions. They, as sons of God, are free from corruption, from death. Adam in his original perfection was a son of God, as the Scriptures declare (Luke iii, 38), but he lost his sonship for himself and for all of his race and received instead degradation and bondage to corruption. The hope for Adam and for his race, then, in Christ, is deliverance from the power of sin and death into the liberty proper to them as sons of God. The entire reign of Christ on the earth, as the Scriptures show us, will be devoted to this work of setting free the human family from the various bondages of ignorance, superstition, weakness, heredity and bringing back all who will by restitution processes to the original image and likeness of God, and making them again human sons of God like unto Father Adam before he sinned, plus a large and valuable experience gained during the 6,000 years of the fall, and also through the 1,000 years of the raising up—the Restitution Age, the Resurrection Age (Acts iii, 19-21).

How glad we are that in this dawning time of the New Dispensation the light is shining upon the Divine Word as well as throughout the realm of nature! How glad we are that we no longer must think of the Church alone as the subject of salvation and the world as a whole the subject of condemnation and eternal torture! How just, how reasonable, how loving are the Divine arrangements! To see these things draw our hearts near to the Lord in appreciative love, and we should worship with the greater devotion One whom we thus see worthy of praise and adoration.

We are not, however, to expect the world to be able to realize these things; it is not the Divine intention that they should grasp the Plan, as the Master said to the faithful disciple of old and still says to us—"To you it is given to know the mystery of the Kingdom of God, but to outsiders all these things are spoken in parables and dark sayings, that hearing they might hear and not understand. They will both hear and understand in due time, but now is the time for the calling out of the elect, the perfecting of the saints," etc.

Let us whose ears and eyes have been blessed of the Lord respond with all gratitude and humility, not merely with outward praises of our lips, but also with our hearts let us confess His loving kindness and tender mercy, and let this appreciation more and more sanctify our hearts and separate us from the world, its aims, its selfishness, and let us fight a good fight against sin, especially in our own mortal bodies, because even though the imperfections of the flesh be not counted against this New Creation, begotten of the Spirit, nevertheless the fact that we possess the Spirit of the Lord should lead us more and more to desire that perfection which is most pleasing and acceptable to Him, and to strive, therefore, to the extent of our ability, not trusting to the attainmen of that perfection, but relying upon the merit of that great atonement sacrifice.

All glory to Jesus be given,
That life and salvation are free,
And all may be washed and forgiven;
Yes, Jesus has saved even me.

From the darkness of sin and despair,
Out into the light of His love,
He has brought me and made me an heir
To kingdoms and mansions above.

REV. FATHER QUIGLEY SANG FIRST HIGH MASS

Interesting Ceremony at St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday — Rev. Father Fitzpatrick Preached the Sermon.

INSPIRING ADDRESS

The Rev. Fr. Quigley celebrated his first solemn high mass at 10.30 yesterday morning. The Rev. Fr. McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, acted as assistant priest, and the Rev. Fr. Quigley of Rochester, cousin of the celebrand, as Deacon, while the Rev. Father Hurley was the sub-Deacon. Father Quigley, who is well known in this city, was born in Hastings, Ont. He made his theological studies at St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N.Y., and was ordained June 10, 1911, in Rochester, by his cousin, Archbishop Quigley of Chicago.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore, who, in part, said:

It is a pleasure for me to be here this morning. I must, first of all, offer my congratulations to the Rector of the Cathedral, and his staff of young priests, for the magnificent turnout of the members of the T. A. S., which I noticed this morning. I nede hardly tell you that liquor has been the curse of the Irish people for generations past. I must now congratulate the young priest who is celebrating his first solemn high mass this morning. I knew this young man from his childhood. I knew his father, John Quigley, who was taken from us a few years ago. His mother is still living, and although an invalid, God has spared her to see this happy event. By her it was that this young man was raised and desecrated. You would not find a priest coming from a house where there is no piety. A priest invariably comes from houses where there is goodness and truth and the house of this young man is one of them. Our Lord came into the world for three things—Redemption, truth, and to do away with sin. He is our mediator, and he has given his priests the power of a mediator. Great is the snactity required by priests to teach and guide his people. A priest is not only a mediator, he is a judge. A sick man requires a physician to heal his body and a fallen man requires a physician to heal his soul. And he is a father, no name sounds sweeter to a priest than the name of Father. He must be to the people what a Father is to a family. Some people may think it is difficult for a priest to live such a life day after day, but it is not so. We spend an hour at the altar every morning, at Holy Communion, we pray seven times a day to fulfil the duties of the office, and we are constantly at the sick bedside. A priest, therefore, has Christ constantly with him to help him. But a priest from the Seminary has difficulties. When in the College he has assistance and advice, but when he comes out into the world he has himself to depend upon.

One source of sorrow to a priest is the sense of his own unworthiness and another the lukewarmness of his people. He must have the faithful co-operation of his people.

This young man is to be complimented on his brilliant course at the college. I understand he obtained distinction of being the leader of a large class in the Seminary of Rochester, and I sincerely hope he will continue such a success in the parish of Rockford, where he will now take up his duties.

COURT CHEMONG I.O.F. HAVE ANNUAL CHURCH SERVICE

Attended St. John's Church Last Night When an Interesting Sermon Was Preached by Rev. Canon Davidson—Should be Just, Merciful and Walk With God.

The members of Court Chemong No. 530, I.O.F., in full regalia, marched to St. John's church last evening, where their annual church service was held, the centre seats of the church being reserved for the brethren, while special forms of service were given, enabling all to take part. Well-known hymns were sung with great spirit, and the service was a hearty one throughout. The choir rendered a suitable anthem.

Rev. Canon Davidson preached an inspiring sermon from the text, Micah, VI., 8—"He has showed thee what is good. What does the Lord require of thee? Do justly, love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God."

In beginning, he stated that God's laws were not as sometimes supposed, unpleasant and unattractive, but were designed in love for man's benefit, and in order that he might make the most out of life. Three great laws of healthful duty were indicated in the text. The first of these was a spirit of justice, the foundation of robust character. Men rightly expected of one another that they should be true and just in all their dealings. Many of the difficulties of life arose from neglect of this simple law. Men could not safely trifle with their word, their signature or any of their undertakings. They should promptly meet their obligations and treat all men with absolute justice. But this, by itself, might make men hard and proud, and so they were to be merciful as well. The speaker pictured the beauty of mercy and its development into broad love under the Christian dispensation. The Foresters order, he said, was established on principles of mercy as well as of justice. Fraternal Societies enabled a man to make just provision for his family and to be merciful also to the widow and orphan in their hour of need. Let them see to it that they were not unmerciful members of a merciful Order.

The speaker went on to the last divine requirement which was that they should walk humbly with their God. Devoutness was needed to be added to justice and mercy to have a complete character. Men were not only to be right in their relations to men but also to God, who was to be an ever present, unseen Friend. It was quite possible to see the marks of association with God standing out in men who in their religious life practised such divine associations and the walking with God implied justice and mercy.

On their return to the hall the members of the Order passed the usual resolutions of thanks to Rev. Canon Davidson, and the wardens and choir of St. John's church.

There was an interesting discussion on matters brought forward in the sermon. The matter of Coronation Day came up, and it was decided that the officers of the Court, and as many members as possible should attend the service at St. John's in full regalia. The hope was expressed that the different fraternal societies of the city should turn out in regalia and make a large fraternal demonstration in connection with the event.

The marshals for the occasion were Bros. Geo. Spring, J. L. Brownlee and F. J. Grady.

Quaker Oats Company To Begin Heavy Running Earlier This Season

An advertisement will be found in another column in regard to girls wanted at the Quaker Oats Company.

On inquiry the Examiner learns that the Quaker Oats Company, owing to the biulding of their new warehouse will begin their heavy running season earlier this year than formerly. Previously, on account of lack of storage, it was impossible to run ahead on case goods, necessitating a heavy run in the fall and necessarily falling far behind their orders. The new warehouse will permit them to begin their heavy run several months earlier. We understand they are now arranging for running the Package Department fully equipped. This should have the effect of giving much steadier time to the Package Department operatives than formerly.

This is a condition which will be welcome news to the employees of the Package Department, made possible by the additional storage.

Music Arranged For Coronation Day Event

The following is the programme of music to be given in St. John's church on Thursday next, the day on which King George the Fifth and Queen Mary will be crowned in the Abbey of Westminster. The service will commence promptly at 11 a.m., and will be conducted by the Lord Bishop of Toronto, before the dedication of the Chimes at 12 noon:

Coronation March, "Le Prophete" Meyerbeer.

Processional—"All People That on Earth."

Coronation Hymn, "King of Kings," Sullivan.

Te Deum (Festal), Woodward.

Coronation anthem, "Zadock the Priest," by Handel.

"God Save the King," John Bull.

Recessional, "Now Thank We All Our God."

Organ Fantasia, "God Save the King." Mr. R. J. Devey.

Procession of His Lordship the Bishop, with clergy and choir to the dedication of the chimes.

As far as the music itself is concerned, the outstanding feature is undoubtedly the rendering of the classic anthem by Handel, "Zadock the Priest." First used at the coronation of King George the second, it is the regular official anthem of the coronation and will be sung in Westminster Abbey next Thursday. Immediately after the actual crowning, a lengthy string movement introduces the splendid vocal introduction "Zadock the Priest, and Nathan the Prophet annointed Solomon, King." Part two expresses the rejoicing of the people, "And all the people rejoiced, and said, (Part 3.) "Long live the King," "God Save the King." "Long live the king," "May the king live forever, Alleluia, amen." At the conclusion of rehearsal last night, Mr. Devey heartily thanked the choir for their faithful practice on a classical work at this time of the year, and assured the choristers that after Tuesday night next's rehearsal a successful rendition would be doubly assured, as a reward forsix weeks' hard practice as a purely voluntary choir.

Adolphe Hesse's famous varied fantasia "God Save the King" will be given on the organ at the conclusion of the service.

The choir are glad that Bishop Sweeny will be present, and at least fifty voices will be in evidence, including Mr. Geo. Chandler, formerly of St. John's, now of All Saints, and Mr. Langley of St. Luke's, a veteran chorister recently arrived in Peterborough.

AUTOISTS ARE KILLED

D. W. Braidwood and Miss Florence Crawford Are Killed—Machine Broke Down North of Barrie

OTHERS ESCAPED

Barrie, June 19.—While traveling at a high rate of speed, 14 miles north of Barrie, a party consisting of seven Torontonians, were hurled from their automobile and two, who were thrown to the left side, were instantly killed by the car toppling over on them, the running board striking the back of their necks. The others were thrown to the opposite side and escaped with slight injuries.

The dead are: David W. Braidwood, chauffeur, 12 McGill street.

Florence Crawford, 124 Howard Park avenue.

The injured: Mrs. George C. Thompson, 459 Euclid avenue

Flossie Thompson, 459 Euclid avenue.

Norma Thompson, 459 Euclid avenue.

Charles E. Bowden, 132 Brunswick avenue.

Harry G. Martin, Swansea.

The party consisted of Braidwood, who was driving; Miss Crawford, who was sitting in the front seat beside Braidwood, and with him was thrown to the left side. The others were Mrs. Thompson and her two daughters, Bessie and Norma, in company with two male friends, Charles E. Bowden and Harry G. Martin. All but the mother of the two girls were in the employ of the Toronto Electric Light Co. The last five escaped with slight injuries, and are suffering principally from nervous shock.

At 1.30 the happy party left the city. Nearly 70 miles was traversed with pleasure, the road being in excellent condition and the weather ideal, created desire for speeding and to satisfy the desires of the party, Braidwood turned on more power. Suddenly his eye caught sight of a once a hundred yards in front, almost the same second he observed a turn in the road.

Realizing the immediate danger he jammed the emergency brake and unfortunately in his excitement put too much pressure upon it, causing the power, which had not yet been turned off, to force the car ahead. The brakes, however, were strong enough to stop the wheels with such suddenness as to turn the car completely around facing Barrie.

As the car reversed its direction the left rear wheel collapsed, throwing the car to one side and hurling the two front passengers to the road. Swaying to the opposite side, those in the remaining five seats were thrown to that side. The broken wheel caused the heavy machine to fall the second time to the left. This time the running board struck the necks of Braidwood and Miss Crawford, causing instant death.

Jumps From Bridge.

Toronto, June 19.—William J. H. Black, aged 31, employe of the T. Eaton Co., and a boarder at 597 Parliament street, jumped to death over the Howard street bridge at three o'clock Saturday afternoon. Practically every bone in his body was broken. He landed on the roadway in the Rosedale Ravine. The man was quite dead when found.

His body in its flight struck the girders of the bridge and his boots were torn clean off. Several boys were playing baseball in the ravine and saw the body fall. Harry Boyce, 106 Rosedale avenue, heard somebody shout, You dam fool, get back!" and looking up, saw Black jump from the railing of the bridge. The body struck the ground within a few feet of Jimmy Buck and Harold Ryan.

He has been despondent for some time, owing to being short of money. He borrowed a dollar from his landlord on Friday and a letter from his brother at Pittsburg, Pa., was found on him, in which the brother asked for the return of a loan.

Dr. McPhail Injured.

Montreal, June 19.—Dr. Andrew MacPhail, the well-known author and essayist, was seriously injured last night by the explosion of a bottle of aerated water at his residence on Peel street.

Glass from the shattered bottle entered both eyes. The doctor was immediately operated on at the Royal Victoria Hospital, where a specialist pronounced that one eye could be saved and that there were good hopes of saving the other.

ANSWERS THE CRITICS

Sir Wilfrid Tells Britons About the Reciprocity Pact—Agreement is a Matter of Convenience to Canada

NOT IRREVOCABLE

London, June 19.—(C.A.P. Cable)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking at the Constitutional Club, said that although himself a party man, he belonged to no party whatever in this country. They did not forget in his country when they came to Britain, they became part of the greater whole of British institutions, which, while not perfect, were certainly the wisest ever devised by men for the Government of men.

It was fourteen years since Canada had introduced the system of a preferential traiff to Britain. They did it without any conditions, believing in their heart of hearts that such a policy was sound commercially and politically and in the best interests of the Empire. They had had no reason to repent of their action. It had stood the test of fourteen years; the more they had of it the better they liked it. They had hoisted the policy of British preference to the top of the mast.

There might be some there who would say that by the reciprocal agreement with the United States they had given a fatal blow to the British preference. For such a doubt there was in his judgment no reason. The agreement made with the States was no solemn treaty, but an agreement, to which an end could be put. There was no occasion for alarm about the matter. When he was told they had chained their liberty and paralyzed their movements, he would say, "Look at the correspondence on the matter." They would see that the policy was one which suited the convenience of Canada, and one to which an end could be put at any time.

They were told they were leading to the annexation of Canada, and he had a right to say that he did not believe such an accusation as that. If he believed it he would not have advocated this policy. Their effort would be to trade with the Mother Country in preference to any other (cheers), but they wanted also to trade with other countries.

Trooper Hooper Dies.

Toronto, June 19.—Trooper John E. Hooper of the second Company, Canadian Field Engineers, who was injured at Niagara Camp on June 8, by a 60-foot span falling across the abdomen, died in the General Hospital at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Hooper's recovery at the time of the accident was considered doubtful as he sustained severe internal injuries.

Hooper was 45 years of age, unmarried, and boarded at 268 Parliament street.

The local militia will look after the body, pending funeral arrangements.

McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, from this city and McNamara was indicted on charges of conspiracy to dynamite, by the Marion County Grand Jury on Saturday.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

FATAL RACE IN THE AIR

Three Aviators Are Killed at the Start of the Great Circuit Race—List of Fatalities

A GIRL KILLED

Paris, June 19.—Fifty aeroplanists took wing early yesterday from the aviation fields at Vincennes on the first stage of the European Circuit race, which calls for a flight to London and return with stops at various places going and returning. Two of the aviators almost immediately after the start, met with tragic death. One was killed later and at least one more injured.

The dead: Capt. Princetau, whose motor exploded in mid-air, flooding him with gasoline and burning him to death.

M. Lemartin, who dashed against a tree, the motor of his aeroplane crushing his head.

M. Leudron, burned to death near Chateau Thiery. Benzine in the reservoir exploded and the machine was consumed.

The injured: M. Gaubert, a former lieutenant in the army, who was entered in the civilian race under the name "Dalger." He was found lying senseless near his machine in a wheat field, four miles from Villars-Coterets. His injuries are grave.

M. Bille, his aeroplane struck the earth within a mile of the start and was wrecked. Bille was injured, but not seriously.

Three other birdmen fell. M. Loridan, near Charleville; Oscar Morison, close to Gagny; and M. Morin at Chevron, within 22 miles of Liege, which is the end of the first stage of the race. None of these men were badly hurt, though all of them were badly shaken up.

Of the fifty aviators who started the race, thirty-eight were civilians, and twelve officers assigned to the contest for military duty. Hung up for the competitors are prizes amounting to $94,000.

Dawn at Vincennes saw many hundreds of thousands of persons—variously estimated at from 500,000 to 1,000,000—massed around the military exercise field to witness the start of the race. Six thousand soldiers and 4,000 police, most of them mounted, strove to keep the field clear.

A single gun fired at 5.45 o'clock signaled the commencement of the preliminaries. The Abbe Larebourg was just finishing the mass which, by order of the Archbishop of Paris he was celebrating at an improvised altar in one of the aeroplane hangars for some of the aviators, who desired spiritual preparation for the perils of the day. M. Lemartin, who within the hour was dying, was among those who was kneeling for blessing and consolation.

Lemartin's aeroplane had reached the woods a quarter of a mile beyond the barriers when it was observed to pitch swiftly downward into the trees. Lemartin was using a biplane, which was broken badly as it fell at the foot of an oak tree. A corner of the motor struck the aviator's head, crushing his skull, and his right leg also was fractured in two places. The aviator was barely alive when he was taken away by Red Cross surgeons, whose stations surrounded the field. The crowds removed their hats solemnly as the wounded aviator was carried past or as word passed among the people that he was dead. Lemartin was alive when he reached the hospital, but expired a few minutes afterwards.

Girl Decapitated by Plane.

Budapest, June 19.—A girl who was witnessing an aviation meeting here on Saturday was struck by one of the machines and her head was severed from her body.

Officer Beaten by Thugs.

Toronto, June 19.—Three thugs badly wanted in the United States are in custody and Detective William Wallace of the headquarters' staff is at his home, 89 Borden street, in a seriously injured condition, as a result of a severe beating by the trio.

They are William J. Farrell, aged 21 years, pugilist, on probation for assault in Massachusetts; his Brother, George J. Farrell, aged 18 years, and Victor Osborne, aged 20 years.

Detective Wallace has his cheekbones broken and his face badly cut up as the result of a plucky fight of fifteen minutes, when he attempted, single-handed, to arrest two of them in a York street pawnshop, where they were attempting to dispose of the booty from two burglaries committed by them a few weeks ago in Cambridge, Mass.

A Chain of Circumstance.

Kingston, June 19.—James Madill, the traveler killed in the Grand Trunk wreck at Newcastle, was at the Randolphe Hotel here Friday and was on his way to Toronto to attend the wedding of Miss Annie Madden, a former Kingstonian. A series of troubles have occurred in several families. Miss Madden was to have been married on Wednesday, but her intended was taken ill and removed to the hospital. The marriage was then set for Saturday, the time being fixed to suit Mr. Madill, as he was a traveler. Three weeks ago Mrs. Madill was bereaved by the death of a sister.

Manned by Non-Unionists.

Antwerp, June 19.—Notwithstanding the efforts of the striking seamen to tie her up, the Finland sailed for New York on scheduled time. She was manned by non-union men.

The strike leaders appear discouraged at the attitude of the Germans who are arriving in great numbers to take the places of strikers.

Canadian Militia at Hague.

Ottawa, June 19.—Directors of the horse show to be held at The Hague from July 2 to 9 have extended an invitation to officers of the Canadian militia to take part in uniforms. Officers proposing to accept the invitation are directed in Saturday's militia orders to communicate with headquarters.

FIVE MILES OF WOMEN.

Suffragettes Hold Monster Demonstration In London.

London, June 19.—The coronation procession of suffragettes, which traversed the streets of London Saturday evening prior to the meeting at Albert Hall was probably justly described by "General" Mrs Hammond, as "the greatest procession of women in support of the suffrage movement that the world ever has seen."

From forty thousand to sixty thousand women, according to the varying estimates, marched in the five-mile procession, which started at the Victoria embankment, which leads east from Winchester Bridge, and proceeded along the coronation route to Kensington. Militant and non-militant suffragettes combined on this occasion, all question of caste being put aside and queens, or those garbed to represent such characters as Boadicea, Catherine of Aragon, Mary Queen of Scots and Queen Victoria rubbed shoulders with fellow-workers in the suffrage cause from the sweat shops of Whitechapel.

Every phase of social, professional and industrial life was represented, among the paraders being women of title, prominent actresses and collegians. Hundreds of historic characters from the early ages down to famous Victorians like Charlotte Bronte, Grace Darling, Jenny Lind, and Mrs. Browning, were portrayed.

Seven hundred women who had been imprisoned for the cause formed a striking feature of the pageant. They carried lances with banners and the suffragette colors.

Miss Bryce, a daughter of John A. Bryce, member of the House of Commons, and a niece of the British Ambassador at Washington, was at the head of one of the contingents. Other prominent women in line included Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical Society; Sarah Grand, the novelist; Princess Dhuleep Singh, Mrs. W. G. Bentinck, Lady Frances Balfour, sister-in-law of the Unionist leader; Mrs. Millicent G. Fawcett, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Miss Sylvia Pankhurst.

One of the brigades was made up of women pipers in Highland costume who played a stirring march at the head of the procession, while scores of bands led different contingents.

Another Easy Victory For The Peterborough Team

Creswell's Fine Pitching Coupled With Almost Perfect Support Resulted in the Pete's Fourth Win, the Port Hope Team Being Whitewashed by Score of 15 to 0---Game Was Too One-sided to be Interesting.

Through inability to get some of their players away, Port Hope sent a weakened team to Peterborough for Saturday's Fidland League game at Riverside Park and the outfit from the front were nothing but custard pie for the Petes, who walloped them in ridiculously easy fashion by 15 runs to 0. Weak both in the field and at the bat, the visitors never had a look in, and the game was too one-sided to be interesting to the spectators.

Stan. Creswell was sent in by Manager Quinlan to do the twirling and the young southpaw more than made good, his pitching being splendid throughout. He had the visitors at his mercy, allowing but one scratch hit, a slow grounder between first and second, while only four balls went to the outfield, all being easily grabbed by the second defence. He fanned seven and was never in a tight situation, only two visitors reaching third. One of these was caught off the bag, and the other was snuffed out at the plate, the nearest the Hopers came to scoring. Creswell was cool and steady mixing his offerings nicely and the visitors could do nothing with him. He was given very snappy support throughout, only two errors, neither of them costly, being made behind him. Murphy and O'Hearne were especially prominent by their clean fielding, while the outfield took care of everything that came their way in faultless fashion.

Port Hope used two pitchers, Sleman and Carmichael, and neither seemed to have anything but a glove, the Petes getting fourteen hits, ranging from a homer down. The fourbacker fell to Mike O'Brien, who lifted one down the foul-line that struck a post in the fence and bounded away, Hudson losing track of the bulb.

The only redeeming feature in the play of the Port Hope team was the excellent work of Left-fielder Hudson, who was in the limelight on several occasions by clever fielding. He made a pretty running catch of Gonter's hard line smash and a little later on went back for a long drive from M. O'Brien's bat, gathering in the drive with his back to the plate. In all Hudson picked off six flies and his work was warmly applauded.

The Petes scored two in the first, and counted in every innings but one, while Port Hope could not even get on the bases in the later stages of the game.

Charlie Ray umpired and his decisions were accepted without any signs of dissatisfaction from either team.

First Innings.

Port Hope—Creswell was wide of the plate on Rowden, the first man up, but after three balls had been called, he sent the next one over for a strike. Rowden clouted the next and was out Murphy to O'Brien. Howson sent a fly to Shaw and Craig grabbed a hard fly from Hudson. No runs.

Peterborough. Murphy's grounder was juggled at third. He stole second and was safe at third when Bradburn dropped the throw. A passed ball, with Shaw batting, gave him the plate. Shaw was safe when Hewson dropped the peg to first. He made second and O'Hearne was walked. M. O'Brien hit to the pitcher and Shaw was nailed at third. Gonters' hit sent O'Hearne to third and he was out at the plate on the play off McFadden's grounder to third. M. O'Brien took third and scored on a passed ball. W. O'Brien died, short to first. 2 runs.

Second Innings.

Sleman sent a long fly to centre which O'Brien nailed. Gonter fumbled Phelan's grounder. Phelan was caught off first but no one covered second and he was safe. He made his way around to third on a passed ball. McFadden missed the third strike on Sheehy but got him at first and the return throw from O'Brien copped Phelan. No runs.

Craig was an easy out on a bunt. Creswell captured the bag on Carmichael's error, went to second on a wild heave, and tallied on Murphy's double. On some loose play Murphy made third and the plate. Phelan's error gave O'Hearne first and he stole second. M. O'Brien hit for the first corner and Gonters' single over second sent both runners home. McFadden was out, pitcher to first. Four runs.

Third Innings.

Bradburn out, O'Hearne to first, Woods walked and was hit around to third by Carmichael, but was caught off the base on a close decision. Carmichael took second and was safe at third on McFadden's slip. Rowden was walked and Hewson was out O'Hearne to first. No runs.

W. O'Brien hit safely and stole second. He was safe at third when Bradburn dropped the throw from the catcher and Craig hit him in with a single to left. A steal and a passed ball gave Craig third, but he was out at the plate following Creswell's grounder to third. Murphy walked and was sacrificed by Shaw. O'Hearne ended the innings, second to first. No runs.

Fourth Innings.

Creswell, who was getting warmed up, struck out Hudson and Sleman, and all Phelan could do was to pop a fly to the catcher. No runs.

M. O'Brien singled, stole second and went to third when Carmichael let Gonter's grounder get away. O'Brien was caught on the way to the plate, Rowden, Bradburn and Woods working in the play. McFadden sacrificed Gonter and W. O'Brien's triple sent him home. Craig went out on a fly to Hudson in left. One run.

Fifth Innings.

Sheehy, after striking out was bagged at first by the catcher. Bradburn out, O'Hearne to O'Brien. Woods flied to the pitcher. No runs.

Creswell, after making first on Woods' slip, was forced at second by Murphy. He stole second, but was out getting to third. O'Hearne grounded out, short to first. No runs.

Sixth Innings.

Carmichael sent up a foul fly to Furphy. Rowden flied out in the same direction and Hewson, after striking out fell by the way. No runs.

M. O'Brien hit to the fence for a homer, Gonter's hard line drive was pie for Hudson, McFadden fanned and Hudson took care of W. O'Brien's fly. One run.

Seventh Innings.

Hudson, Sleman and Phelan were retired at first; Sleman, while at bat sent a long foul fly into the grand stand which Fred McGrath copped in spectacular fashion. No runs.

Carmichael now pitching for Port Hope.

Craig's grounder was too hot for Sleman who was now playing short, and he was safe at second when Woods dropped a nice throw. Cresswell was hit and made second on a passed ball, Craig taking third. Murphy's sacrifice fly to Hudson scored Craig and a similar stunt by Shaw gave Creswell the plate. O'Hearne was out third to first. Two runs.

Eigth Innings.

Sheehy fanned, Bradburn out at first and Woods couldn't see them. No runs.

Hudson made the catch of the day when he went into the air after M. O'Brien's fly. Gonter was walked, stole second and went to third on McFadden's single. Both runners scored when Quinlan batting for W. O'Brien, sent a liner to left, Hudson letting the ball get away. Quinlan took second and was hit to third by Craig, who found the route to second easy. Creswell sent up a foul to the catcher. Quinlan and Craig scored on Murphy's bounder to second, but the latter was out leading off first bag. Four runs.

Ninth Innings.

Carmichael sent a liner to M. O'Brien, Rowden flied to Murphy and Hewson to Quinlan. No runs.

Sacred Heart Team Won From The Central T.A.S. The Score Was 11 To 7

For the second time this season the Sacred Heart T. A. S. team defeated the Central T. A. S. team in an Inter-Catholic League game at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon following the Midland League fixture. The score was 11 to 7, in favour of the Southerners, who played nice ball throughout and were always in the lead. At one stage they were in front 9 to 1, but the Centrals had a batting rally in the seventh, in which they sent six runs across the plate and closed the gap to 9 to 7. The Sacred Heart team came back with two in their half and cinched the game. Gus Rose pitched nice ball for the Southerners and Yebbie Flaherty, who made his first appearance of the season with the Central team, was also in good form but received erratic support. W. O'Brien was a satisfactory umpire. The teams were as follows:

Sacred Heart—Gorham s.s., Heffernan 2b., F. Neary 1b., Lefave c., Rose, p., Kenneally 4, Milloy 3b., J. Neary r.f., Condon c.f.

St. John's Team Defeated All Saints' By 4 To 2

When these two teams met before All Saints had the St. John's team at a disadvantage, as St. John's goal keeper could not turn up at the last moment, and one of their best halfbacks took his place, thus demoralising their team, and only ten men played, at that. Even then it took the Saints all their time to just scramble home. Saturday they met the full team of the St. John's and were shown how to play football. Coldsprings gave them a lesson a week ago and St. John's gave them another on Saturday. They have two more to come, one from St. James' and another from Coldsprings It is understod that the carpenter has received orders not to go any further with the ornamental stand he was making for All Saints' Club. as after Saturday, and in view of their immediate engagements, their prospects of winning the cup are not so easy now as they were when he received the order at the beginning of the season. Result of the game—St. John's 4, All Saint's, 2.—Com.

Your Danger From Kidney Troubles

BEGINS WHEN YOUR BACK ACHES.

Backache is the first and the sure sign of kidney disease.

When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning that the kidneys are affected in some way.

Next to the heart, the kidneys are, perhaps the most important organs in the body. It is no wonder then that if the kidneys are affected the whole system must be.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble, heal the delicate membranes of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural."

Mr. E. J. Saulnier, Lake Annis, N.S., writes:—"I take a great deal of pleasure in telling you the benefit I have received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for several years; my back was weak, I had terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night. I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was right and fit again."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

OBITUARY

MATILDA JANE DENISON.

The many friends of Mrs. Matilda Jane Denison, wife of Mr. Daniel Denison, proprietor of the Hotel National, will be shocked to hear of her sudden death, which took place at an early hour yesterday morning.

Deceased underwent an operation six weeks ago for spinal meningitis, and was making good progress towards recovery until last Wednesday, when serious complications set in and she rapidly sank until death intervened yesterday.

The late Mrs. Denison was born in Coldwater, Ontario, 41 years ago and when married, Mr. and Mrs. Denison moved to New York, where they resided for a number of years, afterwards moving to Toronto. Eighteen years ago they again returned to Coldwater, where they were engaged in the hotel business. Three years ago they moved to this city, where they took charge of the Hotel National.

Mrs. Denison who was of a kind and loving disposition, was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterain church.

She leaves to mourn her loss a bereaved husband, Mr. D. B. Denison, one son, Frederick B. Denison, who is attending the Trinity College, Port Hope, and one daughter, Miss Ethel Maude Denison at home.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Mr. Pogue will officiate.

BENEFIT GAME

Great interest is being taken in the benefit soccer game to be played at the Exhibition grounds on Wednesday night of this week in aid of a Church League player who was badly injured early in the season. The contesting teams will be the Canadian General Electric team and a picked team from the Church League. The game is called for 6.45 o'clock and there should be a large attendance in view of the worthy object of the contest and the strength of the two teams. It should be the feature of the season. The C. G. E. team will be as follows:

Goal, Jones; backs, Hull, Mason; halves, Bridge, Milburn, Allen; forwards, Dawson, French, Miller, Dawson, Corliss.

Bowmanville Team Here On Coronation Day

Bowmanville, the only team in the Midland League circuit that the Petes have not met will be the opponents of the ePterborough team, in a league game at Riverside Park on Thursday afternoon, Coronation Day. From present indications the Goodyear team seem the only aggregation in the League capable of giving the local team an argument, and a good deal of interest is attached to their appearance here on the holiday. In their other games away from home this season the Bowmanville team has been handicapped by inabality to get their best players away, but Thursday being a holiday, this difficulty is removed and they will have the strongest line-up they have had this year when they clash with the Petes, on Coronation Day. The fans will appreciate seeing a good team in action against Peterborough after the listless exhibitions put up by the Cobourg and Port Hope teams, who for some reason or other, failed to get their men out for the Peterborough games. The team the Hopers had in action a week ago would have given the Petes a busy afternoon, but the men did not materialize and the line-ups they sent were as weak as boarding-house soup. The Bowmanville team seem to be of a different calibre, and should make things interesting all the way. The Petes will practise to-morrow night at Riverside Park and a full attendance is expected.

FOOTBALL

The following benedicts are most earnestly requested to be present at the Park Street football grounds Tuesday evening at 7 p.m., sharp: Jones, Hall, Pagett, Theobald, French, Kennedy, Haw, Williams, Haw, Lasenby, Thompson, Riddiford and any others who think they can play football, or an approach to it. A good time is expected, as most of the single-bliss artists are in love. So come. Refreshments at close of game.

All Saints' team entered the Midland League and will be placed in the semi-finals, having to contest with Brooklin, the winner of the Oshawa district.

The C.G.E. team will journey to Bethany on Thursday, Coronation Day, to play a Midland League game. The bus will leave the corner of Charlotte and George street sharp at 10 o'clock on Thursday.

Opponents of Reciprocity Make Another Stand in the Senate, Led by Senator Dixon, of Montana

NO ADJOURNMENT

Washington, June 20.—Republican opposition to the Canadian reciprocity bill in the Senate reached the stage of open revolt yesterday. Led by Senator Dixon of Montana, who again failed in his demand for an explanation or a speech in favor of the bill from some of the Republican leaders who champion the measure, the Republican opponents declared that if the bill passed, many Republicans would join the Democrats in an attempt to lower the duties on all manufactured products.

When the corner-stone is pulled out of the system of protective tariff," said Senator Dixon; "when the farmers' products are thrown into a free market while his purchases continue to be protected, there are many good protectionists in the Republican ranks here who will vote to have the duties pulled down on iron and steel, chemicals, cotton, and many other things."

Other northwestern Republicans signified by their approval of the Montana Senator's words that the passage of the reciprocity bill, which it is admitted will have a majority of the votes in the Senate, will be attended with a fight that threatens to throw open the whole tariff subject.

"We want to make one killing," declared Senator Crawford of South Dakota. "We find the Senators from Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maine States that have always repeatedly reaped the greatest harvest of protection, advocating this measure that proposes to put on the free list every single article raised by the northwest. I want to deal with this matter in its entirety. If Pennsylvania, Mississippi and Massachusetts have joined hands in a new political propaganda, it is time for the rest of the country to strike out on a new tack."

"If you can get enough Senators on that side with you," returned Senator Bailey of Texas, "we will take one of these bills now coming over from the House and make a whole new tariff law of it."

Senator Bailey declared there would be no adjournment until the Senate has acted upon the free list bill and the woollen bill.

Reciprocity came before the Senate yesterday, with the Root amendment, effecting the importation of pulp wood and paper from Canada, as the matter for immediate consideration. This amendment was again laid aside because of Senator Root's absence. Later he came into the chamber, but said he would not be ready to discuss the amendment until Wednesday.

Opponents of the bill then demanded an explanation or speech from some one in favor of the measure. Senator Cummings said he wanted to speak against the Root amendment, but would not do so when that amendment was not officially before the Senate, and had not been explained. Senator Dixon, Senator Bailey, Senator Smith of Michigan and others declared they would make no speeches against the bill until they had heard some word in its support.

In a direct attack upon the Root amendment, Senator Williams contended that if it were adopted, no Canadian paper or pulp would come into the United States free of duty until all Canadian provinces had removed their export restrictions, and that the influence of the paper trust would result in preventing its ever coming in free.

"You can take your choice," he said. "You can vote for the amendment and indefinitely postpone the removal of Canadian restrictions, or you can vote against it and insure certain advantages. Those who would continue the present grip of the International Paper Co. will vote for the amendment," he said with much intensity, "while those who wish to remove that strangling hold will vote against it."

Appealed to Labor Men.

Montreal, June 20.—Declaring that James McNamara, held for complicity in the dynamiting of The Los Angeles Times' building, was innocent, Mr. Butler, who was with McNamara when the latter was arrested, appealed to a small gathering of Montreal labor unions to aid in the cause of his defence.

There were only some forty representatives of the various organizations present at the meeting.

President Geroux of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, characterised as an outrage by capital the arrest of McNamara, and declared that the men who had been hounded down at the instigation of capital, should be helped quickly and well.

Duke Inspected Contingent.

London, June 20.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Duke of Connaught inspected the coronation contingent at Chelsea yesterday. The Duke praised the Canadians highly to Col. McLean and said he was very much pleased with their appearance and the large number of the contingent. It also added to the pleasure it afforded him going to Canada, and that he hoped to meet the officers on his arrival. The duke shook hands with each officer and inspected the Winnipeg Rifles, of which he is honorary colonel.

CANADIANS ARE REMEMBERED IN THE LIST OF CORONATION DAY HONOURS

Dr. Osler Receives Baronetcy—Many Promotions Occur Among Knights and Lower Orders of Nobles.

MANY DECORATIONS

London, June 20.—The coming coronation of King George is signalized by a free-handed distribution of honors. Sir Joseph G. Ward, Prime Minister of New Zealand, is promoted to a baronetcy. Andrew Fisher, Premier of Australia, and Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, are made privy councillors.

The bestowal of a baronetcy upon Dr. William Osler, regius professor of medicine at Oxford, and formerly professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Md., and McGill University at Montreal, is the most interesting item in the honor list to Canadians. The Earl of Crewe, who was the Liberal leader in the House of Lords until his withdrawal recently on account of illness, is made a marquis. Lord Rosebery, Lord Curzon of Kedleston and Lord Brassey are made earls. Rosebery hereafter will be known as the Earl of Midlothian.

The Right Hon. Alexander W. Murray, Master of Elibank, the chief Liberal whip in the House of Commons; Baron Knollys, the King's secretary; Baron Allendale, and the Right Hon. Arthur Akers-Douglas, Unionist member of the House of Commons for Kent, are made viscounts.

Both of the King's secretaries are recognized, Lord Knollys and Lt.-Col. Sir Arthur J. Biggs, the latter being one of the nine new barons created. The others are: Lord Mountgarret, Sir Charles B. McLaren, Sir Alexander Acland-Hood, the chief Unionist whip; Sir William T. Lewis, the noted mining expert; Sir James L. Mackay, who has given much time to Indian affairs; Archibald C. Corbett, member of Parliament for Glasgaw since 1885; Thomas Gair Ashton, M.P. for Bedfordshire, and Godfrey R. Benson.

Altogether twenty new baronets and forty knights are created. The stage has been recognized by the knighting of George Alexander, the actor-manager.

Sir Frederick Borden becomes honorary surgeon-general to the King; Sir R. Isaacs, the Attorney-General; T. McKinnon Wood, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office; Dr. T. J. MacNamara, Secretary of the Admiralty; Sir T. Vezey Strong, Lord Mayor of London, and Frederick Huth Jackson, a prominent banker, are among the new privy councillors. The baronets and knights include men conspicuous in commerce and science.

Several hundred decorations have been bestowed. The Grand Duke Adolph Frederick of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the Duke of Argyle and the Duke of Fife are given the Order of the Garter. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of Canada, had been created Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, while Dr. Robert Alexander Falconer, president of Toronto University, and Charles C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Toronto, are made Companions of St. Michael and St. George. Prof. Adam hSorth and Mr. A. F. Sladen, secretary to the Governor-General, are also on this list.

Max Aitken, M.P., of Montreal and England, is a knight and the Canadian Knights Bachelor are Hon. L. Melvin-Jones, Judge Routhier of Montreal, and William Whyte, vice-president of the C.P.R.

Gen. Sir Wm. G. Nicholson, chief of general staff, and Gen. Lord Paul Sanford Methuen, who commanded the first division of the first army corps in the South Africa war, were last night gazetted field marshals.

G.T.R. and the Suffragettes.

London, June 20.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—For the suffrage procession Saturday the G.T.R. building was appropriately decorated, and a large sign read: "Equality and Justice."

This, combined with the presence of the Canadian and New Zealand troops as spectators aroused the heartiest cheers from the processionists.

PLEA FOR EAST INDIAN.

Earl Crewe Discusses Question of Lascar Seamen.

London, June 20.—At the meeting of the Imperial Conference, New Zealand proposed that the dominions be entrusted with wider legislative powers regarding British and foreign shipping.

Earl Crewe said that before the resolution was moved he desired to refer generally to Indian immigration. He had had the advantage or disadvantage of considering the question first as Colonial Secretary, and secondly as Secretary for India. In both offices he had come to the conclusion that no question to be discussed at the conference was more difficult in some of its aspects or more critical than that of Indian immigration—the treatment of members of the native races within the self-governing dominions.

He suggested that it was possible for the dominion Governments working within the limits which they laid down for the admissin of immigrants to make the entrance of Indians more easy and pleasant than in the past. If it became known that within those limits Indian subjects would receive a genuine welcome and would not be looked upon with suspicion, a great deal might be done to bring about better relations between India and the dominions. Until pleasant relations existed between the dominions and India we are far from being a united Empire.

Sir Joseph Ward, in moving the resolution, assured the conference that, so far as New Zealand was concerned, they had nothing but the most loyal and friendly feelings toward India. Nor was the motion intended in any way to deal with the point of view of the accession of people from India, a point to which the resolution was directed. It was simply that of colored, or indeed any race, Lascars included, who were put into competition at low rates of pay by British-owned ships manned by British officers and crews in New Zealand.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the Canadian Government was prepared to support the resolution although perhaps they would not have drafted it in the same terms.

Hon. E. Lee Batchelor said the Australian view was very similar to that of New Zealand. Much irritation had been caused in the past by misunderstanding the position of the self-governing dominions.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Wheat was excited to-day and an almost vertical rise of two cents was the result. Coarse grains, too, were on the jump. Corn finished 3-4 to 7-8 to 1 1-4 up, and oats 7-8 to 1 1-8 and 1-4 advance. The provision list was unaltered, or with gains not exceeding five cents. On the advance all the futures moved in unison and there was active business from the start up to the last tap of the gong. July ranged from 88 1-8 to 88 3-4, and closed 2 1-8 net higher at the best figure of the day.

The Liverpool market closed to-day 3/d to 4d lower than Saturday on wheat, and 1/d to 1/d lower on corn. Berlin closed 1½c lower on wheat. Budapest 1½c lower, and Antwerp unchanged.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 19.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat and oats for export account was quiet. The local market for oats early in the day was weaker in sympathy with the decline in Winnipeg, and sales of car lots of No. 2 Canadian western were made at 41½c, ex-store, but at the close a firm feeling prevailed on account of the strong close in Winnipeg. The foreign demand for winter wheat flour was fair, and, as the prices bid were in line, sales of several cars were made. There was also a fair inquiry for spring wheat grades, but bids were too low. A fair local trade is passing at firm prices.

E. L. Woodward bought 443 steers for Swift & Co., 232 for London, 1425 lbs. each, at $6.09 average price, or a range of $6 to $6.25; also 216 steers for Liverpool, 1250 lbs. each, of which 180 averaged $6, and 36 cost an average of $5.90, and a range of $5.90 to $6.15 for the Liverpool shipment.

Butchers.

The bulk of the butchers' steers and heifers sold at $6 and over, which is a great showing, considering the number of cattle on sale. The choice butchers sold at $5.90 to $6.15, good butchers at $5.70 to $5.90; medium, $5.40 to $5.75; common, of which there were only a few, at $5.25 to $5.50.

Milkers and Springers.

A moderate supply sold at $40 to $70 each.

Veal Calves.

The market for veal calves was firm at $4 to $7.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Heavy ewes were slow sale at $3 to $3.75; light ewes, $4 to $5, and, rams, $3 to $3.50 per cwt.; yearlings, $5.50 to $6.50; spring lambs, $8.50 to $9, or $11-2c to 9c per lb.

Hogs.

Some dealers reported $7.45, fed and watered, and $7.15 f.o.b. cars at country points, while others reported $7.30, fed and watered, and $7 f.o.b. cars. There were many reports of drovers paying the farmer $7 straight.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, June 19.—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending June 17 were 2170 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 2600 hogs and 675 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning were 200 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 1700 hogs and 250 calves.

In sympathy with the weakness in the Toronto market at the latter end of last week, and the increased offerings here to-day, a weaker feeling developed in the market for cattle, and prices since last Wednesday show a decline of 15c to 25c per 100 pounds.

The demand was rather limited, and trade on the whole was slow. Choice steers sold at 6¼c; good at 6c to 6⅛c; fairly good at 5¾c to 6c; fair at 5½c to 5¾c, and lower grades at 4¾c to 5¼c per pound. Cows and bulls were very slow of sale, and prices were fully ¼c per pound lower, at 4½c to 5¾c for the former, and at 4¼c to 5½c for the latter, per pound.

At the latter end of last week the market for hogs was strong, and prices advanced, with sales of selected lots at $7.75 per 100 pounds, and in some instances sellers asked as high as $8, but this figure was not realized. The run to-day was much larger than expected, and a weaker feeling developed in the market, and prices scored a sharp decline. At the reduction the demand was good from packers, and an active trade was done, with sales of selected lots at $7 to $7.50, and in a few instances as high as $7.75 was paid for lots which had an extra long run. The feeling is somewhat unsettled at present on account of the competition between some packers, both here and in the west.

A fair trade was done in small meats, and prices generally were steady, on account of the limited supplies offered. Old sheep sold at $4.50 to $6, spring lambs at from $8.50 to $9, and calves at from $2 to $8 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, June 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 4375; market fairly active and steady; prime steers, $6.10 to $6.60, butcher grades, $5.25 to $6.10; cows, $2.25 to $5.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 7600; market fairly active; lambs 25c lower; sheep steady; choice lambs, $7.50 to $7.75; cull to fair, $5 to $7.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $6; sheep, $2 to $4.10.

Hogs—Receipts, 15,200; market active, firm; yorkers, $6.50 to $6.60; pigs, $6.25 to $6.30; mixed, $6.50 to $6.55; heavy, $6.45 to $6.65; roughs, $5 to $5.50.

Kryptok Lenses

The Only Perfect 2-Vision Lenses

Kryptok Lenses embody two pieces of glass, of different refraction, coalesced with intense heat into one, and ground into a lens having two distinct focal points.

There is no cement—no clouding of vision—no ridges to catch dust or to become cracked and jagged in cleaning. Kryptok lenses last indefinitely, barring accidental breakage. A pasted lens may separate at any time and become useless.

Read through the lower part of Kryptoks (near vision)

Look through the upper part of Kryptoks (far vision)

Kryptok lenses are absolutely smooth on BOTH sides.

Try the Candle Test—If the reading wafer of your glasses separates from the lens when subjected to gentle heat, your glasses are not Kryptoks. The Optical its genuine Kryptoks.

once and found how inconvenient it was to be unable to use my eyes for the balance of the day.

I made a resolve then that I would make it possible to replace a broken lens, however complicated its formula, the same day the order was left with me.

I have succeeded even better than I hoped, for now we are able to replace any broken lens, even where you do not give us the prescription, in from one to three hours, with an exact duplicate (made in our own shop).

Is this worth anything to you? If so, remember this advertisement the next time you break a lens.

This is only one example of the thoroughness and modernness of our Optical Business.

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

Ruth's influence had been gradually spreading through the neighbourhood. She had found time to meet the other families in the house and through them had met a dozen more. The first floor was occupied by Michele, an Italian labourer, his wife, his wife's sister and two children. On the second floor there was Giuseppe, the young sculptor, and his father and mother. The father was an invalid and the lad supported the three. On the third floor lived a fruit peddler, his wife and his wife's mother—rather a commonplace family, while the fourth floor was occupied by Pietro, a young fellow who sold cut flowers on the street and hoped some day to have a garden of his own. He had two children and a grandmother to care for.

It certainly afforded a contrast to visit those other flats and then Ruth's. Right here is where her superior intelligence came in, of course. The foreign-born women do not so quickly adapt themselves to the standards of this country as the men do. Most of them, as I learned, come from the country districts of Italy, where they live very rudely. Once here they make their new quarters little better than their old. The younger ones, however, who are going to school are doing better. But taken by and large it was difficult to persuade them that cleanliness offered any special advantages. It was not as though they minded the dirt and were chained to it by circumstances from which they couldn't escape—as I used to think. They simply didn't object to it. So long as they were warm and had food enough they were content. They didn't suffer in any way that they themselves could see.

But when Ruth first went into their quarters she was horrified. She thought that at length she was face to face with all the misery and squalor of the slums of which she had read. I remember her chalk-white face as she met me at the door upon my return home one night. She nearly drove the colour out of my own cheeks, for I thought surely that something had happened to the boy. But it wasn't that; she had heard that the baby on the first floor was ill, and had gone down there to see if there was anything she might do for it. Until then she had seen nothing but the outside of the other doors, from the hall and they looked no different from our own. But once inside—well I guess that's where the two hundred years, if not the four hundred years back of us native Americans counts.

"Why, Billy," she cried, "it was awful. I'll never get that picture out of my mind if I live to be a hundred."

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"Why the poor little thing—"

"What poor little thing?" I interrupted.

"Micheles baby. It lay there in dirty rags with its pinched white face staring up at me as though just begging for a clean bed."

"What's the matter with it?"

"Matter with it? It's a wonder it isn't dead and buried. The district nurse came in while I was there and told me,"—she shuddered—"that they'd been feeding it on macaroni, cooked in greasy gravy. And it isn't six months old yet."

"No wonder it looked white," I said, remembering how we had discussed for a week the wisdom of giving Dick the coddled white of an egg at that age.

"Why the conditions down there are terrible," cried Ruth. "Michele must be very, very poor. The floor wasn't washed, you couldn't see out of the windows, and the clothes—"

She held up her hands, unable to find words.

That does sound bad, I said.

"It's criminal, Billy—we can't allow a family in the same house with us to suffer like that, can we?"

I shook my head.

"Then go down and see what you can do. I guess we can squeeze out fifty cents for them, can't we, Billy?"

"I guess you could squeeze fifty cents out of a stone for a sick baby" I said.

The upshot of it was that I went down and saw Michele. As Ruth had said his quarters were anything but clean but they didn't impress me as being in so bad a condition as she had described them. Perhaps my work in the ditch had made me a little more used to dirt. I found Michele a healthy, temperate, able-bodied man and I learned that he was earning as much as I. Not only that but the women took in garments to finish and picked up the matter of two or three dollars a week extra. There were five in the family, but they were far from being in want. In fact, Michele had a good bank account. They had all they wanted to eat, were warm and really prosperous. There was absolutely no need of the dirt. It was there because they didn't mind it. A five cent cake of soap would have made the rooms clean as a whistle and there were two women to do the scrubbing. I didn't leave my fifty cents but I came back upstairs with a better appreciation, if that were possible, of what such a woman as Ruth means to a man. Even the baby began to get better as soon as the district nurse drove into the parent's head a few facts about sensible infant feeding.

I don't want to make out that life is all beer and skittles for the tenement dwellers. It isn't. But I ran across any number of such cases as this where conditions were not nearly so bad as they appeared on the surface. Taking into account the number of people who were gathered together here in a small area I didn't see among the temperate and able-bodied any worse examples of hard luck than I saw among my former associates. In fact of sheer abstract hard luck I didn't see as much. In seventy-five per cent of the cases the conditions were of their own making—either the man was a drunkard or the women slovenly or the whole family was just naturally vicious. Ignorance may excuse some of this, but not all of it. Perhaps I'm not what you'd call sympathetic, but I've heard a lot of men talk about these people in a way that sounds to me like twaddle. I never ran across a family down here in such misery as that which Steve Bonnington's wife endured for years without a whimper.

Bonnington was a clerk with a big insurance company. He lived four houses below us on our street. I suppose he was earning about eighteen hundred dollars a year when he died. He left five children and he never had money enough even to insure in his own company. He didn't leave a cent. When Helen Bonnington came back from the grave it was to face the problem of supporting unaided, either by experience or relatives, five children ranging from twelve to one. She was a shy, retiring little body, who had sapped her strength in just bringing the children into the world and caring for them in the privacy of her home. She had neither the temperament nor the training to face the world. But she buckled up to it. She sold out of the house what things she could spare, secured cheap rooms on the outskirts of the neighbourhood and announced that she would do sewing. What it cost her to come back among her old friends and do that is a particularly choice type of agony that it would be impossible for a tenement widow to appreciate. And this same self-respect which both Helen's education and her environment forced her to maintain, handicapped her in other ways. You couldn't give Mrs. Bonnington scraps from our table; you couldn't give her old clothes or old shoes or money. It wasn't her fault because this was so; it wasn't your fault.

When her children were sick she couldn't send them off to the public wards of the hospitals. In the first place half the hospitals wouldn't take them as charity patients simply because she maintained a certain dignity, and, in the second place, the idea, by education, was so repugnant to her that it never entered her head to try. So she stayed at home and sewed from daylight until she could not hold open her eyes at night. That's where you get your true "Song of the Shirt". She not only sewed her fingers to the bone, but while doing it she suffered a very fine kind of torture wondering what would happen to the five if she broke down. Asylums and homes and hospitals don't imply any great disgrace to most of the tenement dwellers, but to a woman of that type they mean Hell. God knows how she did it, but she kept the five alive, and clothed and in school until the boy was about fifteen and went to work. When I hear of the lone widows of the tenements, who are apt to be very husky, and who work out with no great mental struggle and who have clothes and food given them, and who set the children to work as soon as they are able to walk, I feel like getting up in my seat and telling about Helen Bonnington—a plain middle-classer. And she was no exception either.

I seem to have rambled off a bit here, but this was only one of the many contrasts which I made in these years, which seemed to me to be all in favour of my new neighbours. The point is that at the bottom you not only see advantages you didn't see before but you're in a position to use them. You aren't shackled by conventions; you aren't cramped by caste. The world stands ready to help the under dog, but before it will lift a finger it wants to see the dog stretched out on its back with all fours legs sticking up in prayer. Of the middle-class dog who fights on and on, even after he's wobbly and can't see, it doesn't seem to take much notice.

However, Ruth started in with a few reforms of her own. She made it a point to go down and see young Michele every day and watch that he didn't get any more macaroni and gravy. The youngster himself resented this interference, but the parents took it in good part. Then, in time she ventured further and suggested that the baby would be better off if the windows were washed to let in the sunshine and the floor scrubbed a bit. Finally she became bold enough to hint that it might be well to wash some of the bed clothing.

The district nurse appreciated the change, if Michele himself didn't, and I found that it wasn't long before Miss Colver was making use of this new influence in the house. She made a call on Ruth and discussed her cases with her until in the end she made of her a sort of first assistant. This was the beginning of a new field of activity for Ruth, which finally won for her the name of Little Mother. It was wonderful how quickly these people discovered the sweet qualities in Ruth that had passed all unnoticed in the old life.

It made me very proud.

CHAPTER XI.

New Opportunities.

I had found that I was badly handicapped in all intercourse with my Italian fellow workers by the fact that I knew nothing of their language and that they knew but little English. The handicap did not lie so much in the fact that we couldn't make ourselves understood—we could after a rough fashion—as it did in the fact that this made a barrier which kept our two nationalities sharply defined. I was always an American talking to an Italian. The boss was always an American talking to a Dago. This seemed to me a great disadvantage. It ought to be just a foreman to his man or one man to another.

The chance to acquire a new language I thought had passed with my high school days, but down here everyone was learning English and so I resolved to study Italian. I made a bargain with Giuseppe, the young sculptor, who was now a frequent visitor at our flat, to teach me his language in return for instruction in mine. He agreed though he had long been getting good instruction at the night school. But the lad had found an appreciative friend in Ruth, who not only sincerely admired the work he was doing, but who admired his enthusiasm and his knowledge of art. I liked him myself for he was dreaming bigger things than I. To watch his thin cheeks grow red and his big brown eyes flash as he talked of some old painting gave me a realization that there was something else to be thought of even down here than mere money success. It was good for me.

PRIDE OF THE POOR

Starved to Death In Their Fight Against Charity

"Deaths from starvation should be impossible in England; it is terrible to think that they can still occur."

This was the opinion given recently by Sir John Kirk, chairman of the Ragged School Union, whilst discussing the Local Government Board's return of deaths from starvation in 1909, just issued, which shows that 119 died of starvation, three being old-age pensioners. Of the 119 deaths returned, seventy-nine were men, twenty-seven women and thirteen children. One of the men, aged thirty-four, had money in the bank, while a King's Lynn woman, aged seventy-seven, had money and wealthy friends and refused the old-age pension. A solicitor's clerk, a domestic servant, a window cleaner and a gasmeter maker were found starving on the Embankment. A man of sixty-six starved rather than take relief and so spoil his chances for the old-age pension.

"There is only one explanation of this terrible record," said Sir John. "The Poor Law is quite well enough administered to make such tragedies impossible, but amongst the lowest outcasts of society there exists an insuperable antipathy to the Poor Law. They would rather starve than accept relief. It is regrettable, but it is, nevertheless, to a certain point commendable. The pride of the very poor is amazing, and I rejoice in the spirit which makes them fight against charity. But to starve to death when relief is obtainable for the asking is really a form of suicide. When the mother instinct fails and a woman allows her baby to starve to death, she commits the gravest crime. The Poor Law authorities can rarely discover anything about the child until its death has occurred."

A NOVEL ARREST

How a Woman Detained a Cabman Who Struck His Horse

The strange allegation that a lady had locked him in her drawing-room was made by a cabman at a London police court. He asked for a summons against a lady for committing a technical assault upon him, and said that while out with his horse he tapped it slightly on the nose with a cardboard box to get it across the car lines. A few minutes later a lady called him across the road and asked him into her drawing-room. Directly he was inside, he said, she slammed the door and locked it. She demanded to know why he had struck the horse, and he told her to mind her own business and to let him out. She refused to do so until he had given her his name and address. Even after that he had to threaten to smash the furniture before she would let him out. He had since received a summons for cruelty to his horse.

MRS. REID

Wife of the United States Ambassador to England, who rivalled the wealth and fashion of Great Britain with the magnificence of a gown she wore at the recent Derby night party given by the Duchess of Devonshire. The gown was made of mother of pearl and crystal beads so closely worked together as to actually form the material of the dress. The skirt was severely plain, but the sleeves and bodice were hung with deep, heavy fringes of crystals more than a foot long, and over this, on the corsage, was a network of pearls, besides her other jewels. The dress was so heavy that Mrs. Reid was completely fatigued at the close of the function.

A Ruby Wedding

That rare event, a ruby wedding, was celebrated in Balfour village, Shapansey, Orkney Islands, recently by Mr. and Mrs. John Grever. They were married in 1841, and their respective ages are ninety-one and ninety-four years.

Could Not Walk Ten Yards Without Resting.

WEAK HEART WAS THE CAUSE.

Mrs. Robinson Collette, Rogersville, N.B., writes: "I am now enjoying the best of health after having used your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was troubled with a weak heart and was afraid to draw a long breath for the pain it would cause me. I could not sleep at night, and it was impossible for me to walk ten yards without resting myself. I cannot speak too highly of your Heart and Nerve Pills, for they are the greatest pill I have ever used and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Thousands of people go about their daily work on the verge of death and yet do not know it.

Little attention is paid to the slight weakness of the heart for the simple reason that one thinks it will right itself, but there is where the mistake is made. It is only when a violent shock comes that the weakness of the heart becomes apparent.

On the first sign of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a quick and permanent cure.

In Your System or a Faltering Organ It Will be Worse at This Time of Year

Vigor and Energy Run Low in Spring Unless You Use

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

It may be the stomach, the heart, the lungs, the filtering or excretory organs, but if there is a weak point it is likely to show up at this time of year.

The blood is thin and watery. It fails to supply proper nourishment. The all-essential nerve force is lacking, and you feel the effects first in your weakest organ.

Your trouble may take the form of indigestion, you may have neuralgia or twinges of sciatic rheumatism. The cause is the same—weak blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you as nothing else can, because it supplies in condensed and easily assimilated form the elements which are necessary for the strengthening and invigorating of the various organs of the body.

Every dose of this great restorative organ goes to form new, red corpuscles in the blood—to make the blood rich and red. The faltering organs resume their functions, appetite improves, digestion becomes good, and gradually new energy and vigour find their way to every nook and corner of the body. To keep strong and well this spring use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50 at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

A REAL COLONEL

A. E. Belcher Has His Title by Special Act of Parliament.

A. E. Belcher, three times Mayor of Southampton, Ont., and recently appointed to a position in the Department of the Registrar-General, at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, is a real lieutenant-colonel in His Majesty's Canadian militia, although the Militia "Who's Who" doesn't mention him at all. The honor was conferred upon him "jure dignitatis," as it were. It was one of the last special Acts of the Sir Charles Tupper Government. Col. Belcher never commanded a regiment, or a battery, or even a troop of horse. But he did—in the stirring days of 1866—raise a company of sturdy North Bruce yeomen to come down and fight the invading Fenians. It is not recorded that the North Bruce contingent ever got to the front, but that was not the fault of their Captain Belcher. He was never known either before or since to avoid the aggressive attitude, when he thought it becoming the situation.

Southampton owes a lot to Col. Belcher. He has spent many years of a very active life developing its resources and fighting for its railways and other means of communication with the more populated Ontario to the southeast. The progressive little lake port will miss his contagious energy and kindly spirit.

Col. Belcher is an individualist in style of apparel, as well as in other respects. Once seen, never forgotten, is the colonel. He invariably wears a high brown top hat, of the color and shape considered very stylish thirty or forty years ago. His collar is his own creation — a broad, wide, thirty front, comfortable looking affair, which he designed and sold very extensively when he was a wholesaler and commercial traveler some years ago. He usually wears a light and a forceful tie, and he always walks with the vigor and sprightliness of a stripling.

On the whole, first impressions give the idea of a colonel of the Kentucky, rather than the North Bruce, variety.

Some time ago, the colonel's wife died. His only son is in the West. It is understood that Southampton's ex-mayor has already rented his beautiful place on the shore of Lake Huron and has decided to come to Toronto to live.

A Leader With Nerve.

That Dr. Edward Broome, organist and leader of the Jarvis street Baptist Church, Toronto, is a man of nerve as well as a splendid musician was demonstrated the other evening, when he and his choir did something which neither he nor anyone else had anticipated, and which fittingly capped the magnificent baccalaureate sermon preached to the McMaster University graduating classes by Dr. R. S. McArthur, D.D., of New York. In his sermon the preacher used as an illustration the story of how Handel composed "The Messiah," laying special emphasis on the beauty and grandeur of the "Hallelujah Chorus," revealing new depths to the meaning of the concluding anthem of the oratorio. When the benediction had been pronounced and as the people rose to go, suddenly, without warning, the organ commenced to peal forth the opening notes of the great chorus, and the choir, without any music in their hands, sang the magnificent "Hallelujah" with great fervor and enthusiasm, holding the big audience spellbound. It required courage to tackle a difficult composition like the Hallelujah chorus without music, and Dr. Broome and his choir received the congratulations of Dr. McArthur and hosts of others on the unexpected but exceedingly appropriate conclusion to the evening's exercises. The choir had not sung the chorus for several weeks at least.

The Consequence.

Gladys is a small Canadian who objects, like many other young persons to eating crusts and prefers "the soft part of the loaf." Her grandmother recently undertook to reason with her on the subject, and insisted that little girls who eat crusts grow into strong and beautiful women. Gladys listened with a doubting expression on her face and finally asked:

"Did you eat crusts when you were a little girl, Grandma?"

"Yes, Gladys."

"Then I'm not going to — because I heard you say the other day that you had lost all your teeth before you were forty. That's what comes of eating crusts."

What is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

It is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, and as none but sound, clean grain can be malted, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has for its base the most carefully selected grains of the field. It is predigested liquid food in the form of a medicinal whiskey; its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

It is a gentle, invigorating stimulant and tonic that influences for good every important organ of the body. It is a remedy that should be in the family medicine chest.

What Does It Do?

It builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood. It brings into action all the vital forces; it makes digestion perfect and enables you to get from the food you eat all the nourishment it contains.

It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of good health and longevity, makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of nervousness, typhoid, malaria, all stomach troubles, diseases of the throat and lungs, and is recognized as a medicine by doctors of all schools.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Medical booklet and doctor's advice sent free.

CORDED A CROCODILE.

Turning a Greedy Water Devil Into a Trussed Up Mummy.

It is known that a crocodile will sometimes leave a river stocked with food, explore for miles an unsuitable tributary, then wander inland until it finds a pool.

In this way three crocodiles once found their way to Taiping lake, in the Malay peninsula. So long as they confined their attention to the fish and an occasional duck no one objected to their presence, but when one of them began to take sheep off the bank as they came down to drink it was felt that the saurians ought to be exterminated, and an Englishman and his servant made the attempt.

Obtaining a dugout, they paddled into deep water. The servant was already barefoot, and the Englishman himself took off shoes and stockings, so that his bare feet might have as good a hold as possible on the smooth bottom of the canoe. A bait was attached to a heavy rattan, and soon a tug and a plunge indicated that the crocodile was fast to one end. Immediately the canoe began to move through the water. After a protracted struggle the Englishman managed to get the crocodile within a few yards of the canoe. At one moment the open jaws would surge out of the broken water and snap together in unpleasant proximity to the men's legs; the next moment the heavy tail would swing free of the water and with the weight of a falling pole would hit the side of the canoe a blow that made it shiver.

As the crocodile surged close to the canoe and the open mouth appeared above the water the servant slipped a noose of stout cord over the upper jaw and pulled it tight some six inches behind the point of its nostrils. Then, with a quick turn of his wrist, he slipped the slack of the cord round under the lower jaw. He drew the cord tight, and the teeth of each jaw pressed home into the sockets of the other. The servant now grasped the point of the long, narrow head with one hand and with the other rapidly wound the cord round the clinched mouth.

Another noose was slipped over a fore leg. It pulled the leg up to the animal's side. The servant slipped the line over the creature's back and caught up the other fore leg. Then he noosed and tied together the hind legs.

The effect he had achieved was wonderful. In a few minutes he had transformed a ravening water devil into a trussed up mummy, and his only weapon had been three pieces of box cord.

The beast was afterward dispatched, and the servant received the government reward.—Harper's Weekly.

EYE OF THE CAMERA.

Even before it had been adapted exclusively, by means of special lens construction and combination, to the reception of the invisible ultra violet rays, the camera eye, owing to its peculiar sensitiveness to this light, has played a strikingly dramatic role on various occasions. One of these occurred a few years ago in Lausanne, Switzerland.

It appears that a handkerchief formed an exhibit at a murder trial and was regarded as a crucial bit of evidence. The closest inspection failed to reveal a stain on the immaculately white cloth even with the aid of a powerful microscope. But it occurred to a professor of Lausanne university to photograph the handkerchief, when the image obtained clearly disclosed the presence of great splotches, or, rather, of what had been such, showing ghostlike in the carefully washed fabric. The photograph proved the turning point of the trial, and the result was conviction.

Blood, as was scientifically explained at the time, happens to be one of the substances that absorb ultra violet rays, and when any of these substances have found their way to a receptive surface no amount of erasing or cleansing can hide its presence from the camera eye. When the latter is equipped to utilize only this invisible light the result is much more marked. Should the neatest erasure be made in writing done with substances specially absorbent of the rays the ultra violet photograph would show the traces of the erasure as plainly as the writing itself.—New York Tribune.

Old City's Progress.

The city of Quebec, once supposed to be in a state of decay, is showing evidence of a new lease of life, if the financial affairs of the municipality afford any evidence on the subject, says The St. John, N. B. Globe. Although there are important works going on they are being paid for out of general revenue, and it will not be necessary to increase taxes this year. At the present time there is on hand the sum of $300,000 which had accumulated from annual surpluses during several years past. Mayor Drouin declared the other day that the revenue was constantly increasing. Last year the revenue showed an increase of $80,000 over the preceding year, and he confidently expected a similar increase this year. This increase he attributed to the general growth and the building activity which is going on, as well as the rapid increase in rents. The sum of $400,000 will be spent this year in paving streets. The sum of $300,000, which the Federal Government returned from the Quebec Bridge Fund, together with the surplus fund which the city had still in hand, will be spent in a new water main. There are few Canadian cities which can boast of civic conditions as satisfactory as Quebec.

The Difference.

One of the professors in a college of Western Canada was talking about the difference between science and poetry.

"There must always be a gulf between the fancies of poetry and the attitude of the scientist. For instance, the language of love is the language of poetry. As Shakespeare has said: 'The lunatic the lover and the poet are of imagination all compact.' The lover would not dare to address the lady of his choice in the terms of science. It is all very well to call a young woman the star of your life. But what would happen if you addressed her as the electric bulb of your existence? You may call the moments you spend with her the golden age; but if you referred to her as the most auriferous influence of your life, she would not appreciate it. Keep to the poets when you wish to succeed in sentiment."

Proof of Prosperity.

Cities that are very eager for quick growth are not slow to note points that go to prove that the wished-for growth is being accomplished. And so Regina, Sask., is joyfully noting a new sign that it is prospering. It has discovered that its real estate is proving so great a magnet for outside capital that the messages sent over the telegraph wires have greatly increased in number. There is said to be an increase of at least seventy-five per cent. over last year, and half of the total number are said to deal with real estate.

It's Well She Asked.

The doctor was called to see the maid in a house in Guelph, Ont., a short time ago. He put a thermometer in the girl's mouth, and then he got a surprise.

The thermometer was a new one to the girl, and she took it out of her mouth and asked innocently, "Am I to chew this or swallow it whole?"

A REAL COLONEL

A. E. Belcher Has His Title by Special Act of Parliament.

A. E. Belcher, three times Mayor of Southampton, Ont., and recently appointed to a position in the Department of the Registrar-General, at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, is a real lieutenant-colonel in His Majesty's Canadian militia, although the Militia "Who's Who" doesn't mention him at all. The honor was conferred upon him "jure dignitatis," as it were. It was one of the last special Acts of the Sir Charles Tupper Government. Col. Belcher never commanded a regiment, or a battery, or even a troop of horse. But he did—in the stirring days of 1866—raise a company of stardy North Bruce yeomen to come down and fight the invading Fenians. It is not recorded that the North Bruce contingent ever got to the front, but that was not the fault of their Captain Belcher. He was never known either before or since to avoid the aggressive attitude, when he thought it becoming the situation.

Southampton owes a lot to Col. Belcher. He has spent many years of a very active life developing its resources and fighting for its railways and other means of communication with the more populated Ontario to the southeast. The progressive little lake port will miss his contagious energy and kindly spirit.

Col. Belcher is an individualist in style of apparel, as well as in other respects. Once seen, never forgotten, is the colonel. He invariably wears a high brown top hat, of the color and shape considered very stylish thirty or forty years ago. His collar is his own creation — a broad, wide, thirty front, comfortable looking affair, which he designed and sold very extensively when he was a wholesaler and commercial traveler some years ago. He usually wears a light and a forceful tie, and he always walks with the vigor and sprightliness of a stripling.

On the whole, first impressions give the idea of a colonel of the Kentucky, rather than the North Bruce, variety.

Some time ago, the colonel's wife died. His only son is in the West. It is understood that Southampton's ex-mayor has already rented his beautiful place on the shore of Lake Huron and has decided to come to Toronto to live.

A Leader With Nerve.

That Dr. Edward Broome, organist and leader of the Jarvis street Baptist Church, Toronto, is a man of nerve as well as a splendid musician was demonstrated the other evening, when [illegible] neither he nor anyone else had anticipated, and which fittingly capped the magnificent baccalaureate sermon preached to the McMaster University graduating classes by Dr. R. S. McArthur, D.D., of New York. In his sermon the preacher used as an illustration the story of how Handel composed "The Messiah," laying special emphasis on the beauty and grandeur of the "Hallelujah Chorus," revealing new depths to the meaning of the concluding anthem of the oratorio. When the benediction had been pronounced and as the people rose to go, suddenly, without warning, the organ commenced to peal forth the opening notes of the great chorus, and the choir, without any music in their hands, sang the magnificent "Hallelujah" with great fervor and enthusiasm, holding the big audience spellbound. It required courage to tackle a difficult composition like the Hallelujah chorus without music, and Dr. Broome and his choir received the congratulations of Dr. McArthur and hosts of others on the unexpected but exceedingly appropriate conclusion to the evening's exercises. The choir had not sung the chorus for several weeks at least.

The Consequence.

Gladys is a small Canadian who objects, like many other young persons to eating crusts and prefers "the soft part of the loaf." Her grandmother recently undertook to reason with her on the subject, and insisted that little girls who eat crusts grow into strong and beautiful women. Gladys listened with a doubting expression on her face and finally asked:

"Did you eat crusts when you were a little girl, Grandmar"

"Yes, Gladys."

"Then I'm not going to — because I heard you say the other day that you had lost all your teeth before you were forty. That's what comes of eating crusts."

CORDED A CROCODILE.

Turning a Greedy Water Devil Into a Trussed Up Mummy.

It is known that a crocodile will sometimes leave a river stocked with food, explore for miles an unsuitable tributary, then wander inland until it finds a pool.

In this way three crocodiles once found their way to Taiping lake, in the Malay peninsula. So long as they confined their attention to the fish and an occasional duck no one objected to their presence, but when one of them began to take sheep off the bank as they came down to drink it was felt that the saurinus ought to be exterminated, and an Englishman and his servant made the attempt.

Obtaining a dugout, they paddled into deep water. The servant was already barefoot, and the Englishman himself took off shoes and stockings, so that his bare feet might have as good a hold as possible on the smooth bottom of the canoe. A bait was attached to a heavy rattan, and soon a tug and a plunge indicated that the crocodile was fast to one end. Immediately the canoe began to move through the water. After a protracted struggle the Englishman managed to get the crocodile within a few yards of the canoe. At one moment the open jaws would surge out of the broken water and snap together in unpleasant proximity to the men's legs; the next moment the heavy tail would swing free of the water and with the weight of a falling pole would hit the side of the canoe a blow that made it shiver.

As the crocodile surged close to the canoe and the open mouth appeared above the water the servant slipped a noose of stout cord over the upper jaw and pulled it tight some six inches behind the point of its nostrils. Then, with a quick turn of his wrist, he slipped the slack of the cord round under the lower jaw. He drew the cord tight, and the teeth of each jaw pressed home into the sockets of the other. The servant now grasped the point of the long, narrow head with one hand and with the other rapidly wound the cord round the clinched mouth.

Another noose was slipped over a fore leg. It pulled the leg up to the animal's side. The servant slipped the line over the creature's back and caught up the other fore leg. Then he noosed and tied together the hind legs.

The effect he had achieved was wonderful. In a few minutes he had transformed a ravening water devil into a trussed up mummy, and his only weapon had been three pieces of box cord.

The beast was afterward dispatched, and the servant received the government reward.—Harper's Weekly.

EYE OF THE CAMERA.

Even before it had been adapted exclusively, by means of special lens construction and combination, to the reception of the invisible ultra violet rays, the camera eye, owing to its peculiar sensitiveness to this light, has played a strikingly dramatic role on various occasions. One of these occurred a few years ago in Lausanne, Switzerland.

It appears that a handkerchief formed an exhibit at a murder trial and was regarded as a crucial bit of evidence. The closest inspection failed to reveal a stain on the immaculately white cloth even with the aid of a powerful microscope. But it occurred to a professor of Lausanne university to photograph the handkerchief, when the image obtained clearly disclosed the presence of great splotches, or, rather, of what had been such, showing ghostlike in the carefully washed fabric. The photograph proved the turning point of the trial, and the result was conviction.

Blood, as was scientifically explained at the time, happens to be one of the substances that absorb ultra violet rays, and when any of these substances have found their way to a receptive surface no amount of erasing or cleansing can hide its presence from the camera eye. When the latter is equipped to utilize only this invisible light the result is much more marked. Should the neatest erasure be made in writing done with substances specially absorbent of the rays the ultra violet photograph would show the traces of the erasure as plainly as the writing itself.—New York Tribune.

Old City's Progress.

The city of Quebec, once supposed to be in a state of decay, is showing evidence of a new lease of life, if the financial affairs of the municipality afford any evidence on the subject, says The St. John, N. B., Globe. Although there are important works going on they are being paid for out of general revenue, and it will not be necessary to increase taxes this year. At the present time there is on hand the sum of $300,000 which had accumulated from annual surpluses during several years past. Mayor Drouin declared the other day that the revenue was constantly increasing. Last year the revenue showed an increase of $90,000 over the preceding year, and he confidently expected a similar increase this year. This increase he attributed to the general growth and the building activity which is going on, as well as the rapid increase in rents. The sum of $400,000 will be spent this year in paving streets. The sum of $300,000, which the Federal Government returned from the Quebec Bridge Fund, together with the surplus fund which the city had still in hand, will be spent in a new water main. There are few Canadian cities which can boast of civic conditions as satisfactory as Quebec.

The Difference.

One of the professors in a college of Western Canada was talking about the difference between science and poetry.

"There must always be a gulf between the fancies of poetry and the attitude of the scientist. For instance, the language of love is the language of poetry. As Shakespeare has said: 'The lunatic the lover and the poet are of imagination all compact.' The lover would not dare to address the lady of his choice in the terms of science. It is all very well to call a young woman the star of your life. But what would happen if you addressed her as the electric bulb of your existence? You may call the moments you spend with her the golden age; but if you referred to her as the most auriferous influence of your life, she would not appreciate it. Keep to the poets when you wish to succeed in sentiment."

Proof of Prosperity.

Cities that are very eager for quick growth are not slow to note points that go to prove that the wished-for growth is being accomplished. And so Regina, Sask., is joyfully noting a new sign that it is prospering. It has discovered that its real estate is proving so great a magnet for outside capital that the messages sent over the telegraph wires have greatly increased in number. There is said to be an increase of at least seventy-five per cent. over last year, and half of the total number are said to deal with real estate.

It's Well She Asked.

The doctor was called to see the maid in a house in Guelph, Ont., a short time ago. He put a thermometer in the girl's mouth, and then he got a surprise.

The thermometer was a new one to the girl, and she took it out of her mouth and asked innocently, "Am I to chew this or swallow it whole?"

A RED HEIFER

It Was the Cause of an Absurd Mistake

By Clarissa Mackie

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"It certainly has our brand," persisted Gabriel, referring to the solitary red spot in the landscape.

"As well as three other brands," added Jim Lewis.

"Then why does the Widow Clancy lay claim to the critter?" demanded Jim Lewis scornfully.

"She says it's a 'stray,'" explained Harry Barry. "Seems her foreman told her that a critter that had as many as four different brands could rightly be claimed by anybody that found it."

"Who's the foreman?" asked Gabriel incredulously.

"Peter Henny."

"I'm wondering how he managed to fasten his thieving claws on the widder's money bags."

"She come out pore in health with a snug little sum that had been left to her by Clancy, who was in the building line somewheres east. I don't think she's a 'longer' exactly, but Mrs. Clintock said she'd wore herself out over taking care of Clancy, who fell from the ninth story of a building he was putting up and lived ten weeks afterward! You can imagine what a tough specimen Clancy must have been, and you might know 'twould wear the buxomest kind of a woman to skin and bones to take care of him." The Crane puffed solemnly at his cigarette after this long explanation.

"How'd you come to know so much about the Widow Clancy?" demanded Harry Barry suspiciously.

"I talked with Mrs. Clintock about her. Seems Mrs. Boss she'd been over to call on the widder," said the Crane innocently.

"Anybody seen the widow yet?" inquired Jim.

There was silence for several seconds, and all eyes turned toward the Crane, who was staring out across the range.

"For the Lord's sake," he broke out irrelevantly, "the confounded critter's making off for Satan's gulch! Whoopee!"

His horse swung around to a quick touch, and before the others could draw breath he was dashing after the red spot, which was gradually becoming smaller. In another instant they were all after him.

The red heifer switched her tail saucily and capered joyously ahead of the pursuing cattlemen.

"Crane," panted Jim Lewis in that gentleman's ear when he had come abreast of him, "you're running the red heifer off the widder's range!"

"I'm not. The critter's running away, and I'm trying to catch her before she breaks her neck in the gulch," Crane tossed back over his shoulder.

The red heifer gamboled in the van, occasionally pausing to bellow back an impudent defiance to her pursuers. Gabriel explained in breathless shouts the different brands borne by the heifer as if all the Lone Bull men were not acquainted with the itinerant creature's marks of identity.

The red heifer had been the pet amusement of all the cattlemen in Pulardo county for six months past. Lately her sudden appearance among a herd was the signal for a stampede for the branding iron that would mark her for the time being as the possession of the ranch whose latest brand she bore. As these brands merely singed the thick hair on her body, they were obliterated as rapidly as her coat lengthened. Where she came from nobody could positively say, but it was believed that she was a wild cow which had joined some herd on the ranges unknown to the tenders.

Ever since the Three Star ranch, which adjoined the Lone Bull on the west, had been purchased by the widow of one Daniel Clancy, late of New York city, the red heifer had apparently staked a claim on the widow's property, for it mingled with her herds and seemed content to remain among the rather scrubby lot of cattle which Peter Henny had picked out for the newcomer.

The Lone Bull people had known very little about the Widow Clancy except that occasionally they had described a lone female figure galloping along the distant ridges on a buckskin pony. Mrs. Clintock had told them that the widow was like all widows—fair, fat, forty and fascinating. "Also red hair," the boss' wife had added with a twinkle in her eye.

"Not for mine!" Harry Barry had ejaculated, and the others had echoed his sentiment. As by one accord they all avoided the Three Star property and the well defined trail which had once marked the neighborliness between the ranches was now hidden with several months' growth of rank grass.

Now the spirit of mischief had suddenly possessed the solemn Crane, and he had deliberately led the pursuit after the red heifer that had been peacefully grazing on the widow's range for several weeks.

The spirited horses took fences whenever there were any, and it was not long before the red heifer grew to larger proportions in their sight until at last Crane's lariat went singing through the air and rippled into circles that straightened into one that was taut around the red heifer's neck. Crane had accomplished his task so skillfully that there was but the merest shock when the lariat tightened.

The red heifer plunged at the other end of the rope and bellowed angrily. The men laughed and drew together around the beast.

"I reckon you're going to turn her loose in the widder's corral," suggested Jim Lewis.

The captor smiled sardonically. "The red heifer goes to the branding iron tonight," he said emphatically. "I ain't had my hands on her for three months. If the Widder Clancy has the conscience to claim this critter with five brands to its credit, why, she's the widder's meat!"

"Ain't been ironed for some spell," remarked Gabriel, critically surveying the heifer.

"She'll go forth tomorrow with an unmistakable brand," said Crane significantly.

"Then you're not going to send it back to Mrs. Clancy?" inquired Harry Barry.

"Not until the Lone Bull mark is agin her once more." And Crane flapped the lines about his horse's neck and moved forward, the other straggling behind in friendly converse over divers matters of interest.

They did not hear the soft thud of small hoofs behind them, and it was not until a clear, bell-like voice sounded close at hand that they all turned and stared at a girl riding a buckskin pony.

She was unmistakably a pretty girl. She sat her horse with careless grace. Her hair was red, and her skin was pink and white, with a powdering of tiny freckles across her lovely nose. Tipped back on her mass of radiant hair was a wide soft black hat. Her riding skirt was black, and her shirt waist was crisp and white. From the peak of her hat to the tip of her little brown riding boot she was a picture to admire.

The Lone Bull boys gasped and whipped off their hats. Harry Barry maneuvered for a position close to the newcomer and got it.

She surveyed the startled group with soft gray eyes that wandered from one to another with friendly interest until at last they alighted on the mildly protesting form of the red heifer.

"What are you doing with my heifer?" she asked gently. She looked at Crane reproachfully.

"Your heifer?" repeated Crane stupidly.

"Of course it's mine. I saw you running it off my range. I am surprised! I am surprised!"

"This here is a lost critter," protested Crane wildly. "It belongs to whoever brands it. I saw it running away, and I went after it."

"It's my heifer," said the girl calmly. "You see, I'm Mrs. Clancy, and this heifer was grazing on my range when you drove her off."

Crane blushed violently and looked at his mates. They were all sitting open mouthed, wide eyed, absorbed in the pretty picture made by the charming widow—all save Harry Barry. That handsome youth had dismounted and was stroking the nose of the buckskin pony with an air of delightful intimacy.

"I beg your pardon, ma'am," stammered Crane at last. "It was something in the nature of a joke. This here red heifer has been branded by every outfit in the county"—

"Oh, no," smiled the widow sweetly. "I am sure you're mistaken, because this red heifer only arrived two days ago. My cousin in Wyoming sent her to me as a birthday gift. If you will examine her you will see that she bears only two brands—the Double B of my cousin's ranch and my own, Three Stars."

Silently Crane slid to the ground and inspected the belligerent creature. When he looked up a sheepish grin widened his face.

"You're right, Mrs. Clancy, and I humbly beg your pardon. Might I ask what became of the red heifer that grazed with your bunch last week?"

The widow dimpled. "Oh, some of the men from the Circle C could run her off my range last Saturday night," she said demurely.

"Then our work's cut out for us," said Crane grimly. "Them Circle C chaps has got two brands on her, and we can't let 'em have another one. Shall I drive the critter to the corral, ma'am, or turn her loose here?"

"Perhaps Mr. Barry will drive her to the corral," hesitated the widow Clancy with a fleeting smile at that youth, "after he has introduced me to my neighbors."

After a general introduction, which took place amid much laughter and merriment, the Lone Bull boys declared that the old trail that led to the Three Star ranch must not be allowed to remain grass grown.

"'Pears like I'd noticed it was being trod some," drawled Gabriel, with a side glance at Harry Barry.

Harry Barry smiled defiantly, and the widow blushed as she shook hands with all of them. "I hope you'll all help to keep that trail clear," she called back as she rode away with Harry.

"You bet we will," they sent back in lusty chorus.

As the two graceful figures went away, the red heifer prancing ahead of them, Gabriel fetched a long sigh.

"Him next, I suppose," he said. "First Jim, then Tim here, and now it's Harry Barry."

"Three Star ranch," mused Jim Lewis with all the sentiment becoming a newly wedded man. "The widow Clancy is certainly one-start"

"And it looks like Harry and the heifer are the other two stars," laughed Tim.

Soothing Healing Pain-relieving MECCA OINTMENT

A Bridge of Ants.

A species of ants which spin silk is common in hot countries. The ants nest in trees, binding the leaves together to make their nests. The silk used for this purpose is not secreted by the adult ants, but by the larvae. In order to attach the silken threads and draw the leaves together the ants must carry the larvae about from leaf to leaf. When two distant leaves are to be drawn together a remarkable method is employed. Five or six ants form a chain bridging the gap between the leaves, each gripping the waist of another in its mandibles. A number of such chains will co-operate in bringing two leaves together.

A Legend of Lace.

According to Melchior de Vogue, the legend of lace is as follows: A Venetian sailor gave his ladylove a frond of spreading seaweed to keep him in memory while at sea. But the girl found that the seaweed was rapidly drying up and disappearing. So she caught the fine branches and leaves of the plant with thread against a piece of linen and, working on, with her thoughts following her lover, invented lace.

Values.

We have just got the market price of wives doped out, not to a penny, but close enough. The research work came to an end when we put the subject of marriage up to a prominent bachelor.

"I wouldn't give 50 cents for a wife," he asserted.

"But," we asked, "you'd give a counterfeit half dollar for a better half, wouldn't you?"

He acknowledged that he would. So, you see, were getting right down to cases.—New York Journal.

The Point of View.

"I suppose your clerks are all Republicans?"

"No," said the merchant. "I hire the best men, irrespective of their politics."

"What a queer way to run a business!" commented the politician.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Stronger Than Sympathy.

"I am glad to see, anyhow, that you sympathize with the under dog in this barbarous fight."

"Sympathize with 'im? Gosh, mister, all the money I've got is up on that dawg!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Superlative.

Smith (to member of vested choir)—I hear you've got a new tenor in the choir. What kind of a voice has he—good? Jones—Good? I should say not! It's so good none of the other tenors will speak to him.—Life.

Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, says, referring to the infantile death rate from intestinal diseases and diarrhœa spread by the house fly, he believes that the so-called harmless fly is yearly causing the death of thousands of infants, as well as spreading the germs of typhoid fever.

TURNBULL'S
THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

TO STOP AVIATION RACES.

Pope Pius Will Lead Crusade Against Disasters.

New York, June 20.—A cable from Rome says: The first broad movement aimed to curb aviation because of its frightful cost of human life, will be launched by Pope Pius.

Shocked and grieved at the killing of three aviators and the injuring of five others near Paris Sunday, the Pope made it known yesterday that he will soon launch an international crusade against aeroplane racing for money prizes. After mass yesterday morning Pope Pius prayed for the aviators who were killed on Sunday.

Discussed in France.

Paris, June 20.—The question was raised in the French Senate yesterday whether the Government should countenance aviation contests in view of the sad tragedies of Sunday; and especially whether the Minister of War should permit army officers to take the risks that they do while the art of aeroplaning is still far from being perfected.

Gen. Francis Gerran, the Minister of War, expressed his personal grief over the deaths of the brave aeroplanists. In principle, he said, the army took no part in the private aviation arrangements except, as at Vincennes on Sunday, to send troops to maintain order, and the utmost precaution had been taken to safeguard Capt. Princetau's machine from the curious spectators.

DODGING CELEBRATION.

Londoners Are Going Away During Coronation.

London, June 20.—Thousands of Londoners are fleeing the city to escape the hordes from the provinces and abroad whose capacity for "coronating" is so boundless that the night, so far as sleep is concerned, has become a decidedly curtailed period.

Fears of panic following an accident within the walls and barriers erected by the police have also influenced thousands of the more nervous to get away from the crush.

The railroads have been quick to take advantage of the situation, and are widely advertising excursions at attractive rates to seaside and country resorts of the days of the big events.

No less than $75,000 has been expended on the construction of gates shutting off the main approaches to the processional route. These barriers have been built so massively that they could withstand the onslaught of a regiment when once closed, and the crowds, however savage, will be unable to make the least impression upon them.

Longshoremen's Trouble Settled.

Montreal, June 20.—The trouble between the Longshoremen's Union and the shipping companies has been settled at a meeting of the board of conciliation.

On May 28 certain members of the Longshoremen's Union quit work on the Cunard steamer Ausonia because a non-union man was employed.

The Robert Reford Co. then submitted a complaint to the permanent board of conciliation. This board has sent a letter to the Syndicated Longshoremen of Montreal, stating that the decision has been reached that the men quit work without any legitimate grievance.

The board recommends that all longshoremen, whether members of the union or not, shall work in harmony, and that the shipping companies shall continue to employ their men without discrimination for or against any man on account of his deciding to be or not to be a member of any labor organization.

Three Brothers Drown.

Parry Sound, June 20.—Thomas Fawcett, residing about 17 miles north of here, at Shawanaga Station, on the line of the C.N.O.R., lost three sons, aged 16, 14 and 12 years, by drowning on Sunday.

The boys were bathing, and it is thought that in endeavoring to save their younger brother, the two others were also drowned. Particulars, however, are wanting.

Colborne Printer Acquitted.

Cobourg, June 20.—Nine weeks ago Leslie Burke, a young printer, was arrested in Colborne, charged with arson in connection with a serious fire that originated in The Express printing office, where Burke had been for some weeks employed, and demolished an entire business block. Last night he left Cobourg for his home, accompanied by his father, a few hours after a jury had returned a verdict of not guilty.

In the June sessions here before Judge Benson, the case lasted four days, many witnesses being examined. After the week-end adjournment, court resumed at one o'clock yesterday, when Judge Benson delivered his charge to the jury. They were out an hour and a quarter, when they returned with a verdict of not guilty. The fire was thought at the time to have been incendiary, and the mystery of its origin is as deep as ever.

Woman Found Dead.

Chatham, June 20.—Mrs. E. Mellish, 79 Cross street, was found dead in bed at her home at noon yesterday. Those in the house had not seen her around yesterday morning as usual. When noon came, one of the roomers went upstairs and found her dead. It is thought by those in the house that death took her as she was dressing, as she had some of her wearing apparel on.

After conducting an enquiry, Dr. R. V. Bray decided that an inquest was not necessary. The late Mrs. Mellish, in conversation with a neighbor a few days ago, stated with considerable pride, that she had never been ill for a day in her life. Death was due to heart failure.

Must Pay Mechanic.

Toronto, June 20.—The Divisional Court has dismissed the appeal of R. Sylvester from the decision of Mr. Justice Clute awarding G. L. Sharpe of Lindsay $2,000 and costs damages for the loss of an arm. Sharpe is a mechanic and was employed by Sylvester to go up to the northwest with a patent auto thresher. The traction engine was started while Sharpe had his arm through the spokes of the wheel, and it was crushed to the shoulder. The accident took place seven miles from Regina.

AMAZING CAREER OF "DAVID BURTON THOMAS" LINDSAY'S EX-BENEFACTOR

Arrested in Minnesota, He Writes a Confession of His Operations in Many Different Sections of the Continent — An Incredible List.

SORRY FOR HIS CRIMES

The Breckenridge Telegram gives the following account of one D. B Thomas, the boot and shoe factory king, formerly of Lindsay, but now in prison in Breckenridge, Minn.:

Confessing to "skin" games, forgeries and prison terms, D. B. McCain, alias E. Meyers, alias D. B. Thompson, alias D. B. Thomas, alias C. E. Hollingsworth, alias L. M. Thompson, alias Ed. Bell, alias D. B. Winters, alias D. B. Meyers, stands to get a stiff sentence when his case comes before the judge at the December term of the district court in this city, to which he has been bound over. County Attorney E. H. Elwin has verified enough to make it sure that it is practically correct.

Credit for the capture is given entirely to Burrows & Shepherd, who for three days after they became suspicious enough to spoil the deal between themselves and "Meyers" ran down clues which made certain his guilt and then handed him over to the authorities. That he was kept from all suspicion in this time, shrewd as he was, makes the work of the land firm the more remarkable. The following is the confession made and signed by the prisoner:

McCain's Confession.

I, David B. McCain, who have been arrested for uttering and passing a forged deed of the land belonging to Francis E. Lory, the south half of section 25, township 132 north, range 45, Wilkin county, Minnesota, hereby make this statement under oath of my confession of my past character and history and acts and deeds and doings here and there:

I was raised at Marion, state of Ind., age 28 years, married to Lizzie Draper, at Marion Ind., in the year 1900; have two boys and one girl; I have two half brothers, Chas. E. Hollinsworth, at Rassiaville, Ind., R. No. 1, and Samuel Hollinsworth, at Sweeter, Ind., and have one half sister named Nannie Harriad, at Burlington, State of Ind. I have two full brothers, Frank and Luther McCain, at Burlington, State of Indiana.

In the year 1902, I was sent to Jeffersonville, State of Indiana, reformatory for two years; sent there for the forgery of notes. I was paroled in the year 1904. In the year 1907 I was sent back to the same place for 27 months; I was paroled from there October 17, 1908; I reported there until March 4, 1910; a reward was offered by the reformatory; I forged notes at Greentown, state of Indiana, and a reward was offered there. I forged a note on the First National Bank of Frankfort, state of Ind., which offered a reward for me. I then took the name of Ed. Myers. I jumped my parole, and came to Little Falls, State of Minnesota; I worked in a shoe factory at Little Falls, Minnesota; I learned this trade in the reform school; from there I went to Swanville, Minn., where I started the real estate business there; forged a note of $625 there, and put that note up to a young fellow for 80 acres of wild land; got the land for $625. I paid $325; the balance is still due; this note is in the bank at Long Prairie, Minn.

I traded this 80 acres of land to Bill Cox of Swanville, Minn., for 40 acres and got $325 to boot. I took the 40 acres and traded to Marshall and Lyman of Sauk Center, Minn., for a team of horses and here I forged two notes, big ones. I don't know how much; they are on the First National Bank of Sauk Center, Minn., and I took this money and bought horses and made a big sale at Swanville, Minn. I left there Oct. 1, 1910. I had a real estate office at Swanville, and that's where I learned the real estate business.

From Swanville, Minn., I went to Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, Canada; here my name is D. B. Thompson. I pretended to be a shoe manufacturer, and forged notes at the Merchants Bank and got $125; and I forged one note for a buggy there. These people put up a reward.

From there I went to Toronto, Ont., and then to a little town, Lindsay, Ontario, Canada. Here my name is D. B. Thomas. I was in the boot and shoe manufacturing business, and pretended that I was going to start a boot and shoe factory there; and the people there got together and bought a plot of ground for me, and there I put up one note of $10,000 at the Home Bank of Canada at Lindsay, and I checked against it till I got my money. The Board of Trade there offered a reward for me. Then I went to Halstad, Minn. Here my name is Chas. E. Hollingsworth. I stayed there three or four weeks; then I went to Worthington, Minn., here my name is L. M. Thompson. I forged a note of $1000 and turned it over to IacKies for 80 acres of land. This note is in the First National Bank at Worthington, Minn. I traded the land to an

BROCKVILLE PEOPLE ARE INDIGNANT OVER BY-LAW

Examiner Special.

BROCKVILLE, ONT., JUNE 20.—Stubborn opposition has greeted the passing of a by-law making the collection of garbage compulsory. A large indignation meeting was held last night. The town is threatened with an injunction if the by-law is made operative. The Mayor was hissed at a meeting, but remained firm.

SOME GOOD CATCHES ARE MADE AT STONEY LAKE

Knights of the Rod Have Had Splendid Success Since the Season Opened---Several New Cottages Are Being Erected in the Burleigh Channel.

STONEY LAKE, JUNE 19—The fishing season has opened in spendid style. Several "knights of the rod" have reported good luck. After all, what is more fascinating than playing "tag" with a twenty pound 'lunge?

The channel around "Headlands" towards Burleigh has become quite popular of late. Three new cottages adorn its rugged shore. Mrs. Weller of Jersey City, has had a cosy little cottage of the bungalow type, built on the little island opposite the summer home of the Hon. Lawrence Graham. A short distance on, another structure of a similar design has been constructed for Mrs. Morson, of Toronto. Then, at the landing for Fairy Lake, Mr. Eddis of Toronto, has had a handsome cottage erected. No channel on the lake can boast of so much variety of colour. The blue of Mr. Willoughby's and the green of Mr. Eddis' showing a sharp contrast to the red of Mrs. Morson's and the white of Mrs. Weller's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meakins, of the famous "Merry Widow" Opera Company, New York, are having a merry time. Mr. and Mrs. Meakins started their 'outing' at Jack's Lake, but simply could not resist the attractions of good old 'Stoney.'

A large party took possession of Fairy Lake Villa, the summer residence of Mr. Willoughby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McBain have taken up their residence at the lake for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nugent spent a few days at their cottage last week as also did Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lindsay at "Brittania."

Mrs. Russell and family of Toronto, are domiciled at "Kimo."

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Knapman, accompanied by Ruth and Jack, arrived at their cottage, "Forest Home," last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornwall, who have been spending a few days at Burleigh Falls and Kawartha Park have taken up permanent quarters at Mr. Stock's cottage near Clear Lake.

A party of Bell Telephone men, consisting of Messrs. Smith, Simpson, Trainor, Hill and Spriggs, spent the week end, the guests of Mr. J. S. Knapman.

WARDEN COBEN'S ADDRESS TO THE COUNTY COUNCIL

The June session of the County Council of the County of Peterborough began this afternoon. Warden Coben's address was read, as follows:

To the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen.—It affords me pleasure to again meet you at this the June session, the most important session of the year, from the fact that the equalization of the assessment rolls and other matters, such as levying upon the municipalities their respective amounts to pay over to the county, also the consideration of the Auditors' report for the year previous. As did my predecessors, I will ask you to recognize the hand of Providence in giving promise of another bountiful harvest.

The matters respecting bridges will be presented to you by the Chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee, and the different reeves, under whose supervision they may be. You will plainly see that the county expenditure is on the increase, due to several reasons. As before stated, the old bridges throughout the country, due to age, and modern heavy machinery passing over them, has necessitated the rebuilding of a number of them and other local bridges have been assumed by the county that in many cases have, of necessity, been rebuilt.

In the administration of justice last year our estimates did not reach the expenditure, from the fact that crime, or supposed crime, had to be investigated, and dealt with, according to the laws of our country, and, further still, recent legislature given rise to added cost, inasmuch as when jurors received $2.00 per day, and 10 cents per mile, they now get $2.50 per day and 13 cents per mile. Also by looking up the acts you will notice when Coroners' medical witnesses, etc., receive higher fees for their services in connection with inquests, and the County then must be prepared to meet these expenditures. It has been my privilege to drive through considerable parts of the county during the season, and I must say that the local councils are apently, up to date, and building many roads in an approvest manner.

In connection with the Chairman of the Finance Committee, he has pointed out to me that he hopes to meet the expenditures of 1911 by asking a trifle of $2,000 more than was asked for in 1910, notwithstanding the fact that due, as I stated before, to the excess in criminal justice accounts of 1910, we wound up with a deficit very much greater.

The House of Refuge is still making good and fulfilling the purpose for which it was built, and any matters respecting that Institution will be explained to you by the Chairman at your pleasure. The deebntures now falling due will be dealt with by the chairman of the Finance Committee, supported by resolution of the Council when legally required.

The new issue of $11,000.00 will we trust, be disposed of to the satisfaction of all.

Not wishing ot infringe upon the reports of the Chairman of any committee, and before we proceed with general business of the session, permit m to again thank you for the honour you have conferred upon me, by placing your confidence in me, and to thank you for the individual support I have received from you, without which the progress that has been made would seem to have been an impossibility.

Wishing you and your county prosperity, I remain,

Yours respectfully,

C. COBEN.

A committee was then formed to report on the Warden's report.

The Council then went into regular session, and the minutes of th last meting were read and confirmed. The communications were then read, and referred to the different committees.

BOBCAYGEON PICNIC TO BE HELD JUNE 22

An event of first importance will be the picnic that is to be held in Bobcaygeon on Coronation Day, June 22nd, under the combined auspices of the parishes of Bobcaygeon, Galway, Fenelon Falls and Kinmount. 3rd PRINCE OF WALES DRAGOONS IN CAMP HAVING GOOD TIME

Their Camp is Admirably Situated, Overlooking the Ottawa River---Dragoons Have a Band of Ten Pieces Which Give a Concert Every Night---Some Notes of the Camp

Special to The Examiner:

PETAWAWA, JUNE 18.—The annual camp of instruction of the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, which opened on Tuesday morning last promises to be one of the best in the history of the regiment. Lieut.-Col. G. H. Syer is in command, with Major C. H. Rogers of Grafton, as second in command, and Major A. E. McLaughlin of Bowmanville, as Adjutant. The Regiment shows a strength of nearly two hundred, being only slightly below the full establishment.

The camp ground of the 3rd Dragoons is, perhaps, the most delightful spot at Petawawa. It is only a few yards away from the steep bank of the Ottawa river. The view is truly picturesque—the mighty Ottawa River moving on its journey to the sea, the Laurentian hills of Quebec standing out so majestically; yet fully thirty miles distant, which, together with the pure air and reasonable temperature of the weather, all combine to make the outing of the regiment an ideal one.

The second cavalry brigade is this year made up, as usual, of the 3rd Dragoons of Peterborough, the 4th Hussars of Kingston, and the 5th Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of Ottawa. The Browns are surely running the whole show in so far as the 2nd Cavalry brigade is concerned. Lt.-Col. Bob Brown of Ottawa, formerly O. C., 5th Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, is Brigadier, and Lieut.-Col. W. W. Brown, of Colborne, formerly O. C., 3rd Dragoons, is Brigade Major. The officers, noncommissioned officers of these three regiments forming, as they do, the 2nd Cavalry brigade, are beginning to know each other very well, and a great deal of visiting back and forth is indulged in each evening.

Major C. H. Rogers of Grafton, is out to camp this year, after an absence of two years. Major Rogers is second in command. Capt. Douglass, Medical Officer, Capt. Poole, Veterinary Officer, and Lieut. Duffus, Signalling Officer, are unfortunately detained at their respective homes, through pressure of private business.

Lieut. Garnet Greer is the baby officer of the Regiment. Though a little new at the work, he is doing splendidly, and rides his mount with the ease of a regular. Lieut. Greer is a decidedly valuable man to have at camp, particularly this year. The medical officer of the regiment not being in camp, and Lieut. Greer being a medical student, he is given an opportunity to try his skill. However Capt. Bell, the Medical Officer of the 5th Dragoon Guards, is supposed to look after the health of the 3rd Dragoons in addition to that of his own regiment.

Big, handsome Dick Jones, of Bowmanville, is known officially in camp as Lieutenant Jones. Lieut. Jones is a very enthusiastic soldier, having only recently taken a course at Stanley Barracks. He is, in fact, not only enthusiastic, but ambitious as well. We were sitting in Lieut. Jones' tent the other evening and the conversation turned to the matter of promotions in the Militia generally. Lieut. Jones' thoughts wandered far away, and he had a vision that he some day would be Lieut.-Colonel Richard Washington Frederick Jones, officer commanding 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons. Lieut. Jones then began to count up as to how soon such an awful state of affairs might come about. After allowing five years as officer commanding the regiment for each officer senior to himself, Lieut. Jones concluded that 72 years hence he would get command of his—the 3rd. Lieut. Jones says he intends to hang on.

Bill Taylor is in camp. Everyone knows Bill down here now, just as they do in Peterborough. However, he is addressed here as Sergeant Taylor, and if he should be thus addressed by an officer, he springs to attention as quick as a steel trap, and salutes very nicely, indeed. Sergeant Taylor likes the game. He says that next to skipping a rink of Colts on the curling ice, nothing can beat it. Even in the month of June Sergeant Taylor cannot get his thoughts away from the roarin' game. The other night the atmosphere turned a little cool and Sergt. Taylor was heard to remark that he would like to get a game of curling on with the 4th Hussars.

The 3rd Dragoons have a band. This may seem incredible to many who realize that a cavalry band is a very rare feature in a Canadian Cavalry Regiment. However, the 3rd Dragoons this year have a band of ten pieces, and, for the first year, this is not so bad. It came about this way:

The Prince Edward County Squadron, which is recruited at Wellington, has, on its strength, ten members of the Village Band. They brought along their instruments, and each evening they entertain the regiments with good, lively music. They are good, smart musicians and their music has been thoroughly enjoyed by not only the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, but by the 4th Hussars and the 5th Dragoons, as well. There is reason to believe that a band will be regularly organized in connection with the 3rd Dragoons. The officers and men are very enthusiastic concerning the matter. In fact when the Cavalry Brigade marched to divine service this morning, headed by the Provisional Band of the 3rd Dragoons, the members of the regiment of all ranks felt justly proud.

Sunday was a delightful day in camp. The weather was ideal and a quiet day was spent by the men of all ranks. At 9 o'clock the entire division assembled for divine service, which was conducted by Rev. Dr. Herridge of Ottawa, who came down especially for that purpose. Service was over at about 10.15, and the men were again free to go wherever they liked. In the evening a sacred concert was given in front of the Y. M. C. A. tent by the band of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. This is undoubtedly one of the finest bands in Canada, and it afforded a delightful evening's entertainment. The Y. M. C. A. tent is situated on a slight elevation, and the strains of the sacred selections were carried all over the camp grounds.

The camp, thus far, has been particularly free from sickness and accidents. The sanitary arrangements, which are of a permanent nature, are really splendid; shower baths are available at the head of each squadron line. The surroundings are clean and attractive, and altogether Petawawa is an ideal spot for a military camp, and there are many of the men who express the view that the time is too short and that a sixteen-day training would be about right.—E. S. C.

A WELL KNOWN CITIZEN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Mr. Edward Bowie Was Stricken With Heart Failure While Shingling a Roof---Had Been Ailing for Some Time ---No Inquest Will Be Held.

Death came with startling suddenness to Mr. Edward Bowie at noon today. The deceased was engaged in shingling a roof of a small shed at the corner of George and Perry streets when he was attacked with a fainting spell, death ensuing a few minutes later. He was found dead lying on the roof and the body was taken down and removed to Belleghem's undertaking establishment, from which place the funeral will take place on Thursday at 2.30 to Little Lake cemetery.

Deceased, who was in his 73rd year, boarded with his son at the Montreal house, Aylmer street. He had been troubled with heart failure for some time past, but his condition was not thought to be serious.

Dr. Greer, the coroner, was summoned, and he decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

REWARD OF 50 DOLLARS

Will Be Given by the Examiner for the Detection of the Party Who Sent in For Publication an Untrue Announcement

A SERIOUS OFFENCE

It may be thought by some that they are smart and clever to send into a newspaper office the announcement of an engagement which exists only in their imagination and to publish the names of persons as a joke. In yesterday's Examiner appeared an announcement of the engagement of Miss Barratt of Sherbrooke street, which was incorrect and untrue, but was supplied to the Examiner and was published in good faith. Any newspaper can be imposed upon by contemptible persons, who desire to take this means of making public items that are annoying and untrue, as was the case in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Barratt. The Examiner, like the Review and Times, has been imposed upon by some contemptible individual, who is not worthy to be at large, and the Examiner will give a reward of $50 to any person who will supply information that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party.

Last summer 33 school teachers were enrolled with Moon College during July and August. The reason is evident, as under no other system could they take up stenography during the time at their disposal.

CANADA AND BRITISH WARS.

Some super-loyalists who talk bravely in the piping times of peace, but crawl under the barn when war is done, have been finding fault with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, because the Canadian Premier has taken the ground that Canada ought to preserve a free hand as to taking part in the foreign wars of the Mother Country.

Sir Wilfrid's policy will commend itself to all but a few windy Imperialists, many of whom are extreme loyalists until they find a British preference, or some other scheme for welding the Empire together, likely to pinch their pockets, when their patriotism becomes a limp and useless thing.

The truth is that the Mother Country is usually engaged in one or more petty wars, and the colonies are in no mood to become involved in these regardless of the righteousness of her cause or of the need of help. That there will be prompt response when occasion arises, the sending of contingents to South Africa amply demonstrates. But, assuredly, it is for the colonials to determine the need and extent of assistance to be given. This was certainly the view taken by Sir John Macdonald, who was, like Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a staunch imperialist, but yet recognized the necessity of preserving independence of action on the part of the colonies. In an article contributed to The Nineteenth Century in 1895 by Mr. W. E. Foster, the founder of the Imperial Federation League, we find this statement:

> Sir John Macdonald, the Premier of the Dominion, made a very short speech at the last Federation Conference, but there was a passage well worth remembering. He said he believed "that the whole policy of Great Britain was opposed to aggressive war, and in any other war the people of Canada would be ready to take their share of the responsibility and the cost."

But who is to decide whether or not the war is aggressive? Manifestly, the Canadian Government and the Canadian people. This is Sir Wilfrid's position exactly, and on this matter the stand of the two great Imperialists is practically identical.

ABOOMERANG.

(Montreal Herald.)

When Parliament adjourned those Conservatives who are against reciprocity and who would like to think they could win a general election on it were hoping that they might get great encouragement from the local elections in Nova Scotia. Mr. Borden, for instance, timed his start for the West for the day after the elections. No doubt it would have been a fine feather in his cap if they had gone right. His friends in Nova Scotia made all they could of reciprocity. The Halifax Herald and other papers went so far as to make a record of the Murray administration look like a secondary concern. But the Murray Government was sustained by nearly three to one, and now the anti-reciprocity papers west of here, which would have made the welkin ring against reciprocity if the Opposition had won, are solicitously reminding their readers that the Murray Government did not put reciprocity in the forefront. Of course they did not. They were bound to put their own record in that position. But whenever and wherever they met their opponents they found it in the forefront. And still they won.

MR. BORDEN IN THE WEST.

(London Advertiser.)

To-night Mr. Borden begins his western campaign at Winnipeg. Already considerable enthusiasm has been manifested by the grain capital in welcoming a great Canadian personage and a man of Mr. Borden's inherent worth. Both as a citizen and as salaried leader of the Federal Opposition, he commands the respectful attention of west and east, and a large audience to-night will show how eagerly his arrival has been expected.

It will be necessary for Mr. Borden to assume for himself and, if possible, for his party, a truly national attitude. Any mere sectional appeals or pleas would be beneath the dignity of his position, and beneath the expectations formed of him by his faithful followers. He must show forth in the fierce light of the broad prairie day a consistent platform on which Conservatives and as many Liberals as he can persuade may stand together from Vancouver to Halifax, and which will be something tangible for consideration.

He will have to harmonize high or "adequate" protection with a policy that will attract the west. While remaining true to those eastern interests which are so true to him, he has to recognize the low tariff sentiment in another quarter. Withholding from Canadian farmers the United States market, he must provide them with a substitute "just as good." He may pretend, perhaps, to increase the British preference, in some way highly satisfactory to the campaign subscribers of the east; the magic art of Mr. Foster, who handled the figures of 1906 and 1910 so mysteriously, may well have been useful in transmuting anything at all into an increased British preference, or vice versa.

Perhaps Mr. Borden will throw a sop to Cerberus by advocating a reduction of duties in the implement industry. Some of our infant concerns may be able to stand that without losing too much flesh.

One of the most interesting pieces in Mr. Borden's repertoire will be his discussion of obstruction and election before redistribution. Some partisan journals make little concealment of their eagerness for an election before the Liberal west can be fully represented. In answer to deep-chested questions on this point, Mr. Borden will have to speak as a statesman on the why and wherefore of obstruction, the extent to which it will be carried, the national necessity of a just representation from all sections of the Dominion and his readiness to cooperate with the Government in insuring fair treatment for all.

Would you prefer for the next fortnight to be Mr. Borden or a grain-grower?

LINES ON THE GAME SATURDAY

All Saints' may shout and swagger, and boast what they can do;
And write up funny poetry and send it in to you;
But when they meet the full team,
St. ohn's put in the field,
With all their boasts and hot air—
you see they have to yield.

The cup has long been dangling, before their dazzled eyes;
But things have happened lately, to cause them some surprise.
Coldsprings have beat them sorely, and scattered far their wits,
They met St. John's on Saturday—they're suffering now from fits.

Their visions of the cup grow faint; are growing fainter still;
Their pulse is beating slowly, they're feeling blue and ill.
And Doctor James is coming, to perform an operation;
Coldsprings are waiting patiently to read—their funeral oration.

St. John's have been told plainly—they must not win the cup.
The donor says that if they do, he will not give it up;
But All Saints' need not worry, nor think of paltry self;
The cup will never go to them, nor grace their family shelf.
—John Bull.

SIR WILFRID'S TRIUMPH

(Toronto Globe.)

Sir Wilfrid Laurier scored a notable victory at the Imperial Conference on Friday when he secured the unanimous consent of the representatives of the motherland and the self-governing dominions to a resolution asking the Imperial Government to open negotiations for the removal of the most-favoured-nation clauses from Imperial commercial treaties, so far as such clauses are binding on the overseas dominions. The abrogation of a dozen treaties at present in existence between Great Britain and such nations as Russia, Denmark, and Argentina, and the negotiations of treaties to replace them, under which the colonies would have perfect commercial freedom, is all that is necessary to end the most-favoured-nation tangle. Sir Edward Grey, the capable and patriotic Foreign Secretary, sees no difficulty in acceding to the request of the overseas dominions. Assuredly he has no fear that the acceptance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's suggestion is a step toward the disintegration of the Empire or he would not have endorsed it so cordially.

The proposals of Sir Wilfrid have been received by the Unionist Press of Great Britain with veiled hostility. On this side of the Atlantic they have been misrepresented with all the rancour and unfairness of the Premiers' political foes, who daily hold him up as an enemy to the Empire. In the face of the savage criticism to which he is subjected, Sir Wilfrid goes on his way, calm and unmoved, confident that time will justify his action, and content to leave his loyalty and good faith to the judgment of history.

The decision of Friday was the inevitable outcome of the historic Budget of 1897, in which Mr. Fielding proposed to give preferential treatment to British imports entering Canada. At that time many Imperial treaties were in force that required Great Britain to give as good terms in matters of trade to the peoples with whom they had been negotiated as with those of any other nation. The most-favoured-nation clauses in the treaties with Germany and Belgium went farther, and were held to prevent a British colony in any part of the world from giving the mother-land better terms in trade than the most-favoured nations. When Mr. Fielding brought in his new tariff Sir Charles Tupper criticized him severely for doing an illegal thing, and defying the treaty obligations of the Empire. Mr. Fielding replied that the Government had inaugurated the British preference policy in the firm belief that the Imperial Government would take advantage of it by the abrogation of the trade agreements with foreign nations that stood in the way of confining the preference to imports from Great Britain and such of the colonies as were by reason of the moderation of their tariffs entitled to the preference.

Mr. Fielding proved to be right. The German and Belgian treaties were abrogated, and, although incidentally a ten year's trade war between Canada and Germany followed, the principle was finally established that any of the overseas dominions could impose lower taxes upon British goods than upon those of foreign nations without coming in contact with hampering or prohibitory treaties. In a word, the Empire was recognized as one family in the matter of trade, and the right was recognized of any member of the family to give favours to any others.

There remained, however, another entanglement following upon the adoption of the most-favoured-nation principle in Imperial treaties. No part of the Empire, it was held, could give special trade terms to any country outside of the Empire without extending the same concessions to the most-favoured nations. Under this provision the proposed removal of practically all duties on natural products passing between the United States and Canada, involves automatically the removal of all such duties on imports of a like nature from a dozen "most-favoured nations." In the present instance the most-favoured nations are not factors of consequence in Canadian trade, but it is quite within the bounds of practicability that at some time the lettering of colonial fiscal freedom by these old Imperial treaties might prove gravely embarrassing and lead to serious friction between the overseas dominions and the motherland.

Sir Edward Grey's admission that the treaties are not in line with the principle of perfect autonomy for the overseas dominions in matters of trade and his promise to end them as speedily as possible is a notable triumph to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He has followed it up by once more declaring that so long as his Government remains in office the very foundation-stone of the national fiscal policy shall be the retention of the British preference. He has laid down the three following principles for the interimperial trade to development that cannot fail to commend themselves to the good judgment of the people of Great Britain: "That it should be a first effort of the self-governing dominions to develop their trade as far as possible with the mother country; secondly, they should not confine the effort to the British market, but be allowed as their second object to increase their trade with other nations; thirdly, any benefits given by the dominions to other nations should be given also not only to the mother country but to the other dominions of the Empire."

It would be difficult for even the most jaundiced mind to find in these principles the least warrant for the disgraceful attempt of some of the Tory papers of the Dominion and of the motherland to portray Sir Wilfrid Laurier as an enemy to the Imperial tie. No wonder that men who do not usually take a share in party politics feel impelled to protest against these baseless insinuations that the Government and a majority of the people of Canada are disloyal.

To-Day's Developments In The Stock Markets Examiner's Daily Letter

NEW YORK, JUNE 20. — Tactics similar to yesterday seem probable today. Bullish specialty work on a quiet scale will probably be witnessed today. On reactions we think supporting orders will be found and we would buy good stocks. Atch., Gen. Elec. and Erie may do better. Bull talk is heard on Iev., Ann. Tel., C.P.R., Gas, Wax and Utah Copper.

NEW YORK, JUNE 20.—Texas and Pacific second week June, dec. $35,000. L. & N. second week June, dec. $25,000.

Nip. declared regular, 5 and 2 1-2 extra, also La Rose declared regular, 2 per cent.

Consols are unchanged at 79 3-4 for money and 79 13-16 for the account.

Pressed Steel Car Co. has just received an order from the Nor. Pac. for 1,000 all steel freight cars.

Liverpool, 1.30 p.m.— Wheat 3-4 higher, corn 1-2 higher.

NEW YORK, JUNE 20.—London is busy with the Coronation festivities, and for that reason little interest is manifested in Americans, the changes being only fractional, with more advances than declines. So far as news goes, there is nothing in the developments over night to change the situation and the same professional backing and filling will probably be witnessed. Sentiment is bullish as a rule, however, so that the trend should be upward even though the movement may be slow for the future. The subway committee report from all indications will be unanimously accepted by the board of estimate and the Interboro and the B.R.T., apparently, are planning to make the most of it. Ruins in the cotton belt have materially improved the outlook for the crop, which promises to be large, and the drop in the option market is only in keeping, this tending to help the textile business. Comments upon the results of the Panama bond offering by the government are favourable, for though the average price did not come up to the expectations of some enthusiasts, it was good considering the circumstances. Damage stories from the spring wheat section should not be given too much credence, for the general conditions in the northwest have been decidedly satisfactory. Unless all signs afil, the harvests will be large, so that trade is bound to pick up in the fall at the latest. Wall street is discounting this contingency and for this reason we would advise buying the better class issues on all reactions.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

I'VE asked five people and they all said they thought this as the best thing to do."

So Molly,, the little stenographer lady, told me the other day.

We were talking over a decision she had to make. The course which her five friends had advised her to follow was the course which, I happen to know, in her inmost heart she really wants to follow.

Do you know I think the psychology of advice is a most interesting subject.

Do you ever think about it?

Nine people out of ten—casual people, I mean; not your real close friends who have your welfare enough at heart to really put some thought in the matter — if you ask their advice will advise you to do the thing they think you want to do.

Sometimes they do this consciously and intentionally. I know a girl who frankly says: "If anyone asks my advice I always feel around to find what they want me to say and then say it. It's a tip top way to make people like you and think your judgement is good."

(Incidentally, she was one of the five people Molly had been consulting.)

But often times your counselors are quite unconscious that they are doing this. It is simply that by your desire to have them think a certain thing you unintentionally hypnotize them into your way of thinking.

The desire maybe subconscious with you. You may not even think you know what you want to do. And the influence you exercise may not be recognized by them, but that is what happens just the same, and one should take it into account in reckoning the value of advice.

This giving advice is a queer business anyway. People go about it with such extraordinary irresponsibility.

You know the old riddle "What is it that everybody likes to give and nobody cares to take" and its answer "Advice."

Isn't it strange that we can feel that way about it?

Suppose you give a piece of advice about a comparatively small matter—whether your friend shall go to this place or that for her summer vacation, for instance.

Suppose she takes your advice and goes to Camp R. instead of Hotel M. Very well. At Camp R. she meets a man who falls desperately in love with her. Her parents dislike him and violently oppose the match. They send for a favourite sister to come and argue with her. The sister on her way to do this, is killed in a railroad accident. In the meantime, the girl has eloped and with the two calamities the mother's heart is quite broken. Now at Hotel M she might have met just the right man.

Think how your advice changed the current not only of her life, but of other lives and how it will change the currents of lives to the third and fourth generation—nay to the very end of the world.

It's like throwing a pebble into a pond. The pebble not only disturbs the water in its immediate vicinity, but starts ripples that reach distant shores.

Truly, I wonder how, instead of being so glib with our pebbles of advice we dare throw the very tiniest one into the pool of one friend's life.

Ruth Cameron

POST CARD COLUMN

The following letter is printed to give opportunity of explaining and removing a very great misunderstanding:

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,— Judging from Canon Davidson's letter in yesterday's issue, it would seem that the Chimes will not be ready for use Coronation Day.

If this is the case, a definite statement should be made through the press, as hundreds of people will arrange to spend the day up the lakes or down the river, who will not care to stay at home to hear a single bell ring.

While failure to have the chimes ready is a disappointment, it will only be aggravating it to have people assemble expecting to hear them, and a timely announcement will allow them to arrange for the day in some other way.

Yours truly,

CITIZEN.

Now "Citizen" is entirely astray in his assumption that the chimes will not be used on Thursday next. The only thing in Rev. Canon Davidson's explanation of the reason of St. John's to the people in respect of the chimes that some expect the fear "Citizen" expresses, is a single line. Speaking of the strength of the tower, the matter of its structural safety in sustaining the burden of the bells, he says that it has been pronounced absolutely safe and entirely equal to the burden of the bells, only one of which will be RUNG."

Namely the big bell will be the one that will be "rung"—that is, swung in such a way, from time to time, as to cause vibration that will test the strength of the tower. The other bells will be chimed and remain stationary, receiving the blow of the "hammers" connected through a console, operated by the performer. "Of which only one will be RUNG" applies only to the master bell. The others will be heard on Thursday, according to announcement. A programme of music, to be played, appears elsewhere in this issue. The chimes at first may not be played with the best effect; they are entirely new and there will be no adequate opportunity for rehearsal such as is necessary in any music to secure the best results.

Let there be no misunderstanding. The chimes will (D.V.) be heard on Thursday, June 22nd, according to the arranged programme.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of colour and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money wil be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Regular Meeting Of The City Police Commissioners

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners held last night, the following members were present: Judge Huycke, Magistrate Dumble, and Mayor Morrow.

Accounts were read, and moved to be paid. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and after some other unimportant business, a letter was read from Chief Thompson of the Police Department, asking for permission to attend the meeting of the Chief Constables' Association at Ottawa, and for an appropriation to pay his expenses. It was arranged that the Chief be granted the leave of absence to attend the meeting, and that his expenses be paid on the certificate of the Chairman of the Board.

A letter was read from the City Clerk, endorsing a communication from the Board of Health that scavengers be licensed, and that the license fee be not more than 50 cents per year.

It was moved and seconded that the City Solicitor be asked to prepare a by-law to carry out the recommendation of the Board of Health, and to give an opinion as to whether such a by-law would conflict with the by-law to license express waggons.

It was moved and seconded that the City Treasurer be authorized to pay accounts of the Telegraph and Telephone Companies, on the certificate of the Chairman of the Board.

TENNYSON EVENING

Was Enjoyed by the Members of Charlotte St. Epworth League

WENT THROUGH RAPIDS

Intelligencer—Herbert Whitefoot, son of Mr. E. Whitefoot, of Bancroft, had an experience on Tuesday afternoon that he will likely remember for some time. He was standing on the dam and was using a pike pole to shove driftwood back from the mouth of the slide, when he lost his balance and fell in. His journey through the rapids only occupied a short space of time, but it is a trip that has cost a couple of men their lives, and that he was taken from the water just above the whirlpool, leaving suffered a few bruises, seems almost miraculous.

What Is Going On In Mother Country

Special Wire to the Examiner.

London, June 10th, 1911.

Although every class in the British community is throbbing with the excitement of the Coronation, yet the more thoughtful loyalist is asking are the elaborate preparations not too artificial and too stagey? The rehearsal of the Coronation ceremony and of the procession from Buckingham Palace yesterday may be necessary for the success of Coronation Day, but the event is being regarded by common consent as a mere spectacle. The drama that is real and does matter, is being enacted in the House of Commons. The Parliament Bill is the thing, and its passing into law is not alone the event of the year, but is the most memorable in modern constitutional history. It is fitting that a great leader of public opinion, the Bishop of Chester should have made the Bill which is soon to revolutionize the British Constitution, the subject of a letter to his clergy from whom it will filter to the masses. The masses, it has been remarked, so far have been curiously apathetic in presence of the great constitutional change they are witnessing.

The Bishop of Chester, as the people know is not a party politician and nobody has ever recognized him as a Liberal or a Tory. The Bill is the outcome of the co-operative reasonableness of both political parties. Its main principles express the honest opinion of all parties who would be loyal to the will of the common people and in this country they are the State. The Bishop of Chester declares he supports the Bill which abolishes the Peers' Veto, because it will add to the wholesome strength of the Upper House as an advisory chamber of unquestioned salutory influence. The reasonable, trustworthy Peers merely stoop to conquer. In a real sense they are freeing themselves from the odium of their veto, that they may exercise their legal rights of criticising, amending and ,with certain limits, rejecting certain Bills that the nation does not want. The reformed House of Lords, says the Bishop, will win more and more respect and confidence, and of course more tenable power on a firmer footing. The great gain to the House of Commons, as a result of the Parliament Bill becoming law, must be that it will have its just claims to predominance fully recognized, and though sometimes an eager majority may resent interference with its measures, the inexperienced members of the House of Commons instead of having to deal with an exasperating superior power of questionable authority, will habitually have to reckon with a judge, whose verdict will always be weighty if not at the outset always final. Under new conditions the Bishop sees dimmished temptation to members of the House of Commons to insincerity, by voting for measures they do not personally approve, because the Peers as a body are bent on rejecting it. The old party feeling and the spirit of denunciation will have no foundation and nothing to feed on.

It may be said that the man in the street approves and endorses the Bishop's letter because he does not think the fact that the King by his Prime Minister is periodically the House of Lords with the creme a creme of the intellect of the nation as well as the picked men of the House of Commons. The elevation to the Peerage of a distinguished judge or soldier or of a Goschen or a Morley never provokes criticism. Is is the hereditary principle in the House of Lords whose continuance has outraged the freedom loving people in our modern days.

Colonial business men who are learning old-world lessons on Tariff Reform are interested in the statement made by the Vice Consul of Roubaix, one of the centres of the woollen trade in France. In spite of tariffs the industry has declined ,till in despair the manufacturers sent delegates to Bradford to make a report of the conditions in Yorkshire which competes with the weaving districts of France. The enquiry into the cause of the falling off in Roubaix results in the report that Bradford enjoys economical conditions which Roubaix under present French Customs conditions cannot obtain and therefore Bradford can produce much more cheaply than Roubaix. Tariffs are responsible for the declining trade of the French customs tariffs and Bradord with its Free Trade goes ahead and with the freedom from artificial protection Bradford manufacturers have been stimulated to adopt the most improved machinery and the best methods of production. These object lessons from all over the Continent as well as America are not being lost on English manufacturers or Canadian observers of this concrete instance.

Women's Suffrage Demonstration.

The most imposing women's march which has been seen in London since the suffragette movement began in arranged for 17th June. In popular interest it proposes to rival the Coronation processions in the same week. It is another proof of the political womens obsession with their great idea. Since militant tactics have been less in evidence the movement has advanced in popularity. It will probably gain by the presence in the procession of the representatives of Womens Associations from America, France, Germany, Italy, Austria, Finland, the wives of the Colonial Prime Ministers, the Lady Brassey, Mrs. Sarah Grand, Mrs. Bernard Shaw, Mrs. Besant, and a group of popular actresses and lady doctors. There is to be a prisoners group, a historic pageant and a pageant of the Empire, which will make the whole thing with 100 bands playing military music, a very fine spectacle, and no doubt awaken renewed enthusiasm for the cause which is to hold a meeting at Albert Hall.

A series of open air spectacles yesterday evening illustrated the development of the Empire. This now forms a splendid feature of the Festival of Empire. Prince Arthur of Connaught performed the opening ceremony in the moonlight in a natural amphitheatre in the Crystal Palace Gardens. It is called the Pageant of London, and in a few days when the wonderful attractiveness of it becomes widely known it will be the most popular item of the Festival of the Empire.

There was no sign of this, for none of it was ready at the opening of the Festival by the King a month ago. The tableaux which so realistically represented the historic scenes in the history of London from the beginning of the Roman Invasion, the Norman Conquest and the Tournament of Smithfield, etc., to the passing of the Cavalcade of the Duke of Connaught as the closing scene was cheered in the summer moonlight, when the Coronation festivities of June 1911 seemed to have revived the romantic episodes of the long forgotten past in old London.

ENJOYABLE RECITAL

Last night the pupils of Miss Julia Choate gave a very interesting violin recital in the music hall of the Conservatory of Music. The programme comprised selections from various styles of composition and served to demonstrate the technical skill and general qualifications of the students, who have been benefitted by Miss Choate's instruction:

The following programme was rendered:

Children's Orchestra—
(a) Miserere.
(b) Pilgrim.

Allegro Brilliante ..... Ten Have Lora Logan.

Melody..... Carlos Greene
"Take Back the Heart"..... Harris
Bessie Mather.

Vocal solo, selected ....
Edward Hanrahan.

"Home Sweet Home" ....
Lois Braund.

Kuyiawk ..... Wieniawski
Jennie Barlow.

Mandolin ..... Scotch Selection
Prudence Long.

Southern melody ..... De Beriot
Baden Greene

"Scene de Ballet" ..... De Beriot
Wm. Wilson.

Children's Orchestra .....
"Incline Thine Ear to Me."

Special mention might be made of the performance of Miss Logan, Miss Prudence Long, Edward Henrahan, and W. Wilson. The latter evoked a burst of applause in his rendering of the Southern melody by De Beriot He showed facile command of technical difficulties and his tone through out was excellent. The last number on the programme proved to be a fitting climax to such an excellent and varied selection. It aimed to demonstrate the marked ability shown by the pupils themselves, coupled with the painstaking efforts of their instructor, Miss Choate, who was so successful in bringing them to such a point of excellence.

3 BOXES CURED PSORIASIS

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Consecon, Ont., writes: "Three doctors described my trouble as psoriasis, and one said I could never be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and am entirely cured—not a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this Ointment enough."

City Loses Appeal In Hatton Case

Word was received this afternoon that the City of Peterborough has lost its appeal against the decision of Judge Huycke in the case of Hatton against the City of Peterborough. It will be remembered that Mr. C. W. Hatton brought action against the City to recover damages for injuries to himself and his horse through an accident on Concession street, for which he claimed the city was responsible. He was successful in securing a verdict in his favour from Judge Huycke without jury, for $485 and costs. The City appealed to the Divisional Court and that body to-day dismissed the appeal. $1,000 has been appropriated to pay the verdict and costs. Mr. Hatton was represented by Mr. D. O'Connell, K.C., while George H. Watson, K.C., looked after the interests of the city.

HOW ST. JAMES' WON FROM THE KNOX TEAM

Knox and St. James' decided their second Church League encounter on the grounds of the former club on Saturday. Owing to the interest taken in the St. John's and All Saints' match there were not quite as many spectators as usual, but those who had the hardihood to endure the intense heat, saw one of the most interesting games of the season. St James' were playing with the wind, and for a few minutes pressed hard, but their new forward line didn't seem to take kindly to their positions. Gribb had a good chance and was going well, but unfortunately didn't allow for the hill near the touch line and came a cropper. One of his centres was sailing past the goal, and D. Gash had hard luck in not scoring. Turner scored the first goal in easy fashion. Calladine, Knox's goal keeper, cleared a hot shot from Gribb, and ran out too far, so Turner neatly touched the ball between the sticks. Half-time score, St James 1, Knox 0.

Knox opened the second half in good style;—their forwards pressing St. James' defence hard, and their efforts were rewarded when Newton intrying to clear, had the misfortune to turn the ball through his own goal St. James' tried hard to get the upper hand. Gribb, Turner and Gash each tested Calladine, but he was like a rock between the sticks. From a breakaway Knox pressed hard, taking advantage of a misunderstanding between Newton and Braun, their centre scored with a fine shot, that gave Leader no chance. Knox looked like winners and their smiles were worth going miles to see, as they chaffed St. James' forwards and booted the ball in the street or among the numerous chicken pens that make the scenery near their grounds so idyllic. But, alas, "pride goeth before a fall," and when one of their backs neatly put through his own goal their consternation was awful to behold. With their Highland blood at fever heat they rushed boldly to the fray. Had Knox kept their temper they might have won, as their combination was better than St. James', but, after missing a good chance, Gash made no mistake and scored the winning goal a few minutes from time. Mr. Relton handled the game in first-class style, and he was ably assisted by Mr. Sparrow and Mr. Cook, on the line.

Light Smashed By Stone-Throwing Boys

At the entrance to the Barnardo Home the City has an electric light, which it is probable the city has to pay for and without either the city or the Barnardo Home deriving any advantage. The light is a necessity at this point, not only to those who have to pass over the hill, but also to illuminate the entrance to a large public institution. Complaints are made to the Examiner by those who have occasion to pass that way, that the light is out six out of the seven days of the week, and that no sooner is a new globe placed in position than it is broken by boys throwing stones. Could not the city, with all its policemen, discover the guilty boys and if their parents will not attend to their "cussedness," perhaps the police magistrate will. The Examiner is informed that in the last month the light has only been burning about three nights. Chief Thompson will do the Barnardo Home people and those who have to pass that way a favour by prosecuting the boys who are guilty.

Was Interred At Port Hope

On Monday morning the funeral of the late Mr. Hugh Darke took place from the family residence, to the undertaking establishment of Mr. Comstock. The funeral service was conducted at the home by Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. James' Methodist church. The funeral was under the direction of the Sons of England and a very large number of the members of Lansdowne Lodge, of which the deceased was a member, turned out. Owing to the Crown Attorney having ordered an inquest, the body did not leave until the evening train for interment in Port Hope. A number of the members of Lansdowne Lodge accompanied the remains and the body was interred to-day (Tuesday.) This death was perhaps one of the saddest that has taken place in Peterborough for some time.

BURIED AT PARKDALE

(Toronto News)

One of the most largely attended funerals Parkdale has seen for a considerable time was that of the late Mr. James Madill, who was killed in the wreck of the International Limited at Newcastle on Friday afternoon.

The funeral took place from the late Mr. Madill's home, 50 Spencer Avenue, Parkdale, to Mount Pleasant cemetery this afternoon.

The services were conducted by Rev. A. Logan Geggie, pastor of Parkdale Presbyterian church assisted by Rev. Dr. Turnbull, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a harp from the employees of the J. H. Winter Co., and gates ajar from Mr. J. H. Winters.

A NEW BANK

The Examiner is informed that it is the intention of the Union Bank of Canada to open a branch in Peterborough very shortly and that it will open as soon as the premises occupied by the China Hall can be vacated and gotten ready. It is always a good sign of increasing prosperity to have a new bank established in our midst.

AMAZING CAREER OF DAVID BURTON

implement dealer for four horses. I put two horses in the livery barn, and left two horses in a barn that I had rented, and skipped out.

I then went to Fergus Falls, in Feb., 1911. Here my name is Ed. Bell. I forged a deed for 80 acres of land belonging to Francis Rose. I sold the land to a bus driver for $925 and got 80 acres in Mexico; left this deed with an attorney, and so I never got this deed. I then went to Caswell, Wis., here my name is D. B. Winters. I started a real estate office; bought and sold horses, about Feb. 15, 1911, I forged five or six notes on the Badger State Bank at Caswell, Wis., here I was arrested for forgery, and the sheriff attached all my property and made a sale, and I had money enough to pay off all my notes there. I was bound over to the October term of court there, held October, 1911; this was on the 31st day of March, 1911. My bonds were fixed at $2,000. I was in gaol from the 31st day of March, 1911, till the 17th day of May, 1911. The sheriff there had some driving horses, and he used me for a trusty, and on the 17th day of May, 1911, I rode one of them out and kept on riding the horse for about seven miles, and then turned the horse loose and skipped to St. Paul, and from there I came to Breckenridge, Minn. I was arrested here in Breckenridge the 6th day of June, 1911.

Witness my hand this 8th day of June, 1911, and that I hereby make and sign the above statement and confession freely and voluntarily.

ALL SAINTS' SUPPORTER HAS SOMETHING TO SAY

To the reporter of the St. John's-All Saints' match:

Dear Sir,—I read in your report that St. John's showed All Saints' how to play football. My dear fellow, if you would have kept your eyes open, you would have seen some of the "dirtiest" play on the part of one of St. John's players you ever saw in your life. Again, if your ears had been open you would have heard that player say, "I did not play half so dirty that I intended to" (brave fellow.) I say "a man like that never ought to be allowed out of sight of his keeper." I was watching the match, and I saw some of All Saints' best players were watching, too. To my idea, All Saints' did not play. It was only a "scrat" team off the field, just to give St. John's a game. As regards All Saints' next two matches, "wait and see."

PRESENTATION OF LIFE MEMBERSHIP PIN MADE

Mrs. (Rev.) Coon Honoured by the Women's Missionary Society of Mark St. Methodist Church.

LIFE MEMBERS MADE

An interesting feature in connection with the regular meeting of the Mission Band of the Mark street Methodist church was the presentation of an address and a life membership pin to Mrs. (Rev.) C. H. Coon by the members of the Women's Missionary Society. The presentation was made by Mrs. Payne and the following address was read by Mrs. J. Speer.

Peterborough, June, 1911.

Dear Mrs. Coon,—We the members of the Women's Missionary Society of Mark street Methodist church, desire to express to you our sincere regret that you are to be so soon removed from our midst.

We have always found you an able and willing worker, cheerfully doing active work in the society, when with all your other church and home duties, you must have found it a strenuous task.

We thank you for the kind hospitality extended to us, not only as a society, but as individuals, and while we shall miss you as a friend and co-worker, yet we know the loss to our society will be gain to the one in your new sphere of labour, and we know that your sympathy and prayers will be with us as ours will be with you.

As a slight token of our love and esteem we would ask you to accept this life member's pin, and we trust as you wear it that you will be able to look back, with a certain amount of pleasure, at least to the years associated with us in Mark street.

Signed on behalf of the Auxiliary.

President—Mrs. W. K. Payne.
Secretary—Mrs. T. Smiley.

During the meeting five were made life members of the Mission Band, Winnie Coon, Gladys Coon, Carrie Coon, Helen Record and little Helen Throop, daughter of Mrs. A. Throop, for many years secretary.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Real, of Havelock, in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. After a dainty wedding breakfast had been partaken of, the happy couple left on the noon train for Ottawa and Montreal and upon their return will reside on Harvey street.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM CAULDWELL.

Mr. William Cauldwell, well known in Peterborough as traveller for Brown Bros., paper manufacturers of Toronto, passed away yesterday in Montreal. Mr. Cauldwell had been ill for about a year following an attack of pleurisy.

JAMES HERMAN O'BRIEN.

Funeral took place yesterday to St. Joseph's cemetery, at 9 o'clock.

MRS. JAMES JOHNSTON.

On Monday afternoon there passed away another of Peterborough's oldest residents in the person of Mary Griffith, beloved wife of Mr. James Johnston, 110 Dublin street, in her seventy-second year. The deceased had been ailing for the past two years, but unexpectedly on Friday became more seriously ill and she died yesterday, leaving a husband, four sons and a daughter, to mourn the loss of an affectionate wife and mother. The late Mrs. Johnston, with her parents, came from the north of Ireland, and settled in the Township of Seymour, afterwards removing to Peterborough. The sons are ex-Ald. W. J. Johnston, Aylmer street, Jos. Johnston, Park street, Herbert Johnston, Aylmer street, Albert E. Johnston, Barnardo avenue, and the daughter is Mrs. F. C. Allison, George street.

The deceased was a member of the George Street Methodist church. She was married about forty-eight years ago, was of a kindly disposition, and had many friends who will share the grief of the family in their bereavement.

The funeral service will take place at the family residence at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the funeral leaving the house at 2.30 and proceeding to Little Lake cemetery.

EDWARD BOWIE.

By the death of Mr. Edward Bowie, Peterborough loses one of her most highly respected citizens. Deceased was in his 73rd year and was a son of the late Mr. Alexander Bowie, of Otonabee. During the early days of his youth he was prominently engaged in agricultural pursuits in Otonabee. Latterly he moved to Peterborough and has resided here ever since. For a number of years he was travelling agent for the White and Davis Company, dealers in machine implements.

Later he located on Hunter street and carried on the business of machine agent for very many years. His many estimable characteristics won for him the esteem and respect of a wide circle of friends.

He was married about 27 years ago to Miss Carrie Elizabeth Hodge, who predeceased him 7 years ago. The late Mr. Bowie was a member of the George street Methodist church and was a staunch Conservative in politics.

He leaves one son to mourn his loss, Roland Egerton Bowie.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon from Belleghem's undertaking establishment at 2.30. Interment at Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Mr. Couch, of George street Methodist church, will officiate.

WILL BOWMANVILLE BE ABLE TO STOP PETES?

Will Bowmanville be able to do what the Port Hope and Cobourg teams have utterly failed to do and give the Peterboroughs an argument in the Midland League battle that is scheduled for 3 o'clock on Coronation Day, Thursday afternoon? Several local people who have seen the Bowmanville team in action this season, say they will. The report that Beith, the Bowmanville pitcher, has a world of speed, and that he has a team behind him which gives him good support all the way, while the team has batting strength, as well. If the visitors live up to their advance notices, the Petes will have to extend themselves, something they have not been called upon to do this season and the prospects are for a hard-fought game, which will provide plenty of amusement for the holiday crowd. The ball game is the big event in the afternoon's observance of Coronation Day, and undoubtedly a big bunch of fans will find their way over to Riverside Park for the battle. The Peterborough team will practise to-night at Riverside Park.

Working Union Only.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Preliminary to the opening of the Baptist World Alliance in this city yesterday afternoon, the triennial meeting of the General Convention of the Baptists of North America was held. Dr. Augustus H. Strong, of the Rochester Theological Seminary, president of the convention, spoke against complete union of the various Protestant churches.

"Let us work together," said Dr. Strong, "but keep our fundamental principles separate."

Rev. S. J. Moore of Toronto spoke for Canadian Baptists.

A Nasty Wound.

Chatham, June 20.—Frank Fullaway met with a serious accident yesterday morning while working at the excavation work being done on the International Harvester Co.'s plant. He began working for them only yesterday, coming from Walkerville on Sunday. A spirited team hitched to an excavating scraper was given to him to handle. When the scraper was unlocked and out of the ground, the horses started up suddenly, causing the lever of the scraper to fly up, striking Mr. Fullaway on the left breast. The lever struck with such force as to inflict a wound nearly an inch deep and three inches long, necessitating ten stitches.

Was Nearly Drowned.

London, June 19.—Norman Sayers, a tailor, was resuscitated Sunday afternoon, having been in the Thames for five minutes. When pulled out of the water, Sayers, who had been canoeing with a friend and had been tipped, was black in the face.

Toronto, June 20.—George Farrell, William J. Farrell, Victor Osborne, the three young men who attacked and injured Detective Wallace in a York street pawnshop on Saturday, were remanded until the 26th in the Police Court yesterday, at the request of the crown.

Detective Wallace is feeling some better, but says that he still feels "rather funny in the head."

The stores where the three men obtained the clothing and jewelry were at Cambridge, Mass.

The three men, according to Inspector Duncan, admitted breaking into the stores, and the police of Cambridge have been communicated with.

Boy's Finger Cut Off.

Chatham, June 20.—Bruce Haskall, aged six, son of Charles Haskell, Delaware avenue, met with avery unfortunate accident in Drader's stave yards. He was experimenting with one of the jointers and put his right hand too far under the knife, thereby having his index finger cut off below the first joint.

"There's a strange man at the door, sir," announced the new servant from Boston.

Now the city folk are thinking of the country life of old,
For the days are warm and sunny, while the nights continue cold,
And again the life is waking in the groves of maple trees,
And the sap is dripping softly, but as freely as you please.

And the buckets fill with sweetness, and the sweetness then is boiled,
And it thickens and rejoices all the hardy lads who toiled.
Then they sugar off the product of the hardy maple tree,
And there's outdoor joy and feasting—but the city cannot see.

"Yes," Garland answered dryly; "wherever they happen to be when they feel hungry."—Outing.

"Let me like a soldier die!"
He warbled like a cow.
But still he sang it lustily
And raised an awful row.
His auditors sat sadly by.
One of them murmured: "Wow!

But do it now!"

FESTIVITIES COMMENCE

King and Queen Entertained Visitors at a Splendid Banquet —Shakespere Fete Was a Success

MANY VISITORS

London, June 21.—The most regal banquet palace of king or emperor ever witnessed and a gorgeous Shakespeare ball under the auspices of noted society leaders stand forth as shining features of the second day of coronation week. The banquet in Buckingham Palace last night was a scene of imperial grandeur, so far as the assembly of royal and eminent personages, the setting of costly magnificence and beautiful decorations would combine to make it.

The King and Queen entertained the visiting and English royalties, all the special foreign delegations, the foreign ambassadors and ministers, the officers of state and the household, the members of the Cabinet and former Cabinet members, the heads of the church and judiciary and of the army and navy.

The two largest apartments in the palace, the ball room and the picture gallery which adjoin, were utilized as a banquet hall. On the tables was displayed the royal gold plate, used only on historic occasions, the cost of which is estimated at $15,000,000 and its weight eight tons. This plate for the most part was collected in the reigns of the four Georges, and the principal piece is a massive peacock captured in one of the Indian wars, whose tail is studded with diamonds. Cut glass worth a fortune, ivory decanters, hundreds of years old, and old wines dating back more than a century were on the board.

The gallery holds more than 800 pictures. The decorations of both rooms are largely gilt, and this background was embellished with banks of palms and giant lilies, while orchids, roses and ferns were stacked on the tables. Yeomen of the guard ranged about the walls, and all diners wore their richest uniforms, decorations, gowns and jewels.

One of the most interesting features of the coronation is a compact by the Established and Free Churches for joint services in many cities. This is the first time that the two bodies have united on such a scale for any purpose.

Many of the most notable coronation guests have been in London for a week or more, but during the past two days special trains have brought scores of foreign representatives to the capital. These include Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany and the Crown Princess, Prince Henry of Prussia, the Archduke Karl Frank Josef of Austria-Hungary, the Prince and Princess Maximilian of Baden; Prince Ruprecht of Bavaria, Prince De Linge of Belgium, the Crown Prince of Bulgaria, Prince Tsai Chien of China, the Crown Prince of Denmark, Prince Mohamed Ali Pasha of Egypt, Dejazmatch Kassa of Ethiopia, the Grand Duke and Duchess of Hesse and the Prince and Princess Frederick Charles of Hesse, the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess and Prince George of Greece, Vice-Admiral Jonquieres and Gen. de Lasteurs of France, the hereditary Prince of Monaco, the hereditary Prince Danilo and Princess Militza of Montenegro, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, Sid Taib Mokri of Morocco, Johannes Irgens, the Norwegian foreign minister, Prince Ala-Es Saltaeh of Persia, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Roumania, Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch of Russia, Prince Philip and Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg, the Prince and Princess Johann George of Saxony, Prince Alexander of Servia, the Infante Don Fernando of Spain, the hereditary Prince Youssef Izzedin of Turkey, and the hereditary Princess of Saxe-Meiningen.

The Shakespearean ball was held in Albert Hall, which was elaborately decorated. The dancers numbered thousands, while 400 boxes were occupied by the representatives of foreign nations and the most prominent British officials. As many as 29 quadrilles were danced simultaneously, the participants representing groups of characters from Shakespeare's plays.

Other important events of the day included luncheons to the Dominion Premiers and mayors, a party by the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire and a review of the colonial troops by War Secretary Haldane.

As an outcome of an appeal by the Duke of Devonshire the "gentlemen of England" to realize at this time their responsibilities to the Empire, a meeting was held last night in Queen's Hall. Patriotic speeches were made and a message of loyalty was sent to the King. Lord Loreburn, Lord High Chancellor, presided.

Beamsville Shaken.

Beamsville, Ont., June 21.—Residents in Beamsville and district early yesterday morning were alarmed by a trembling of the earth, which caused dishes to rattle off shelves and windows to come down with a bang.

Police Magistrate Wiggins, who was up at four o'clock, when the shock occurred, says a rumbling sound like the roar of thunder was plainly audible. The trembling lasted about six seconds.

GILLETTE RAZOR

"Long Live The King"

Though uncrowned, King C. Gillette's invention, the Gillette Razor, reigns to-day over an Empire even wider than that which acclaims His Most Excellent Majesty George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of all the British Dominions beyond the seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

King Gillette's humble and most hearty thanks are extended to the five million men whose loyalty and allegiance have made such a magnificent success of the G. R., "The Razor of To-day."

The princely motto, "Ich Dien" (I serve), could have no better exponent than the Gillette Razor. It rules supreme because it serves best every man who uses it.

The Gillette is the only razor adjustable for a light or close shave, a soft or wiry beard, a firm or tender skin. The three-minute Gillette shave, clean, cool and comfortable, is known and appreciated the world over.

The subjects of King C. Gillette enjoy a freedom from the annoying delays and constant expense of the barber shop, and from the discomforts of shaving at home with the old-style razor or a make-shift safety, which more than justifies their oath of allegiance.

MEETS THE GRAIN MEN

Mr. Borden Runs Full Tilt Into Reciprocity Sentiment When He Enunciates His Platform at Carbery

SCOLLION'S OPINION

The demands of the association were first presented by J. W. Scollion. He renewed the demands for a reduction in the tariff and for an immediate increase in the British preference to fifty per cent., with free trade with Great Britain in ten years.

"We advocate," he went on amid applause from the delegates, "the widest possible measure of free trade with the United States, we record our entire disapproval of the tactics in Parliament which would force a dissolution on this issue before the west is given its fair representation by redistribution." (Applause.)

After an argument to show the value of the American market, he declared that "No nation ever refused such an offer under such conditions. We take no stock," he said, "in the arguments that reciprocity would lead to annexation and the disruption of the Empire."

J. S. Wood of Oakville dealt with the tariff. A repetition of the demand for "reciprocal free trade with the United States on all natural products and on manufactures not produced in Great Britain," again brought cheers, as did also the succeeding reference to the Canadian preference to Great Britain.

"We repudiate," he went on, "any fiscal system that would increase the price of foodstuffs in Great Britain. We repudiate also the idea that our loyalty needs any such stimulus." (Cheers.)

Peter Wright of Melville dealt with terminal elevators and the standing demands of the grain growers in regard to Government operation of the Hudson Bay Railroad, and Government abattoirs for the meat trade were presented, but there was no reference to Mr Borden's announcements. Apparently they had not been received before the representations were decided on. A special memorial was read asking that dissolution be not forced before redistribution.

Mr. Borden was warmly cheered on rising to reply. Chairman Henders expressed regret that Mr. Borden had announced his policy before hearing their representations.

Mr. Borden explained that the difficulty was that he had announced his views on these issues some months ago.

He did not hedge for a moment in regard to reciprocity and his statement met with considerable applause. "I am absolutely opposed to the agreement," he said. "If you gentlemen of the west are prepared to make me Prime Minister to-morrow if I would support it, I would not do so (cheers), and with the views I hold on this subject, I would not be fit to be Prime Minister if I said anything else to you."

"I deprecate," said Mr. Borden further, "the suggestion which was made by one man at least, that those who are opposing this agreement are not sincere. I respect your views and give you credit for sincerity. I am not in public life for the love of it and I think I claim at least that I have been sincere."

It was suggested that we could do without protection. Well, we cannot build Hudson Bay railways and Georgian canals without money. One Ontario farmer in Ottawa last winter said the farmers would be willing to bear direct taxation."

There were cries of "hear, hear," from a section of those present.

"Permit me to entertain some doubt," replies Mr. Borden, "that all farmers are ready for that."

He went on to point out that in some cases a reduction in duty had not brought more competition or lower prices. A voice—"Take all the duty off and try it."

Mr Borden: "I think it did not on barbed wire or binder twine."

A farmer rose to say that he was paying about half what he used to pay.

Mr. Borden: "I have been informed otherwise."

The farmer: "They lied."

Mr Borden: "I bow to your superior knowledge."

Mr Borden concluded by denying that the Opposition had been guilty of obstruction and appealed to Hansard in evidence. This was his reply to the references to "Tactics at Ottawa."

Mr. Borden was again cheered on concluding.

After the conference with the grain growers, Mr. Borden spoke before a public meeting in the Princess Theatre, where he dealt with the reciprocity issue at length.

LONDON IS THE CHOICE

Imperial Conference Favours It For Meeting Place—Matter is to be Considered by the Delegates

SESSION ALMOST OVER

London, June 21.—Tuesday's sitting of the Imperial Conference approved the report of the committee on military defence, which had held two sittings.

Premier Fisher moved that the Ministers of the United Kingdom and the dominions, between conferences, exchange reciprocal visits, so as to make themselves personally acquainted with all the self-governing parts of the Empire.

He suggested that the Government of the United Kingdom consider the possibility of holding the next conference in one of the overseas dominions. He said the Ministers could have no conception of the warm, kindly welcome they would receive if they were able to visit the dominions. As to the conference's sitting outside of London, the Imperial Government did not hesitate to send to different parts of Europe sometimes Ministers of the highest standing to discuss special treaties. He submitted that the discussions of the conference had as good a bearing on the Government, safety and progress of the whole Empire as some of the most important treaties they had had.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he entirely approved the suggestion and earnestly commended it to the consideration of the Home Government.

Sir Joseph Ward heartily endorsed these sentiments, but as to the second part of the resolution, while he thoroughly agreed with the idea, he foresaw great difficulties in carrying it out. It was practically impossible to transfer to one of the oversea dominions all the machinery for an imperial conference.

General Botha doubted if it were practicable. In London all the Ministers were available and questions could be discussed with them personally.

Sir Edward Morris fully agreed with the desirability of British Ministers visiting the dominions, but thought it practically impossible for the Imperial conference to be held elsewhere than in London.

The second portion of the resolution was later amended to read: "That the United Kingdom take into consideration the possibility of holding a meeting of the conference or of a subsidiary conference in one of the oversea dominions.

SEEKING OUTLAW.

Posses Are Out In Idaho on the Trail of Hugh Whitney.

Pocatello, Idaho, June 21.—A railway conductor dead and three police officers and a ranchman wounded are the known victims of Hugh Whitney, an outlaw. It is rumored that the bandit has killed his former partner in crime, and there is an unconfirmed report that he shot and killed a boy to secure possession of the horse the lad was riding.

The bandit's trail of blood extends half way across eastern Idaho. Posses are out from every town, and the governor may call out a portion of the National Guard. Bloodhounds have taken up his trail at times, and on Tuesday a band of Blackfoot Indians joined in.

Whitney attempted a saloon holdup at Monida, Mont., on Friday, shot the officer who arrested him and others who tried to capture him.

Died From a Cut.

Montreal, June 21.—Rene Martin of 114 Drolet street, a pupil of the Olier School, died last Tuesday night, as the result of a cut which he received while playing on the mountain.

The youngster played truant from school Tuesday afternoon, and with six companions went for a ramble on the mountain. Climbing a steep knoll he came suddenly on a man sleeping. The man awoke and sat up suddenly startling the lad, who slipped down the face of the cliff, severing an artery on a sharp stone.

The bleeding was checked at the hospital, but the boy died later from shock and loss of blood.

Rode on Wagon Tongue.

London, Ont., June 21.—Mrs. Achenburger, a farmer's wife, had a remarkable experience here yesterday when marketing strawberries.

She was standing in her rig when the team bolted. When crossing the car tracks at King street, the colt parted the wagon from the horses, and the women was shot forward between the animals. She twisted her arms and legs around the wagon tongue, and in this position the horses carried her for several blocks. The tongue finally broke from the yoke, dropping her in the street, none the worse for her thrilling experience.

New York, June 21.—A cable yesterday afternoon from London says: Officers of the Cunard Company held a conference with a committee of strikers, and it was announced that a satisfactory agreement had been reached. So far as this company is concerned, the strike is over. An advance of wages was granted, but the amount is not known. Later the White Star, Allan and Leyland lines gave in to the strikers.

"ONE WAY OUT"

By WILLIAM CARLETON

The poor fellow was driven almost mad by having to offer for sale some of the casts which his master made him carry. He would have liked to sell only busts of Michael Angelo, and Dante and worthy reproductions of the old masters.

"There are so many beautiful things," he used to exclaim excitedly in broken English; "why should they want to make anything that is not beautiful?"

He sputtered time and time again over the pity of gilding the casts. You'd have thought it was a crime which ought to be punished by hanging.

"Even Dante," he groaned one night, "that wonderful, white sad face of Dante covered all over with gilt!"

"It has to look like gold before an American will buy it," I suggested.

"Yes," he nodded. "They would even gild the Christ."

Ruth said she wanted to learn Italian with me, and so the three of us used to get together every night right after dinner. I bought a grammar at a second-hand bookstore, but we used to spend most of our time in memorizing the common every day things a man would be likely to use in ordinary conversation. Guiseppe would say, "Ha Ella il mio cappello?"

And I would say,

"Si Signore, ho il di Lei cappello."

"Ha Ella il di Lei pane?"

"Si, Signore, ho il mio pane."

"Ha Ella il mio zucchero?"

"Si, Signore, ho il di Lei zucchero."

There wasn't much use in going over such simple things in English for Guiseppe and so instead of this Ruth would read aloud something from Tennyson. After explaining to him just what every new word meant she would let him read aloud to her the same passage. He soon became very enthusiastic over the text itself and would often stop her with the exclamation.

"Ah, here is a study!"

Then he would tell us just how he would model whatever the picture happened to be that he saw in his mind. It was wonderful how clearly he saw these pictures. He could tell you even down to how the folds of the women's dresses should fall just as though he were actually looking at living people.

After a week or two when we had learned some of the simpler phrases Ruth and I used to practise them as much as possible every day. We felt quite proud when we could ask one another for "quel libro" or "quell' abito" or "il cotello" or "il cucchiaio." I was surprised at how soon we were able to carry on quite a long talk.

This new idea—that even though I was approaching forty I wasn't too old to resume my studies—took root in another direction. As I had become accustomed to the daily physical exercise and no longer returned home exhausted I felt as though I had no right to loaf through my evenings, much as the privilege of spending them with Ruth meant to me. My muscles had become as hard and tireless as those of a well-trained athelete, so that at night I was as alert mentally as in the morning. It made me feel lazy to sit around the house after an hour's lesson in Italian and watch Ruth busy with her sewing and see the boy bending over his books. Still I couldn't think of anything that was practicable until I heard Giuseppe talk one evening about the night school. I had thought this was a sort of grammar school with clay modelling thrown in for amusement.

"No, Signore," he said. "You can learn anything there. And there is another school where you can learn other things."

I went out that very evening and found htat the school he attended taught among other subjects, book keeping and stenography—two things which appealed to me strongly. But in talking to the principal he suggested that before I decided I look into the night trade school which was run in connection with a manual training school. I took his advice and there I found so many things I wanted that I didn't know what to choose. I was amazed at the opportunity. A man could learn here about any trade he cared to take up. Both tools and material were furnished him. And all this was within ten minutes' walk of the house. I could still have my early evenings with Ruth and the boy even on the three nights I would be in school until a quarter past seven, spend two hours at learning my trade, and get back to the house again before ten. I do not see how a man could ask for anything better than this. Even then I wouldn't be away from home as much as I often was in my old life. There were many dreary stretches towards the end of my service with the United Woollen when I didn't get home until midnight. And the only extra pay we salaried men received for that was a brighter hope for the job ahead. This was always dangled before our eyes by Morse as a bait when he wished to drive us harder than usual.

I had my choice of a course in carpentry, bricklaying, sheet metal work, plumbing, electricity, drawing and pattern draughting. The work covered from one to three years and assured a man at the end of this time of a position among the skilled workmen who make in wages as much as many a professional man. Not only this but a man with such training as this and with ambition could look forward without any great stretch of the imagination to becoming a foreman in his trade and eventually winning independence. All this he could accomplish while earning his daily wages as an apprentice, or a common labourer.

The class in masonry seemed to be more in line with my present plans than any of the other subjects. It ought to prove of value, I thought, to a man in the general contracting business and certainly to a man who undertook the contracting of building construction. At any rate it was a trade in which I was told there was a steady demand for good men and at which many men were earning from three to five dollars a day. I must admit that at first I didn't understand how brick-laying could be taught for I thought it merely a matter of practice, but a glance at the outline of the course showed me my error. It looked as complicated as many of the university courses. The work included first the laying of a brick to line. A man was given actual practice with bricks and mortar under an experienced mason. From this a man was advanced, when he had acquired sufficient skill, to the laying out of the American bond: then the building of square piers of different sizes; then the building of square and pigeon hole corners, then the laying out of brick footings. The second year included rowlock and bonded segmental arches; blocking toothing, and corbeling; building and bonding of vaulted walls; polygonal and circular walls, piers and chimneys; fire places and flues. The third year advanced a man to the nice points of the trade such as the foreign bonds—Flemish, Dutch, Roman and Old English; cutting and turning of arches of all kinds,—straight, cambered, semi-circular, three centred elliptical, and many forms of Gothic and Moorish arches: also brick panels and cornices. Finally it gave practice in the laying out of plans and work from these plans. Whatever time was left was devoted to speed in all these things as far as it was consistent with accurate and careful workmanship.

I enrolled at once and also entered a class in architectural drawing which was given in connection with this.

I came back and told Ruth and though of course she was afraid it might be too hard work for me she admitted that in the end it might save me many months of still harder work. If it hadn't been for the boy I think she would have liked to follow me even in these studies. Whatever new thing I took up, she wanted to take up, too. But as I told her, if was she who was making the whole business possible and that was enough for one woman to do.

The school didn't open for a week and during that time I saw something of Rafferty. He surprised me by coming around to the flat one night—for what I couldn't imagine. I was glad to see him, but I suspected that he had some purpose in making such an effort. I introduced him to Ruth and we all sat down in the kitchen and I told him what I was planning to do this winter, and asked him why he didn't join me. I was rather surprised that the idea didn't appeal to him, but I soon found out that he had another interest which took all his spare time. This interest was nothing else than politics. And Rafferty hadn't been over here long enough yet to qualify as a voter. In spite of this he was already on speaking terms with the state representative from our district, the local alderman, and was an active lieutenant of Sweeney's — the ward boss. At present he was interesting himself in the candidacy of this same Sweeney who was the Democratic machine candidate for Congress. Owing to some local row he was in danger of being knifed. Dan had come round to make sure I was registered and to swing me over if possible to the ranks of the faithful.

The names of which he spoke so familiarly meant nothing to me. I had heard a few of them from reading the papers, but I hadn't read a paper for three months now, and knew nothing at all about the present campaign. As a matter of fact I never voted except for the regular Republican candidate for governor, and the regular Republican candidate for president. And I did that much only from habit. My father had been a Republican and I was a Republican after him and I felt that in a general way this party stood for honesty as against Tammanyism. But with councillors and senators and aldermen, or even with congressmen I never bothered my head. Their election semed to be all prearranged, and I figured that one vote more or less I wouldn't make much difference. I don't know as I even thought that much about it; I ignored the whole matter. What was true of me was true largely o fthe other men in our old neighbourhood. Politics, except for an abstract discussion of the tariff was not a vital issue with any of us.

Now here I found an emigrant who couldn't as yet qualify as a citizen, knowing all the local politicians by their first names and spending his nights wroking for a candidate for congress. Evidently my arrival down here had been noted by those keen eyes which look after every single vote as a miser does his pennies. A man had been found who had at least a speaking acquaintance with me, and plans already set on foot to round me up.

I was inclined at first of treat this new development as a joke. But as Rafferty talked on he set me to thinking. I didn't know anything about the merits of the two present candidates but was strongly prejudiced to believe that the Democratic candidate, on general principles, was the worst one. However, quite apart from this, wasn't Rafferty, who was trying his humble best to get him elected a bettr American than I who was willing to sit down passively, and allow him to be elected? Rafferty, at any rate, was geting into the light. His motive may have been selfish, but I think his interest really sprang from an instinctive desire to get into the game. Here he had come to a new country where every man had not only the chance to mix with the affairs of the ward, the city, the state, the nation, but also a good chance to make himself a leader in them. Sweeney himself was an example.

For twenty-five years or more Rafferty's countrymen had appreciated this opportunity for power and gone after it. The result everyone knows. Thir victory in city politics at least had ben so decisive year after year that the native born had practically laid down his arms as I had. And the reason for this perenial victory lay in just this fact that men like Rafferty were busy from the time they landed and men like men were lazily indifferent.

When Blood Was Impure

The Old-fashioned Doctor Brought Relief by Bleeding

To-day We Keep the Blood Pure by Using

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

The doctor of a century or two ago was accustomed to free his patient of an excess of poisoned blood by the cruel process of bleeding.

We would not stand for that heroic treatment to-day, because we understand better the work of the liver and kidneys and how to awaken them to their duty of filtering poisons from the blood.

These are the only organs of the body which filter poisons from the blood, and so cleanse the system of the foul waste matter which causes pains, aches and dangerous diseases, and there is no way you can so quickly bring the liver and kidneys into action as by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Don't imagine that a liquid medicine is necessary to purify the blood. The supreme test is, "Does the treatment awaken the action of the liver and invigorate the kidneys?" Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are unique in their combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and on this account wonderfully successful as a means of purifying the blood.

The whole digestive and excretory system is cleansed and invigorated by this treatment. The appetite is sharpened, digestion improves, and the tired, languid feelings of a poisoned system give way to new health and vigour. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

$4,000 TO START.

A Misprinted Ad. Elicits Some Interesting Replies.

In the advertising columns of a Toronto evening newspaper the following advertisement recently appeared:

BOY about sixteen years of age for financial office of large wholesale clothing company to fill junior position; must have fair education, one just leaving school and living at home preferred; salary to start $4,000; good opportunity for bright, obliging boy. Box 108, Telegram.

It so happened that the sum of $4,000 mentioned was a misprint for $4.00, but some applicants failed to see the error. Among the replies received by the wholesale firm in question was the following:

Gentlemen,—In reply to your advertisement in the Evening Telegram of March 18th, 1911, I hereby beg to make application for the position vacant.

I am 19 years of age, and trust that a few years additional will enable you to increase your salary offer. At the present time, I am engaged with the Venus and Jupiter Airship and Freight Transportation Co., Limited, where my duties consist in filling the airship tanks with gasoline and posting the night mail for the different planets. I may mention that while your salary offer cannot compete with my present income of $6,000, still I consider your proffered inducements for advancement sufficiently inducive to incite correspondence. Previously I was employed with the Moon and Sun Lighting Co., but competition with Jack Rockerfeller reduced them to such straightened circumstances that after the assignment I was compelled to go to work once more.

I was educated at the Socratic School of Widsorn in Crete, where I received a thorough schooling in the Ethics of Aristotle and the Theaetetus of Plato. Subsequently I became associated with George H. Munro and his various organizations. You will doubtless realize that after two years' experience as his "shine" I may consider myself "expert advice" on Albertan Oil Co.'s, Limited, and universal signal systems. When he was forced to go to work again, I associated myself with the well-known and much regretted Mr. Sheldon, of Montreal. Again you will agree with me when I state I had many opportunities for valuable financial experience. I feel confidence in my ability to make $5 yield $50 in three weeks. From there I was forced to accept my present position, for reasons you are already aware of. I take great pleasure in referring you to any of the above mentioned.

Trusting to have the pleasure of a personal interview in the new future, provided you think satisfactory salary arrangements can be made, I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Sincerely yours,
Billy Knowall.

Gateway In the Middle West.

Between Kenora and the Rockies there are six points where United States immigrants enter Canada. The chief of these is North Portal, a few miles south of Moose Jaw. During every day of the year ending March 31st there passed ten carloads of settlers' effects—northward, ever northward. The total number of cars was 3,218, more than ten for every working customs' day in the year. And with the cars came the settlers—northward, ever northward. German-Americans, Canadian-Americans, Norwegian-Americans, Swedish-Americans, and Americans—all bearing northward, where land is twenty dollars an acre instead of sixty or a hundred. During the year there were 27,982 of these trekkers, nearly ninety a day. Think of it, nearly one hundred people entering Canada every day at a town which not one per cent. of Canadians have ever seen, and of which not ten per cent. have ever heard.

North Portal is the southern gateway to Saskatchewan and Alberta, as Winnipeg is the eastern gateway. One day last week over three thousand immigrants from Europe passed westward through Winnipeg. That is a daily record which North Portal cannot equal, but, nevertheless, North Portal is second in the race for immigration records. In quality of settler and in size of bankroll, perhaps North Portal is first.

What Johnny Noticed.

That the mind of the schoolboy works in a peculiar way at times is the opinion of a teacher in a school at Fort William, Ont.

Believing that he had a good opportunity to inculcate the idea of protecting the weak, he read from a newspaper an account of the destruction by wolves in Galicia of all but two people in a bridal party of one hundred. He impressed upon the children the fact that the men of the party fed the women and children to the ravenous wolves. And then he told them of the heroic men, who, when the steamer Birkenhead was doomed to sink, put the women and children in the boats and calmly awaited death.

Having told of these well-contrasted happenings, the teacher then questioned the pupils as to what struck them concerning the two terrible events.

One youngster said, "Please, the women and children went first in both."

What Was Lacking.

A four-year-old Toronto girl, who was allowed to taste the eggnog which her mother was taking during a period of convalescence, said she liked it very much.

"Well, you can have some every morning, if you want to," said the mother.

So next morning the youngster was given a little glass of the drink—minus the whisky.

"Mother," she said, with a look of disappointment, "I don't like this as well as yours. The egg's all right, but I don't think there's enough nog in it."—Courier.

A Stalwart Supporter.

Hon. William Paterson, who has been touring Ontario in behalf of trade agreement, has been taunted with looking after the interests of his "biscuit box," and has made a spirited reply to the enemy.

"There's only one thing wrong with Paterson," said a Tory opponent who admires "Honest William," "and that's his voice. He would make a splendid policeman for the Union Station. The best suggestion ever made was that he should be member for Thunder Bay."—Canadian Courier.

Profits of Banking.

During the past year the New South Wales Government Savings Bank made a profit of £27,000, as against £6,000 in the previous year.

Door Open to fill pan.
Either door may be used.

Circular Water Pan
Has five times the evaporating surface of pans placed over furnace doog. Runs clear around the back of the furnace. Will hold enough water to last 24 hours. May be filled at either door, as shown above.

No Gas or Dust.
And it is just as important to keep the air free from coal gas and dust.
In the "Hecla" every place where experience has shown that gas might otherwise find an outlet, has been fused absolutely tight by our patented process. The same fused joints keep out the dust and smoke.

Adding moisture to the air in your home will give you the same heat for less fuel.
A consideration, no doubt.
But that is not all.
Warm dry air, however pure, is not healthful. The human body demands more moisture than is carried in the winter air.
The "Hecla" supplies this moisture in plenty. A large circular pan of water is placed where it will be easy to fill and where it will not be overlooked.
